Towards sundown that afternoon I was standing in the verandah of my house, watching a fatigue party digging a grave under a tree in the paddock beyond the mine buildings, when a shout from Mr. Maybourne, who was on his way to the office, attracted my attention. When I reached his side, he pointed to a small speck of dust about a mile to the northward.

"It's a horseman," he cried; "but who can it be?"

"I have no possible notion," I answered; "but we shall very soon see."

The rider, whoever he was, was in no hurry. When he came nearer, we could see that he was cantering along as coolly as if he were riding in Rotten Row. By the time he was only a hundred yards or so distant, I was trembling with excitement. Though I had never seen the man on horseback before, I should have known his figure anywhere. It was Dr. Nikola. There could be no possible doubt about that. Bartrand was quite right when he told me that he was in the neighborhood.

I heard Mr Maybourne say something about news from the township, but the real import of his words I did not catch. I seemed to be watching the advancing figure with my whole being. When he reached the lager he sprang from his horse, and then it was that I noticed Mr. Maybourne had left my side and was giving instructions to let him in. I followed to receive him.

On reaching the inside of our defences, Nikola raised his hat politely to Mr. Maybourne, while he handed his reins to a trooper standing by.

"Mr. Maybourne, I believe, he said. "My name is Nikola. I am afraid I am thrusting myself upon you in a very unseemly fashion, and at a time when you have no desire to be burdened with outsiders. My friendship for our friend Wrexford here must be my excuse. I left Buluwayo at daylight this morning in order to see him."

He held out his hand to me and I found myself unable to do anything but take it. As usual it was as cold as ice. For the moment I was so fascinated by the evil glitter in his eyes that I forgot to wonder how he knew my assumed name. However, I managed to stammer out something by way of a welcome, and then asked how long he had been in South Africa.

"I arrived two months ago," he answered, "and after a week in Cape Town, where I had some business to transact, made my way up here to see you. It appears I have arrived at an awkward moment, but if I can help you in [illegible] I hope you will command me. I am a tolerable surgeon, and have the advantage of considerable experience of assegai wounds."

While he was speaking the bell rang for tea, and at Mr. Maybourne's invitation Dr. Nikola accompanied us to where the meal was spread—picnic fashion—on the ground by the kitchen door. Agnes was waiting for us, and I saw her start with surprise when her father introduced the newcomer as Dr. Nikola, a friend of Mr. Wrexford's. She bowed gravely to him, but said nothing. I could see that she knew him for the man Bartrand had warned me against, and for this reason she was by no means prepossessed in his favor.

During the meal Nikola exerted all his talents to please. And such was his devilish—I can only call it by that name—cleverness, that by the time we rose from the meal he had put himself on the best of terms with everyone. Even Agnes seemed to have, for the moment, lost much of her distrust of him. Once out in the open again I drew Nikola away from the others, and having watched him out of earshot of the house, asked the meaning of his visit.

"Is it so hard to guess?" he said, as he seated himself on the pole of a wagon, and lowered me with one of his peculiar smiles. "I should have thought so."

I have not tried to guess," I answered, having by this time resolved upon my line of action, "and I do not intend to do so. I wish you to tell me."

"My dear Pennethorne-Wrexford, or Wrexford-Pennethorne," he said quietly, "I should advise you not to adopt that tone with me. You know very well why I have put myself to the trouble of running you to earth."

"I have not the least notion," I replied, "and that is the truth. I thought I had done with you when I said good-bye to you in Gobien Square that awful night."

"Nobody can hope to have done with me," he answered, "when they do not act fairly by me."

"Act fairly by you? What do you mean? How have I not acted fairly by you?"

"By running away in that mysterious fashion, when it was agreed between us that I should arrange everything. You might have ruined me."

"Still I do not understand you! How might I have ruined you?"

This time I took him unawares. He looked at me for a moment in sheer surprise.

"I should advise you to give up this sort of thing," he said, licking his lips in that peculiar cat-like fashion I had noticed in London. "Remember I know everything, and one word in our friend Maybourne's ear, and—well—you know what the result will be. Perhaps he does not know what an illustrious criminal he is purposing to take for a son-in-law."

"One insinuation like that again, Nikola," I cried, "and I'll have put of this place before you know where you are. You dare to call me a criminal—you, who plotted and planned the murders that shocked and terrified all England!"

To the Canadian Investor

DORES-MONTGOMERY MINING COMPANY

OF BULLFROG, NEVADA

The undersigned is pleased to announce to the investors of Canada that he has been appointed Canadian Fiscal Agent of the above company, and is offering a limited amount of treasury stock at 50c. per share for development work. This property is just 1500 feet southwest of the famous Montgomery Shoshone mine and both have unquestionably the same vein. The group shows a well defined vein cropping out through, and it is a perfect fissure. A six inch talc seam on the hanging wall gives high values. We have also several other ledges, and it is only a matter of development work to make this property equal to any producer in the section.

The management of the Montgomery Shoshone conservatively estimates that the mines has produced $700,000 worth of ore. If this is right, the ore from the winze has averaged about $875 a ton, or about $1250 for every foot of sinking, the winze being 4 x 7 in clear.

Ore from the mine running less than $300 is thrown over the dump as milling ore. No less than 150 tons of ore has been shipped from this mine, all of it coming from the winze. Another shipment of 50 tons or more will be made via Las Vegas in a few days.

The figures given above are startling in the extreme, but the measurements and ore values as quoted are official—direct from the management of the wonderful mine that is today astonishing the world.

This property is only 1500 feet from the Dores Montgomery Mine.

RELIABLE FISCAL AGENT WANTED

SPLENDID PROPOSITION

Iron Spar Copper Mining Company Has Appointed a Canadian Agent —Only a Limited Number of Shares for Sale.

Among the new mining properties that are attracting attention in the Coeur D'Alene District of Idaho for their encouraging conditions, the Iron Spar Copper property is one of the foremost. A large auriferous copper ledge traverses the property for a distance of 6,000 feet, crossing from Idaho to Montana, over the main range of the Coeur d'Alene Mountains, which form the boundary line between these States. In the matter of transportation facilities the Iron Spar has a great advantage over many other properties, being distant only a mile and a half from the Northern Pacific Railroad, and a half mile from a good wagon road. The property is owned by the Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., and the greatest economy and dispatch is being practised in opening up vein.

Another contract will be let soon to extend the present tunnel another hundred feet on the vein, and a good workable ore is expected within ten days from time work is started. The character of the vein and enclosing formation is in all essential particulars similar to that of the Monitor and Richmond on the divide, a few miles to the east. Great depth is possible to be gained on the ledge by driving westward into the main range, which line of policy will be strictly adhered to in the matter of development, to further economize and expedite the work. It is the intention of the company to install a compressor and machine drills early in the spring.

Mr. W. K. Hall, of this city, has secured a block of stock of this splendid proposition, and will dispose of it for a short time at ten cents per share.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces (except 8 and 26, not reserved), may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is entitled to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15 by 1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the holder may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased, [illegible] at 2½ per cent collected on the output after $10,000.

No Medicine Cures so Many Sick, Overstrained, Despondent, Weak People as DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS

The One True Medicine for Health and Strength

You will realise, as you read the following letters, the grand work being done by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They have a direct action on the blood, nerves, heart kidneys and liver. All weakness is turned into strength, new energy and nourishing blood are created, buoyant good health is established in a short time.

DISCOURAGED WOMEN FOUND NEW HOPE.

"I had pretty nearly given myself up as incurable. I was weak and sickly all the time, had headache, poor digestion and sinking feeling. On rising in the morning there was a feeling of awful weariness.

"Dr. Hamilton's Pills helped from the first. They must have strengthened my blood, for I gained in strength as soon as I took them. Steady improvement followed, and I am now completely cured."

Mrs. M. E. Benson, Woodstock.

STRENGTH AND SPIRITS IMPROVED.

"No medicine could possibly be better than Dr. Hamilton's Pills," writes Mr. Jos. Devine from Ottawa. "I had pains in the back and side, caused by kidney trouble, was bothered considerably with headache, but Dr. Hamilton's Pills cured me quickly. I can recommend them to every man."

You'll become vigorous and strong, enjoy a good appetite, your sleep will be dreamless and sound, after regulating your systems with Dr. Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Prince 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1, at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A. and King stem, Ont.

A Wanted Apology

Speaking of politeness! Yesterday afternoon as two young ladies living on Weller street were walking along the south side of Hunter street, just in front of the Canary House, one of them had the misfortune to suddenly and violently stub her toe against a block of ice that having fallen from the overhanging roof, was lying on the walk way. She was heard distinctly by a Times' representative passing, to say, "Oh I beg your pardon! Oh my, Frank, if I didn't go and apologize to that old chunk of ice."

Stirring Addresses in Mark St. Church

Mark street church was witness of two stirring addresses by Rev. T. W. Legge on Sunday. His discourse in the morning was mainly a strong plea for the connectional fund of the Methodist church. At the evening service his sermon was more general in topic and emphatically displayed the necessity of each person bearing his responsibility and performing the work God intended them to do. Each person was able to do something for the betterment of the world and there should be no attempt to shift the responsibility onto somebody else.

There was a good attendance at both services. Special music was rendered by the choir.

A Local Dog Story

Last Saturday a well-known local gentleman entered Market Clerk Brown's office. Sitting beside the door was a mad wag who, basking in the high pitched bay generally used by a small dog, with his first finger and thumb, grabbed the gentleman by the calf of his leg. This silver-tongued charmer of dollars out of reluctant pockets, a ringing a foot in the air, called out, "Go way you brute and he down!" A funny sequel was that a few minutes afterwards the accidentally stepped upon the tail of a collie dog lying behind the little iron stove in this office. Time he had to use some quick action to escape the real thing.

FACTS IN NATURE.

Not Only Do We Get Inspiration From Nature, But Health as Well.

For people who are run-down and nervous, who suffer from indigestion or dyspepsia, headache, biliousness, or torpid liver, coated tongue with bitter taste in the morning and poor appetite, it becomes necessary to turn to some tonic or strengthener which will assist Nature and help them to get on their feet and put the body into its proper condition. It is becoming more and more apparent that Nature's most valuable health-giving agents are to be found in forest plants and roots.

Nearly forty years ago, Dr. R.V. Pierce, now consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N.Y., discovered that by scientifically extracting and combining certain medicinal principles from native roots, taken from our American forests, he could produce a medicine which was marvelously efficient in curing cases of blood disorder and liver and stomach trouble as well as many other chronic, or lingering ailments. This concentrated extract of Nature's vitality he named "Golden Medical Discovery." It acts powerfully on the blood, purifying the stomach and liver into healthy condition, thereby helping the digestion and assimilation of food which feeds the blood. Thereby it cures weak stomach, indigestion, torpid liver, or biliousness, and kindred derangements.

If you have coated tongue, with bitter or bad taste in the morning, frequent headaches, feel weak, easily tired, stitches or pain in side, back gives out easily and aches, belching of gas, constipation, or irregular bowels, feel flashes of heat alternating with chilly sensations or kindred symptoms, they point to derangement of your stomach, liver and kidneys, which the "Golden Medical Discovery" will correct more speedily and permanently than any other known agent. Contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients printed in plain English on wrapper.

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make a little more profit. He gains; you lose. Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

T. V. C. Canal Leak Committee Have Finished Investigation

As noted in a former issue of the Times, Messrs. George E. Elliott and Thos. J. Wilson, were appointed by the Dominion Government to investigate and adjust all claims in connection with the flood caused by the recent subsiding of the Trent Valley Canal's banks, near Messrs. Curtis Bros. brick yard.

These gentlemen have worked hard and intelligently to make an impartial estimate, of the damage sustained by those affected.

It seems that the result of their investigations shows that the greatest damage done, was that consequent upon cleaning out of flooded cellars.

Thirty-three claims, all, in fact, that were rendered, have been satisfactorily settled the aggregate amount of damage paid out being about $600. Each sufferer was awarded from $5 to $50, according to the loss sustained.

Curtis Bros., proprietors of the brick yards, the heaviest sufferers by the outbreak, have been settled with, except as to the damage done to their stock of clay, and this will be adjusted in a few days.

Mr. A. C. Dunlop's Obituary

St. Luke's Parish Church Work says: On Tuesday, January 30th, death removed from our midst Mr. A. C. Dunlop, a resident of Peterboro for 70 years. Only last year the late Mr. Dunlop celebrated his diamond wedding. Much beloved by numerous friends, and respected by all as a man of sterling character, charity and strict integrity in all his dealings with his fellow men, he fell asleep in Jesus. His declining years and his infirmities were much cheered by the faithful and tender care given by Mr. W. H. Andrews, who as nurse attended Mr. Dunlop for several years. We extend to Mrs. Dunlop and Miss Dunlop our sincere sympathy. Through the courtesy of Rev. Dr. Torrance, the rector was privileged to take part in the funeral.

Wolves Endanger Kemora

Wolves are raiding barry meil about Kemora. It is impossible to travel safely, by night, in the vicinity of the lake. A few nights ago an Indian had to seek such seclusion as a pine tree grants to escape the jaws of a pack of hungry wolves. They only retired as the daylight came on. Four wolf skins were brought in last Friday each measuring seven feet in length. Traders state that the presence of the large number of wolves this year is owing to the vast numbers of deer on the islands. They have not been so numerous for a number of years. Even the Government bounty of $15 a head will not tempt the Indians or Indians to risk an encounters with these gregarious and ferocious creatures.

Calumet-Tellurid Golde Mining Co.

OF CALUMET, MICHIGAN,

offers a limited amount of its Treasury Stock at ONE DOLLAR per share, full paid and non-assessable. Properties consisting of four groups of lode claims and equal to claim area of 37 full lode claims, or about 370 acres, with two valuable water rights and a water reservoir—a lake of about 20 acres surface area.

Development is equal to 1700 lineal feet, at a cost of $15 per lineal foot—tunnels, drifts, cross-cuts, wings and surface cuts and trenches, and one ten gravity stamp concentrating mill. Three groups, water rights, mill and tunnel sites, etc., are fully paid, one group held "on the bond," 20 cents paid for. Good Grade of Profitable Milling Ore blocked out, in sight, to last for a sixty ton mill for over two years time. Safe and conservative estimate for mining the ore, delivering and milling it, at a cost of about $4.50 per ton. Three separate mill runs, for testing purposes, have returned from $4.40 to $14.50 per ton of rock, principally in gold.

This is a Bonanza for Intelligent Investors

In order to make operations absolutely up-to-date, perfect, both the mining and the reduction of ores, the Board of Directors have placed a limited amount of Treasury Stock at par value $1.00 per share on the market. Six reports of mine well known mining men. Properties situated in San Juan Gold Belt, San Miguel County, Southwestern Colorado.

ECONOMY, HONESTY and CONSERVATISM

Capitalization 500,000, par value $1.00, and non-assessable. Two years development, properties paid—as above stated, and we have in our treasury remaining 350,000 shares. Show us something better.

THE MOROCCO DISPUTE IS LOOKING GRAVE

Questions at Issue Which May Deluge the World in Terrible Conflict

THE CONFERENCE MAY BE A FOTAL FAILURE

In Which Event War Would Assuredly Follow, in Which Great Britain Would Take Part.

London, Feb. 13.—The greatest anxiety prevails over the Moroccan conference. Latest despatches indicate that a deadlock has been reached. France has told Germany that she can recede no further, and it is now for the German Emperor to say whether peace will or will not prevail. Britain has also spoken plainly, intimating that France's position is unassailable.

CAUSE OF DISPUTE.

To most people Morocco is a country somewhere on the north coast of Africa, vaguely associated with piracy, brigandage, the slave trade, and comic opera. When asked for details they usually get it mixed with Tunis, Tripoli, or Algeria, and think it doesn't make any difference. As a fact, Morocco is a country quite unique, since it is the last of the Barbary States—for that matter in North Africa—to retain its independence. Besides that, its Sultan is an absolute, if not more so, as any in the world, having complete authority not only in government, but in religion also.

FRANCE'S INTEREST IN MOROCCO.

Of all the European countries, France has the nearest interest in Morocco. To the east is her territory of Algeria, continuing to the south in that great tract stretching across the Sahara Desert down to the mouth of the Congo River, and amounting to more in area than the possessions of any other nation in Africa. France has not been neglecting her interests. The line between Morocco and Algeria has never been fixed except for a distance of a hundred miles below the coast. To the south and west of this it was left to mutual agreement, and, profiting by this, France has not only been extending her influence in Morocco but she has been moving her outposts farther and farther in from the frontier, thus reducing the empire of her neighbor, slice by slice.

France has the acquiescence of England in her course, and also that of Spain and Italy. England resigned her rights in Morocco to France in 1904 in consideration of the French doing likewise for England in Newfoundland and Egypt. In fact no nation questioned or seemed to care what France was doing in Morocco until the German Emperor visited Tangier, suddenly becoming greatly interested in Moroccan affairs and the expulsion of France from doubtful territory. The Algeciras conference can bear only indirectly upon this point, because it has agreed to consider there only four main subjects;

THE POINTS OF DISPUTE.

1. The suppression of the contraband trade in firearms.

2. The organization of the military police.

3. Finances and the establishment of a State bank.

4. The reform of the customs system.

In taking up these questions, the Powers have further pledged themselves to preserve the integrity of Morocco, the sovereignty of the Sultan and the open door. Mohammed el Torres is the Sultan's delegate at Algeciras, and he is there with assurances that any provision which can be unanimously agreed upon will be accepted by Morocco. The other nations participating are France, Spain, England, Germany, Italy, Austria, Sweden, Holland, Portugal, and the United States. It has already been decided that in respect to the smuggling of fire-arms into the country, which has been at the bottom of much internal disturbance, France and Spain shall stop it along their respective borders and Morocco herself shall look out for the coast. Just how sincere the nations are in professing their desire for the continued independence of Morocco is an open question, but in so far as they can agree in reforms, there is no doubt but what they will insist upon carrying them out.

WHY MOROCCO IS IMPORTANT.

Morocco does not seem much of a country to make a fuss over. It is undeveloped and at the present time at least unimportant commercially. But its proximity to Europe, combined with its good climate and fair soil, gives it agricultural possibilities of value while it has mineral deposits of copper, iron, antimony, salt and supposedly of gold and silver. The Barbary States were once the granary of Europe, and might again become so under proper management. At present the exportation of grain is prohibited, and limitations are put on many other products. Cotton and sugar cane were once raised, but are no longer, while the native opposition to the use of tobacco prevents its cultivation in any but a small way. Bees, skins, almonds, olives, wax and wool, are shipped abroad. Sugar, tea, cotton and metal goods are the staples received in return.

Agricultural methods are crude in the extreme, and about the most elaborate pieces of farm machinery in use is the plow; a traveller recounts that several times he saw a plow drawn by a camel and an ox, while once he saw one to which was harnessed a woman and a donkey. Between the Atlas Mountains and the coast there is a fair rainfall, but on the other side droughts prevail, and it is only by irrigating that the land could be made fit for cultivation. Morocco was once well wooded, but it is now almost barren of trees, little besides the scrub palmetto remaining.

THE GOVERNMENT.

For administrative purposes the country is divided into provinces, administered by kaids. The Sultan receives the entire revenue, and spends it as pleases him. The customs duties amount to some $2,000,000 a year. How much more the taxes amount to it is impossible to say, as they are irregularly levied, and still more irregularly collected. They are farmed out and seldom paid until troops are sent to collect them. The offices of the country are frankly bought and sold and the same is true of justice in the courts.

The army of the Sultan numbers about 10,000 men, most of whom go with him as he moves from one to the other of his three capitals—Morocco, Fez and Mekinez. Besides the regular troops there is a militia organization sufficient so that in all the Sultan could muster about 50,000 men. He has something of a navy, but latterly all the ships have rotted or been sold except one—the Sultana Turki. Postal services are maintained by Great Britain, France, Germany and Spain. Communication is difficult, as the rivers are not bridged, and there are no roads except bridle paths. The conveniences of travel are not increased by the fact that the country is overrun with numerous bands of robbers, so that it is always necessary to be well armed. At the same time there is a considerable caravan trade through the interior, and if the French succeed in establishing their desired control in Morocco, an improved order of affairs may be expected.

France secured a strong hold on Morocco in 1904 by that great modern method of exercising control—loaning money. A sum of 62,000,000 francs was advanced—the customs as security. The loan was wanted in order to pay off some earlier and still outstanding debts, and to carry out certain administrative reforms. The agreement is that the sum shall be repaid in half yearly instalments between this year and 1941.

A CLEVER ARREST

P. C. Miller Arrests a Young Man on a Charge of House Breaking

P. C. Miller made a clever capture last night when he arrested George Valois a young man, well known in the city. He was arrested on a charge of breaking into his father's house in the north end of the town, and unlawfully taking therefrom a revolver and some clothes. Word was received at the police station of the affair about 11 o'clock last night, and P. C. Miller went down to the C.P.R. station and captured his man as he was about to take the midnight train for the east.

Valois will come up before his Worship this morning on a charge of housebreaking and also one of carrying a concealed weapon.

A TALENTED MUSICIAN

A Booklet Issued by Miss Alice Roger, the Clever Young Pianist

The Toronto Globe says: Enterprise is a quality of mind which is always regarded, in America at least, as wholly admirable. For that reason alone, if for no other, the booklet just issued by Miss Alice Roger, concert pianist and teacher, of Peterboro, is worthy of highpraise. It contains brief tributes to Miss Roger's ability from such authorities as Prof. Martin Krause of Berlin, Mr. Harry M. Field and the critics of the daily press, and typographically is most artistic. Miss Roger's talents, however, are known to the majority of music-lovers in Toronto, for she has played here in recital and moreover has a class here as well as in Peterboro. She possesses brilliant powers as an executant and interprets with a keen sense of the poetic beauties of the music. More than that, she is beginning to attract the notice of prominent singers, both in Canada and the United States by her compositions. Her song "Du Bist Wie Eine Blume" has grace of melody and an admirably written accompaniment, and is now being sung quite extensively.

DIPLOMA FOR PETERBORO

Peterboro Cereal Co. Receives Diplomas From British Columbia

Another leaf has been added to the crown of laurels so frequently and deservedly won by Peterboro's industries.

Yesterday the Peterboro Cereal Company received from the secretary of the Dominion exhibition, held at New Westminster, B.C., during last September, a diploma, which was awarded the exhibit of Canada Flakes made at the fair by the local company.

Mr. Collins states that the exhibit made by this well-known local company, aroused considerable interest in British Columbia, and the effect on the business of the company as a result was good.

A Good Opportunity

Mr. D. V. Vanblyke, Toronto, special representative of Messrs. A. L. Wisner & Co., the well-known bankers and brokers, whose office is located in the Confederation Life Building, Toronto, is in the city and gave The Times a call. Mr. Vanblyke is stopping for a few days at The Munro House, and is trying to obtain a good live local agent to handle stock, in this neighborhood, of the California Monarch Oil Co. This is not only a good opportunity for those seeking investment in a good paying proposition but offers a good chance to any bright man, who can place stock in a safe money-maker.

A GOOD RECORD

Equity Fire Insurance Co., Now Carries $17,565,171 in Policies

The directors and shareholders of the Equity Fire Insurance Co., whose head offices are at 24 King street, east, Toronto, have every reason to congratulate themselves on the splendid record made during the eight years the company has been in existence, but especially on the largely increased business done during the past year.

At the 4th annual meeting of the company held on Wednesday, Feb. 6th, the directors noted, in their report, that during 1905, the company earned in premiums $340,594.68 as compared with $315,795.48. This large sum was paid on 14,089 policies issued by the company. The insurance in force now aggregates the vast sum of $17,565,171, which, for a company only eight years in operation is a grand showing.

During the past year the company has had a thorough reorganization and is now managed on even more progressive and conservative lines.

A dividend of six per cent. was declared on the capital stock of the company which will be appreciated by those fortunate enough to hold shares in the "Equity."

The assets of the company, as shown in their annual statement given in another part of this issue, are of a most assuring and conservative character.

The local representative of this progressive company, is Mr. W. H. Hill whose offices are located on Hunter street, just west of George St.

POLICE COURT NEWS

At yesterday's police court, John Oakley, who for many weeks has been seen a nightly lodger, off and on, but mainly on, at the Hotel des Cops, was charged with vagrancy. John pleaded for his freedom, saying that he has just about now obtained several contracts for preparing wood for family use. However, instead of "bucking" wood, John "bucked the tiger," as his Worship finding out that Oakley has become a nuisance to the police, gave him a pass to Castle Nesbitt good for three months. This will enable John to have a H.O.T. on the 24th of May.

Three young men, named respectively Wall, Reynolds and Nesbitt were charged with having been drunk and raising a disturbance in the American House.

The proprietor of this hotel appeared and gave evidence against the young men. Wall and Nesbitt each contributed $2 each towards the city's revenues as a reminder to shun the bowl that flows and flags later on. Reynolds who pleaded not guilty, was discharged.

AN ENGINE VALUED

Representative of Waterous Engine Co., Make Inspection of Our Old Fire-Fighter

Mr. Hugh Cameron, selling agent for the Waterous Engine Works of Brantford, yesterday, in company with Chief Tom Rutherford of the local fire brigade, made a thorough inspection of Peterboro's now mothballed fire engine. He did this with a view to ascertaining how much his company would allow for the old Peterboro engine, should this city decide to buy a new one from his company.

Judging by his remarks made to a Times representative the Watrous Engine Company would not allow us more than, say, $150 on our old fire fighting appliances. If this is correct it would be better to have the old machine refitted with a new boiler, and give it to some technical school to illustrate mechanism with, or apply elsewheres for an offer. The Waterous Co. have now got on hand an engine they would sell Peterboro for the modest sum of $6,000, and for which they might take our old engine in part payment. If a deal is consummated with the Brantford Company, they will have to inspect and put a better value on our old reliable standby.

Are Disloyal to the Czar

Paris, February 13.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Petit Parisien says it is estimated 75,000 political prisoners are being detained in the various prisons of Russia at the present time.

SHAREHOLDERS PLEASED

Peterboro Tool and Shovel Co. Hold Annual Meeting

Holders of Peterboro's latest large industry the Peterboro Tool and Shovel Co., met, in annual session, in the company's offices, about 20 being present.

The reports of the company were read and were highly satisfactory to the shareholders.

Hon. J. R. Stratton, president of the company, occupied the chair, and Mr. R. H. Fortye acted as secretary.

It was decided to increase the capital stock of the company from $50,000 to $100,000, and application will be made to the Legislature for the right to increase. When the authority to increase the capital has been given the directors will issue $25,000 worth of new stock.

The shareholders saw the shovels in process of manufacture, as well as the finished product. They expressed themselves as greatly pleased with the satisfactory showing the company had made during the first year, and the complete plant installed, with the exception of one large machine which will be ready for use about March 1st.

The output of the factory this year is estimated at 15,000 dozen shovels, which if reached, will be a most satisfactory record, indeed.

The Board of Directors were re-elected. The officers are Messrs. J. J. Lundy, hon. president; Hon. J. R. Stratton, president; Wm. Hutchins, vice-president; Wm. Irwin, Alex. Elliott, F. J. Jamieson, Thomas Fortye, and J. J. Lundy.

THE CHILDREN'S AID

Agent Cochrane Brings Five Unfortunates Into the Fold

That the Peterboro Children's Aid Society is a great boon to the afflicted, was never more in evidence than yesterday, when Mr. George Cochrane, agent of the society, and Mrs. Wm. Henry, of the Shelter, brought down from Galway township, five children, who were in destitute circumstances. Their father, who was nearly 80 years of age, died a couple of weeks ago, leaving their mother with six children, the oldest being thirteen years of age, and the youngest a mere babe, and without any means of support. The family's name is Mountain and they resided near Kinmount.

Mr. Cochrane, Mrs. Henry and Reeve Colborne, of Galway, when they visited the house, found the family living in a state of destitution and squalor not often found in the country. The children were only half clothed and their faces were pinched with hunger.

Mr. Cochrane and Mrs. Henry arrived in Peterboro with the unfortunate little ones yesterday morning. Their names and ages are as follows: Helen, aged 13; Ephraim, aged 10; Laura, aged 8; Louisa, aged 6; Freddy aged 2 years.

At the shelter they will be provided at once with new clothing and otherwise made comfortable.

The youngesters are bright looking children and no doubt good homes will soon be found for them.

MRS. (DR.) GREER "AT HOME"

Largely Attended Social Function Passes off Successfully

The reception and drawing rooms were very prettily decorated with beautiful natural flowers, most tastefully arranged, tulips and carnations predominating.

Mrs. Greer, whose "at home" was in honor of her visitors, Mrs. Martin of Cannington, and Mrs. Cameron of Omemee assisted by those ladies, received her guests in the dining room, which was brightened by the ruddy glow of many flowers. The hostess was assisted also by Mrs. H. Ferguson and the Misses Morris, Burritt, Morrow, Fair and Chamont.

There were about sixty guests present who had a most enjoyable time. The refreshments supplied by H. Long, the well-known caterer were dainty and admirably served.

DEMONSTRATION OF THE UNEMPLOYED

Parade in London Yesterday Was to Impress the New Government

London, Feb. 13.—There was another march of the "unemployed" in the streets of London yesterday afternoon with the object of impressing the new Government and legislators but the demonstration fell flat. The procession was hardly half the length of previous demonstrations, and the attitude of the public towards the subscription collectors showed that interest in the "poverty parades" has been decidedly waning since they took on a distinctly political character. The men marched along the Victoria embankment to Hyde Park, where they listened to speeches delivered by labor party members of Parliament and adopted the usual resolutions demanding that the Government come to their aid.

A CORRECTION

Kincaid Farm Sold for $8000 Instead of $10,000

In our issue of Monday appeared an account of a recent important land sale, made a few miles to the south of this fine ward.

We were informed on Saturday that the Kincaid farm, consisting of some 216 acres had been sold for $11,000. We now find that the price above noted is incorrect, the farm was sold for $8,000. This property which was purchased some years ago by Dr. R. Kincaid, and which he attempted to manage as a stock farm for raising high grade cattle, is situated about four miles to the south of the city boundaries.

C. P. R. Orders Steel Cars

Montreal, February 14.—Steel drop bottom gondolas, 100 of them have been ordered by the C. P. R. from the Dominion Steel Car Company, Ltd., for the Crow's Nest section of the system. They represent an expenditure of $750,000, and will be the first steel cars ever built in Canada, though a number built in the United States are in use on Canadian lines.

War May Leave China on Hands of U. S.

Washington Fearful That States Will Be Left Alone to Put Down Next Boxer Outbreak---Expects England to be Fighting on France's Side.

New York, Feb. 14.—A Washington despatch to the Times says the War Department is making preparations to send another regiment of infantry to the Philippines in anticipation of an outbreak in China, which would necessitate armed intervention. There is no effort at either the War or State Department to conceal the fact that the Administration regards the situation in China with grave anxiety and is deeply apprehensive of having to make a campaign there in the coming summer.

Officials of the State and War Departments are not saying anything about a phase of the situation which is the occasion of much discussion among another class of Washington residents who are in a position to know what is going on generally in the world. Among these men there is almost as much apprehension of war between Germany and France in the early summer as there is on the part of the Administration of an outbreak in China.

It is pointed out that if that occurs the United States will be the only power that will be able to maintain order in China. Japan, just beginning to recover from the strain of her war with Russia, and faced by a widespread famine, is not in a position to take any considerable share. Russia is out of the question. That leaves only England, France and Germany, all of whom, it is pointed out, would be engaged in the European war.

HAVE NOW FOREIGN PASTOR

Toronto Methodists Will Support a Japanese Preacher Regularly

Toronto, February 14.—The "induction" of Rev. Dr. Hiraiwa, president now for several terms of the Japanese Methodist Conference, as the "foreign pastor" of the Westmoreland avenue Methodist church, took place Sunday morning on the occasion of the monthly missionary Sunday.

This church thus supports now two pastors, the resident one, Rev. Gilbert Agar, and the oversea.

Land of the Rising Sun. It is the first congregation in the Dominion thus permitted by the Methodist Missionary Society to devote all its missionary givings outside of the Forward Movement Contributions to the support of a special object. This permission was granted on condition of the missionary givings being increased 50 per cent. The congregation Sunday, by a standing vote, approved of the conditions.

Dr. Hiraiwa was one of the earliest converts to Christianity in the lands of the Mikado, and one of the first to enter the ministry of the Methodist church as a native preacher and pastor.

A NARROW ESCAPE

Men and Horses Break Through Ice in Rice Lake

What might have been a disastrous tragedy, was narrowly averted a few days ago, at Rice Lake.

Mr. Bruce Johnston, a farmer, residing on Cow Island, near Jubilee Point, accompanied by another resident of that vicinity, was attempting to drive across the lake to Gore's Landing the day last week. When the two men arrived about the center of the lake, they drove into an open space, probably started by one of the dangerous air holes, that renders Rice Lake so dangerous to winter traffic. Both horses, rig and men were suddenly struggling in the ice water. The two men managed to crawl out onto the ice with great difficulty, and although almost paralyzed with cold, succeeded in rescuing their horses.

It was indeed a very narrow escape for all concerned, and it is almost miraculous that they managed to save the horses.

31 BOXES OF GOLD

300 BOXES OF GREENBACKS

For the most words made up from these letters

Y-I-O-GRAPE-NUTS

331 people will earn these prizes.

Around the fireside or about the well-lighted family reading table during the winter evenings the children and grown-ups can play with their wits and see how many words can be made.

30 people receiving the greatest number of words will each receive a little box containing a $10.00 gold piece.

10 people will each win one box containing $1.00 in paper money and one person who makes the highest number of words over all contestants will receive a box containing $100.00 in gold.

It is really a most fascinating bit of fun to take up the list evening after evening and see how many words can be added.

A few rules are necessary for absolute fair play.

Any word authorized by Webster's dictionary will be counted, but no name of person. Both the singular and plural can be used, as for instance "grape" and "grapes."

The letters in "Y—I—O—Grape-Nuts" may be repeated in the same word.

Geographical names authorized by Webster will be counted.

Arrange the words in alphabetical classes, and those beginning with A together and those beginning with E to come under E, etc.

When you are writing down the words leave some spaces, in the A, E, and other columns to fill in later as new words come to you, for they will spring into mind every evening.

It is almost certain that some contestants will tie with others. In such cases a prize identical in value and character with that offered in that class shall be awarded to each. Each one will be requested to send with the list of words a plainly written letter describing the advantages of Grape-Nuts, but the contestant is not required to purchase a pkg. These letters are not to contain poetry, or fancy flourishes, but simple, truthful statements of fact. For illustration: A person may have experienced some incipient or chronic ails traceable to unwise selection of food that failed to give the body and brain the energy, health and power desired. Seeking better conditions a change in food is made and Grape-Nuts and cream used in place of the former diet. Suppose one quits the meat, fried potatoes, starchy, sticky messes of half-cooked oats or wheat and cuts out the coffee. Try, say, for breakfast a bit of fruit, a dish of Grape-Nuts and cream, two soft-boiled eggs, a slice of hard toast and a cup of Postum Food Coffee. Some amateur says: "A man would faint away on that," but my dear friend we put dollars to your pennies that the noon hour will find a man on our breakfast huskier and with a stronger heart-beat and clearer working brain than he ever had on the old diet.

Suppose, if you have never really made a move for absolutely clean health that pushes you along each day with a spring in your step and a reserve vigor in muscle and brain that makes the doing of things a pleasure, you join the army of "plain old common sense" and start in now. Then after you have been 2 or 4 weeks on the Grape-Nuts training you write a statement of how you used to be and how you are now. The simple facts will interest others and surprise yourself. We never publish names except on permission, but we often tell the facts in the newspapers and when requested give the names by private letter.

There is plenty of time to get personal experience with Grape-Nuts and write a sensible, truthful letter to be sent in with the list of words, as the contest does not close until April 30th, 1906. So start in as soon as you like in building words, and start in using Grape-Nuts. Cut this statement out and keep the letters Y—I—O—Grape-Nuts before you and when you write your letter you will have some reason to write on the subject "Why I Owe Grape-Nuts."

Remember 331 persons will win prizes, which will be awarded in an exact and just manner as soon as the list can be counted after April 30th, 1906. Every contestant will be sent a printed list of names and addresses of winners on application, in order to have proof that the prizes are sent as agreed. The company is well known all over the world for absolute fidelity to its agreements and every single one of the 331 winners may depend on receiving the prize won.

Many persons might feel it useless to contest, but when one remembers the great number of prizes (331) the curiosity of seeing how many words can really be made up evening after evening, and the good, natural fun and education in the competition, it seems worth the trial; there is no cost, nothing to lose, and a fine opportunity to win one of the many boxes of gold or greenbacks.

We make the prediction that some who win a prize of gold or greenbacks, will also win back health and strength worth more to them than a wagon full of money prizes.

There are no preliminaries, cut out this statement and go at it and send in the list and letter before April 30th, 1906, to Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich., and let your name and address be plainly written.

Do You Know That Copper Mining Pays

$40,000,000 IN DIVIDENDS ANNUALLY?

Do you realize that mining is one of the world's most profitable industries? Did it ever occur to you that all money and all advantages of civilization are founded almost absolutely upon the products of the mines of the world?

TUSAS PEAK GOLD & COPPER MINING CO.

A corporation engaged in legitimate mining under the direction of reputable business men who give its management able and careful consideration.

260 Acres of Rich Mineral Lands

owned by this company and every part demonstrated by actual mining work

Immense Deposits of Copper Ores

Values Proven By Developed Mines

with thousands of feet of workings extending to a depth of over 400 feet

Equipped With Substantial Machinery

Complete Modern Ore Reduction Mill

is now being built where the ore will be converted direct into bullion

Annual Profits of $90,000.00 Assured

by expert mining engineers based on ores actually blocked out in mines. $80,000.00 has been expended in mine workings which prove these facts.

The Scourge of Consumption

Thousands Are Dying—If Tired Languid or Run Down Get Protection Before Too Late

Allow the blood to become thin, and immediately the whole system grows weak. The lungs are deprived of resisting power and the ever-present tubercular bacilli develops.

The most positive protection against consumption is Ferrozone, which restores the blood to full strength. Weak organs are instantly strengthened. Worn-out tissues are rebuilt. New life is given to the lungs and all danger of consumption is destroyed.

Mrs. E. J. Richardson, Manotick, Ont., tells as follows of her enormous gain in health from Ferrozone: "For two years I was not well. I was thin and anaemic. Towards spring I fell into a condition of nervous exhaustion. A dead tiredness hung over me like a load of lead. Housework of any kind I simply couldn't do. A bad cough developed that worried me greatly for I thought it might be tubercular. When I first read of Ferrozone I was convinced it was good. I took it regularly for eight weeks and the change in my condition was wonderful. My cheeks filled out and became clear and rosy. I gained eight pounds and now am strong and vigorous as possible."

Ferrozone feeds, nourishes and tones up the body—it sends the thrill and vim of robust health from head to foot—makes you feel better at once. Won't you use Ferrozone? Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

PETERBORO, FEBRUARY 14 1906

PETER'S PENCE.

There has been much widespread interest in the question as to whether the climate is undergoing a radical change or not. Old records generally refer to the coldness of the winters, which began in November and lasted till the end of March, snow covering the ground during the greater part of this time. There is little mention of extreme heat or any unusual condition in the summer months. These records tell of the intense and uninterrupted cold of the winter of 1779-1780, which lasted from the latter part of November till the middle of March. Snow covered the ground nearly four feet deep for three consecutive months. Has there been any change? Is there a change taking place at present? Those who believe that climatic changes are taking place and are still going on hold diverse opinions as to the cause. Some attribute it largely to the cutting of the forest and the extensive drainage of the soil as the result of cultivation; others hold that the polar ice is leaving the poles and drifting into waters of the middle latitude; others that the great volume of artificial heat generated in the larger cities has a tendency to moderate the cold. But the theory having the strongest hold and which is steadfastly persisted in is that the Gulf Stream is changing its course and is running closer to the shore of North America, its warmth being felt all over the land. As to the records of the past thirty years, they show fluctuations—that some winters have been much colder than others and some summers much hotter than others—but in figuring out the amount of heat and cold received at each place, it is found that the one just about counterbalances the other, the annual average temperature being confined to a very narrow limit, some years varying therefrom not more than four degrees.

IS THE CLIMATE CHANGING?

The statement made by Mgr. Falconio, the apostolic delegate, as to the amount of the collections of "Peter's pence" in the United States makes it evident that the Roman Catholics in that country have been somewhat remiss in the support they have given the papal see through this form of monetary aid. In the past the papal establishment at Rome has rested financially upon assistance that has been obtained from France. We think we are not mistaken in saying that during the recent past the monetary aid which the pope has obtained which has come from the French Roman Catholics has been equal to that which he has received from all of the other Roman Catholics in the world. Now that the concordat has come to an end, a burden has been thrown upon the French Roman Catholics which they have not hitherto had to consider. More and more, as time goes on, the cost of supporting their religious establishments will rest upon the people themselves, and probably a large part of this support will of necessity come from those who have been in the past the most generous contributors to "Peter's pence." This implies that the contributions that the Vatican will receive from France will undergo a diminution which should be made good by increased contributions from other parts of the world, and perhaps nowhere will larger increases be looked for than from the Roman Catholics of this country.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

John Mitchell states it as his determination to secure more pay for the coal miners, who are already the best paid unskilled labor in the world. What he will succeed in doing, however, is to put them in a condition where they will get no pay at all.

King Edward Cuts Some Kissing.

Until the accession of King Edward not only each peeress, but every daughter of a peer, was entitled to a ceremonial kiss from the sovereign on presentation at court, and at Dublin castle, the Viceroy, as Lord Lieutenant of the Monarch, was required by etiquette to accord a similar salutation to every woman presented, no matter whether young or aged, married or single, homely or beautiful. Fortunately the vast majority of the daughters of Eria are extremely attractive, so that the Lords Lieutenant seldom complained, and it is doubtful whether the reform instituted by Edward VII. in abolishing viceregal osculation at Dublin castle was quite as popular as most of the other innovations which he has inaugurated. He, however, justly took the ground that since he himself had sacrificed the Monarchical prerogative of kissing debutantes at court there was no reason whatsoever why the Viceroy of Ireland should continue to enjoy it as his representative. It may be added that until now the Nationalists have not seen fit to add this measure on his part to the long list of wrongs to which they claim the Emerald Isle has been subjected by the British Crown.

There are certain forms of ceremonial kiss, however, which Edward VII. has not attempted to abolish. Thus, Archbishops and Bishops of the church of England, Ambassadors and Ministers plenipotentiary, Cabinet officers, and the great dignitaries of court and state, kiss his hand at the audience at which he confers upon them their appointment, and the fact that they have "kissed hands on appointment" is always recorded in the royal Court Circular and The London Gazette. Similar homage is paid to Emperor William, to the venerable Francis Joseph of Austria, to the Czars of Russia, to the Sultan of Turkey, to the Kings of Sweden and Denmark, to the Sovereigns of Spain and Portugal, and to many of the minor rulers of Germany. Indeed, one of the most picturesque incidents of the ceremony of the accession to the Crown of Emperor William, was when at the close of his first speech from the throne old Prince Bismarck and the still more aged Field Marshal Count Moltke, both stepped forward and bowed low to kiss the hand of the young Monarch, whom they had known intimately ever since his earliest infancy.

Railways Kill An Army Yearly.

The annual report of the U. S. Interstate Commerce Commission, giving the railroad statistics for the year 1904, shows that there were at the end of the year 297,073 miles of railroad in the United States. Total number of casualties was 94,901, 10,046 having been killed and 84,155 injured. Of those killed 441 were passengers and of the wounded 8,111, or one passenger killed out of every 632,207 carried and one injured out of every 78,523 carried.

The number of passengers reported carried in the year was 715,419,632, increase 20,508,147. The passenger mileage, or the number of passengers carried one mile, was 21,923,212,536, increase 1,007,449,655. The number of tons of freight carried was 1,300,890,165, increase 5,504,342 tons. The ton mileage, or the number of tons carried one mile, was 174,533,089,677. The gross earnings were $1,978,174,601, increase $74,327,184. The operating expenses were $1,339,906,283, increase $31,357,401. The number of persons on the pay rolls of the railroads of the United States, as returned for June, 1904, was 1,296,121, decrease 16,416. The wages and salaries paid for the year amounted to $317,598,816.

Still Had a Little Pride.

"What is this man charged with?" asked the police justice.

"Stealing a dog, your honor," said the officer.

"Well, sir, what have you got to say for yourself?"

"Your honor," answered the prisoner, drawing a grimy coat sleeve across his nose, "if you'll make it embezzlement I'll plead guilty. I may be a thief, but I've got feelings."

An Ashantee Belle.

On the Ashanti Gold Coast the costume of a reigning belle is less a matter of well fitting clothes than of well spiked hair. The hair is first divided into a half dozen braids; then these braids are stiffened with wax and tar until they are as hard as kindling wood and stick out straight from the head in a semicircle like the spokes of a wheel. Thus coiffured the belle is ready to conquer all hearts.

BY GUY BOOTHBY

Author of "A Beautiful White Devil," "A Bid For Fortune," "The Marriage of Esther," "Dr. Nikola," Etc., Etc.

"That I do not admit. I only remember that I assisted you to obtain your revenge on a man who had wronged you. On summing up so judiciously, pray do not forget that point."

Nikola evidently thought he had obtained an advantage, and was quick to improve on it.

"Come, come," he said, "what is the use of our quarrelling like a pair of children? All I want of you is an answer to two simple questions."

"What are your questions?"

"I want to know, first, what you did with Bartrand's body when you got rid of it out of the cab."

"You really wish to know that?"

He nodded.

"Then come with me," I said, "and I'll tell you."

I led him into the house, and, having reached the bed in the corner, pulled down the sheet.

He bent over the figure lying there so still, and then started back with a cry of surprise. For a moment I could see that he was non-plussed as he had probably not been in his life before, but by the time one could have counted twenty, this singular being was himself again.

"I congratulate you," he said, turning to me and holding out his hand. "The king has come into his own again. You are now one of the richest men in the world, and I can ask my second question."

"Be certain first," I said, "I inherit nothing from Mr. Bartrand."

"What do you mean by that? I happen to know that his will was made in your favor."

"You are quite mistaken. He made a later will this afternoon, leaving all his money and estates to four London hospitals."

Nikola's face went paler than I had ever seen it yet. His thin lips trembled perceptibly. The man was visibly anxious.

"You will excuse my appearing to doubt you, I hope," he said, "but may I see that will?"

I called Mr. Maybourne into the room and asked him if he had any objection to allowing Dr. Nikola to see the paper in question. He handed it to him without hesitation, keeping close to his elbow while he perused it. The Doctor read it slowly from beginning to end, examined the signature, noted the names of the executors, and also of the witnesses, and when he had done so, returned it to Mr. Maybourne with a bow.

"Thank you," he said, politely. "It is excellently drawn up, and, with your evidence against me, I fear it would be foolish for me to dispute it. In that case, I don't think I need trouble your hospitality any further."

Then, turning to me, he led me from the house across to where his horse was standing.

"Good-bye, Pennethorne," he said. "All I can say of you is that your luck is greater than your cleverness. I am not so blase but I can admire a man who can surrender three millions without a sigh. I must confess I am vulgar enough to find that it costs me a pang to lose even my sixty thousand. I wanted it badly. Had my coup only come off, and the dead man in there not been such an inveterate ass, I should have had the whole amount of his fortune in my hands by this time, and in six months I would have worked out a scheme that would have paralyzed Europe. As it is, I must look elsewhere for the amount. When you wish to be proud of yourself, try to remember that you have baulked Dr. Nikola in one of his best-planned schemes, and saved probably half-a-million lives by doing so. Believe me, there are far cleverer men than you who have tried to outwit me and failed. I suppose you will marry Miss Maybourne now. Well, I wish you luck with her. If I am a judge of character, she will make you an able wife. In ten years time you will be a commonplace rich man, with scarcely any idea outside your own domestic circle while I—well the devil himself knows where or what I shall be then. I wonder which will be the happier? Now I must be off. Though you may not think it, I always liked you, and if you had thrown in your lot with me, I might have made something of you. Good-bye."

He held out his hand, and as he did so he looked me full in the face. For the last time I felt the influence of those extraordinary eyes. I took the hand he offered and bade him good-bye with almost a feeling of regret, mad as it may seem to say so, at the thought that in all probability I should never see him again. Next moment he was on his horse's back and out on the veldt making for the westward. I stood and watched him till he was lost in the gathering gloom, and then went slowly back to the house thinking of the change that had come into my life, thanking God for my freedom.

Three months have passed since the events just narrated took place, and I am back in Cape Town again, finishing the writing of this story of the most adventurous period of my life, in Mr. Maybourne's study. To-morrow my wife (for I have been married a week to-day) and I leave South Africa on a trip round the world. What a honeymoon it will be!

"The Pride of the South," you will be glad to hear, has made gallant strides since the late trouble in Rhodesia, and as my shares have quadrupled in value, to say nothing of the other ventures in which I have been associated with my father-in-law, I am making rapid progress towards becoming a rich man. And now it only remains for me to bring my story to a close. By way of an epilogue let me say that no better, sweeter, or more loyal wife than I possess could possibly be desired by any mortal man. I love her with my whole heart and soul, as she loves me, and I can only hope that every masculine reader who may have the patience to wade through these, to me, interminable pages, may prove as fortunate in his choice as I have been. More fortunate, it is certain, he could not be.

THE END.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company

NOTICE TO SHAREHOLDERS.—A special general meeting of the shareholders of the company will be held at the principal office of the company at Montreal on Monday, the 19th day of March next, at noon, pursuant to the Act of Parliament of Canada, 55-56 Victoria, Chapter 95, entitled "An act respecting the Canadian Pacific Railway Company," for the purpose of considering, and, if approved, of authorizing an increase of the present authorized ordinary capital stock of the company from one hundred and ten million dollars to one hundred and fifty million dollars, being an increase of forty million dollars, and of determining the amount or amounts and the time or times of the issue or issues of said stock, the purposes to which the proceeds thereof shall be applied, and of adopting such resolutions or bylaws as may be deemed necessary in connection therewith in order to enable the directors of the company to give effect to the same. The common stock transfer books will be closed in Montreal, New York and London at 1 p.m. on Saturday, February 24th instant; the preference stock books will be closed in London on the same date. All books will be reopened on Tuesday, April 3rd, 1906. By order of the board.

RAILWAY WILL CROSS SOUTH

Santiago, Chile, Feb. 13.—The first section of the trans-Andine Railway was inaugurated yesterday. The line reaches to the foot of the Andes, where the tunnel begins. The line will shorten the time to Buenos Ayres by six hours. The president and the civil authorities were present at the inauguration ceremonies.

To the Canadian Investor

DORES-MONTGOMERY MINING COMPANY OF BULLFROG, NEVADA

The undersigned is pleased to announce to the investors of Canada that he has been appointed Canadian Fiscal Agent of the above company, and is offering a limited amount of treasury stock at 25c. per share for developement work. This property is just 1200 feet southwest of the famous Montgomery Shoshone mine and both have unquestionably the same vein. The group shows a well defined vein cropping out through, and it is a perfect fissure. A six inch talc seam on the hanging wall gives high values. We have also several other ledges, and it is only a matter of development work to make this property equal to any producer in the section.

The management of the Montgomery Shoshone conservatively estimates that the mine has produced $300,000 worth of ore. If this is right, the ore from the mine has averaged about $975 a ton, or about $1830 for every foot of sinking, the mine being 4 x 7 in clear.

Ore from the mine running less than $250 is thrown over the dump as milling ore. No less than 150 tons of ore has been shipped from this mine, all of it coming from the mine. Another shipment of 50 tons or more will be made via Las Vegas in a few days.

The figures given above are startling in the extreme, but the measurements and ore values as quoted are official—direct from the management of the wonderful mine that is today astonishing the world.

This property is only 1200 feet from the Dores Montgomery Mine.

RELIABLE FISCAL AGENT WANTED

SPLENDID PROPOSITION

Iron Spar Copper Mining Company Has Appointed a Canadian Agent Only a Limited Number of Shares for Sale.

Among the new mining properties that are attracting attention in the Coeur D'Alene District of Idaho for their encouraging conditions, the Iron Spar Copper property is one of the foremost. A large auriferous copper ledge traverses the property for a distance of 6,000 feet, crossing from Idaho to Montana, over the main range of the Coeur d'Alene Mountains, which form the boundary line between these States. In the matter of transportation facilities the Iron Spar has a great advantage over many other properties, being distant only a mile and a half from the Northern Pacific Railroad, and a half mile from a good wagon road. The property is owned by the Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., and the greatest economy and dispatch is being practised in opening up vein.

Another contract will be let soon to extend the present tunnel another hundred feet on the vein, and a good workable ore is expected within ten days from time work is started. The character of the vein and enclosing formation is in all essential particulars similar to that of the Monitor and Richmond on the divide, a few miles to the east. Great depth is possible to be gained on the ledge by driving westward into the main range, which line of policy will be strictly adhered to in the matter of development, to further economize and expedite the work. It is the intention of the company to install a compressor and machine drills early in the spring.

Mr. W. K. Hall, of this city, has secured a block of stock of this splendid proposition, and will dispose of it for a short time at ten cents per share.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $20 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15 by 1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold for five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY, Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

A Case of Coon Not "Cure"

Yesterday morning a young man came to The Times office, and told us that a friend of his, on Monday night, whilst on his way home, saw a raccoon cross the street. Our informant was somewhat sceptical and asked whether this was a case of mistake in the mixture or probability. He was reassured however that this coon was likely not to be the "False creation of a boose befuddled brain, as recently a raccoon with several young coons or coonlets, were discovered in a Simcoe street hayloft.

—Capt. P. Davies, of the 3rd Dragoons claims to have seen a silver fox in the North Monaghan woods on Monday. As this style of fox's skin is worth from $150 to $200, the North Monaghan residents should lay in a supply of salt and capture it.

—Don't forget the special train on which Peterboro's delegation, to try and get a Government Normal school for this city, travel. It leaves at 8.45 on Wednesday morning, and returns late that night, on tickets costing $2.05, which are good until Feb. 15th.

—The remains of Mrs. John G. Cummings, wife of the city engineer of Fernie, B.C., who died nearly two years ago, were removed last week to the family plot in the burying ground at Deseronto, Ont. The deceased was Edith Hubbs, daughter of Mr. C. E. Hubbs, Bruce Lake, and sister of Mr. Fred Hubbs of this city.

—The break in Belleville's gas mains, as noted in a former issue of The Times, has been located and stopped. It seems that the pipes were laid badly and the plumbing poor. The leakage of gas amounted to 12,000 feet every 24 hours. Oh for a political convention in the Bay City to secure some of the excess gas!

—Take in the Toronto trip today at 8.45 a.m. by special train. You get a ticket good for three days at $2.05, have a good time, see the opening of Parliament, and more than all, you can help, augment the efforts of Peterboro to secure a big and handsome public building, a Normal school. It's a good thing, push it along!

Woman's Trials.

The bitter trail in a woman's life is to be childless. Who can tell how hard the struggle may have been ere she learnt to resign herself to her lonely lot? The absence of this link to bind marital life together, the absence of this one pledge to mutual affection is a common disappointment. Many unfortunate couples become estranged thereby. Even if they do not drift apart, one may read the whole extent of their disappointment in the eyes of such a childless couple when they rest on the children of others. To them the largest family does not seem too numerous.

In many cases of barrenness or childlessness the obstacle to child-bearing is easily removed by the cure of weakness on the part of the woman. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been the means of restoring health and fruitfulness to many a barren woman, to the great joy of the household. In other, but rare cases, the obstruction to the bearing of children has been found to be of a surgical character, but easily removable by painless operative treatment at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., over which Dr. Pierce of the "Favorite Prescription" fame presides. In all cases where children are desired and are absent, an effort should be made to find out the real cause, since it is generally so easily removed by proper treatment.

In all the various weaknesses, displacements, prolapsus, inflammation and decided, disagreeable drains, and in all cases of nervousness and debility, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the most efficient remedy that can possibly be used. It has to its credit hundreds of thousands of cures—more in fact than any other remedy put up for sale through druggists, especially for woman's use. The ingredients of which the "Favorite Prescription" is composed have received the most positive endorsement from the leading medical writers on Materia Medica of all the several schools of practice. All the ingredients are printed in plain English on the wrapper enclosing the bottle, so that any woman making use of this famous medicine may know exactly what she is taking. Dr. Pierce takes his patients into his full confidence, which he can afford to do as the formula after which the "Favorite Prescription" is made will bear the most careful examination.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the best and safest laxative for women.

The program was prepared by the Mission Band of Knox church, and the principal feature was lantern views of mission work in the Northwest, shown by Mr. Jas. A. Fife. The explanatory remarks were given by W. M. Mackay.

Representatives were present from the Fraser Mission Band and the Faithful Workers' Mission Band.

EIGHTH ANNUAL MEETING

The Equity Fire Insurance Co.

DIRECTOR'S REPORT

Your Directors, in presenting the duly audited financial statement of the Company's business for the year ended Dec. 31st, 1905, desire to call attention to the increase in premiums from $315,795.45 in 1904 to $360,591.68 in 1905, on 14,688 risks and $17,368,171 insurance.

The reorganization of the United States business, including greater direct control of the company, gives promise of sharing more largely in profitable business in that field.

The Company has now a substantial reserve account, a well-established and increasing premium income, and a thorough organization. With careful underwriting and systematic inspection we look for a record year in 1906. Your Directors have declared a dividend of 6 per cent. upon the paid-up Capital of the Company for the year.

The period for which the Directors were elected is now expired. They are eligible for re-election.

Your Directors bear testimony to the zeal and care of the agents, the office staff and officials of the company.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

THOMAS CRAWFORD, President. WILLIAM GREENWOOD BROWN, Secretary.

CHINA AND THE POWERS PARTITION OF EMPIRE

Germany Now Looking to China for Large Increase in Colonial Possessions

GERMANY IS FIRMLY BACKED BY RUSSIA

Ominous News That German Officers Away on Furlough Have Been Recalled.

Berlin, February 14.—Germany's position at Kiao-Chau has been the subject of a great deal of discussion in diplomatic circles here since the news of the mysterious movements of British and American troops toward the far east was first received and while no one ventures to say explicitly that German influences are behind the anti-foreign movement in the vicinity of Shang Hai and Canton and elsewhere, it is a matter of general comment that Germany will undoubtedly be the gainer if the movement is of such proportions as to call for a renewal of international interference for the protection of foreign born citizens in the Chinese Empire.

Early last year it became generally known that Germany was desirous of increasing her holdings in Shantung and that Kaiser Wilhelm had planned a great eastern colonial empire with Kiao-Chau as a base, and it is known that he has never quite abandoned that idea and would welcome a turn of affairs such as many students of western affairs affect to believe is not far distant and which may result in the partition of the empire.

It is intimated here that German military officers abroad have been notified to hold themselves in readiness for orders to return home immediately. This could not be verified nor could it be ascertained just what emergency the government had in view when it issued this unusual call, if it was really issued.

There is still another point at which German influence is making itself felt in an unpleasant manner in China. Diplomats who have been watching the turn of affairs in that direction since the termination of the Russo-Japanese war do not hesitate to express the belief that Russia is even now planning to acquire an ice-free outlet in the far east, this to be located possibly on the gulf of Pe-Chili.

It is pointed out that in the preliminary negotiations for the Russo-Chinese treaty, now being conducted at Pekin by M. Pokotiloff, a request is made for important concessions at Kalgan and Urga.

The former point is only a comparatively short distance from Pekin on the great highway leading to Siberia, and when it is taken in connection with the other concessions asked for in Mongolia, the conclusion is forced that the St. Petersburg government, with its usual persistency, is striving for the same end, the attainment of which was blocked by Japan at Port Arthur.

With this achieved Germany is understood to be in complete accord, as it will further her own desires for territorial desires in Shantung.

Great Britain, of course, is strongly opposed to any combination or agreement between Russia and China which will give the former a stronger hold than she now has on Turkestan, as such advancement would be a grave menace to Thibet and India.

The Tribune last night published a sensational story under a Che-Foo date saying the Emperor of Corea is a prisoner, guarded in his palace by Japanese troops.

The correspondent claims to have obtained a secret document [illegible] the imperial signature, in which the emperor declares he never signed or agreed to the Japanese treaty, and invites the great powers to exercise a joint protectorate in regard to Korean foreign affairs for a period of five years.

Memphis, Tenn., February 14.—The News-Scimitar today learns that a German officer, a first lieutenant in the Kaiser's army, is passing through this city, and is authority for the statement that all German officers on leave of absence in this country have been recalled. The lieutenant is en route to New Orleans or Galveston, where he will sail for Germany via Italy.

Washington, February 14.—The German embassy in this city denied that the German government has ordered all German officers in the United States to return home. Any such order would have to go through the embassy here.

CHORAL SOCIETY PRACTICE

Several New Numbers are Tried With Eminent Success

It was decided at a committee meeting of the Peterboro Choral Society, held after their practice, owing to the deplorable lack of tenors and basses, during the past two or three weeks, not to hold a concert, this month as originally intended, but, subject to the improved attendance of the male members of the chorus, a concert will be held in Easter week.

At their practice on Tuesday evening a new choral number, 'The Miller's Wooing,' by Eaton Faning, was tried, also Bishop's "Now Tramp O'er Moss and Fell," with soprano obligato by Miss Helen Davies, who also took the obligato in Garrett's "Farewell Pinsutis" "Watchword." Lemmen's "Drops of Rain," Barnby's "Lullaby," and a German Volkslied were also rehearsed. The attendance of sopranos continues very good, but the men seem to set on the old excuses understood "I have a curling match," or "I have an engagement, and I pray them have me excused."

CONSERVATIVE "AT HOME"

This Evening's Entertainment is an Assured Success

Once more, although it is or should not be necessary, we can, from a personal inspection made, assure those who were at the last Conservative Club's "at home," frightened without real cause, that every thing is perfectly safe as regards the floors of the club's fine apartments. As is known to many of our readers, at their last "at home," a temporary covering over a disused stairway, from the unexpected and unprovided for weight, gave way an inch or two. This difficulty has been completely done away with, and tonight's "at home" will be the best, largest and liveliest that this city has seen.

A large number of ladies have signified their intention of being present and taking part in the program. Those attending may look forward to a pleasant evening of song and instrumental music. Each member of the club is at liberty to ask two ladies. A cloak room downstairs is being provided and the committee composed of Messrs. J. G. M. Wilson, W. A. Brundrette, and Harry Phelan are spared no pains to make the "at home" a success. The rooms will be suitably decorated and cake and coffee will be served during the evening.

The piano in the club rooms is in excellent condition and the rooms are spacious, suitable for good music. No doubt the billiard and pool apartment where the tables are in splendid shape, will be taken advantage of by many. There is no more graceful game for the fair sex than pool or billiards. To those however who prefer to have a quiet game of whist or euchre there will be ample opportunity. Visitors from the country are cordially invited. Let them come in and bring their lady friends. Tonight the Young Conservative Club rooms will certainly be a great center of attraction, and one of the most enjoyable "at home s" ever held in Peterboro is being looked forward to with eager anticipation.

It is understood that members of the club may invite ladies of the Liberal persuasion to accompany them, and it is unnecessary to say that they will one and all receive a cordial welcome.

BIG ICE SHIPMENTS

Coboconk Pond is Supplying Canadian and American Cities

That bright little sheet, the Minden Echo, published at the confines of our northern civilization, says that the Gull River Lumber Co., whose manager is Mr. G. W. Stevens have combined the shipping of ice with their usual occupations.

The company have a large gang of men at work on Coboconk Pond getting out great quantities of ice for shipment to Canadian and United States cities, and it is expected that the water of Gull river will be largely used in a congealed form, in many of the large cities of this continent during next summer and fortunate will be the places securing their supply of ice from this source for it is safe to say that no scientific world can exceed it in pureness. The waters of the Gull come from springs in the granite mountains from which it takes its source, and from many spring lakes ranging from 100 feet to 700 feet in depth, the waters of which are clear and sparkling. Gull River does not drain any marsh lands, but passes through a purely granite country until it empties into Cameron Lake. It is well known that water passing through granite stratum is much healthier than that from a limestone formation, as a great deal of kidney troubles are traceable to limestone sediment in water. Where the waters of the Gull and Burnt Rivers come together, the difference between the two is very marked as they flow side by side in one stream, but without seeming to mix, that of the Burnt River being murky, whilst that of the Gull is exceedingly limpid. When the pureness of Gull River ice becomes generally known a great winter industry may be built up in shipping ice to different points in Canada and the States. At present the company who is making this experiment is taking out ice at the rate of a ton every four minutes. The blocks are twelve inches in thickness and weigh 180 pounds each. We wish the Gull River Lumber Company success in their venture.

But while the company has embarked in the ice business, do not let any one imagine that there is any let-up in the activity of their lumber business, as they are at present engaged in erecting an addition to their mill, to be used for the manufacture of lath and shingles, and they are taking out from 1,000 to 1,200 logs daily at their two camps in this vicinity. They need ten teams to haul the bark, of which they have between two and three hundred cords.

The employment given and money paid out by this company means a great deal to our business men and mechanics.

THE CUP SHIPPED

The Claim Made by The Times Bore Fruit at Lindsay

Adverting to an article entitled "Where is that Cup?" in a recent issue of The Times, asking the Lindsay Post for some or any reasonable excuse for the Peterboro-Lindsay cup not being in evidence when won by our local players in that town, the Post says as follows:

No difficulty arose between the the clubs in 1897, nor in any year between 1898 and 1904, and as a matter of fact the Cup was played for in 1897, and won by Lindsay by 78 points; played for again in 1898 and won by Lindsay by 30 points; played again in 1899 and won by Lindsay by 12 points; played for again in 1904 and won by Lindsay; and in 1905 it was again won by Lindsay, making eight wins by play and three by default for Lindsay, and five wins for Peterboro. We understand that the Cup was cleaned up and expressed to Peterboro Club on Saturday, the day after the match, and if the Peterboro Club did not receive it for some days the delay cannot be the fault of the local curlers. In closing we desire to again express our pleasure that the games for this cup have been revived, and we express the hope that they may be as keen and as friendly each season as they have been since President Neill and his men came up to Lindsay in 1904, and for that matter as friendly as in the good old days, when three and four and five matches were played each year for the cup.

POPE PIUS X. IS SUED

UNUSUAL COURT ORDER ISSUED BY GOTHAM JUDGE

Head of Catholic Church, Under the Family Name of Joseph Sarto, Is Made Defendant in Suit for Construction of a Will

New York, February 14.—An unusual court order, which contemplates the service of Pope Pius X. with the summons and complaint in a suit for the construction of a will in which the pope is made a defendant, was issued yesterday by Justice Amend of the supreme court.

The order provides for the service both by publication in a New York newspaper and also by mailing copy of the papers by registered letter to the pope in the vatican. The pope is made a defendant under his family name, Joseph Sarto.

The suit was for a construction of the will of Mary H. Phelan, who died in 1885. Under the terms of a codicil in the will the pope is to receive an income of $250 a year upon the death of Mrs. Phelan's last surviving child. The present action was brought about by the raising of the question of how the order of the deaths of the seven children of Mrs. Phelan would affect certain provisions in the will.

Several other beneficiaries of the will besides the pope are named as defendants.

BETTER THAN PIE

Not Only the New Food But the Good Wife, as Well

When they brought the new food Grape-Nuts, into the house the husband sampled it first and said, "It's better than pie!" When it brought back a glow of health to the wife's cheeks, his admiration for it and her was increased, so she says and the rest of her story follows:

"From childhood I was troubled with constant and often acute indigestion, and when my baby was born it turned out that he had inherited the awful ailment.

"A friend told me of Grape-Nuts and I invested in a box and began to eat according to directions. It was after only a few days that I found my long abused stomach was growing stronger and that the attacks of indigestion were growing less frequent, and in an incredibly short time they ceased altogether. With my perfect digestion restored came strong nerves clear, active brain, the glow of health to my cheeks, and I know I was a better wife and mother and more agreeable to live with under the new conditions.

"When the boy came to be 10 months old he developed such an appetite (his dyspepsia disappeared with mine) that mother's milk was not sufficient for him. He rejected all baby foods, however, till I tried Grape-Nuts food, at Husband's suggestion. The youngster took to it at once and has eaten it daily ever since, thriving wonderfully on it. He now demands it at every meal and was much put out when he dined at a hotel a few days ago because the waitress could not fill his order for Grape-Nuts."

Mormon Apostle in Toronto

Toronto, February 14.—Joseph Smith, of Lamoni, Ia., president of the reorganized church of the "Latter Day Saints," accompanied by Mrs. Smith, arrived in the city yesterday from Washington, where he has been in attendance upon the committee of the United States Senate, investigating the Reed-Smoot case. President Smith is 70 years old. Mrs. Smith (nee Clark) is a Canadian by birth, and probably but half the age of her husband. They will remain in the city for some days.

Mr. Keanor on "Florence"

The leading feature of the next Y. M.C.A. "pop," on Saturday night, will be an interesting talk on 'Florence the Beautiful," by Mr. H. R. H Keanor, B.A., of the Collegiate Institute staff. Those who have heard Mr. Keanor's lectures have enjoyed it greatly. Last year when a similar lecture was given in connection with the "Pops" every available seat in the hall was occupied.

Encouraging Reply Given By Premier

A Large Deputation From Peterboro Interview the Government, Toronto, re Normal School.

Yesterday morning a large crowd accompanied the deputation of representative Peterboro citizens, who took the special C.P.R. train to Toronto. As already noted in these columns this deputation composed of representatives selected by the City Council, Board of Education, Board of Trade, Separate School Board, and personal nominees of Mayor Beat, went up to Toronto, and waited upon Hon. Dr Pyne, Minister of Education, and Premier Whitney at the Parliament buildings yesterday, and asked that one of the three proposed new Normal schools be built in Peterboro, in connection with the Collegiate Institute.

Among those who went up were; His Worship Mayor Beat, T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., Ald. Adams, Ball, Mason, McIntyre, Duncan, Hicks and Johnston; James Kendry, W. H. Moore, William Pringle, C. Fessenden, principal of the Collegiate Institute; D. Hughes Charlton, president of the Board of Trade; W. G. Ferguson, chairman of the Board of Education; W. H. Hill, John Carnegie, Wm. Langford, J. Coyle Brown, G. W. Bennett, M. C. Wilson, Adam Hall, G. M. Roger, R. A. Morrow, G. W. Hatton, R. M. Dennistoun, L. G. Patterson, T. F. Matthews, W. H. Meldrum, John Crane, City Clerk Armstrong, John Corkery, secretary Separate School Board, D. Walker, Public School Inspector, T. J. Lane.

Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., introduced the members, and Mr. W. H. Moore read the memorial on behalf of the city, which was left with the Ministers.

Hon. Dr. Reaume, Minister of Public Works, Hon. Nelson Monteith, Minister of Agriculture, were also present. Other speakers were Mayor Beat, Warden Johnston, Messrs. R. St. Dennistoun, C. Fessenden, Dr. Coughlin, Rev. Dr. O'Brien, D. Hughes Charlton and D. W. Dumble.

In reply Premier Whitney said the request of the deputation would receive careful consideration.

Hon. Dr. Pyne stated that he had been impressed with the case presented by the deputation, and Peterboro could rest assured that the Government would give the city very favorable consideration.

Sir,—The undersigned are the Warden of the County of Peterborough, the Mayor of the City of Peterborough, Chairman of the Peterborough Board of Education, the Chairman of the Peterborough Separate School Board and the President of the Peterborough Board of Trade.

The following are advanced as reasons why a Normal School should be located in the City of Peterborough:—

1. That part of the Province lying east of a line drawn from Parry Sound to Toronto, can be divided into two convenient Training School districts, by a line running from Pembroke to Kingston. Each of these districts will be approximately 150 miles in width and the center of one will be Ottawa and Peterborough the other.

In the Peterborough district there are at present, within a radius of 75 miles measured in a direct line from the City of Peterborough, no less than eleven Model Schools, seven Collegiate Institutes and twenty High Schools, exclusive of four in the immediate neighborhood of Toronto. That is, this district contains nearly one-fifth of all the teachers' training and preparatory schools of the Province.

2. The City is situated inland and from it lines of railway radiate in every direction. Strategically it is one of the most central points in the Province of Ontario.

3. The population of the City is 15,000 and it is steadily increasing. The City is progressive and healthy: it is well served by systems of waterworks, sewers and electric railways.

4. It is the See City of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Peterborough, and is therefore peculiarly suitable for a training center for Separate School teachers.

5. The City contains four parks, one of which is known as Central Park, containing six acres of land; this park is available as a site for a Collegiate Institute, by reason of a special Act of the Legislature passed in the year 1905. The land is worth at least $60,000. The Dominion Government has taken two acres of it for the purpose of an Armory, leaving two acres for a building site and two acres for a park in common to both.

6. It is suggested that a site for a Normal School can be procured on this property without expense to the Government.

7. The Peterborough Board of Education suggest that the Normal School be combined in one building with the Collegiate Institute. The ratepayers of the City of Peterborough have recently voted $50,000 for the erection of a Collegiate Institute, and $40,000 of this money is now available for building purposes. It is suggested that the Normal School and the Collegiate Institute might be built under one roof to the advantage of both institutions, and at a considerable saving of expense.

8. The main items upon which expense would be saved by an amalgamation of the two buildings, are as follows:—

(1) Site.
(2) Gymnasium.
(3) Assembly Hall.
(4) Scientific Laboratories.
(5) Drill Instruction.
(6) Instruction in Music and Art.
(7) Heating.
(8) Plumbing.
(9) Janitors.

9. There are in the City six Public and three Separate Schools, providing fifty-four class-rooms available, if required, for Normal School practice teaching.

10. If, however, the Government cannot see its way to the proposal of a joint building to accommodate the Normal School and the Collegiate Institute on the said park, the City can readily secure a central and desirable location for the school.

11. There is no institution controlled by either the Provincial Government or the Dominion Government, within the County of Peterborough, and it is felt by all classes of citizens, that Peterborough is entitled to recognition in this respect.

Most of those who went up, returned late last night, a few stopping to see the opening of Parliament.

POLICE COURT NEWS

Only one prisoner was up before yesterday's police court, viz., George Valois, against whom it was charged that he did on Tuesday, 13th February, break into a house, 130 Edinburg street and steal therefrom one suit of clothes, one revolver, one watch and chain, one mouth organ, one razor and razor strop, and several other articles contrary to the criminal code.

In the absence of Police Magistrate Dumble in Toronto, Magistrate Eastwood occupied the rostrum. The prisoner who pleaded guilty, was remanded for trial until Saturday morning to appear before the police magistrate.

The case is out of the ordinary, in that the prisoner, broke into the house, and stole the goods of his own father, Joseph Valois, during the absence of the rest of the family.

His father, who was the complainant, was very "keen" against his son. In telling the tale of woe to Inspector in the station, before the trial, the old man said, "By gar I go home, I find my good clothes gone, and my old suit laying on the floor. He day tak my pistol, my watch, and many odder things."

While the prisoner, then in his cell, awaiting trial, heard the old man giving his account of the robbery, he called out, "You old ——, you grove me to it." The old man retorted, "Yes you'll get soaked good."

As my Eastwood came into the station on his way to the court room, a bystander, not knowing what particular case or cases were to be tried, in fun said, "Now, Mr. Eastwood, be sure you temper justice with mercy." the old man hearing this broke out with "No! No mercy for him!"

A Substantial Company

Substantial and rapid growth has been the history of the Sun Life of Canada from its organization, but no year in its history has the Company shown such advance as last year. In our advertising pages will be seen a statement the Company has sent out that tells a story of success. The increases over last year are splendid. A feature of last year's operations is the completion of placing all the Company's policies upon a 3½-3 per cent. interest basis, thus strengthening the Company's reserves. Life companies are allowed until 1915 to do this, but the Sun Life did it in 1905, and is now untrammelled to pursue its way of progress. The policyholders of this company should feel pleased with the most excellent showing.

Do You Know That Copper Mining Pays $40,000,000 IN DIVIDENDS ANNUALLY?

TIREDNESS MEANS DANGER

When you're tired all day, bothered by trifles, exhausted with nervousness, be sure there is something wrong.

You need bracing up, need more nourishment in the blood, need powerful building vitalizing nerves and distributive force and strengthening power to all over-worked organs.

The most marvelous success is Ferrozone, a nourishing tonic so scientific as to be the admiration of every physician. Ferrozone performs wonders for people in poor health; acts directly on the blood, enriching it with strength and new life that is at once dispatched to all parts of the body. Ferrozone feeds the nerves and vital energies, supplies force, determination and joyous, buoyant spirits.

A case where there was tiredness and lack of strength is told by Mr. David Brown, of post-office box No. 89, Boston, Ont.: "About a year ago my health commenced to fail. My hands and feet seemed always cold. I felt worn-out and exhausted, weak as a little child. My face twitched. My limbs and arms commenced to lose their sense of feeling and finally my left side was perfectly numb. All my color left. My appetite ran down. Ferrozone was the first to give me any help. I improved with it very quickly. It toned up the blood and started circulation, so that the numbness gradually disappeared. My condition was perfectly cured by Ferrozone, and I have been well ever since. (Signed) "David Brown."

SPECIAL NOTICE.—To get satisfactory results be sure you get Ferrozone only. Fifty cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

THE NEW CHINESE ARMY.

If the three American regiments which, according to announcements, are to be sent to the Philippines so that they will be conveniently placed for service in China are ever actually used against the reorganized troops of that country they will have work to do of a very different kind from that of the march upon Peking by the arglies of the powers in 1900.

The crusade of "China for the Chinese," which has found its most important practical result in the boycott against the United States, is also manifesting itself in the reorganization of the Chinese army under Japanese aid. Last October maneuvers lasting five days were held near the walled city of Ho-chien-fu, at which some forty foreign observers were present, and such expert reports as have been made public tell the story of a very remarkable progress.

There were 17,000 men in one of the Chinese armies in this war game and 15,000 men in the other. The character of the country and the distribution of the troops before the maneuvers began were such as to necessitate a large amount of difficult transport work, and the first comment that we hear is that the efficiency of the transport branch of the service was really remarkable, even when tested by European and American standards. Predictions of a breakdown in the commissariat and of consequent disorder were all proved false.

"Between a European and a Chinese regiment on the march," we are told, "there is nothing to choose. Physique, equipment and deportment impress one as being much the same." Skirmishing was conducted in the orthodox order. The men showed that they knew how to avail themselves of every scrap of cover. It was unanimously agreed that a high state of discipline existed. The way the men endured some very trying work gave good evidence that they were in fine condition and well handled. The medical staff was everywhere present, but its services were hardly ever needed. The engineer branch is given much praise, as is also the handling of their guns by the artillery. The cavalry was, however, deficient in skill.

The main criticisms of the maneuvers concerned the tactics, the armament and some features of the generalship. These things are, of course, serious. But armament is a question of money and can rapidly be improved, while much allowance was made for the other defects because of certain of the fixed conditions of the maneuvers. Almost in the same breath with the criticisms the observer we are quoting said: "We saw quite enough to prove that both officers and men understood their business, and that if they had time to work out the situations as they arose they would have done it in very different fashion."

From such reports it appears certain that Chinamen have the capacity to make excellent disciplined soldiers, fully equal to the demands of modern war. Beyond that, moreover, it appears probable that they also possess the other qualities that are needful for the effective use of this capacity, for certainty has hardly yet arrived.

THE LAST HYMN.

(Published by request).

The Sabbath day was ended in a village by the sea—
The uttered benediction touched the people tenderly—
And they rose to face the sunset in the glowing lighted West,
And then hastened to their dwelling for God's blessed boon of rest.

And they looked across the waters and a storm was raging there,
A wild spirit moved above them, a wild spirit in the air,
And it lashed and shook and tore them till they thundered, groaned and boomed,
And alas! for any vessel in their yawning gulfs entombed.

Very anxious were the people on the rocky coast of Wales
Lest the dawn of the coming morrow should be telling awful tales,
When the sea had spent its passion and should cast upon the shore
Bits of wrecks and swollen victims, as it had done heretofore.

With the rough winds blowing round her a brave woman strained her eyes
And she saw along the billows a large vessel fall and rise;
Oh, it did not need a prophet to tell what the end must be,
For no ship could ride in safety near the shore on such a sea.

Then pitying people hurried from their homes and thronged the beach,
Oh for the power to cross the waters and the perishing to reach.
Helpless hands were wrung with sorrow, tender hearts grew cold with dread,
And the ship urged by the tempest to the fatal rock-shore sped.

She has parted in the middle, oh, the half of her goes down,
God have mercy! Is heaven far to seek for those who drown;
Lo! When next the white shocked faces looked with terror on the sea,
Only one last clinging figure on the spar was seen to be.

Near the trembling waters came the wreck tossed by the wave,
And a man still clung and floated, though no power on earth could save,
Could we send him a short message here is a trumpet, shout away!
'Twas the preacher's hand that took it, and he wondered what to say.

Any memory of his sermons—firstly, secondly! Ah, no!
There was but one thing to utter in that awful hour of woe;
So he shouted through the trumpet: "Look to Jesus Can you hear?"
And "aye aye, sir!" rang the answer o'er the waters loud and clear.

Then they listened. He is singing: "Jesus, Lover of My Soul!"
And the winds brought back the echo, while the nearer waters roll;
Strange, indeed, it was to hear him—"Till the storm of life is past."
Singing bravely from the waters, "Oh receive my soul at last."

"We could have no other refuge, hang's my helpless soul on thee,
"Leave, oh leave me not," the singer dropped at last into the sea,
And then, the watchers, looking homeward, through their eyes with tears made dim,
Said, "He passed to be with Jesus in the singing of that hymn.

offers a limited amount of its Treasury Stock at ONE DOLLAR per share, full paid and non-assessable. Properties consisting of four groups of lode claims and equal to claim area of 27 full lode claims, or about 270 acres, with two valuable water rights and a water reservoir—a lake of about 20 acres surface area.

Development is equal to 1700 lineal feet, at a cost of $16 per lineal foot—tunnels, drifts, cross-cuts, wings and surface cuts and trenches, and one ten gravity stamp concentrating mill. Three groups, water rights, mill and tunnel sites, etc., are fully paid; one group, held on title bond, is partly paid for. Good Grade of Profitable Milling are blocked out, in sight, to last for a sixty ton mill for over two years time. Safe and conservative estimate for mining the ore, delivering and milling it, at a cost of about $4.00 per ton. Three separate mill runs, for testing purposes, have returned from $8.40 to $14.30 per ton of rock, principally in gold.

This is a Bonanza for Intelligent Investors

In order to make operations absolutely up-to-date, perfect, both the mining and the reduction of ores, the Board of Directors have placed a limited amount of Treasury Stock at par value $1.00 per share on the market. LIFE WORTH LIVING.

Appreciation of Duty By Tom Watson, Candidate For U. S. Presidency.

"The life which is truly worth living," says Tom Watson in his magazine for August, "has not always led to ease, worldly success, happiness and earthly honors.

"Too often the man who consecrates himself to the nobler purpose has been what the world called a failure, has been led away into captivity by pitiless foes, has died at the stake amid tortures.

"But, like the Indian brave, such a warrior has never feared the stake nor the tortures.

"Like the Indian brave, such a warrior despises those who torment him, and amid the flames in which he dies his death song rises to thrill the world:

"'I have fought a good fight. Never once did I lower my flag. To the Right, as God gave me to see it, it was always true. Not once did I bend the knee to the Wrong, consciously.

"'All my life I fought for the betterment of humanity. Here are the scars to show it. Defeat has rolled over me, but not dishonor.

"'To no man or woman have I knowingly done hurt; if I have not done some good it is not because I failed to try.

"'On millions of my fellow-men I found the chains of a bondage more galling than slavery: I did my utmost to show them how to be free.

"'Millions I found hungry, naked, homeless; I did my best to point the way out of Poverty into plenty.

"'I found the old foes of the human race winning ground day by day; the rich man grinding the face of the poor! the tyrant using Law and Government to rob the people; the priest again spreading the cloud of ignorant Faith over the sunny fields of God-given Reason; the Church and the State once more uniting to plunder the human race and to divide the spoil.

"'Against these ancient devourers of men, against these relentless foes of the freedom and development of humanity, I raised the cry of defiance, fought them with all the power that was within me, doing what man might do to arouse my fellow-man to a sense of the peril which was coming upon him.

"'Yea! I have fought a good fight. Here are the wounds. No white flag flew over my citadel. It held out to the last.

"'Loneliness pained but did not subdue me; prosecution saddened but did not conquer me; friends deserted me and foes multiplied, but I was not utterly cast down. The sacred torch of human progress I held aloft, even as better men had done in the ages of the past.

"'Its light will not fail. Others will seize upon it and bear it on. Some day the night will pass, and the human race will no longer grope in gloom.

"'In that my faith is strong. For that I have never ceased to watch and pray and work.

"'And now my part is done. The shadows gather about me—but I am not afraid. The voices from the darkness call for me—and without regret I go.

"'Duty grants me her honorable discharge; Conscience acquits me of her service; the boon of Peace Within settles upon me with the caress of infinite calm—and so I pass down into the turning of the darkened road, with no pang or remorse in my heart and no chill of doubt or fear on my soul.'

* * * * * *

"Thus one will have lived the life worth living, whether he dwells in log hut or stately mansion.

"While it is yet day and he can work, he works, unhasting and unresting. At the loom of time he toils persistently, weaving into his life-garment threads of gold.

"The creed of such a man is an inspiration; his life a call to duty. His tomb becomes an altar; his death a song of triumph. Neither rust nor time shall dim the splendor of his effort; and the influence of his thought and his example shall not be lost upon the world as long as Duty has a devotee and Truth a holy shrine."

The Real "Little Breeches."

The hero of John Hay's celebrated poem, "Little Breeches," is a son of Solomon Van Scoy, of New Virginia, Iowa, and is now living near Letts, Iowa, a husky farmer. Laren Talbott, of Sioux City, a cousin, recalls the incident upon which the poem was based, and tells about it as follows:—"My cousin was about 4 years old when he broke into fame. Van Scoy was driving a spirited team near New Virginia one day, and when he got out of the wagon for a minute the team dashed away with the boy in the wagon. The horses went over ditches, fences and brush piles. Finally the wagon was overturned, and the little fellow was thrown head first into a drove of sheep. The father and friends, running frantically in an effort to catch the runaways, saw the accident to the boy. The father rushed to the spot, fearing to find the little fellow dead, but on the approach of his father the boy sat up and said: 'Dad, give me a chaw of terbacker.' That was the incident which prompted John Hay to write his famous verses."

SECRET OF CHARM.

Cultivate the Ability to Appear Unconscious of Self.

One must be unconscious of self in order to be considered charming. Following the Golden Rule entitles a woman to be called charming. She must be good or she cannot be charming, not on a long acquaintance—that is, where there is a lack of sincerity it is easily discovered, perhaps not in the course of a few visits, but later on.

There is a difference in the true and false ring of a coin. Think not to deceive. It is impossible. All exert an influence for good or evil upon those they come in contact with. Why not let it be the former? It is much the happier way. A pleasant impression never works harm to any one and lingers in the mind as long as the memory of the person lasts, says Woman's Life.

A charming woman takes a broad view of life. She cannot be narrow. She wounds not her friends with unkind words. If she chides, it is with a gentle manner.

To deserve to be called a charming woman, one must be charming to women as well as to men, otherwise the charm would be a very one sided thing, so to speak. It is easy to charm a man in many cases, not so easy a woman.

Is there a woman so unfortunate as not to be charming to some one?

An Ungallant Lawyer.

An English barrister named Gill in his speech in a recent breach of promise case made some epigrammatic remarks about women which will not make him popular with the sex. However, he was counsel for the man in the case. He said: "All women have a capacity for describing themselves as martyrs. They regard any other woman that a man knows as a 'creature.' The first thing a woman did when she was engaged was to take the man around in triumph and show him to her friends."

Plant Lice.

Fifty-eight persons competed to get the prize offered at Frankfort, Germany, for the best method of destroying plant lice. The winner's preparation is as follows: Quassia wood, two and one-half pounds, to be soaked overnight in ten quarts of water and well boiled, then strained through a cloth and placed, with 100 quarts of water, in a petroleum barrel with five pounds of soft soap.

Carpet Stains.

Some housekeepers have their carpets wiped off while on the floor with a cloth wrung out of warm water with which a little ammonia has been mixed. The water must be changed often. The colors of a light axminster or any other heavy pile carpet will brighten wonderfully after this treatment. One housekeeper has all her heavy carpets scrubbed on the floor, with plenty of soap and warm water. An ink spot was removed from a light colored axminster carpet by the application of common sand soap with a soft cloth wrung out of warm water.

Deviled Eggs.

Have six eggs boiled at least twenty minutes. Shell and cut in thin slices. Arrange the slices in six rounds of buttered toast and place in the oven to keep hot. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter, stir in a teaspoonful dry mustard, two drops tabasco sauce, two tablespoonfuls worcestershire sauce, two tablespoonfuls tomato catchup, one tablespoonful mushroom catchup and a pinch of salt. When boiling pour over the eggs and toast and serve, or omit the mushroom catchup and spread the toast rounds with anchovy paste softened with lemon juice.

To the Canadian Investor

DORES-MONTGOMERY MINING COMPANY
OF BULLFROG, NEVADA

The undersigned is pleased to announce to the investors of Canada that he has been appointed Canadian Fiscal Agent of the above company, and is offering a limited amount of treasury stock at 35c. per share for development work. This property is just 1800 feet southwest of the famous Montgomery Shoshone mine and both have unquestionably the same vein. The group shows a well defined vein cropping out through, and it is a perfect fissure. A six inch talc seam on the hanging wall gives high values. We have also several other ledges, and it is only a matter of development work to make this property equal to any producer in the section.

The management of the Montgomery Shoshone conservatively estimates that the mines has produced $200,000 worth of ore. If this is right, the ore from the mines has averaged about $975 a ton, or about $1.30 for every foot of sinking, the mines being 4 x 7 in clear.

Ore from the mines running less than $350 is thrown over the dump as milling ore. No less than 150 tons of ore has been shipped from this mine, all of it coming from the mines. Another shipment of 50 tons or more will be made via Las Vegas in a few days.

The figures given above are startling in the extreme, but the measurements and ore values as quoted are official—direct from the management of the wonderful mine that is today astonishing the world.

This property is only 1200 feet from the Dores Montgomery Mine.

RELIABLE FISCAL AGENT WANTED

SPLENDID PROPOSITION

Iron Spar Copper Mining Company Has Appointed a Canadian Agent —Only a Limited Number of Shares for Sale.

Among the new mining properties that are attracting attention in the Coeur D'Alene District of Idaho for their encouraging conditions, the Iron Spar Copper property is one of the foremost. A large auriferous copper ledge traverses the property for a distance of 6,000 feet, crossing from Idaho to Montana, over the main range of the Coeur d'Alene Mountains, which form the boundary line between these States. In the matter of transportation facilities the Iron Spar has a great advantage over many other properties, being distant only a mile and a half from the Northern Pacific Railroad, and a half mile from a good wagon road. The property is owned by the Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., and the greatest economy and dispatch is being practised in opening up vein.

Another contract will be let soon to extend the present tunnel another hundred feet on the vein, and a good workable ore is expected within ten days from time work is started. The character of the vein and enclosing formation is in all essential particulars similar to that of the Monitor and Richmond on the divide, a few miles to the east. Great depth is possible to be gained on the ledge by driving westward into the main range, which line of policy will be strictly adhered to in the matter of development, to further economize and expedite the work. It is the intention of the company to install a compressor and machine drills early in the spring.

Mr. W. K. Hall, of this city, has secured a block of stock of this splendid proposition, and will dispose of it for a short time at ten cents per share.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces (except 8 and 26, not reserved), may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15 Chains 1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it has made $10,000.

AN AMERICAN DISEASE

Indigestion is Responsible for More Sickness in America Than Any Other Disease.

Some doctors go so far as to say that indigestion is the national disease of America. Repeated attacks inflame the lining of the stomach and cause the glands to secrete mucous instead of the juice of natural digestion. Consequently the blood is poisoned, nerve force is reduced, the vitality of the entire system is weakened.

There is but one national remedy for indigestion and that remedy is Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which are being used by thousands with marvellous success.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills accelerate the action of the gastric glands and give tone to the digestive organs. They strengthen the kidneys and liver, cleanse and purify the blood, and thus add general tone to every organ of the body. Flesh and strength are fast restored and the patient can eat and digest any food he pleases.

Under the vitalizing effect of Dr. Hamilton's Pills your system will soon rally; once more you'll enjoy the blessings of health. Test Dr. Hamilton's Pills yourself. 25c. per box or five boxes for $1; at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

Mr. A. Bennett Hurt at Cereal Co.

Yesterday morning another of those regrettable accidents that seem to be part of the inevitable at all large factories, occurred at the huge works of the American Cereal Co., Mr. Arthur Bennet met with a very painful accident. As he was going out of the building one of the heavy doors was blown to and caught his hand, badly bruising it. A doctor was summoned and attended to the injury.

St. Andrew's Choir Concert Friday evening; the choir will be assisted by Miss Maud L. Smith, Elocutionist, of Toronto.

"The Blacksmith's Daughter"

The "Blacksmith's Daughter," which will be presented by the St. John's Church Dramatic Club on Friday night, Feb. 16th, had a very successful rehearsal last night. Prof. Milnor Turnabout music, and Mr. Wm. Dundas gave his musical act, which made a decided hit with those who were fortunate enough to witness the rehearsal. The production will be given under the able management of Mr. S. R. Bradburn, who deserves great praise for the work he has done in connection with this forthcoming entertainment. This will be one of the best events of the season as the play will be well staged; special scenery being painted for the show, and it well deserves the hearty patronage of the citizens.

Thinks Peterboro Will Get It

Mr. Jas. Stevenson, who was up to Toronto with the deputation regarding a Normal school for Peterboro, returned last night, and told a Times representative, that in his opinion, judging by their reception by the Minister and remarks passed at the interview, that Peterboro will likely succeed in her endeavor. As Mr. Stevenson has had many years' experience in accompanying and introducing deputations to different Government powers-that-be, his opinion is encouraging.

LOCAL INCIDENTS

By The Times Man on the Street

—About 120 excursionists left yesterday morning on the excursion to Toronto.

—The quarterly business meeting of the Park street Baptist church was held yesterday evening.

—St. Catharines has put a $50 license fee on laundries. This is to try and make the Celestials move on.

—It is not true that local dealers have raised the price of curling tongs owing to the demand for curlers' supplies.

—The local post office officials although kept pretty busy report less valentines this year than usual through the mails.

—A local cutter whose avoirdupois is only equalled by his love of the game attracted some attention by his Salvationist Army-like red sweater and red hat to match.

—When Chief Rutherford's rink gracefully surrendered their scalps to the doughty men dipped by Conal yesterday afternoon, several sunshines changed hands.

—We are now offering a year's subscription for the best answer to "Which man can agitate a broom the quickest, the one weighing 18 stone or the 100 pounder."

—Mr. R. Bradburn, manager of the Grand Opera House, has gone to Clifton Springs, N.Y., for a couple of weeks. During his absence, the proprietor of a local barber shop will manage the house.

—It is said that the wives of some of our local curlers, for the past few nights have been kept awake by cries of "Sweep, sweep, bring her right through. Bring her along. Why the ——— didn't you give that the in-turn."

—A white rose degree meeting of Lodge Landowne, No. 25, S.O.E., was held last night, when several candidates were initiated into the mysteries of the degree, after which a social evening was spent and refreshments were served.

—Keene is to hold a carnival in their fine skating rink on Wednesday night, Feb. 21st. The prizes offered are above the average, and Mr. McIntyre has engaged two clown performers. It is expected that quite a number of local devotees of the flashing blades will attend.

—It was rumored yesterday that the entertainment for Friday night, in the Y.W.C.A. will be unique. Brevity of skirt will be fully compensated for by breadth and intensity of interest. As this entertainment, held in the gymnasium, is for ladies only, the weaker half of local humanity will have to depend upon hearsay for a report of the proceedings.

—Several valentine parties were held in Peterboro last night. It is not a question whether St. Valentine's night, or a quiet spot, with the lights turned low, under a bunch of mistletoe are the best, to encourage faint-hearted swains. In either case the lady fair generally supports a weak-kneed partner, who fears to put his ardent thoughts into cold English, language.

—The woman found dead near Welland port on Sunday, Jan. 14th, was, a few days ago exhumed and identified by Keeper Kottmeier, of Welland Industrial Home, as that of Mrs. McFarlane, a former inmate, whose mind was deranged, and who had escaped a few days previous to finding of the body. Mrs. McFarlane was the second inmate of this home to escape and die of exposure this winter.

Doctor and Dairyman Collide

On Tuesday night, about 7 o'clock, a local dairyman and a Peterboro follower of Esculapius had a mix-up, on Water street near Dublin street. The two were nearing in their respective rigs in the dense fog then prevailing, and the doctor's conveyance slewed into the milk cart. The physician's horse tried to make a bold break for freedom, but the dispenser of advice and drugs, plucky held on. The shaft of his rig was broken and he himself was somewhat shaken up. The pole of the milk cart was smashed.

TO CATARRH SUFFERERS

Hyomei Cures by Breathing Medicated Air.

The popularity and increase in the sales of Hyomei are unique in the annals of medicine. Such astonishing cures have been made by this remedy that its sale is steadily increasing every year.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1.00 and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket, a medicine dropper, and a bottle of Hyomei. The inhaler lasts a life-time, and if one bottle does not cure, an extra bottle of Hyomei can be obtained for 50 cents. It is the most economical of all remedies advertised for the cure of catarrh, and is the only one that follows Nature in her methods of treating diseases of the respiratory organs.

Breathe through the inhaler for a few minutes four times a day, and your catarrh is cured. That's all.

If you cannot obtain Hyomei of your dealer, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write today for consultation blank that will entitle you to services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hyomei Building, Ithaca, N. Y.

—Messrs. C. B. Foster and W. T. Dockrill of Toronto, were in the city yesterday morning, looking after the C.P.R. special, which conveyed the excursion to the Queen City yesterday.

—Yesterday afternoon, Mrs. McAllister entertained about seventy guests at her beautiful residence. The house was elegantly decorated with natural flowers, and all present enjoyed this unique "at home."

—The engagement is announced of Miss Lenore Dennis, only granddaughter of the late Judge Clark and Mrs. Clark, of Cobourg, to Mr. Power, architect, only son of J. W. Power of Kingston.

—The following members of the Brockville Hockey Club, were yesterday registered at the Oriental; G. Hall, E. J. Peters, W. Burns, E. White, B. Higgins, A. Kerr, J. Murray, W. McLean, F. Frego, and W. Symons.

—Last night Miss Mary Elliott, Water street, daughter of our popular city father, entertained about 40 guests at their commodious residence. Progressive euchre and dancing, with a recherche supper made a most enjoyable evening for all present.

—Prof. Alfred Davies and Miss Helen Davies left yesterday for Toronto, where they attended the Mendelssohn choir concert last night. Tonight Miss Davies will take part in a concert at Clinton in company with Mr. J. D. Tripp of Toronto, piano soloist. She will return home on Friday.

—Miss L. Govon, W. Govon, the Misses R. and L. Clarke, Dr. Clarke and Hugh Kennedy, Orillia, yesterday passed through the city en route to Campbellford, where they attended the funeral of the late Mrs. (Rev.) Clarke, who died on Monday in Toronto. The late Mrs. Clarke 10 years ago lived in this city.

Eloped With Book Agent

And now the peaceful little village of Norwood, has a real live sensational elopement. The lady in the case who lived on Spring street, in that burg, during her hubby's absence in the woods, falling a victim to the charms of a silver-tongued, and black-hearted book peddler, fled, it is said with him, although the mother of two children. The pair, bringing with them the woman's little daughter, came to this city. She was located in a boarding house on the East Side. She has now returned to her deserted hearth and a reconciliation has fortunately been effected between her and her husband. The lady now sees the foolishness of her act, and as she has always had a good reputation, is unlikely to repeat so foolish an act. The book agent is still at large, but has not shown up in that neighborhood since, probably knowing that a number 11 cowhide boot on the foot of a sturdy backwoodsman is no light obstacle to run up against.

A. O. F. Entertainment a Success

The A.O.F. "at home," held Tuesday night, under auspices of Court Stanley, No. 7680, in the Sons of England Hall, was one of the most successful ever held in Peterboro. Mr. W. Johnston, who acted most acceptably as chairman made short address, leading to the program of the evening. A most effective program of vocal and instrumental music was rendered by some of Peterboro's most talented musicians.

The committee in charge of the "at home" were Messrs. Hanwell, Fremain McWha, Goodenough and Edwards, who are to be congratulated on the great success crowning their efforts.

Bad Stomach Makes Bad Blood.

You can not make sweet butter in a foul, unclean churn. The stomach serves as a churn in which to agitate, work up and disintegrate our food as it is being digested. If it be weak, sluggish and foul the result will be torpid, sluggish liver and bad, impure blood.

The ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery are just such as best serve to correct and cure all such derangements. It is made up without a drop of alcohol in its composition; chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead of the commonly employed alcohol. Now this glycerine is of itself a valuable medicine, instead of a deleterious agent like alcohol, especially in the cure of weak stomach, dyspepsia and the various forms of indigestion. Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Rennett Medical College, Chicago, says of it:

"In dyspepsia it serves an excellent purpose. . . . It is one of the best manufactured products of the present time in its action upon enfeebled, disordered stomachs; especially if there is ulceration or catarrhal gastritis (catarrhal inflammation of stomach). It is a most efficient preparation. Glycerine will relieve many cases of pyrosis (heartburn) and excessive gastric acidity. It is useful in chronic intestinal dyspepsia, especially the flatulent variety, and in certain forms of chronic constipation, stimulating the secretory and excretory functions of the intestinal glands."

These combined, in just the right proportions, with Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherry bark, Queen's root, Blood-root and Mandrake root, or the extracts of these, as in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, there can be no doubt of its great efficacy in the cure of all stomach, liver and intestinal disorders and derangements. These several ingredients have the strongest endorsement in all such cases of such eminent medical leaders as Prof. R. Bartholow, M. D., of Jefferson Medical College, Chicago; Prof. Robert A. Hare, M. D., of Medical Department, University of Pa.; Prof. Lawrence Johnson, M. D., Medical Department, University of New York; Prof. Edwin M. Hale, M. D., Hahnemann Medical College, Chicago; Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., and Prof. John King, M. D., Authors of the American Dispensatory, and scores of others among the leading medical men of our land.

Who can doubt the curative virtues of a medicine the ingredients of which have such a professional endorsement?

VOL XXXIV, NO 39 PETERBORO, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1900. PRICE TWO CENTS

Wholesale Business Block Gutted, and Nine Firms Suffer Heavy Loss---Firemen Worked Under Great Difficulties.

St. John, N.B., Feb. 16.—One of the most disastrous fires in recent years broke out early yesterday morning, and, though well under control, is still burning, with three engines playing on it. Nearly the whole block embraced by King, Germain, Canterbury and Church streets is gutted and nine firms are heavy losers.

The total loss may amount to nearly a quarter of a million. The fire was a spectacular one, and the firemen labored under great difficulties. The night was bitter cold, with a high wind, and part of the time a heavy snowstorm raged.

STARTED IN JEWELRY STORE.

The burned buildings and all in the vicinity are monuments of ice today. The fire started in McDuffies' jewelry store on Canterbury street, which was in full possession of the flames when the alarm was sent in. Thence the fire spread quickly to the big building on the corner of King and Canterbury streets, occupied by the American Clothing Company and Brock & Patterson, wholesale milliners.

The building is a crumbling shell this morning, and the loss of both firms is complete. In the latter direction the fire spread from McDuffies' store to the premises of Frank Fairs, manufacturers' agents, and the store rooms of Vassie & Company, wholesale dry goods.

ART TREASURES SAVED.

Beneath part of Brock & Patterson's establishment was a store occupied by [illegible] and it too had stored thousands of dollars worth of valuable books and pictures. The flames threatened to break in through the rear, but a good stream at the point saved the situation. The art treasures were removed by the salvage corps to a place of safety.

Others whose premises were more or less damaged by fire and water are; M. E. Melaney, tailor; Hodges Bros., barbers; Chas. M. Lingley, printer.

The corner building which suffered the most was recently purchased by the Royal Bank of Canada, who were to remodel and occupy it as soon as the lease of the present occupants expired.

The insurance will total about $100,000, divided among several companies.

MR. GARROW FEASTED

Peterboro Man Leaving for Spokane, Basqueted

A pleasing function, though overshadowed by the knowledge that a local man was about to leave Peterboro, was held in McCallum's restaurant, when Mr. Willis Garrow was the guest of his friends.

Mr. Garrow is about to leave to accept a responsible position in Spokane.

A number of his friends gave him a banquet at McCallum's Wednesday night, and among those present were; Messrs. Fred Whitcroft, Wm. Breen, Chas. G. Graham, Jas. Lewis, M. Moore, J. Connors, E. Poole, Reg. Turner, B. Sisson, Bruce Gillespie, Bruce Hutchinson, Fred McFadden, Alex. Gillespie, H. Dunsford, J. Gould, Dr. McKercher, R. Cotton, A. Lockington, R. M. Glover, W. Armstrong, and others.

Mr. C. G. Graham acted in the capacity of chairman, and during the evening a number of songs and speeches were given.

POLICE COURT NEWS

Yesterday morning one of those unfortunate domestic troubles that are ever in existence and, perhaps, unfortunately, not often enough brought to light in the proper defence of women ill-treated by selfish husbands, was aired in yesterday's court. A local man, a stationary engineer, earning good wages, but with a cuneuming thirst for alcohol, and a limitless amount of selfishness, was charged by his wife with not properly supporting her and her family.

For the sake of the woman, who is respectable, and her son, who is a decent working lad of 19 years of age, but not for the thanks of the defendant, we suppress all names.

The wife, in the witness box, told a tale of experience in domestic life where her husband allowed her only a pittance on which to pay rent, fuel, clothing, meat, groceries, and the hundred and one incidentals of housekeeping; in fact, the husband out of his $16.50 to $12 a week, gave her $3.25 per. Remark the generous after-thought on his part of the 25 cents. The $5.25 to keep herself, her husband, two children, and a brother of her husband, was not always paid at that! A few weeks ago her husband's mother died and left him $50. Of this she did not get one dollar, and often the $5.25 was not handed over to her.

The husband, who aped the attitude of a police court lawyer, when questioning the witness, in grandiloquent style and with the assurance of a $5,000 fee leader of the bar, asked his wife, 'Did not you make an agreement with me to take $5.25 per week in full payment?' "Yes," she answered. "I was glad to get anything, as you did not give me a cent for six weeks!" The wife then explained how she had asked for $6.50 out of his wages weekly, but he would only give $5.25 and not always that; she could not pay rent and run the house on that sum. She explained that her son was working learning his trade, but gave her some of the $1 per week he earned.

The young man, son of the unhappy parents, a bright, sturdy lad of 19, then went into the box and confirmed all that his mother had said. He explained that the row last Saturday night started by his father refusing to give a cent towards the house money. His father took a cat-of-nine-tails and struck him with it and the scrap started. The father then undertook to cross question the boy. In reply to questions put by his father, the boy said, "No my mother never tried to set me against you, but the reverse." The father asked, 'Did I not tell you that I would chastise you if you gave me sauce?' The court and all present could not repress a smile at this question, as the father's face showed tangible evidence of the result of his attempted chastisement. Both his (the father's) eyes were in the deepest of deep, solemn, funereal, dark dyed mourning, one of his cheeks looked as if a locomotive doing 70 miles per hour had ran into it. In fact the boy's evidence showed that the neighbors had to hold him (the boy) back lest more chastisement should be inflicted.

The magistrate remarked 'you are a mean man, you don't try to support your wife and family. Aren't you proud of yourself?' His wife then gave evidence as to services she had to render the man when he was drunk that are beyond publication of details.

The magistrate wound matters up by saying, 'Well, I will not fine you as that would only lessen the chance for your wife getting money for bread. Try and have up and be a man. There is no selfish, giving a woman you married 20 years ago, the mother of your children, a miserable $5.25 a week. Take 50 cents a week out of your wages and let her keep the money for you, as she can manage it better than you.'

Here the man made a grand stand play by offering to put up $10, and if the magistrate would send someone round the bar-rooms, and it was found he was much of a drinker he would forfeit the X. This brilliant play to the gallery, however, did not receive much attention. It was afterwards said by one of the local policemen that he could have made $10 that morning pretty easily.

The man was allowed to go and advised to behave himself. If brought before the court again he will get what he richly deserves. Judging by the effects of his "chastisement" of the boy" he will think twice before attempting it again.

CONSERVATIVES "AT HOME"

Large Assembly Enjoy Most Successful Evening

Last night the Young Conservative Club of this city threw open the doors of their splendid apartments to their host of invited guests, all of whom, that could attended.

At the head of the stairs, just as one enters the club rooms was a large handsomely decorated shield, bearing the inscription "Welcome." This shield was surrounded by specially added colored electric light globes making a brilliant foreshadowing of the merry scenes within. The first reception room was furnished with tables and chairs, where guests' hats, cloaks, etc., were checked.

Everywhere was in evidence the patriotic principles of the grand old Conservative party. The British ensign, Royal Standard, and Canada's adored Union Jack, were to be seen on every side and spot. Across the ceilings of every one of the many rooms, festoons and strings of bright banners made a fairy like scene of beauty.

The center room, between the main reception room and the large billiard parlors, appropriately decorated, was used as the refreshment room. Here long tables, covered with immaculate white linen, groaned beneath the wealth of good things to eat, provided by Peterboro's efficient caterer Mr. Thos. Hopper.

The large reception room was made not only beauteous, but gay by flags, pots containing beautiful natural flowers, both cut, and on the original plant, comfortable arm chairs and many handsome fur rugs spread about the floors.

In the billiard room, the blackboard announced that, "Ladies attending are elected Honorary members."

The guests who began to arrive about eight o'clock, after disrobing, were welcomed in the main room by the Reception Committee, Messrs. W. Brandrette, John Wilson and H. Phelan.

A very enjoyable evening was spent by the great assemblage present. Music, both vocal and instrumental, were supplied by the best local talent that Peterboro contains. One feature that rendered the evening specially enjoyable, was the notable informality that prevailed; everyone whether lady or gentleman was made to feel that she or he was literally "at-home," and all present appreciated the fact in full.

Mr. Sam Campbell, the efficient caretaker was everywhere at all times, resplendent in white vest and other tokens of the auspicious event.

VERDICT RENDERED

Auburn Baby's Death at Hands of Persons Unknown

Last night, the final act, until possibly something unexpected turns up, in the tragedy, which led a few weeks ago to an unknown female infant being found in the water at Auburn Power House, was finished and probably some ghastly parties will heave a sigh of gratification over their escape from identification and consequent punishment.

Yesterday evening, Coroner Dr. Gray, and the coroner's jury appointed to investigate the infant's death, met in the Council chambers.

The coroner, of course, occupied the chair. He advised the jury that he had communicated with the Attorney General's office in Toronto, and that a Provincial detective (Murray) had spent several days here looking into the matter but without throwing any more light on the subject than already possessed. Dr. Gray then told the jury, as all the evidence was in, they could not do otherwise than abide by the evidence shown in the report of the doctors who performed the post-mortem, and which showed that the child died by violence.

THE VERDICT.

We find that the child, an unknown female, came to its death at the hands of some person or persons, unknown to the jury.

CHINESE BELIEVE ACTION IS BLUFF

America Wants Removal of Embargo and so Sends Troops to the East

LEGITIMATE RETALIATION

United States Now Reaping the Harvest of its Injustice to the Chinese

Washington, February 16.—All the administration's military activity to cope with a possible outbreak in China is regarded as a "bluff" by that Government.

The Chinese legation here has heard nothing from Pekin in regard to the sending of two American regiments to the Philippines to be close at hand if there should be trouble in the Celestial kingdom.

It is pointed out that the Chinese Government, with its army of 100,000 well drilled and well armed troops, will seek to handle any uprising herself, and might easily resent any foreign invasion.

The conquest of the Chinese army of today, it is admitted would be a very different task from the dispersal of unorganized "Boxer" hordes.

REAPING FRUITS.

New York, February 16.—R. P. Schwerin, vice-president and general manager of the Pacific Mail and Steamship Company, whose business relations with the people of China have been intimate for more than a dozen years, regards the situation in China with grave apprehension. He considers the manifestations of disorder as primarily anti-American, but with the sentiment of "China for the Chinese" underlying the irruptions, the trouble is certain, in his opinion, to spread and become an anti-foreign uprising that will make all other nationalities excepting the Japanese subjects of attack.

Speaking of the prospect of trouble, Mr. Schwerin last night said:

"The safety of all the missionaries in the empire is menaced. Indeed, I should not be surprised at any time to read of a wholesale massacre. If it should come to pass we would simply be reaping the fruit of our outrageous treatment of the Chinese. The present trouble is the outcome of aggressive methods of certain labor organizations on the Pacific coast, which have applied a boycott, not only against Chinese goods imported into the country, but against the merchants who would buy the garden products of the Chinese farmer on the coast. And the result has been that the Chinese have turned the weapon back upon the Americans."

MISSION FEARS TROUBLE.

The Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions in this city, in consequences of the embarkation of American soldiers for the Philippines for possible service in China, has warned its missionaries to use the cable in reporting anti-foreign movements of the natives to keep in touch with the nearest treaty ports in case of trouble.

"The chief cause of anxiety," said Robert E. Speer, secretary of the board, yesterday, "is the constant spreading of wrong ideas of the treatment of the Chinese in this country. Stories are being circulated in China of the massacre of Chinese in America and in China they have yellow journals just as we have them here.

"In many instances the missionaries and Americans are at such remote places that they could be easily cut off, and their only chance of safety would rest with the Government of China and its representatives."

One of the visitors to the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions here yesterday was Rev. Charles Fairclough, an inland Chinese missionary, who had just arrived from China. He said:

"The anti-American and anti-foreign feeling in North China is very bitter, and its visits more bitter now than at any time during the Boxer year.

"It is not the same anti-foreign feeling of the Boxer year. It comes out of what they believe is patriotism."

OPPOSE REMOVAL OF TROOPS.

London, February 16. — A despatch to the Telegraph from Tokio says that the Foreign Minister at Pekin have held a meeting, at which it was decided, despite some disagreement, that the present situation does not warrant the removal of the foreign troops from Pekin and Tien-Tsin, but at minor points they can be dispensed with.

UNDER WHICH KING

"The More Postum the More Food—the More Coffee the More Poison.

The Pres. of the W.C.T.U. in a young giant state in the North-West says:

"I did not realise that I was a slave to coffee till I left off drinking it. For three or four years I was obliged to take a nerve tonic every day. Now I am free, thanks to Postum Food Coffee.

"After finding out what coffee will do to its victims, I could hardly stand to have my husband drink it; but he was not willing to quit. I studied for months to find a way to induce him to leave it off. Finally I told him I would make no more coffee.

"I got Postum Food Coffee, and made it strong—boiled it the required time, and had him read the little book, 'The Road to Wellville,' that comes in every pkg.

"Today Postum has no stronger advocate than my husband! He tells our friends how to make it, and that he got through the winter without a spell of grip and has not had a headache for months—he used to be subject to frequent nervous headaches.

"The stronger you drink Postum the more food you get; the stronger you drink coffee the more poison you get." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason.

A Great Treat

The St. John's Dramatic Club held their final rehearsal last night in the St. John's Sunday school rooms under the able direction of Mr. S. R. Bradburn, stage manager, who has worked early and late to make this entertainment a success. They will give the best stage production that it is possible to see out of a theatre, the special scenery painted for this entertainment being the finest that can be had. The "Blacksmith's Daughter" is a very interesting play in three acts, and put on the boards by this excellent company of Peterboro's best talent, well deserve the generous support of our citizens.

ROGERS TO RESIGN?

Rumors That Engineers in Charge of T. V. C. Will Have to Quit

The Ottawa correspondent of the Toronto Globe in yesterday's issue says;

The condemnation of the engineering staff found in the report of Mr. Henry Holgate, C.E., of Montreal, to the Minister of Railways, upon the locks in the lift lock at Peterboro and Kirkfield, and the negligence shown by the investigating engineer to have taken place, point to a demand for the resignation of Messrs. R. H. Rogers, superintendent and engineer of the Trent Canal; R. A. Davey, resident engineer on the Kirkfield lift lock; his assistant, Augustus Sawers jr., and Messrs. D. E. Bethune and A. W. Spence, inspectors at Kirkfield and Peterboro respectively. The belief entertained here is that Mr. Emmerson will forward a copy of Mr. Holgate's report to each of the gentlemen who have incurred criticism, together with a polite intimation that his resignation would be acceptable.

The questions which Mr. Holgate was directed to answer in connection with the Peterboro lift lock were as follows:

Having regard to the novelty and importance of the hydraulic lift lock at Peterboro, and to the non-existence on this continent of other similar work, were the plans and specifications prepared with the care and thoroughness such a work demanded?

Were the plans and specifications dealing with the embankment of a character that, having regard to all the circumstances, would secure a first class job of work?

Was the work executed in strict accordance with the plans and specifications? If not, wherein did any variation take place and by what authority was it made?

Was the work inspected by the superintending engineer as fine and as thorough as such a work would naturally demand?

What is the cause of the leaks that have recently happened?

Were they caused by the negligence or carelessness of any person or were they the natural consequence of the style of construction adopted, and of what significance are they?

How much money is involved in making the work safe?

In reply to a Times representative's question asked yesterday, Mr. Rogers has received no request from his department suggesting or asking for his resignation.

PETERBORO BREAD

A Correspondent Wants Local Prices for Bread Lowered

(To the Editor of The Times.)

How is it that Peterboro, where low wages, far lower than those paid in Toronto, has still to pay more for its bread than other places, notably Toronto? When our local bakers raised the price of the poor man's loaf one cent per loaf, or an advance of about one-fifth of what he pays for the main article of his living, they printed in the Peterboro papers a feeble excuse for doing so. Their only reason given for asking the poor of Peterboro was that they should have raised the prices when flour was high, and, inferentially, as flour at the time of the raise was not at an excessive figure, they practically said, "As the poor of Peterboro did not contribute to our fat earnings when flour was a little dearer, the poor of Peterboro must now make up for our oversight in not raising our rates before.

At the time of this tremendous raise, and it is not to be looked at as merely 1 cent a loaf but as so many, very many, cents on every dollar's worth they sell; our local bakers promised to lower their prices when flour decreased in price.

Now some time ago, flour dropped from 40 cents to 50 cents per hundred weight; where do the poor of Peterboro come in. Have the local bakers lowered their prices or increased the size of the buns they sell as loaves as from 5c. to 6c. each.

It seems to me, sir, That it is now up to the people of this town to arrange to get their bread from Toronto or insist that the local bakers drop their prices in accordance with the price of flour. If the bakers of this town will sell the regulation weight loaf at five cents, I would sooner see the money of our citizens kept here, by buying from them; but if they continue to demand the last drop of blood they can squeeze from the laboring man for his bread, it is time that some action be taken to bring our Peterboro bakers to the understanding that there is such a thing as "letting live" as well as making big money on an article indispensable to every poor man's table.

Yours truly,
LABORER.

Opening of the Ontario Legislature

Official Ceremonies by His Honor, the Lieutenant-Governor---Brilliant Scene in the Chamber.

Toronto, Feb. 16.—Under a bright Canadian [illegible] and with [illegible] the pomp and circumstance befitting such an event in a democratic country, the second session of the eleventh Legislature of Ontario, was opened this afternoon by the Lieutenant-Governor Hon. W. Mortimer Clark.

The attendance both within and without the House was a large one, though hardly as large as last year, when of course, there was exceptional interest in the opening.

The traveling escort from Government House, to the Legislative Buildings consisted of twelve men of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, under Lt. McMillan. A guard of honor of one hundred men from the 48th Highlanders, was drawn up in front of the buildings, in charge of Captain N. W. Crosby, Lieut. K. R. Marshall, Lieut E. W. Hamber and Lieut. J. J. Wright. The papers and mace of the regiment were in attendance. As his Honor drove up the guard presented arms and the band struck up the National Anthem.

Four guns of the Ninth (Toronto) Field Battery, were stationed in the center of the lawn, and on the conclusion of the reading of the address a salute of fifteen discharges was fired. Captain E. K. Richardson was in command.

A BRILLIANT SCENE.

The scene in the Chamber was a brilliant one. In the space between the desks were seated a large number of ladies, in their choicest gowns, while interspersed were the judges in their gowns, militia officers in their bright uniforms, and representatives of the churches in their more sober attire. Brigadier-General Otter, C. B., and the officers of the district military staff, were grouped near the speaker's chair. There were not many absentees among the members. His Honor was accompanied by Major J. Fraser Macdonald, A.D.C., and secretary, and Lieut. Young, R. C.D. as personal aides-de-camp.

SPEECH FROM THE THRONE.

His Honor, having taken his place on the dais, read the Speech from the Throne, which was as follows;

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly,

"I take great pleasure in meeting you again as representatives of the Province in Parliament assembled.

"Our very earnest thanks are once more due to Almight God for the bountiful harvest of the year that has passed, which even excels the one that called for our gratitude last year. With this harvest, the market conditions have been such as to maintain the prosperity which our farmers have enjoyed in recent years. This has been noticeable in the dairying industry, the output of which has been very large. The evidences of steadily increasing enterprise and activity on the part of our people, have been apparent for several years past, are to be seen on all sides at the present time, and afford good reason for congratulation and thankfulness.

"The past year has been the most successful in the history of the Agricultural College from the standpoint of the number of students, the number to farm visitors and the amount of work done. For the first time in its career, the total number of students of all classes exceeded one thousand. The Macdonald Institute has apparently taken firm hold on the appreciation of the public, and farmers' daughters have come to its halls in numbers that promise a very bright future for the institution. You will be asked to provide funds for increasing the teaching facilities of the college in various departments.

"The past year has shown a large increase over previous years in the numbers of immigrants settling in Ontario. Preparations are being made to receive and settle a larger number during the present year, who will be directed to the farms of the Province. With increasing facilities and an improved system, it is confidently expected that the immigration and colonization work of this Government will reach the highest mark yet attained. The funds appropriated are being used solely to assist in providing farm and domestic help.

Enjoyment at Jackson Park

The cold weather did not seem to have any effect on the attendance at Jackson Park last night as both the rink and slide were well patronized. Both were in good shape, and the crowd seemed to thoroughly enjoy itself.

CURLING.

Yesterday, although not so many rinks were playing, there was a large attendance, both of those who understand and, perhaps more, of those who do not know the difference between a curling stone and curling tongs. Some excitement was in evidence in the semi-finals, in the Consolation game between a local rink, skipped by Thos. Rutherford, and a Beaverton rink. This game was 14 ends, and at the end of the 13th round, Beaverton stood 9 to Rutherford's 13. In the 14th end, by good play, and common farmers cannot allow us to add good luck, Beavertons added three more to their score, thus allowing the Peterboro rink to win by one. A hotly contested game between local skip Charley Brown, and the players who read Brer Smith's Bosh-goon Independent, resulted in the local rink winning by 17—12.

During the afternoon, some notable games were those played by;

Skip Neal, 10, Beaverton, 11.
Skip Hicks, 11; Bouckgeon, 12.
Skip Brown, 12; Skip Fitzgerald 11.

The ice was in perfect condition, and the utmost enthusiasm prevailed.

HOCKEY.

It was rumored yesterday that the experts o. Wand's planning mill, among them the champs issued by the Knights o. Tom St. Charles mill, has not been accepted by the men of Mann's mill, to a game of hockey are now out with a challenge to the Knights for a friendly game for any stake the challenged choose to name. "Jim" has got the stuff, to put up to back his team, we are told, so it is now up to the Knights to accept or crawl into their winter quarters and stay there till summer.

The local hockey team will have a week's rest, before they play the winners of the northern districts. The team has played eight games, and has won them all, scoring 67 goals to their opponents' 22. One of the senior O.H.A. teams will likely play here next week.

Before a large crowd and on excellent ice, one of the most interesting games of the season was played on the Brock street rink last night. The contest was between the Night Lifes and the Suburb, and was a sizzler from the toot of the whistle to the final clang of the big bell, the Night Lifes finally winning out by the narrow score of 1—0.

The teams were as follows;

High Lifes		Suburbs
Fitzpatrick	Goal.	Moore
Meagher	Point.	Hurl
Ford	Cover-point.	Bloomfield
Long	Rover.	Quinn
Hall	Center.	Simpson
McGrath	Left Wing.	Quigley
Rose	Right Wing.	Morris

Mr. Ernie Wasson made a very acceptable referee.

Arrangements have been completed for the final home and home games for the junior O.H.A. championship between the Argonauts of Toronto, and Berlin. The question of choice was decided by a flip of the coin, and Berlin had the luck. They won the toss and decided to play the last game at home. The first game will be played next Wednesday in Toronto, and the return in Berlin on Friday. Total goals will count on the round. There will likely be a record attendance at these games.

HEALTH FOR WOMEN

Mrs. Emma Daigle of Moncton, N B., Sends an open Letter to All Sufferers.

Most women are tired when they wake up. Housework drags along with great difficulty. Nervousness is always present, headaches seldom depart, tears are ever ready to flow.

But there is a cure, a true specific for women's ills that restored a prominent lady in Moncton, Mrs. Daigle, who tells the following experience:

"About a year ago I had a serious sickness, sort of a general breakdown. My digestion failed entirely and I was able to eat but very little. I took violent stomach pains and suffered terribly from headaches. My doctor said it was "nerve exhaustion" and I might never be well. My troubles increased, for as I grew weaker I became subject to neuralgia and rheumatism. Sleep finally forsook me and I almost lost heart. Different medicines didn't help. Doctors couldn't do me any good. I was desperate when I heard of Ferrozone. The first box convinced me it was just what I needed. It toned up my stomach, gave me a splendid appetite and then my recovery seemed easier. Ferrozone increased my weight several pounds, has restored my nerves, given me a good color and strength such as I never had before. For the weak and sickly I can truthfully recommend Ferrozone." (Signed) Emma Daigle.

REMEMBER: No mere stimulant or alcoholic concoction can take the place of the nerve and blood nourishment contained in Ferrozone. This true tonic always does what is claimed for it. Sold everywhere in 50c. boxes or six for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

UNION LABEL

PETERBORO, FEBRUARY 14 1906

THE THREATENED COAL STRIKE

"It is a leader's duty to tell his people not what they would like to hear but what they should know," That is the rule of conduct of Patrick Dolan, president of the Pittsburg local of the United Mineworkers. Being governed by it, he tells his people that a strike will be a hopeless failure. As he was convinced that failure would be inevitable he voted in convention against a strike and for the reaffirmation of the present wage scale.

Mr. Dolen certainly has courage, for he has deliberately made himself the most unpopular man in the miners' organization. He appears to have sound judgment. He gives in his statement abundant reasons why the soft coal miners should let well enough alone. Wages have more than doubled in a few years and the hours of labor have been reduced from ten to eight. In view of the fact that many operators want a lower wage scale a continuance of the existing wage scale would seem to be a fair compromise. Mr. Dolan says that all the big soft coal strikes managed by President Mitchell have been lost. The first anthracite coal strike was settled by Mark Hanna and the second by President Roosevelt.

The bituminous miners ask for an advance in wages of 5 1-2 per cent. and impose the impossible condition that if in any one district operators and miners cannot agree work shall stop in all the districts, even though both sides be agreed. It may be that the cause of the soft coal miners is just in some particulars and in some districts, but if they shall go out a month and a half from now they will engage in what seems an almost hopeless undertaking.

The situation in the anthracite field differs from that in the bituminous fields. The demands are different, the principal ones which are pressed on the hard coal operators being recognition of the union and the eight hour day. Public opinion is strong against the anthracite operators, who undoubtedly are organized in a tremendous and iniquitous trust. There is no proof of a similar organization on the part of the bituminous operators, and from the nature of the case it is impossible. The stock of soft coal is unlimited, and is too widely distributed to be monopolized.

There was a conference yesterday between President Mitchell and the anthracite people. Probably it will be barren of results. The operators have let it be understood that, while they are desirous to continue working the mines under the terms and conditions prescribed by the arbitrators three years ago, they will not comply with the conditions insisted on by the miners' union. There may be justice in some of its demands, and if the operators can avert a strike by making reasonable concessions they should do it. But if an agreement cannot be had and there shall be a strike it is not likely that the president would intervene again, and if he were to do so his good offices probably would not be accepted by the operators.

The agreements under which the anthracite and bituminous mines are being worked do not expire until April 1. There is opportunity for careful reflection and deliberate action on both sides. Neither operators nor miners can plead ignorance of the consequences which a general strike would involve for themselves and for the public. Neither side desires a stoppage of labor, and each should do all that it honestly and fairly can to avert a great public calamity.

As things stand today, there is peace and prosperity throughout all the vast coal fields of Pennsylvania. But, in the face of this, John Mitchell is laying the pipes to lead the men into another strike that, this time, is sure to prove futile. Where plenty now smiles at the miners' doorways, this blatant, boss walking delegate proposes to tie the gaunt wolf of hunger.

"Macbeth" in Lindsay

Lindsay Post's dramatic critic in speaking of "Macbeth," as played in the Academy in that town, Monday night, says that "one set of scenery did the whole trick." The performance commenced at 8.15 sharp and never let up till eleven, and during that time one continuous series of acts was put on, the curtain never dropping till the end. A few screens, curtains and one or two chairs and a table composed the scenic effects. The costumes worn were ancient and quaint.

The Smoothing Irons.

The state of the irons has much to do with the success of the ironing. When the irons show a tendency toward rusting or black specks it is time that they are washed in soapsuds. Dry them carefully after this washing. Sandpaper is a good thing to have at hand when irons become sticky with starch. Rubbing an iron once or twice across the sandpaper will render it smooth again. If the sandpaper is lacking, dry salt on a piece of paper will answer the same purpose. Flatirons should not be left where the steam of cooking can reach them, as that causes them to rust. Always set the irons away on end rather than flat on the shelf. Those which have once been allowed to grow red hot never retain the heat so well afterward.

Removing Stains.

Unless attended to at once both tea and coffee stains are very difficult to remove. When fairly fresh they may be soaked in buttermilk and then left to dry in the open air, repeating the process if necessary, after which wash in cold water. Another recipe is to spread the stain over a basin, rub it well with powdered borax, and then pour absolutely boiling water through it. A solution of sanitas is also said to be excellent for removing these stains, but if once sent to the laundry and boiled they become almost ineradicable.

Ham Balls With Tomato Sauce.

Mix well together two cupfuls of finely chopped ham, a few grains of cayenne pepper, two tablespoonfuls of thick cream, one cupful of grated cane pepper, two tablespoonfuls of cold boiled rice and one well beaten egg. Shape with a wooden spoon into small balls, roll in crushed cracker crumbs and fry in deep fat to a golden brown. Serve on triangles of hot buttered toast, pouring over half a pint of thick tomato sauce

offers a limited amount of its Treasury Stock at ONE DOLLAR per share, full paid and non-assessable. Properties consisting of four groups of lode claims and equal to claim area of 27 full lode claims, or about 270 acres, with two valuable water rights and a water reservoir—a lake of about 20 acres surface area.
Development is equal to 1700 lineal feet, at a cost of $15 per lineal foot—tunnels, drifts, cross-cuts, wings and surface cuts and trenches, and one ten gravity stamp concentrating mill. Three groups, water rights, mill and tunnel sites, etc., are fully paid; one group, held on title bond, is partly paid for. Good Grade of Profitable Milling are blocked out, in sight, to last for a sixty ton mill for over two years time. Safe and conservative estimate for mining the ore, delivering and milling it, at a cost of about $4.00 per ton. Three separate mill runs, for testing purposes, have returned from $8.40 to $14.50 per ton of rock, principally in gold.
This is a Bonanza for Intelligent Investors
In order to make operations absolutely up-to-date, perfect, both the mining and the reduction of ores, the Board of Directors have placed a limited amount of Treasury Stock at par value $1.00 per share on the market. CURRIED CHICKEN.

A Good Recipe For Preparing This Delightful Dish.

Curries are easily made if the experimenter is content to begin with simple recipes. Almost any meat or vegetable, not to speak of fish and fowl, may be curried, and experience lets the light in on a number of delightful combinations. Curried chicken is perhaps the best thing to begin with. Cut up the chicken as for stewing. Fry an onion, half a tart apple and, if there is no prejudice against the fragrant herb, two cloves or garlic, all cut up fine, in butter until of a golden color. Put the chicken in this and fry until slightly brown. The object is to sear the outside of the fowl. Now season with salt, white or red pepper and two heaping teaspoonfuls of best curry powder. Turn the pieces over and over to distribute the seasoning. Just cover with hot water, cover tightly and cook slowly for three hours. Before covering add half a cupful of grated fresh cocoanut, not the desiccated cocoanut. Just before serving squeeze in the juice of half a lemon, taste and add extra flavoring if desired. Sometimes a few drops of kitchen bouquet greatly improves the flavor. Serve perfectly boiled rice in a border and put plenty of gravy on each plate. Chutney should always be on the table.

SEWING HINTS.

When joining a bias piece of material to a straight piece, always keep the bias piece underneath, as this prevents it from stretching.

Half worn sheets should be cut in half lengthways, the selvages seamed together and the newly cut edges hemmed. This considerably lengthens their lease of life.

When sewing a thin material, such as chiffon, on the machine, place a piece of paper underneath the material. It will prevent it puckering and can be easily removed afterward.

To avoid marking velvet when sewing it, lay another piece face downward to rest your fingers on, and you will find when you have finished sewing that the pile will not be flattened.

Buttonholes on shirts should be stitched round with strong cotton just outside the buttonhole stitch while they are new. If this is done they will last almost as long as the shirt itself without tearing away.

Wavy Hair.

A girl whose hair is only slightly wavy naturally is increasing the effect by her arrangement of it at night. Dampness makes the wave. Before going to bed she brushes her hair thoroughly and then braids it loosely. With a damp, soft, wide nailbrush reserved for the purpose she lightly brushes over the whole head and then raises the braid from her neck to remove the weight of it from the roots. With her fingers she then pats the waves into place and with three pins holds the braid at the back of the head. The braid itself is still down, but instead of hanging from her neck it is at the back of her head. In the morning her hair is in deep waves that brush out as she is doing it up, but reappear when dampened. After her hair is entirely dressed she ties over it a thin veil for fifteen minutes, and when that is removed her head looks as though it were just from the hands of a hairdresser, only far prettier.

Small Repairs.

Never neglect small repairs. The stitch in time saves not only nine, but ninety. Don't let buttons hang by their last thread. Darn small holes. Never wear dirty or tumbled lace. Brush off mud and bind frayed skirts. Fine feathers make fine birds, but never go in for only outside show. Your lingerie, corsets and stockings should be good, if plain, and always carefully kept in order. A clean cotton petticoat is better than a shabby silk one, and the smartest boots look bad if they are worn down at heel or minus buttons or tidy laces. Remember the outward appearance is often an index of a person's character and that one is apt to get "untidy" in one's character when habits of untidiness are indulged in.

Bumps and Bruises.

When a child falls and sets up a lump upon his head or bruises his body take him to the bathroom or kitchen, or wherever hot water may be had at once and in ample quantity. Hold a sponge soaked in water as hot as can be borne comfortably upon the injured spot, renewing as it cools, until the pain subsides. A little extract of witch hazel tends to relieve the pain.

EMBROIDERED PIECES.

How They Should Be Laundered to Get the Best Results.

An embroidered piece should never be put in with the regular wash. Let it be washed by itself in an earthen bowl. Take fairly hot water and make a light suds of some kind of pure soap. Wash quickly. If the linen is soiled rub that portion between the hands, but avoid general rubbing. Take it out of the suds and rinse thoroughly in clean water. Having thoroughly washed the article, commence to dry it.

A wet piece of embroidery should never be hung up to dry, never be folded upon itself and thrown in a heap, never left a moment while attending to something else. Lay the piece flat between two dry towels or thick linen cloths and roll it up inside these in such a way that no part of the embroidery can touch any other part of the same linen. In this shape it can be wrung or twisted without danger or can be lightly pounded, that the dry linen may the more quickly absorb the moisture. In this condition it should be left until the silks are dry.

Lay the piece, face down, upon an ironing board, well covered with several pieces of material. Spread a clean white cloth over the embroidery and iron lightly the whole surface, being careful not to press too heavily upon the embroidered portions. A hot iron placed upon embroideries that are wet will produce a steam that will injure the same. Do not press hard at first, but work rapidly. Should the center have become too dry use a dampened cloth to run the iron over, as this method will leave the linen sufficiently damp for pressing. It also leaves the linen fresh and holds the natural stiffness of same. Damp linen, dry silks, heat in iron and quick movement are the elements necessary to success.

HANDY SIDEBOARD.

This design shows a sideboard that is located in the kitchen, but has its front flush with the inside of the dining room wall. The back of the central open space is a door that slides upward, permitting food to be set through from the kitchen and soiled dishes to be removed from dining room to kitchen.

On either side of this space are china closets opening into the dining room, while below are drawers, closets and shelves for use in the dining room. The china closets have fancy glass doors, which may be of the design shown or any other that is preferred.

On the kitchen side there is a wide shelf, whose convenience will be readily apparent and doors opening into the china closets. Above the sideboard, on the kitchen side, is a broad shelf where large pans, firkins or other large articles not in common use can be placed. Such a sideboard can easily be built in a house already in use as well as in a house in process of construction.

To the Canadian Investor

DORES-MONTGOMERY MINING COMPANY

OF BULLFROG, NEVADA

The undersigned is pleased to announce to the investors of Canada that he has been appointed Canadian Fiscal Agent of the above company, and is offering a limited amount of treasury stock at 25c. per share for development work. This property is just 1800 feet southwest of the famous Montgomery Shoshone mine and both have unquestionably the same vein. The group shows a well defined vein cropping out through, and it is a perfect fissure. A six inch talc seam on the hanging wall gives high values. We have also several other ledges, and it is only a matter of development work to make this property equal to any producer in the section.

The management of the Montgomery Shoshone conservatively estimates that the mines has produced $300,000 worth of ore. If this is right, the ore from the mines has averaged about $975 a ton, or about $1630 for every foot of sinking, the mines being 6 x 7 in clear.

Ore from the mines running less than $250 is thrown over the dump as milling ore. No less than 150 tons of ore has been shipped from this mine, all of it coming from the mines. Another shipment of 50 tons or more will be made via Las Vegas in a few days.

The figures given above are startling in the extreme, but the measurements and ore values as quoted are official—direct from the management of the wonderful mine that is today astonishing the world.

This property is only 1200 feet from the Dores Montgomery Mine.

RELIABLE FISCAL AGENT WANTED

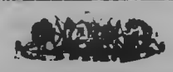
SPLENDID PROPOSITION

Iron Spar Copper Mining Company Has Appointed a Canadian Agent Only a Limited Number of Shares for Sale.

Among the new mining properties that are attracting attention in the Coeur D'Alene District of Idaho for their encouraging conditions, the Iron Spar Copper property is one of the foremost. A large auriferous copper ledge traverses the property for a distance of 6,000 feet, crossing from Idaho to Montana, over the main range of the Coeur d'Alene Mountains, which form the boundary line between these States. In the matter of transportation facilities the Iron Spar has a great advantage over many other properties, being distant only a mile and a half from the Northern Pacific Railroad, and a half mile from a good wagon road. The property is owned by the Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., and the greatest economy and dispatch is being practised in opening up vein.

Another contract will be let soon to extend the present tunnel another hundred feet on the vein, and a good workable ore is expected within ten days from time work is started. The character of the vein and enclosing formation is in all essential particulars similar to that of the Monitor and Richmond on the divide, a few miles to the east. Great depth is possible to be gained on the ledge by driving westward into the main range, which line of policy will be strictly adhered to in the matter of development, to further economize and expedite the work. It is the intention of the company to install a compressor and machine drills early in the spring.

Mr. W. K. Hall, of this city, has secured a block of stock of this splendid proposition, and will dispose of it for a short time at ten cents per share.



SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15 0x1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per mile for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

RHEUMATISM

Lives in the Blood

Consequently it requires an internal treatment—one that will reach the blood, and thereby relieve the cause of the pain.

After years of experiment Dr Hamilton succeeded in producing a remedy that quickly cures rheumatism, gout and all uric acid disorders.

By toning the kidneys and liver, Dr. Hamilton's Pills ensure a clean healthy body. The blood is restored to a normal healthy condition, renewed vigor is imparted to overworked organs, and thus the general health is built up, and no room is left for rheumatism to creep in.

A Cripple's Story of Cure.

"This is a glad day for me," writes James E. Brown of Lisle from Midland, Ont., "because I can speak of my permanent cure of rheumatism. I have been all through the aching days and sleepless nights, have spent my money on worthless remedies, and consequently in recommending Dr. Hamilton's Pills I feel sure of their merit. No remedy gave such relief or did me so much good as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. My rheumatism they cured, and ever since my health has been perfect."

When Dr. Hamilton's Pills are to be had in any drug store, it's foolish to live on in misery and ill-health. You ought to get this medicine today and cure yourself. Price 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1 at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

Crafts Remanded for Trial

The Belleville Intelligencer says;—The preliminary examination of Norris P. Crafts, who was charged with obtaining by alleged misrepresentation, four promissory notes from Mr. J. C. Moore of Madoc township, was concluded this morning. The magistrate, after commenting upon the case, decided that a prima facie case had been made out, and committed the accused for trial. Subsequently Crafts was admitted to bail, the same being furnished by the firm which he represented.

Local Man Mentioned

The Bowmanville Statesman referring to one of Peterboro's most progressive young merchants and manufacturers, says;

Mr. H Dumsiow, formerly of Blackstock, is now one of the business men of Peterboro, where he conducts a framery, and the business has so much increased that he had to enter into partnership. Mr. C. Haskett, late of the art section of the Siegel Cooper store, Chicago.

TWO RIDE THE GOAT

Lansdowne Lodge S. O. E. Still Increasing Their Membership

On Wednesday night, a regular meeting of Lansdowne Lodge, Sons of England was held in their handsome lodge room on Hunter street, with Mr. Frank Kitney in the chair. There was a large attendance and an enjoyable time was spent. Two candidates were initiated.

After the business part of the meeting had been finished, refreshments were served, and an enjoyable time was spent. A short impromptu program was rendered.

It was decided to change the night of meeting from the second Wednesday to the first Friday of each month.

THE SERVICES DONE

Special Services in Murray Street Baptist Church are at an End

The special services which have attracted large audiences to Murray street Baptist church, and which have been the means of attracting many to the good cause, were brought to a successful and triumphant conclusion on Wednesday night.

Rev. F. J. Scott conducting the service, Rev. G. R. Welch, of Lindsay, who was to have assisted Mr. Scott for the remainder of the week, sent word that it was impossible for him to come and it was, therefore, decided to close the meetings, which have been very successful and encouraging as the results and in deepening the spiritual life of the church.

Another Kawartha Cottage

Mrs. F. A. Bates of New York city, who with her family has been for years in residence on Kawartha Lakes will this spring erect a large handsome two-storey frame residence on Jacob's Island in Pigeon Lake. The plans and specifications have been prepared and provide for a summer home of the most modern and convenient style. Mr. Abel Headren of Lakefield, has been awarded the contract, and it is probable that the house will cost in the neighborhood of $7,000.

Toronto World Says

Toronto World says: Ald. Mason, Johnston, Graham, McIntyre, Duncan and Adams, of Peterboro, visited fire headquarters yesterday to inspect apparatus, and at their request Capt. Gunn's aerial truck company gave an exhibition drill. The rapid beating of the big ladder was a surprise to the visitors. An alarm from box 32 a few minutes later gave the delegation another revelation in the quick time shown by the firemen in turning out on real business.

All Saint's Valentine Social

The Senior Girls' Guild of All Saints church, held a most successful Valentine social in the church basement on Wednesday night. A novel form of amusement was the matching of valentines. A gentleman was given one section of a valentine, and a lady the other, the object being to match them. The scheme was the means of making the event very enjoyable.

MISSING MAN FOUND

Daniel Eagan, of Norwood, Absent for Four Months Found

Relative to a matter which has caused much anxiety in the quiet little village of Norwood, the Norwood Register says;

About a month ago, Mr. Owen Eagan, of Norwood, was making an effort to locate his brother, Mr. Daniel Eagan, who had left Hastings in October last, and had gone, no one seemed to know where. The papers in this locality were assisting in the search as much as possible, and a reward was offered for information as to the wanderer's whereabouts. Nothing was heard of him until Monday evening when he stepped off the evening train. Where he was he was as far east as Montreal, but nothing more has so far been earned.

The Fays

The five senses are man's basis for evidence and reasoning power, but when a sixth sense would seem necessary to solve a problem, psychological, perhaps, he confesses himself beyond his depth, and can do no more than attribute what he cannot understand, but which may be real, to supernatural powers. The Fays, who will appear at the Grand during the week beginning February 26th, perform feats so mysterious and inexplicable as to seem to establish conclusively the existence of a sixth sense. If this be not so, then a sixth sense. If this be not so, then the only avenue left for explanation of their occult force, would seem to be the supernatural. Mrs. Fay's act entitled "Thaumaturgy," has mystified thousands of people. They read the thoughts of persons in their audiences—even repeat written messages and give the names signed thereto. The Fays have a competent company to assist them, and the programs have other interesting elements aside from mysterious and black art. Special matinees for women only on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

STOMACH CURE

An Easy Way from Standpoint of Convenience.

The so-called cures for indigestion are almost as numerous as the victims themselves, and scarcely a day passes without the hopes of thousands of sufferers being raised by the discovery of some novel method of cure for this prevalent disease.

Until a combination of unusual remedies, heretofore but little known in this country, was made in Mi-o-na tablets, no certain cure for indigestion had been found, and it is therefore hardly to be wondered at that our leading druggist, who has the Peterboro agency, is selling large quantities of Mi-o-na.

Mi-o-na is a guaranteed cure for all diseases of the stomach coupling vascular. If you have pains or distress after eating, headache, belching of gases, sour taste in the mouth, dizziness, heartburn, specks before the eyes, surred tongue, sleeplessness, headache, debility or weakness, it shows that the stomach needs to be strengthened with Mi-o-na.

Just one little tablet out of a 50 cent box before meals for a few days, and you will soon regain perfect health and strength.

If you cannot obtain Mi-o-na of your druggist, it will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Write us for advice on your case from a leading stomach specialist which will be sent free. The R. T. Booth Company, Ithaca, N. Y.

DO YOU KNOW

That Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the only medicine sold through druggists for woman's weaknesses and peculiar ailments that does not contain large quantities of alcohol? It is also the only medicine, especially prepared for the cure of the delicate diseases peculiar to women, the maker of which is not afraid to take his patients into his full confidence, by printing upon each bottle wrapper all the ingredients entering into the medicine. Ask your druggist if this is not true.

"Favorite Prescription," too, is the only medicine for women, all the ingredients of which have the unqualified endorsement of the leading medical writers of the several schools of practice, recommending them for the cure of the diseases for which the "Prescription" is advised. Write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a free booklet, and read the numerous extracts from standard medical authorities praising the several ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are made, and don't forget that no other medicines put up for sale through druggists for domestic use can show any such professional endorsement. This, of itself, is of far more weight and importance than an amount of so-called "testimonials" so conspicuously flaunted before the public, in favor of the alcoholic compounds.

The "Favorite Prescription" cures all woman's peculiar weaknesses and derangements, thus banishing the periodic headaches, backaches, bearing-down distress, tenderness and dragging-down sensations in lower abdomen, accompanied by weakening and disagreeable catarrhal, pelvic drains and kindred symptoms.

Dr. Pierce and his staff of skilled specialists may be consulted free by addressing as above. All correspondence is treated as sacredly confidential. By consulting in this way the disagreeable questionings and personal "examinations" are avoided.

The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser contains some very interesting and valuable chapters on the diseases peculiar to women. It contains over one thousand pages. It is sent post paid, on receipt of sufficient to one-cent stamps to pay cost of customs and mailing only, or 21 cents for a copy in flexible paper covers, or 50 cents for a cloth-bound copy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce as above.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. One a laxative, two or three cathartic.

ANOTHER INDUSTRY

Peterboro May Get a Large Carpet Factory

That Peterboro is fast becoming known to the manufacturing world at large is beyond dispute. Still another large factory may now be added to our already extensive family of industries.

Three gentlemen, well posted in every branch of the industry they represent two of whom are directors in a large factory in Kidderminster, England, were in the city yesterday. These two experts with their Canadian representative, looked well over the city, evidently with a view to securing a possible location for a factory. It was ascertained that the Kidderminster factory these gentlemen represent, is anxious to establish a branch in the Dominion to supply the trade in this country.

A large building with ample ground floor and plenty of light will be erected so that the looms can be easily operated. One of the directors said that they were favorably impressed with Peterboro. The firm would require about four acres of ground and at the commencement would employ about sixty hands. The site would have to be in or adjacent to the city, and near a railway line if possible. Electric power would be used in operation of the looms, and to obtain it at a reasonable rate would be a consideration.

The visiting representatives Wednesday called upon Mr. Richard Hall and yesterday interviewed Ald. McWilliams, chairman of the Manufacturers' Committee, and other civic representatives. The factory will certainly be established at as early date in some Ontario town or city, and, until negotiations are on a more definite basis, at the special request of the directors, we refrain from entering further into the details, but more will likely be heard of the enterprise at an early date.

E. O. Fairs' Association

The anaual convention of the Eastern Ontario Fair's Association will be held in Ottawa on March 7. Two sessions will be held, afternoon and evening, and delegates will be present from all the county and township agricultural societies in Eastern Ontario. An interesting program has been prepared, and it is expected that the convention will be a great success.

The president of the association is Mr. R. M. Field, of Brockville, and the secretary, Mr. R. B. Faith of Ottawa.

HOUSE OF COMMONS MEETS FOR ORGANIZATION TUESDAY; KING TO OPEN PARLIAMENT IN STATE ON FEBRUARY 19

Election of Speaker Will be Feature of Opening Day, and Swearing In of Members Will Follow—Mr. Balfour, Being Defeated in East Manchester, Will Not be Present, and Akers-Douglas Will be Conservative Leader Until He Secures a Seat—Lord Dalmeny "Baby" Member of New House

LONDON,)

THE House of Commons will meet on Tuesday next for the election of the Speaker, and the remainder of the week will be devoted to swearing in the members and other necessary preliminaries.

A large proportion of the members are strangers to the House, and there will be much seeking of information by the fresh "hands" and giving of instruction by the experienced.

The Speaker will miss many old faces as he greets the House this time, and it will be a task of considerable difficulty before he becomes perfectly acquainted with all the new members. It is probable that in no Parliament within living memory has there been so great a change in the members.

Father of the House.

The Father of the new House will be the Right Hon. George Henry Finch, who has been re-elected for Rutland, for which constituency he has sat since 1857, or thirty-nine years. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the Prime Minister, stands next for the honor, having represented Stirling since 1868, or thirty-eight years. Curiously enough, there were five other members of the last Parliament who equaled the Premier's record of service, but not one of them will be in the new Parliament. Henry Chaplain was the only one of the five who sought re-election, and he was defeated.

The other four were Lord George Hamilton, who sat for the Ealing division of Middlesex; J. G. Talbot, who was a member for Oxford University; Sir A. H. Brown, who represented the Wallington division of Shropshire, and J. H. Round, the member for the Harwich Division of Essex.

The oldest member of the new House will be Sir C. Mark Palmer, who has been re-elected for the Jarrow division of Durham. He is in his 84th year, but has only sat in Parliament since 1874. Sir Frederick Thorpe Mappin, Bart., was the oldest member of the late Parliament, being in his 85th year, but he has not sought re-election.

Balfour Will Be Absent.

As Mr. Balfour, the late Premier, was defeated in East Manchester, he will not be present at the reorganization or opening of Parliament, and until he is elected for another constituency the Conservative leader in the House of Commons will be Mr Akers-Douglas.

The Hon. Alban Gibbs, in generously giving up his seat in the city of London to Mr. Balfour, was probably animated by considerations other than the fact that the constituency would provide a safe refuge for the defeated ex-Prime Minister. Mr. Gibbs is a relative by marriage of Mr. Balfour, for his wife is a Cecil, her mother, the late Lady Mildred Beresford Hope, being a daughter of the late Lord Salisbury. Mr. Gibbs father represented the city of London in Parliament in 1851 and 1852, when he became Lord Aldenham.

Mr Balfour, even if elected without opposition—the magnanimity of the conquerors to the vanquished will probably produce that result—cannot take his seat for the city until a week or two after the House meets. Many formalities have to be complied with—the appointment of Mr. Gibbs to the nominal office of a royal steward or bailiff, the moving of the issue of a new writ by one of the Conservative Whips, the selection of dates, etc.

When he is declared elected, Mr. Balfour will have to go through the unwonted ordeal of standing at the bar of the House between two introducers, and when the speaker calls upon new members to come forward and take their seats, he will have to march up the floor to the table in the presence of a crowded assembly. He will have to stand for a little while in front of the treasury bench—an embarrassing moment for the late Prime Minister—Bible in hand, while the clerk is administering the oath.

Members returned at a general election escape this ordeal. They take the oath in an almost empty House in batches of six, standing around a couple of tables brought in for the purpose. There is a clerk in charge of each table, and one Bible serves for two members, while he is reciting the oath. It takes three or four days at the beginning of a new Parliament to swear all the members in, and the process is anything but reverent or impressive, so it is as well that the galleries are empty.

Where Will They Sit?

The large influx of Labor members has created an interesting situation as regards the seating accommodations. Where will they sit? is the question of the moment, for practically a new party has to be provided for.

It is certain that the Labor men will sit on the Opposition side. F. Johnson, secretary of the Independent Labor party, says that all their candidates were pledged to do so, if elected, and, he added: "We shall get as near to the Irish Nationalists as possible."

This will mean that about fifty members will be accommodated on the Opposition benches, and the Government side will not thus be overcrowded to the extent that it would have been if the Labor party had decided to sit with the Liberals. The latter will, in fact, have some difficulty in placing their members as it is.

In no previous Parliament will there have been a greater number of young members. The "baby," up to the present, is Lord Dalmeny, who is 23.

Other "youngsters" already elected are the Hon. T. Agar-Robartes, 25; H. D Maclaren, 26; David Davies, 26; W. Mitchell-Thomson, 28; Hon. Godfrey Howard, 28; H. W. Carr-Gomm, 28; F. Newnes, 29; W. Dudley-Ward, 29; and J. F. L. Brunner, 28.

There are thirty-two members under the age of 30, and the number of these in the "forties" is very considerable.

Opening of Parliament.

The new Parliament will be opened in state by the King, who will be accompanied by Queen Alexandra, on February 19.

It is expected that the royal procession will leave Buckingham Palace at 1.30, and the route taken to Palace yard will be by The Mall, Horse Guards Parade, Whitehall, and Parliament street.

Their Majesties will be received by the chief officers of state at the royal entrance beneath the Victoria Tower, and will be preceded by them to the robing room, whence the procession will pass to the House of Lords, where the King's speech will be read.

The House of Commons will meet in February.

FLOOR OF HOUSE OF COMMONS, THE SPEAKER AND SOME NOTABLE MEMBERS

POLICE CHIEF CAUGHT BY WOMEN THIEVES

Band of Twenty-five "Apaches" Lie in Ambush for Prefect of Paris Force.

Paris, —M. Lepine, the Prefect of Police, had an uncomfortable adventure, with a gang of female "Apaches," who lay in ambush for him and mauled him badly late last night.

He is fond of making distant excursions in Paris at midnight to see if all be well with the city. Yesterday he was returning home from one of these visits, and had got within a short (illegible) of the Prefecture of Police, when he was surrounded suddenly by a gang of twenty-five female "Apaches."

One of the women seized M. Lepine's umbrella, and prodded him in the ribs with it, while a second snatched his hat and proceeded to tie a dirty red handkerchief over his head and under his chin by way of substitute.

A third harridan grabbed the unhappy Prefect by the beard, twisted his head round so that the lamplight fell on his face, and told him he was "too much like that pig of a Lepine" to suit her sudden fancy. Nevertheless, she added, she would kiss him "for his mother" just the same; and she forthwith caught his cheek with her teeth and bit it severely.

This was too much for the outraged Prefect, who made a desperate struggle, which himself free of the female desperadoes, and ran into the nearest doorway. He happened to be one that communicated with the Prefecture, and when he pressed the electric bell forty policemen rushed out and captured the twenty-five women "Apaches," who spent the rest of the night under lock and key.

GORE-STAINED THORNE OF SERVIA TOTTERS

VIENNA.

Are the days of Peter I of Servia as king of that country numbered? It is believed so in Austria, and the fact explains the attitude of the Imperial Government to the proposed tariff union between Servia and Bulgaria.

The Austrian authorities have learned that the days of Peter I as King of Servia are not to be long. The Karageorgievich dynasty's day in Servia is gone, and before another year is over the King and his family will be driven out.

It is well known in Servia that it is owing to the dynasty alone that Servia has lost position and influence all over Europe. In the courts of Europe the opinion prevails that Peter I knew of the plan for the murder of King Alexander if he was not himself actually its instigator. All the courts of Europe have refused to receive a visit from King Peter, or to have any direct dealings with him. Servia is thus, so to speak, blotted out from among the States of Europe.

The King, moreover, and in a greater measure the Crown Prince, his son, have made themselves remarkably unpopular all over the country.

Servia, according to information received by the Austrian Government, is for these reasons advancing in the direction of a new revolution. There is already formed a strong party, whose desire it is to see a German prince on the throne of Servia. This party has its eyes on Prince Francis Joseph of Battenberg, who was married in May, 1897, to a Montenegrin princess, but has no children.

The difficulties of the Servian Government in obtaining money have become so acute that a crisis may be expected at any moment.

The regicides, knowing the extreme danger, are running things with a high hand, and King Peter is little more than a prisoner in his own palace.

RUSSIAN ARISTOCRATS PAUPERED REFUGEES

GENEVA,

It is estimated that 10,000 Russians of all ages and ranks have taken refuge in Switzerland during the last year, as a result of the unsettled state of affairs in their own country.

Among them are members of the Russian aristocracy, who have lost their fortunes during the strikes, and are now obliged to work for their living.

In Geneva there is a Countess who is employed as a milliner, while at Zurich a Baroness is teaching languages to support herself and her two children. A Russian Count is offering his services at Basle, through the medium of advertisement, as a private secretary.

Several penniless Polish nobles and their families are at present staying with Paderewski, the famous pianist, at Morges.

There are also many Russian children at schools in this country who have been sent away from the seat of revolution.

LOVERS DIE TOGETHER WHO COULD NOT WED

ZURICH,

The belle of the village, a girl of 18, had been secretly engaged to a farmer, but her father refused his consent to the marriage.

Finding that entreaties had no effect, the young couple decided to commit suicide. The farmer bought a revolver, and during a walk through the woods he fired four shots at his sweetheart, killing her on the spot.

He then carried the body to the cemetery, a mile off, placed it on a grave, and shot himself through the heart. The bodies were discovered today by a gravedigger.

DUEL WITH SPADES TO TEST A THEORY

Town Councillor and Secretary of Labor Committee to Engage in Novel Test.

London, —A Blackpool Town Councillor, Mr. Cartledge, and the secretary of the local Unemployed Committee, Arthur Laycock, will this week enter upon a novel contest.

The question at stake is whether or not a living wage can be earned on the work given to the unemployed leveling down the North Shore cliffs. Both Mr. Cartledge and Mr. Laycock have agreed to do a day's work, the councillor undertaking to demonstrate that the living wage is a possibility.

Mr. Laycock, whom seen by a representative yesterday, was practising the art of digging in his own garden. He said that the rate of pay given to the council's workers on the cliffs is four pence per hour for diggers and two pence per hour for carters. "Some of the men cannot earn more than one or two shillings daily," he said.

Mr. Cartledge denied the accuracy of such complaints. "The corporation has already paid over £60 in wages," he said, "and not one of the workers has received less than four pence per hour."

NO ARMS OR LEGS YET WINS A HUSBAND

Tinge of Romance in Marriage of Freak on Exhibition in Geneva.

Geneva, —The romantic marriage of "Princess Anetta," a young woman eighteen years of age, and possessing neither arms or legs, occurred here yesterday.

The "princess," who is on exhibition here, fell in love with a handsome young German named Joseph Stauber, and the couple arranged to get married. Anetta's proprietor, however, refused his consent.

In despair, Stauber lodged a complaint of "unlawful restraint" against his employer with the police, yesterday, and the magistrate, Stauber then carried off the "Princess Anetta" to church, and the couple were formally married.

The bridegroom, held his thumbless bride in his arms during the ceremony.

AUSTRIA AND SERVIA IN BITTER TRADE WAR

Importation of Cattle From King Peter's Domain to That of Francis Joseph Stopped.

VIENNA.

The importation of cattle from Servia has been stopped by Austria-Hungary.

At the same time Servian merchants canceled all orders placed with Austrian firms. This war upon trade and commerce of the two countries will be so severe that it cannot last long without the most serious consequences.

It has been caused by Servia entering into a convention with Bulgaria against the wishes of Austria, in consequence of which Austria has broken off her negotiations with Servia for a commercial treaty.

The importance of the conflict may be estimated from the fact that 1,700,000 pigs, 700,000 cattle and 200,000 sheep are imported into Austria from Servia annually. The value of Servia's exports to Austria is £21,000,000, out of a total of £40,000,000.

Austria is better placed, the exports to Servia being valued at £8,000,000.

The fight will cut heavily both ways. It will quickly ruin the resources of Servia, and meat will rise to famine prices in Austria.

Meantime numbers of German speculators are arriving at Belgrade with the view of erecting slaughter and cold storage houses for pigs and arranging river and rail transport for horned beasts to Genoa, via the Danube and the Black Sea.

The Servians have resolved to subject Austrian goods to every annoyance on the railways, and the railway personnel have agreed to give half their salaries to assist the government in the fight.

Roman Catholic Census.

LONDON, —An attempt is being made by the Roman Catholic authorities in Manchester to take a census of the members of that faith residing in the provincial district.

MANCHURIAN ARMY SUPPORTS THE CZAR

Pledges Itself to Aid in Securing the Reforms Outlined in His Manifesto.

ST. PETERSBURG,)

A colonel of artillery, who has just arrived from Manchuria, has given details of a meeting held at Harbin on December 14 last by 400 line and staff officers of the Manchurian army, at which the Czar's manifesto was unanimously indorsed.

At the meeting, which was held by permission of General Linevitch, a resolution was adopted declaring that the Manchurian army was determined to support with all its energy the realization of the reforms outlined by the Emperor.

The officers representing every regiment and corps in Manchuria, and their action, was afterward ratified by the various commands.

The officers of the army decided to establish a permanent union for the purpose of assisting in carrying out the proposed reforms. Inasmuch as the majority of the so-called "law and order" party in Russia have become openly reactionary, the officers identify themselves with the "progressive" minority.

TO FIGHT SLEEPINESS

Doctors En Route to Congress to Get Opportunity of Testing Cures.

PARIS, —On the occasion of a medical congress to be held at Lisbon in April next, the League Against Sleepiness will charter a steamer, which will start from Hamburg and call at Antwerp, Dover, Cherbourg, and Pauillac, on her way to Portugal, for the purpose of testing the hundred-odd methods of overcoming sleepiness which have been suggested to the organ of the league.

HERMIT POLITICIAN SUPPORTS UNIONISTS

Learned by Mere Accident of England's General Election, and Then Entered Fray.

LONDON,

The discovery of one of the most active workers in the Unionist cause at Chichester was made by the merest accident.

He is a retired business man, who has settled down in the division to spend the evening of his days in the seclusion of rural England. He lives twelve miles from the nearest railway station, in a rambling mansion perched on the summit of a commanding hill.

He did not bother to read newspapers or to gossip with his neighbors, and it was by a chance journey to the nearest market town that he learned an election was on the way.

An open-air meeting was in progress, and the hermit, who in his day had been a keen politician, once more had his interest aroused. He went to the front and asked to speak. The chairman at first took him for a political opponent. It proved the reverse, and he was afterward an active and successful worker on the Unionist side.

DROWNED IN BALL DRESS

Boat Capsizes in River With Party From a Dance.

GENEVA, —Two young women were drowned in the River Doubs, at Neuchatel, yesterday.

They were returning home to Le Locle with their brother and two gentlemen companions from a dance at the house of some friends. As it was late, the ferry had stopped running, and the young people had to row themselves across the river.

For some unknown reason the boat capsized in midstream. None of the party could swim, but the young men managed to reach the shore.

The girls were drowned. Their bodies were found further down the stream this morning, their ball dress covered with green weeds.

TWO MILLION PILGRIMS AT HINDOO FESTIVAL

Learned Mahatma Worshiped by Followers, Who Think He is Divinely Inspired.

LUCKNOW.

The Khumbh Mela, the great religious fair held at the confluence of the Ganges and Jumna beneath the old Mogul fort at Allahabad, is visited this year by a personage who claims to be the most learned of all the mahatmas in Tibet or elsewhere.

He is besieged by devotees of all sects, and his preaching is listened to with rapt attention. The number of pilgrims now congregated at the Mela, from all parts of India and the bordering countries, is estimated at two millions.

The mahatma is a tall, gaunt man of sixty, of highly intellectual appearance, and with a wonderful knowledge of the various dialects of India. He wears a flowing red robe.

From his youth the mahatma has practiced asceticism. He claims to have been blessed with frequent visions, and altogether he is regarded as the holiest spiritual leader in the empire. It is believed by the pilgrims in Allahabad that he is directly controlled by the divine will, and that all who come in contact with him are purified by his presence.

Yesterday he was surrounded by adoring mahatmas, several of whom were over 100 years old, and all of whom worshiped him as their leader.

The "Lat Swami," as he is called, is stated to have solved many knotty points in the "Shastras," or sacred books.

Long-Lived Family.

LONDON, —George Brown has died at Rushall, Norfolk, in his 85th year. He was a member of a family remarkable for its longevity. His grandfather was a centenarian, his father lived until he was 97, and most of his brothers have far exceeded the allotted span.

REPORTER MISTAKEN FOR BRUTAL MURDERER

Handcuffed by Policeman and Hooted by Crowd Who Threaten to Lynch Him.

PARIS.

A newspaper correspondent, who had been told off to investigate the murder of three persons at Vieuzac, near Bethune, had a singularly unpleasant experience today.

Finding in his possession a large number of newspaper cuttings and manuscript notes relating to the crime, two gendarmes became convinced that they had hit on the criminal, and accordingly handcuffed him and conveyed him in a cart to Bethune. On the way he was hooted by the peasants, and threats to lynch him were freely made.

At Bethune he established his identity to the satisfaction of the Magistrate, and was then released.

BLOWN THROUGH THE ROOF

Man Escapes Uninjured After Terrible Experience.

GENEVA, —A man employed at an embroidery factory at Wil, near St. Gall, was blown through the roof yesterday by a terrific explosion of acetylene gas.

He alighted on a part of the roof which was not injured by the explosion, and was found sitting there in a dazed condition by his rescuers. Otherwise he was not hurt.

The explosion demolished half the factory and blew a stone staircase out into the street. The windows of neighboring houses were broken. The occupants fled away at dawn.

PREPOSTEROUS "SUGGESTION"

Toronto Globe: A deputation from the Separate school Board, headed by Vicar-General McCann, waited on Hon. Dr. Pyne, in relation to the proposed new education bill. Several suggestions were made respecting amendments which it was thought would tend to the improvement of the separate schools. It was urged that these were entitled to share with the public schools in the general improvement, which it is hoped will accrue to education throughout the province under the proposed measure. In this respect the suggested establishment of several normal schools was discussed, and it was asked that the interests of Roman Catholics should be considered in this regard. There are no separate high or normal schools now, and it was not asked that any should be established.

Hon. Dr. Pyne said the suggestions laid before him were reasonable and would be considered.

The Hamilton, Spectator says that information from other sources is to the effect that the suggestion made was distinctly a proposal to establish separate high schools, or a normal school, or both. And we do not think it possible that Hon. Dr. Pyne ever said that that was 'reason enable' Ontario has done very badly in the matter of separate schools; but that is no reason why the province should now do worse, and fasten the incubus and nuisance more firmly upon the people.

Coming as it does, only a short time after the failure of an attempt to saddle upon the Ontario people the school law of Quebec, this preposterous demand—or "suggestion" if you will—should put our people on guard.

We cannot believe that Mr. Whitney, whose recent utterances against the use of public money for denominational educational institutions were quite plain and pointed, will for a moment consider any proposition whatever for the "improvement" of the separate schools except the one great, complete and lasting improvement of wiping them completely out.

The people of Ontario do not want to be divided into two sections with an impassable gulf of non-intercourse between them. That gulf is wide enough now, and the duty of the legislature is to soak it narrow it—not to make it greater.

NEARLY A TRAGEDY.

Narrow Escape from Drowning Near Jubilee Point, Rice Lake

A story of a very narrow escape from drowning has just reached the city from Rice Lake. It appears that Mr. Bruce Johnston, a farmer residing on Cow Island, near Jubilee Point, accompanied by another resident of that vicinity, whose name could not be learned, was attempting to drive across the lake to Gore's Landing a few days ago. Near the middle of the lake the party drove into a hole, and and men and horses were struggling in the icy water. The two men managed to crawl out onto the ice with great difficulty, and although almost paralyzed with cold, succeeded in rescuing their horses. It was indeed a very narrow escape for all concerned, and it is almost a miracle that the horses should have been saved.

Pe-ru-na Cures Catarrh Wherever Located.

Pe-ru-na a Necessity in the Home.

J. B. Alexander, Publisher of the "Fruit and Floral Guide, A Magazine of Horticulture," published in Hartford City, Ind., says of Peruna:

"I was afflicted with catarrh of the throat and head for over ten years. I was treated by many physicians, but grew worse until I was seldom able to go out in cold weather.

"About one year ago I was advised to try Peruna, which I did, and I am now entirely well of the catarrh.

"Peruna is a necessity in our home. With the first symptoms of a cold we use it, and are never afflicted with catarrh.

"I advise all who are afflicted with catarrh to try Peruna. There is certainly nothing equal to it as a catarrh medicine."—J. B. Alexander.

Pe-ru-na is a Systemic Remedy.

If Peruna will cure catarrh in one place, it will cure it in any other place, because it is a systemic remedy.

Pe-ru-na Always on Hand.

Mr. Fred Schnell Lakeview, Erie Co., N. Y., writes:

"I had been a sufferer for more than thirty years with catarrh of the intestines. I had used a great deal of medicine to no avail, so I decided to try Peruna.

"I have now used thirteen bottles and can give you the joyful tidings that I have no more trouble. I always keep Peruna on hand."—Fred. Schnell.

The people generally are very much misinformed as to the nature of catarrh.

Catarrh is usually believed to be confined to the head, nose and throat. Latterly we sometimes hear of catarrh of the stomach and catarrh of the bladder. Seldom, if ever, do we hear of catarrh of any other organs.

It is not because these organs are not subject to catarrh, nor that catarrh of these organs is not a very common disease, but simply because it is not generally known that affections of these organs may be due to catarrh.

Had Catarrh Thirty Years.—Pe-ru-na Cured Him.

Mr. Gustav M. Schmidt, Spring Valley, Ill., writes:

"I had catarrh of the head and throat for over thirty years. It became worse every year.

"About three months ago I commenced to take Peruna and Manalin, and now I am entirely cured of that troublesome sickness. Your medicine is surely a blessing to mankind.

"You can truly say that you have not lived in vain, Doctor, and I thank you for the good you have done me. May you enjoy a long life to help suffering humanity."—Gustav M. Schmidt.

Dr. Hartman Makes Personal Use of Pe-ru-na.

In speaking of his own personal use of Peruna, Dr. Hartman says:

"For a number of years my professional duties have compelled me to be much on the road, traveling long distances by rail, night and day, exposed to all kinds of vicissitudes, sleeping and eating in different hotels continually, and through it all I have preserved myself from any derangement of the body resulting from catching cold.

Pe-ru-na a Household Friend.

Mr. Henry Schroeder, Route 2, Napoleon, O., writes:

"I suffered for almost ten years with catarrh of the stomach and all doctoring was of no avail.

"I took nine bottles of Peruna and two of Manalin and am now entirely cured.

"I recommend the medicine to all who are afflicted with this disease. It is my household friend."—Henry Schroeder.

A Farmer's Talk to Farmers.

Before Dr. Hartman began the study of medicine he was a farmer boy. He was brought up on a farm in Southern Pennsylvania.

He belonged to that industrial, successful class of farmers known as the Pennsylvania Dutch, the best farmers in the world.

It was here that he early learned the lesson of pulling obnoxious things out by the roots.

Dr. Hartman's Method of Treating Catarrh.

Naturally, when he began the study of medicine his mind turned instinctively toward the removing of causes. He could not content himself with doctoring symptoms any more than his enterprising father could have contented himself by pulling off the tops of weeds to eradicate them from the soil.

The Doctor turned his attention early to the science of removing the cause of diseases, believing that obnoxious symptoms would disappear if the cause of the disease was removed.

In other words, Dr. Hartman applied the common sense of the practical farmer to medicine, and after much experimentation Peruna was compounded.

The sensible farmer does not think of cutting off the tops of weeds to kill them. He pulls them up by the roots.

Dr. Hartman Interested in Farming

Notwithstanding Dr. Hartman's busy professional career, he still continues to be interested in farming. He is the owner and manager of one of the largest farms in the State of Ohio, with several thousand acres of the best tilled land in the Middle West, and with hundreds of the best blooded percheron horses ever imported or raised in this country.

Dr. Hartman relies upon Peruna entirely in case of sickness in his own family.

Geo. H. Thompson, Raleigh, Miss., writes:

"I have been cured of catarrh by your medicines, Peruna and Manalin. I had been affected with catarrh of the stomach about all my life, and was taken bad every spring and summer.

"I used several kinds of patent medicines, but they did me no good. I then took a treatment under an M. D., which did me but little good. By this time I had got where I could eat nothing but a little soup. I had severe pains, had lost in weight and could not do anything.

"I began taking your medicines, Peruna and Manalin. I then weighed 126 pounds, but after taking 17 bottles of Peruna and one bottle of Manalin, I weighed 168 pounds.

"I am now at work on the farm and feel well all of the time. I eat all I want to and my friends say that I look better than ever before. I will ever praise Peruna for its healing power." Geo. H. Thompson.

A reward of $10,000 has been deposited in the Market Exchange Bank, Columbus, Ohio, as a guarantee that the above testimonials are genuine; that we hold in our possession authentic letters certifying to the same.

INS AND OUTS

The question may yet resolve itself into a test of which can hold out the longer. 20,000,000 tons of reserve coal or the miners' savings, with the consumer paying for both.

• • • •

The man who thinks we haven't got enough soldiers to defend the country evidently forgets what would happen to an invading army if we ever sent one of our Peterboro hockey teams to the front.

If the new Ontario Deputy Minister of Education Mr. Colquhoun, should ever be carried away with the idea of spelling reform, he might begin work on his own name.

Sun spots are said to be responsible for a good many things, and they probably have influenced the City Council to reject Assessor T. McGrath in committee, where vote is by ballot, and elect him in open council. Evidently there are some shysters at the council board.

The canals of Mars may be seen on cloudy nights. This shows the beauty of our great Trent Canal, which is visible to the naked eye in any weather.

• • • •

The public can freak or a whole lot of things it would rather see than another coal strike.

• • • • •

It is not improbable that the Peterboro coal barons will take advantage of the impending coal strike to give prices a further boost.

• • • •

Canada's new town on the Pacific will be named Prince Rupert. It will leave "foot-Prince on the sands of time."

Although the author of the "Banks of the Wabash," is now dead, it is much more cheerful to note the fact that the song itself has been dead some years.

• • • •

You don't have to wait until the strike begins to start paying higher prices for your coal. The Peterboro coal barons know a thing or two.

• • • •

However, it is noted that the people who stole the hymn books at Toronto church religious revival exercised gentlemanly restraint in not trying to get away with the collection plates.

It is said that Senator Cox has asserted that Peterboro will have 50,000 people in five years. Then we will have to hire a derrick to left the city directory.

Why not abolish hockey, football and other rough games, and make civic deputations to Toronto and Ottawa the national pastime?

Where are P. C. Miller's Clothes?

How is it that Acting Constable T. Miller, a most efficient officer, who will be on duty for the next two or three months, is not provided with a suitable uniform? Whilst P. C. Miller is well known to the citizens of this city, it is beyond dispute that the blue uniform and brass buttons of the properly attired officer of the law, carry a large amount of weight in case of any trouble or dispute. This officer, is no stranger to this Business, and should be supplied with the insignia of his position.

A UNIQUE SHOW

Ladies Enjoy Novel Entertainment in Y. W. C. A.

Last night, behind religiously closed and scrupulously guarded doors, a novel and most interesting entertainment was held in the Y.W.C.A. The cause of this secrecy was not that anything approaching an improper was an evidence, but simply that the show involved a shortness of raiment and consequent display of underclothing, all present being of the fair sex alone. For any horrid man to have appeared and seen those taking part in skirts only covering to the knees, the fair participants could not be permitted for an instant.

There were three classes of those who exercise in the gymnasium, and who is suitable attire gave a good exhibition of their powers in the matter of calisthenic exercises. There were three classes participating, the junior and two senior classes of ladies. A most pleasant evening was spent, Miss Adams superintending the gymnastic exhibition.

After these exercises were concluded, the ladies, for deplored of the lack of gentlemen, divided their ranks one part arrogating the dignity and presence, so to say of masculinity. A pleasant time, with games and music, the first of its kind in Peterboro, was enjoyed during every minute of its duration. After this the men of this city to use a classic expression, can "Go way back and sit down!"

"The Blacksmith's Daughter"

Last night in St. John's church Sunday school, that was crowded to the doors, a clever drama written and staged by Mr. S. R. Bradburn, was presented to a delighted audience. Those who took part in the play, "The Blacksmith's Daughter," were Misses. Bradburn, Drysdale, Hogan, Durette and White, and the Misses White and Roberts. By special request the play will be presented at Ballyboro on Monday night. Prof. Hillier acted most acceptably as accompanist.

The Union Life Assurance Company

FOURTH ANNUAL REPORT

The fourth Annual Meeting of the Union Life Assurance Company was held at the Company's offices, Monday, February 13th, when the following statement was presented:

The Directors beg to submit the fourth annual report of the operations of the Company, being for the year ending December 31st, 1905. The results of the past year have been most satisfactory in every respect.

The Company continues to conduct only a non-participating business, being, it is believed, the only Canadian Company transacting insurance exclusively on a pure stock premium basis. The policyholders are not charged for profits, and none are promised or expected to be paid. Eighty-eight per cent. of the insurance in force is on the Industrial plan, and, notwithstanding the outlay required to establish Industrial business, you will be gratified to learn that the business of your Company is being secured at a cost per thousand considerably lower than other Industrial Companies.

The new insurance issued amounted to $6,122,446, under 27,357 policies, the amount being over $560,000 greater than the best previous year.

The premium income increased by thirty-five per cent. over 1904.

The assets are greater than at the close of the preceding year by forty-two per cent.

The insurance in force increased by forty per cent., being $1,600,000 greater than the gain in 1904.

SELECTIONS

Three Tombs at Westminster.

In the east walk of the cloisters at Westminster abbey there are three most interesting graves—those of Thomas Betterton and his wife, better known as Bess Saunderson, and the ever fascinating Mrs. Bracegirdle. Of all the people who lie within these hallowed walls it may safely be said that Betterton has the best claim of all to this privilege. No small measure of praise must be accorded to this gifted actor for the fact that he almost more than any one else was responsible for the resuscitation of the English drama after the stern regime of the Puritans. Mrs. Bracegirdle was either adopted by Betterton or placed under his care, and she very soon took all hearts in London by storm. She achieved her greatest success in acting in Congreve's plays. Her artistic career, however, was a comparatively short one, for Mrs. Bracegirdle retired from the stage in dudgeon when Anne Oldfield first became her dangerous rival. She lived on in honorable retirement and beloved by all, high and low, far and near, until the year 1748, when she was buried here beside her old friends the Bettertons.—London Mail.

How Dreams Are Weighed.

An ingenious instrument which demonstrates the close connection that exists between dreams and brain calculation is known as the "tilt board." A long, shallow tray big enough for a man to recline upon is balanced exactly upon a steel blade. A subject is placed upon it and put to sleep, whereupon the end containing his feet generally falls. But eventually the subject begins to dream, and then the tray containing the sleeper's feet reascends, the extent to which it moves varying according to the vividness of the dream. The explanation is that the blood leaves the brain of a sleeper directly the mental activities cease, and, the head as a result becoming lighter, that end of the balance rises. When the sleeper dreams small quantities of blood are recalled to the brain to supply the dreams, and the balance is gradually changed. In this way dreams may be weighed.

Venus Among the Incas.

The only planet which the Incas had discovered was Venus, which they called the hairy on account of the brightness of its rays. They said that, being the most brilliant of the stars, the sun would not permit it to be separated from him and obliged it to attend his rising as well as his going down, just as at the courts of kings only the most distinguished lords and the handsomest ladies were admitted to the ceremonious royal risings and retirings. It appears nearly certain that the Incas spoke of Venus under two different names, according as it preceded or followed the sun. To this day the native Peruvians name it in fanciful language the eight hour torch and the twilight lamp. As this star served to show the Indians when it was time to prepare the maize for cooking, they also gave it a name indicative of that act. A chapel in the Temple of the Sun was consecrated to this planet.

Auctioneers In England.

The auctioneers of the United Kingdom cannot claim to belong to a very ancient profession so far as that country is concerned. Though auctions were familiar institutions in ancient Rome, the first in the British islands is said to have been held about 1700, when Elisha Yale, governor of Fort George (Madras), put up for sale his trophies of the east, and, although "auction" was declared in 1678 as "a making a publick sale and selling of goods by outcry," it does not appear to have been recognized then as a British institution. The word "auctioneer" does not occur before the eighteenth century.

Lorenzo Dow and Burr.

When the timid colonial clergymen were afraid to criticise Aaron Burr's treason they asked Lorenzo Dow what he thought of Burr's meanness. He raised both hands like a great V and shouted: "Aaron Burr mean! Why, I could take the little end of nothing whittled down to a point, punch out the pith of a hair and put in 40,000 such traitor souls as his, shake 'em up, and they'd rattle."

An Ardent Lover.

"And you went straight to her father and demanded his daughter's hand?"

"I went straight enough, but I—well, I'll admit that I didn't carry out my original purpose."

"Scared?"

"Scared! No, sir! But we got to talking stocks, and I forget all about it."

He Goes Out.

"That's a pretty swell smoking jacket you've got on," said the caller.

"Smoking jacket?" replied Hespeth. "Why, this is my house coat."

"Well, that's the same thing"—

"Well, I guess it isn't the same thing; not in this house. When I want to smoke I have to put on my overcoat."

The Cruel Plant.

A Canadian climber, the Physianthus albens, has received the name of "cruel plant" from its ill treatment of butterflies. It flowers in the month of August, and the butterflies, attracted by the perfume, hover around it in large numbers and push their trunks into the corollas to sip the honey. A pair of sensitive vegetable pinchers in the heart of the flower grips the delicate proboscis, and in spite of struggles to get free the butterfly hangs suspended until it dies. Apparently the plant has nothing to gain by the death of the insect, as it is not carnivorous, like the Venus fly trap. In fact, if the butterfly were allowed to come and go it would tend to foster the species by assisting cross fertilization. It appears, however, that the "cruel plant" came originally from Brazil, where the butterflies are much stronger and extricate their suckers from the trap. We may add that another Canadian plant, the Cnicus discolor, is charged with cruelty. The flower has a gland which secretes a viscous liquid capable of liming insects which are fond of it. Moreover, they seem to be stupefied and poisoned by it, and no reason can as yet be assigned for the deadly consequence.

A Colossal Harp.

The largest harp ever made, so far as is known, was that invented and constructed by M. Veritan, provost of Burkli, near Basel. It was known as the gigantic meteorological Æolian harp. It was 320 feet in length and was erected in the garden of its inventor in 1787. This harp consisted of fifteen iron wires, 320 feet in length, stretched between two poles. The wires were from two to three inches apart, the largest being one-sixth of an inch in thickness and the smallest one-twelfth of an inch. They were placed in the direction of north and south and inclined in such a manner as to form an angle of from twenty to thirty degrees with the horizon, being stretched by means of rollers properly disposed for the purpose. Whenever the weather changed the wires sounded with such loudness that it was impossible to go on with a concert in the house. The sound sometimes represented the hissing noise of water in rapid ebullition, sometimes that of a harmonicon and sometimes that of distant chimes or an organ.

The First Hats.

Discoursing on the subject of hats an antiquary expressed the opinion that the hat was first used quite as much for decoration as for protection. The ancestor of all hats he considers to have been the fillet, or band, around the hair worn by the ancient Greeks, among others. Probably the first hint gained by men regarding head ornaments was through observing the crests, plumes and antlers of various birds and beasts. The eastern races, with their fondness for ceremony and display, afford the most notable instances of the use of hats as signs of rank and authority. Thus in Buddhist countries the gods are represented as wearing elaborate forms of headgear. In Korea the fashion attains its height, no fewer than fifty kinds of hats being worn by the natives as indications of their social position.

The Horse's Hoof.

In its present elaborate form the hoof of a horse is the most perfect instrument of support which has been devised in the animal kingdom to uphold a large and swiftly moving animal in its passage over the ground. The original toe nail and the neighboring soft parts connected with it have been modified into a structure which in an extraordinary manner combines solidity with elasticity, so that it may strike violent blows upon the hard surface of the earth without harm. The result is that the horse can carry a greater weight at a swifter speed than any other animal approaching it in size.

A Hatter's Trick.

"There are tricks in every trade, you know," said a New York clubman. "Even in retail hat selling many dodges are employed.

"I said to a hatter one day:

"'I don't see how you can afford to iron for nothing all the silk hats you sell.'

"The man nodded at me gravely.

"'We have to do it, sir,' he said. 'The hats would last too long if we didn't.'"

The Last Word.

"Does your wife insist on having the last word?" asked the person who indulges in impertinent questions.

"Not at all," answered Mr. Meekton. "It is quite customary for me to close the conversation with 'very well,' or some such remark, to indicate that I understand what Henrietta intends to convey."

SPLENDID PROPOSITION

Iron Spar Copper Mining Company Has Appointed a Canadian Agent —Only a Limited Number of Shares for Sale.

Among the new mining properties that are attracting attention in the Coeur D'Alene District of Idaho for their encouraging conditions, the Iron Spar Copper property is one of the foremost. A large auriferous copper ledge traverses the property for a distance of 6,000 feet, crossing from Idaho to Montana, over the main range of the Coeur d'Alene Mountains, which form the boundary line between these States. In the matter of transportation facilities the Iron Spar has a great advantage over many other properties, being distant only a mile and a half from the Northern Pacific Railroad, and a half mile from a good wagon road. The property is owned by the Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., and the greatest economy and dispatch is being practised in opening up vein.

Another contract will be let soon to extend the present tunnel another hundred feet on the vein, and a good workable ore is expected within ten days from time work is started. The character of the vein and enclosing formation is in all essential particulars similar to that of the Monitor and Richmond on the divide, a few miles to the east. Great depth is possible to be gained on the ledge by driving westward into the main range, which line of policy will be strictly adhered to in the matter of development, to further economize and expedite the work. It is the intention of the company to install a compressor and machine drills early in the spring.

Mr. W. K. Hall, of this city, has secured a block of stock of this splendid proposition, and will dispose of it for a short time at ten cents per share.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces (except 8 and 26, not reserved), may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7 50 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15 0x1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

THE STRAP CLIMBERS.

One Way In Which Two Boys May Mount a Tree or Pole.

Strap climbing or rope climbing is an interesting feat, but it is twice as novel and just as easy when two boys do it at the same time. It is not well to go too far from the ground in this, or, for that matter, in any other climbing feat. Go just far enough to show that you can do it, although it is perfectly safe as long as the directions are followed.

Get a strap or a piece of rope about eight feet long. Pass it around the object, pole or tree you wish to climb, and tie or buckle the ends securely together. Now two boys get inside the rope, it pressing against their backs at the waist and bracing their feet against the tree or pole, and, leaning back against the rope, walk right up the pole, as the illustration shows. The secret of the whole thing is to keep step, or, rather, keep step with alternate feet. While one boy raises his right foot, the other boy advances his left foot, both keeping time. It is really very simple, perfectly safe, and it looks like a difficult circus feat. Remember two things—do not climb too high, and be very sure that the rope is strong and well knotted.

PETER HENLEIN.

The Clever Locksmith's Apprentice Who Made the First Watch.

In the year 1505 there was a young apprentice to a locksmith in Nuremberg. His name was Peter Henlein. He had neither money, friends nor influence and seemed doomed to remain a simple, poor locksmith's helper all his life.

There were more than a hundred locksmiths' apprentices in Nuremberg at that time, and most of them said hopelessly that the field was overcrowded. We hear something like that every now and then in these days, too, don't we?

Nobody remembers the names of any of these apprentices today except that of Henlein. He didn't waste any time grumbling and worrying about the "overcrowded field," but sat down in his spare time tinkering at a curious machine.

When it was finished it was shaped like a drum and was just small enough to go into the big pockets of the coats of that date. What was it?

It was the first watch.

There is a general belief that these first watches were of the shape of an egg. This is not so. They were shaped like a drum and were really pretty clumsy, far more suitable for the capacious costume of a rider than for the more tightly fitting dress of a courtier or a dandy. But they kept good time and ran forty hours without needing winding.

The watchmakers of Nuremberg have erected a fine statue in honor of Peter, the apprentice of the middle ages, who found something new to do in an overcrowded profession.

The Key of the Kingdom.

This is a nice, quiet, "sit down" game and comes as a change after a romp. All the players sit in a circle and one begins by handing the player on the right a key, saying, "I give you here the key of the kingdom." The next player repeats the words said to him and passes it on to the next player, adding, "I give you the string that holds the key of the kingdom." The next player in his turn repeats what both the previous players have said, adding as he passes it on, "I give you the knife to cut the string that holds the key of the kingdom." Then the fourth will hand it on, announcing that "I give you a grindstone to sharpen the knife," etc., and so on, until all the players have supplied some article connected with the key of the kingdom or have failed in the attempt.

Conundrums.

What is it that never freezes? Boiling water.

How many straws go to make a goose's nest? Not one, for straws, not having feet, cannot go anywhere.

Who killed the fourth part of all the people in the world? Cain, when he killed Abel.

Animal Crackers.

Mary had a little lamb, two zebras and a [illegible]

Elephants and camels, too, and others by the score.

She ate the whole menagerie and asked the nurse for more.

But not another one would nurse allow. Poor Mary's sleep was much disturbed by tiger, goat and gnu;

In horrid nightmare circles they all paraded in review.

Mary is a vegetarian now.

—Herbert Paus in St. Nicholas.

A Bath in Bubbles.

"To take a bath at Tiflis, in Russian Caucasia, is to court a never to be forgotten experience," says one who knows. "The masseur who presides over the toilet of his patrons is a weird looking figure. His head is shaved, a rag is twisted around his waist, and his feet are dyed a beautiful red. You are assisted by this individual, rubbed, pushed face downward on a marble slab, find his foot in your spine and his hands upon your shoulders. Then he grinds his feet up and down your back. They are round your neck, on your head—everywhere! Then he vaults lightly off, and in a moment, from a linen bag filled with soap, he has squeezed clouds of perfumed bubbles, and you are hidden in them from head to feet as completely as if you had fallen into a snowdrift. You are not absolutely bruised, but you are clean."

Wonders of the Eye.

Viewed as an optical instrument, the human eye may well be called perfect, for it is an apparatus contained in a globe less than an inch in diameter, in which is produced an image practically perfect in form and color and which can be accurately adjusted almost instantly for every distance from five inches to infinity, which is movable in every direction, has an area small enough for the detection of the most minute details and at the same time large enough for the appreciation of large objects, and which enables us to see all shades of color and to estimate distance, solidity, and, to some extent, the consistency of objects, and yet this wonderful instrument, perhaps the most varied in its capabilities of any part of the body, is persistently misused and neglected. Is it any wonder that some day nature resents this treatment and leaves the offenders in total and perpetual blindness?

The Name of China.

We speak of China and the Chinese, little thinking that the natives of the Flowery Kingdom never hear these terms until after leaving the place of their birth or coming in contact with some traveler. They have many names by which they designate themselves and the land which they inhabit, but Chinese and China are not among the number. The most ancient name of China is Tienhai, which signifies "beneath the sky." Since the present ruling house took control of the empire in 1690 the name of Taitsingkwoh has been applied to the kingdom as a whole and Chungkwoh to that portion known to American readers as the Middle Kingdom.

—Miss Mildred Brightman, who is visiting friends in Rochester, N.Y., will return home at the end of the week.

A trip around the world in 60 minutes at a mere trifle.

Magnificently finished and exquisitely photo-color views in place of the oldtime and antiquated views of the past. A most pleasant and interesting tour to spend journeying around the globe viewing the places of greatest interest, most beautiful scenery, etc., at a mere trifle of cost through our liberal plan. These views illustrate some of the most noted places in the world—mountain scenery both in America and Europe—waterfalls and other famous natural phenomena, some of the world's most famous buildings, places of historical interest and places famous for beautiful architecture or beautiful natural scenery. This set is of the greatest educational value, presenting, as it does, such realistic likenesses of scenes and places that we all should know about. We want every household in this city to have one of these sets. Imagine yourself taken through the Orient, on a trip to California, through the world's Fair to see the splendid scenes as though you were right there on the spot. By a special process, a combination of lithographing and half-tone work, we are able to offer a collection of colored views from every part of the world in the most beautiful, natural and startling life-like color effects, which must be seen to be appreciated. It is impossible to describe the grandeur and beauty of these views. Come and see them. We want each and every household in this city to have a set of these.

It wasn't so very long ago that hundreds of thousands of people spent many pleasant hours with the stereoscope, but heretofore they were compelled to pay enormous prices for views, think of it, as high as 50c each for colored pictures. We sold thousands upon thousands of stereoscopic views, in colors, at 50c each in those days, but imagine each and every view had to be colored by hand. In the past few months we have had repeated demands for them, and being able to secure the latest and most beautiful colored views to furnish to the public at a ridiculously low price, we entered into the stereoscope plan on quite a large scale, and have taken immediate advantage of the International Art Association, who have spent an enormous amount of money to get out special color plates and have finally completed their end, namely: To place on the market thousands of magnificent stereoscopic views, the most beautiful, interesting and exciting scenes from every land, in the grandest and most exquisite natural colors.

Now we come to our great special offer. Read our plan carefully as it describes the stereoscope and tells how to secure the scope and views at almost no cost to you.

First the stereoscope. The Stereoscope is our world-famous "Aluminum Crystal Lens" Stereoscope. Genuine aluminum hood, bound with dark rich red velvet. Frame is of fine finished cherry wood with patent folding handle, folding underneath frame, and sliding bar. The lenses are extra fine quality, selected for clearness and brilliancy, 1¼ inches in diameter, ground from best quality glass and carefully adjusted. This Crystal Lens Aluminum "Scope" has won universal praise from lovers of the beautiful, and as a means of entertainment stands second to nothing.

MARKET BLOCK — PETERBOROUGH

IN MEMORIAM

Of the Late Edward Towns, Who Died in Peterboro on December 30th, 1905.

On Saturday morn, a happy day,
Our hearts are cheerful and bright,
The world to us it is so gay,
Brother Ed. comes home tonight!

Mid-night comes on, he is not home,
We'll keep the fire so bright,
Why is it that he has not come?
We miss him here tonight.

Christmas eve comes, so bright and clear,
And brother Ed. comes home once more,
With presents for each of his sisters dear,
As he opened the kitchen door.

"I suppose you expected me home last night,
But I missed my chance, you know,
I suppose you thought that I was not alright,
Or I would not have treated you so.

"How is my father, my brother and friends?
How is all the neighbors around?
How is my aunts and my uncles and friends?
I hope they in happiness abound.

"How is my nephews and nieces?
[illegible]
When I'm home, how my pleasure increases,'
This is how our dear brother Ed. spoke.

Christmas day comes, we are chatting together,
Talking of past and of future ahead,
Little we thought of the dark, gloomy weather,
Or dreamed of the fate of our dear brother Ed.

Happy we are, and his voice seems so pleasant,
But Tuesday comes in and calls him away,
"Father and sisters, good-bye for the present,
I'll see you again on New Year's Day."

Saturday comes bringing anguish and sorrow,
Where last week our future was happy and bright;
How can we live o'er the heart-breaking morrow?
For our dear brother Ed. comes home dead tonight.

Midnight comes on and our anguish ne'er ceases,
One o'clock comes and fills our hearts with dread,
The hearse drives up slowly and our agony increases,
For it brings the remains of our dear brother Ed.

New Year's comes in and our brother still sleeping,
Sleeping repose from which he'll never awake;
Friends and companions draw near, and leave weeping,
When they think of the changes of only one week.

Slowly and steadily the procession has started
To the cemetery, for burial of our brother so dear,
Weeping and wailing won't bring back the departed
On earth, but in sweet dreams will he ever appear.

In the dear old churchyard our brother is lying,
Sleeping so soundly in his cold, lonely bed;
How can we pass by his grave without sighing,
When it's all that remains of our dear brother Ed.

—Sisters Teresa and Minnie.

To the Canadian Investor

DORES-MONTGOMERY MINING COMPANY

OF BULLFROG, NEVADA

The undersigned is pleased to announce to the investors of Canada that he has been appointed Canadian Fiscal Agent of the above company, and is offering a limited amount of treasury stock at 25c. per share for development work. This property is just 1200 feet southwest of the famous Montgomery Shoshone mine and both have unquestionably the same vein. The group shows a well defined vein cropping out through, and it is a perfect fissure. A six inch talc seam on the hanging wall gives high values. We have also several other ledges, and it is only a matter of development work to make this property equal to any producer in the section.

The management of the Montgomery Shoshone conservatively estimates that the winze has produced $200,000 worth of ore. If this is right, the ore from the winze has averaged about $575 a ton, or about $1200 for every foot of sinking, the winze being 4 x 7 in clear.

Ore from the winze running less than $250 is thrown over the dump as milling ore. No less than 150 tons of ore has been shipped from this mine, all of it coming from the winze. Another shipment of 50 tons or more will be made via Las Vegas in a few days.

The figures given above are startling in the extreme, but the measurements and ore values as quoted are official—direct from the management of the wonderful mine that is today astonishing the world.

This property is only 1200 feet from the Dores Montgomery Mine.

HEALTH FOR WOMEN

Mrs. Emma Daigle of Moncton, N. B., Sends an Open Letter to All Sufferers.

Most women are tired when they wake up. Housework drags along with great difficulty. Nervousness is always present, headaches seldom depart, tears are ever ready to flow.

But there is a cure, a true specific for women's ills that restored a prominent lady in Moncton, Mrs. Daigle, who tells the following experience:

"About a year ago I had a serious sickness, sort of a general breakdown. My digestion failed entirely and I was able to eat but very little. I took violent stomach pains and suffered terribly from headaches. My doctor said it was "nerve exhaustion" and I might never be well. My troubles increased, for as I grew weaker I became subject to neuralgia and rheumatism. Sleep finally forsook me and I almost lost heart. Different medicines didn't help. Doctors couldn't do me any good. I was desperate when I heard of Ferrozone. The first box convinced me it was just what I needed. It toned up my stomach, gave me a splendid appetite and then my recovery seemed easier. Ferrozone increased my weight several pounds, has restored my nerves, given me a good color and strength such as I never had before. For the weak and sickly I can truthfully recommend Ferrozone." (Signed) Emma Daigle.

REMEMBER: No more stimulant or alcoholic concoction can take the loss of the nerve and blood nourishment contained in Ferrozone. This true tonic always does what is claimed for it. Sold everywhere in 50c. boxes or six for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

The latest service station is that at Coboconk, which is being installed this week by Foreman S. K. Lemke and a gang of men. The new line will be on the same basis as the new system at Bobcaygeon.

—The editor not 100 miles from Peterboro, recently published the following:—"If the married man who was seen kissing the blond girl the other morning doesn't come in and settle for his subscription, we will publish his name." The next morning, it is said that twenty-five married men in town came and paid their subscriptions, and told the editor he should not pay attention to all the silly stories he heard.

OF LOCAL INTEREST

Satisfactory Showing of Home Life Asso., For Past Year.

The annual meeting of the Home Life Association of Canada developed that their past year's work was eminently satisfactory to both shareholders and directors.

This is a matter of especial interest to our readers, both on account of the numerous policy holders living in this city, and because the President of this successful company, is a local man, Hon. J. R. Stratton.

During the past year the company's insurance in force, viz., $6,161,017, showed an increase of nearly two and one-half millions over the previous year.

This company is managed on progressive lines and its investments are of the highest order.

After the Board of Directors had been appointed, they re-elected Mr. Stratton as President.

BUSINESS INCREASED

Union Life Assurance Has Closed a Profitable Year's Work

The shareholders and directorate of the Union Life Assurance Company have every reason for congratulation over the very successful year their company has had.

The 4th annual meeting of the company, held at the company's offices on Monday, Feb. 13th, disclosed the fact that those in charge of their trust had rendered a most efficient stewardship.

As all our readers are aware, both in the United States and Canada, much attention, and not altogether complimentary, has been given by the press, to the matter of policyholders participation or otherwise, in the "Profits" of the respective companies carrying on life insurance business. The Union Life Co., outs out altogether all promises to policyholders of participation in "Profits" this company continues to do only a "non-participating" business. They do not base the amounts of their premiums charged on either real or fictitious chances of policyholders sharing in the profits of the company. Their's is a straight business proposition, whereby a policyholder knows exactly what he pays, and what he or his heir is absolutely sure of getting when the time comes.

Nearly 90 per cent. of this company's business is done on the industrial plan, and the company is to be congratulated on the fact that its business is being secured at a rate far lower than that charged by other companies transacting similar lines.

The business of the Union Life Assurance Co., for last year, included 27,357 policies and exceeded by over half a million dollars that done the preceding year.

The assets of this company were greater at the close of last year's business than that of the year before by forty-two per cent.

The assets of this company are of the most secure and conservative type, including $54,576 in municipal securities, $114,753 in stocks, bonds and other gilt edged securities.

The directors—three elected, above Mr. H Pellmear Evans, as President.

MR. LATIMER'S DEATH

Well Known Peterboro Man Passes Away in Hospital Here

Yesterday very general regret was expressed over the regretted death of Mr. Robert S. Latimer, P.L.S., who died at St. Joseph's Hospital.

The deceased who was educated, brought up, and most favorably known in this city, was a son of the late Mr. Jas. Latimer of South Monaghan, and was born about forty-two years ago.

Mr. Latimer's fatal illness, was the result of a severe cold contracted whilst superintending the construction of a large building in Winnipeg. The funeral will be held on Sunday afternoon at two o'clock, from the residence of his brother in South Monaghan.

MRS KENDRY'S ADDRESS

Peterboro Lady Speaks to a Large Lindsay Audience

Mrs James Kendry delivered an eloquent and impressive address at the Cambridge Methodist church, Lindsay on Thursday evening last, under the auspices of the Auxiliary of the Women's Missionary Society.

In introducing the speaker, Rev. Dr. Bishop, who occupied the chair, paid a tribute to Mrs. Kendry's ability as a speaker, and praised the work the society is doing. There was a time when ministers were opposed to the organization and thought the women should keep out of such affairs, but that time was past, and now the woman of the church was recognized as a strong stimulating force in the Church's work.

Mrs. Kendry stated in her opening remarks that it was just 25 years ago that the call came to the women of the Methodist church in Canada to rally to the work they now had on hand and 300 responded to the message. The missionaries in Japan met conditions which could only be overcome by the help of native christian women. The first woman missionary to go to Japan was Miss Carroll, and the choice proved to be a happy one, as her gentleness and kindness of spirit soon won her many helpers. Last year the society reported 900 auxiliaries, 497 mission bands and circles, 40,000 members, and a large increase in the finances. The auxiliaries were composed of women who have heard the urgent call; the circles were composed of young people of the church; and the associate members were those who are infirm and unable to attend, but who help by giving money, etc. There was also a supply committee in connection with the society, which takes charge of the supplies of clothing, bedding, etc., and a legislative body, or Board of Managers, who appoint missionaries to the needed fields and handle the funds.

After referring to the various phases of the great work of the society, Mrs. Kendry closed with the statement that there were 160,000 women in connection with the Methodist Church in Canada, but only a very small majority belonged to the Woman's Missionary Society.

After the pleasing address a mixed quartette rendered a piece suitable to the missionary work, "Speed Away," and at the close light refreshments were served.

ST. ANDREW'S CONCERT

Large Audience Greets Excellent Array of Talent

Last night, with Rev. J. G. Potter in the chair, a most successful and largely attended sacred concert was given in St. Andrew's church. This concert gotten up under auspices of the splendid choir of the church, was thoroughly appreciated by all present. Whilst it would be invidious to particularize which numbers were received with greatest display of interest and appreciation, it is but fair to say that the readings by Miss Maude L. Smith, Principal of the Metropolitan School of Expression, Toronto, were most admirably rendered. Miss Smith showed that she is a finished elocutionist and possessed of the greatest dramatic and appealing expression.

The program, every number of which was greatly enjoyed, was taken part in by the choir in toto, Mr. Forsyth, Miss Rusk, Miss Smith, and a grand cantata in two parts, entitled "The Hope of the World," the cantata was well rendered, indicative of great practice and was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. The opening number, "O Worship the King," was well rendered by the choir augmented by the entire audience.

MR. ROGERS' POSITION

Dr. Gray Says Should he be Dismissed Without a Hearing it will be an Injustice on the Part of the Dominion Government

Dr. Gray, the local coroner, is out with a strong letter appealing against the seemingly impending dismissal of Mr. R. A. Rogers, engineer of the T. C. The doctor, although by early training and perhaps inherited sentiments, a staunch Liberal, pours out a many strong and unanswerable arguments against any attempt to get rid of Mr. Rogers.

He sums up by saying: "It looks to me very much as though the Government were determined to oust him without his being given an opportunity to defend himself." All of the genial doctor's arguments are plainly and sturdily put and cannot well be answered to the satisfaction of any impartial man.

In telephoning The Times last night, Dr. Gray said he is a staunch Liberal, and he always considered his party's policy to be one of British fair play. This policy, he considered, had not been adhered to in dismissing Mr. R. B. Rogers without giving him an opportunity to explain his position. All contractors, he said, give a guarantee, coupled with a forfeiture, for the proper fulfillment of their work, and they are the men who should be held responsible.

"Were I to find fault with any act of the Conservative part in power in Ontario, I might reasonably be accused of prejudice; but the honesty of my convictions cannot be denied when I say that the moment my own party begins to violate Liberal principles by dismissing officials without just cause, I draw the line and object.

POLICE COURT NEWS

Yesterday morning shortly before the time at which the police court usually opens, viz. 10 a.m., a young man, well known in this city, came into the station accompanied by a large jug or rather that momentous condition following in the footsteps of a jag and asked that he be locked up in order that, under surveillance he could sober up. He was willingly accommodated, and this morning will explain matters to his Worship.

Yesterday afternoon, an indignant citizen called at the station for advice. It seems that his child, on Thursday was walking past the residence of Mr. Geo. Carton, when Mr. Carton's fox-terrier dog flew at the girl and catching her dress in his teeth, tore out a piece nearly a yard square. As the child's suit was absolutely new and cost about $25, he naturally feels he has a grievance. He will lay a formal complaint before Magistrate Dumble this morning.

The Manufacturers' Com. In Session

Approach of the C.P.R's New Line to Peterboro ---J. J. Turner & Sons' Petition for Fixed Assessment on a Reasonable Basis Considered to Be in Keeping With City's Policy.

The Manufacturers' Committee met last night, when there were present, Chairman of the committee, Ald. McWilliams, Mayor Hest, and Aldermen Tovey, Hicks McIntyre, Adams and Duncan.

A deputation will be sent to Toronto to interview the members of the Government, in the interests of the city's private bill. The deputation will consist of Chairman Ald. McWilliams, the city solicitor, his Worship, and City Clerk A. E. Armstrong.

Ald. Hicks suggested that the C.P.R. authorities be communicated with as to the approach of their proposed Georgian Bay new line to Peterboro. Should they contemplate laying their tracks within the City Limits a timely understanding now between them and the city would avoid future friction.

His Worship offered that if the C.P.R. intend entering the city limits they will undoubtedly approach the city authorities regarding the matter. He had been informed, however, that it was not proposed that their new line should enter the city at all.

Ald. Hicks pressed his motion, and the C.P.R. authorities will be communicated with in reference to this matter.

The solicitor reported that the Peterboro Street Railway Company's application to Parliament for an extension of time to five years in which to complete their rural extensions is not in any way prejudicial to the interests of this city.

The Shovel and Tool Company having filed a declaration that they had complied with the conditions upon which they were to have a conveyance of the site upon which they are now operating, they asked to have forwarded them a deed of the land in question, subject to forfeiture should they fail to comply with the remaining conditions covering a term of ten years. Should they cease to manufacture any time within ten years this land will revert to the city unless this company pay the city a purchase sum of $4,000.

The committee, while not doubting the declaration of the Shovel Company, thought it would be but business policy for them to investigate matters themselves.

Ald. Hicks moved, seconded by Ald. Tovey, That the chairman prepare and submit a plan for advertising the advantages of Peterboro for manufacturing purposes.—Carried.

The petition of J. J. Turner & Sons for a fixed assessment to compare favorably with other manufactories was taken up, and it was developed that while B. F. Ackerman enjoys an assessment of $9,700, on which he pays the school tax only, the Turner Company are assessed for $12,800. Ald. McWilliams intimated that there is considerable justice in Turner & Sons' claims, as they are manufacturers who do not enter into competition with any others in the city. The Turner Company were well represented by J. J. Turner, sr., J. J. Turner, jr., Reg. and Webber Turner, who in the course of their addresses to the committee, pointed out that their firm has a very large number of agents throughout the Dominion, and expends $120 a week in travelling expenses alone. They employ 57 hands during the summer, and 34 in the winter, averaging 42 the year round. Of their employes 11 are married men, eight single men and 15 girls. Their weekly wage bill is $275. They are the largest concern of the kind in Canada, and the only one in operation all winter. Their last year's business aggregated over $100,000, of which not five per cent. was local trade.

The committee were favorably disposed to the company's arguments; but unfortunately cannot relieve them of any portion of this year's taxes, as they had neglected to appeal to the Court of Revision last fall. As to the future, the committee think it would not be unfair to seek any amendment to the city's bill, now filed with the Toronto Legislature, so as to provide for a fixed assessment of $6,000 for 10 years to apply on J. J. Turner & Sons' assessment of this year, but they would be willing to recommend that such an application be made to the Legislature next year. However, the matter was left in abeyance, pending an interview by Ald. McWilliams with the petitioners as to future proceedings. J. J. Turner's first assessment on their new premises was $10,000, the next $8,000 by bylaw of the Council, and last year $12,800.

The committee then adjourned.

Nature's Way Is Best.

The function strengthening and tissue building plan of treating chronic, lingering and obstinate cases of disease as pursued by Dr. Pierce, is following after Nature's plan of restoring health.

He uses natural remedies, that is extracts from native medicinal roots, prepared by processes wrought out by the expenditure of much time and money, without the use of alcohol, and by skillful combination in just the right proportions.

Used as ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, Black Cherry-bark, Queen's root, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot and Stone root, specially exert their influence in cases of lung, bronchial and throat troubles, and this "Discovery" is, therefore, a sovereign remedy for bronchitis, laryngitis, chronic coughs, catarrh and kindred ailments.

The above native roots also have the strongest possible endorsement from the leading medical writers, of all the several schools of practice, for the cure not only of the diseases named above but also for indigestion, torpor of liver, or biliousness, obstinate constipation, kidney and bladder troubles and catarrh, no matter where located.

You don't have to take Dr. Pierce's nostrums to try, what he claims for his "Discovery" is backed up by the writings of the most eminent men in the medical profession. A request by postal card or letter, addressed to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a little book of extracts from eminent medical authorities endorsing the ingredients of his medicines, will bring a little book free that is worthy of your attention if needing a good, safe, reliable remedy of known composition for the cure of almost any old chronic, or lingering malady.

The most valuable book for both men and women is Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. A splendid 1008-page volume, with engravings and colored plates. A copy, paper-covered, will be sent to anyone sending 21 cents in one-cent stamps, to pay the cost of mailing only, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. Cloth-bound, 50 stamps.

THE LATE MRS. McDONALD

On Thursday night the remains of Mrs. McDonald, mother of Mrs. (Rev.) Sinclair, Fenelon Falls, arrived on the nine o'clock Grand Trunk train, and was transferred to C.P.R. midnight, en route for Perth, where interment took place yesterday. Dr. McDonald, her son, and Rev. Mr. Sinclair, accompanied the remains.

Mrs. Sinclair's friends in Peterboro, will deeply sympathize with her in the death of her mother, who was greatly beloved by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance.

offers a limited amount of its Treasury Stock at ONE DOLLAR per share, full paid and non-assessable. Properties consisting of four groups of lode claims and equal to claim area of 27 full lode claims, or about 270 acres, with two valuable water rights and a water reservoir—a lake of about 20 acres surface area.

Development is equal to 1700 lineal feet, at a cost of $15 per lineal foot—tunnels, drifts, cross-cuts, winzs and surface cuts and trenches, and one ton gravity stamp concentrating mill. Three groups, water rights, mill and tunnel sites, etc., are fully paid; one group, held on title bond, is partly paid for. Good Grade of Profitable Milling ore blocked out; in sight, to last for a sixty ton mill for over two years time. Safe and conservative estimate for mining the ore, delivering and milling it, at a cost of about $4.00 per ton. Three separate mill runs, for testing purposes, have returned from $8.40 to $14.00 per ton of rock, principally in gold.

In order to make operations absolutely up-to-date, perfect, both the mining and the reduction of ores, the Board of Directors have placed a limited amount of treasury stock at par value $1.00 per share on the market. Six reports of nine well known mining men. Properties situated in San Juan Gold Belt, San Miguel County, Southwestern Colorado.

ECONOMY, HONESTY and CONSERVATISM

Capitalization $60,000, par value $1.00, and non-assessable. Two years development, properties paid—as above stated, and we have in our treasury remaining 305,000 shares. Show us something better.

Watch the Skin for Bad Blood

It Comes to the Surface in the Form of Pimples, Boils, Rashes and Humors

Where the blood is weak and degraved the system lacks staying power and force. Frightful ulcers and unsightly blotches break out, the skin becomes yellow and muddy, the eyes lack lustre.

Reader, does YOUR blood need attention? If so get Dr. Hamilton's Pills at once; they filter out all poisons, eliminate disease-making germs, nourish and re-vitalise every drop of blood in the body.

No medicine exerts such a marvelous influence for good as Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they clear the complexion, make it exquisitely beautiful; they cure pimples, rashes and skin troubles of every kind. Read the following carefully:

No Appetite Bad Color Generu Debility

"I was run down," writes Mr. Albert E. Nielson, of Belleau, Ont., "I could not eat, had a dull headache, appetite was poor, and generally suffered from rheumatism.

I found it hard to sleep, and felt worn out and tired all the time. Dr Hamilton's Pills made an instant change. I grew stronger, my blood was made rich, rheumatism vanished. To-day I am vigorous, cheery and healthy in every respect."

You will never realise what good health means until you feel the quick acting vitalising effect of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Every tired, overstrained, nervous man and woman should use this grand tonic regularly. Life will then be full of happiness and buoyant health. All dealers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1, by mail if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

Road Grants for Belmont.

Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M. P. P., and Wm. Bennett, Provincial Road Inspector, of Peterboro, were in town on Tuesday conferring with prominent Conservatives in regard to Provincial road grants for Belmont and Methuen. We understand that a substantial sum will be brought down in the estimates at the present session, for this purpose.

A Popular Lecturer.

Millbrook Reporter: The lecture in St. Thomas' school room on Tuesday night by Rev. Mr. Langfeldt, of Peterboro, was exceedingly interesting, eloquent, and enjoyable as all who know the rev. gentleman would expect. The pity was that more were not out to hear it, although a fair audience attended. "The Evolution of the Boy" was the subject and his words were full of food for thought.

An Example for Peterborough.

A notice appears in the Ontario Gazette that the town of Port Hope will make application to the Provincial Legislature at its next session for an act empowering the said corporation to construct and operate an electric plant for the purpose of lighting the streets and buildings of the town. And further, to empower the said corporation to issue debentures to an amount not exceeding $16,000 for the purpose of establishing said plant.

The Lake Ontario Ferry.

The Cobourg Sentinel-Star says that on Wednesday the officials of the Grand Trunk Railway, who have in hand the making of arrangements for the steam ferry across Lake Ontario, between Charlotte and, it is said, Port Hope, were in town again and inspected Cobourg harbor. It is more than likely that Cobourg will be the terminus on the north shore, as our harbor is the best and easiest of access.

C. P. R.'S NEW LINE

Pigeon Creek May be Crossed Near Cowan's Bridge.

The C. P. R. surveyors marking out the new line from Peterboro to Midland have finished their work in Emily township, and having reached the eastern limit of Lindsay, made a fresh start west of the river and have proceeded in a north westerly direction. They go west of Cambray and east of Goose Lake, up the first concession of Fenelon and then go north-westerly towards Eldon station and Balsover—and on to Orillia.

The surveyors are very reticent as to the railway's plans, says the Lindsay Post, but from the farmers and others who have seen their work we learn that the line in Emily will pass about a mile or a mile and a half south of Downeyville. Several surveys and tests have been made for the Pigeon Creek crossing, the only serious difficulty between Peterboro and Orillia, and we are told the line may cross just north of Cowan's bridge. The line will enter the eastern town limits, we are told, probably south of Eagle's hill to avoid a cutting, and then turn north-westerly to cross the river. The selection of a river crossing and the line in town has been left in abeyance for the present. From the northern limits of the town towards Orillia a very easy grade will be obtained without any difficulty. The work is to be pushed on as speedily as possible.

THE MEDICAL HEALTH ACT

Important Changes to be Made of Stringent Nature.

The provincial board will recommend more stringent measures throughout, and especially so in regard to the enforcement of vaccination, and the enforcement of the regulations which the board is authorized to make such as regulations for the disinfection of railway and street cars. It will also ask that the law be made so that no municipality may adopt a water system which has not been approved by the board.

A general revision of the enactments in regard to sewage disposal will also be recommended. The original enactment is twenty-two years old and although many amendments have been made the board believes that the law should be consolidated and made thoroughly up-to-date.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL'S ACT

Law Will Probably be Changed to Meet Popular Demand.

Next week, Hon. Nelson Monteith, the Minister of Agriculture, is to meet one of the biggest deputations of the year. It will be composed of representatives from the thirty-eight county councils of the province, and will discuss with the minister the proposed changes in the County Council Act.

The object of the changes, Mr. Monteith said, was to give a fairer representation on the county councils to large municipalities and to encourage men with municipal experience to get in the county council.

No Change in Assessment Act.

The Globe says: There have been a number of inquiries as to whether any amendments to the assessment act will be made this session. It is understood that the government is averse to any action of an important nature in this regard, and that amendments, if any, will be only of a minor character, their attitude being that the revised act of 1902 has not yet been sufficiently tested to warrant sweeping changes.

Settlers Low Rates West.

The Chicago and North-Western Railway will sell one way second class settlers tickets, daily from February 15th to April 7th, 1906, to points in Colorado, Utah, Montana, Nevada, Idaho, Oregon, Washington, California, and British Columbia. Rate from Toronto to Vancouver, Victoria, New Westminster, B. C., Seattle, Wash., or Portland, Ore., $60.35; to San Francisco or Los Angeles, Cal., $44.60. Correspondingly low rates from all points in Canada. Choice of routes. Best of service. For full particulars and folders call on or write B. H. Bennett, General Agent, 2 East King street, Toronto, Ont.

A Rural Telephone Line.

In Haldimand township a company has been organized, to be known as the Rural Telephone Company. The work of getting out poles will be proceeded with at once. Arrangements have been made for connection with the Bell Telephone Company. It is expected that the line will be in operation in the early spring. It will connect quite a wide tract of rural territory with Cobourg, the county town. The district around Peterboro has quite a number of rural telephones, reaching out in almost every direction.

Lumber Operations Booming.

The cold snap and the recent light snowfalls will help materially in the forest operations. The mild weather made it impossible to construct ice roads in the woods and it was feared that the sawings would have to remain where they were cut. It is possible now to make roads and thus enable the lumberman to get the logs to the stream, where they may be floated. Men and horses will now be worked early and late to make up for the time lost by the continued mild weather. At the Dickson Company's camps there is abundance of snow, and everything points to a most successful season's cut.

STORIES DIFFER

Port Hope Guide on the Norwood Elopement

Our readers will remember that the Times contained an account, in yesterday's issue of the elopement of a Norwood woman, who was located in the East Ward.

The Port Hope Guide has the following:

Chief Bond was called upon on Tuesday last to straighten out a tangle similar to the incident that Mrs. Davison of Rosamount figured so prominently in last fall. A young married woman from the village of Norwood, fell in love with a young man there, and on Friday night silently stole away from her hubby and joined her new friend at Peterboro. On Saturday they came to town and took up their abode at a local boarding house. But it was not for long. The husband went to Peterboro on Saturday evening and after numerous enquiries learned that the pair had purchased tickets for Port Hope. The last train had left for Port Hope and the husband of no. owing his fair damsel until the following Monday made him grow weary. But he was not to be denied and at daybreak on Sunday morning he set out to walk to Port Hope. The walking was not the best by any means, but nevertheless he reached here that afternoon. He told his mournful story to Chief Bond and it was not long before the boarding house was found and the lost treasure located. Cowley, the gent, who accompany the lost lady to town, was also at the boarding house, and when confronted by her husband had to confess his guilt.

Chief Bond interviewed the lady and she was much put out about her husband following her on this little tour. The following day, the husband and wife, in company with Chief Bond waited upon a solicitor to have matters straightened out. The lady pointed out very emphatically that her husband did not use her right and amid heavy sobs made it plain that she would not live with him. The hubby used all kinds of pet names and promised her everything if she would only return. After much persuasion the lady decided to go back and they returned to the boarding house — the husband much relieved. But they were not there long before the lady decided that she would like to live in Port Hope, and there was trouble for the husband again, and he was kept busy until she marched into the coach of the 4.30 train Monday afternoon. While the train was standing at the Midland platform, the naughty wife was making goo-goo eyes at Cowley, but this unfortunate chap was without money, and so was obliged to stay in town.

The couple were about the streets during the day, and it was quite evident that matters were not running as smoothly as they might be.

THE HOME LIFE ASSOCIATION OF CANADA.

Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Home Life Association of Canada was held at the office of the Home Life, Home Life building, Toronto, on Tuesday, February 13th, 1906, at 11 o'clock, a.m.

The statement presented by the company to the shareholders was a most satisfactory one.

The total insurance in force at the close of the year was $6,161,617, an increase of nearly two and one-half millions over the previous year, after allowing for lapses and surrenders.

The cash premium income shows an increase of 37 per cent. over 1904, while 1904 showed a gain of 4 per cent. over the preceding year.

The interest-earning power of the company in 1904 amounted to $18,-816.57 as against $26,546.16 in 1905.

The legal reserve had increased from $284,634.18 in 1904 to $662,819.78 in 1905.

The assets for the protection of policyholders now amounts to $1,534,465.27, while the total insurance in force amounts to $6,161,617.

On the 31st of December, 1904, the net ledger assets of the Home Life Association amounted to $467,892.46, while in 1905 they amounted to $662,071.95, a very gratifying increase.

The investments of the company are of an excellent character and were submitted to the shareholders for inspection. The reserve and surplus amounted to $751,265.27, while the capital subscribed for the security of policyholders amounts to $783,000. The total assets for the security of policyholders amounted to $1,534,465.27.

The following Directors were elected for the ensuing year:—Hon. J. R. Stratton, Rev. Wm. Briggs, D.D., John S. King, Esq., Toronto; George E. Amyot, Esq., Quebec; T. W. Boddy, Esq., Portage la Prairie, Man.; J. K. McCutcheon, Esq., Toronto; E. L. Goold, Esq., Brantford; J. S. Hough, Esq., Winnipeg; D. W. Karn, Esq., Woodstock; J. H. Spencer, Esq., Medicine Hat, N.W.T.; Prof. J. F. Tufts, Esq., Wolfeville, N.S.; J. W. Lyon, Esq., Guelph; James L. Hughes, Esq., Toronto; James J. Warren, Esq., Toronto; Rev. A. L. Gee, Brantford.

The following Advisory Directors were elected:—Hon. J. W. Longley, Halifax; Dr. J. R. Inch, Fredericton, N.B.; Thomas McCaffrey, Esq., Vancouver, B.C.; Ashmore Kennedy, Esq., Winnipeg; H. C. Graham, Esq., Brandon, Man.

At a subsequent meeting of the Board of Directors, Hon. J. R. Stratton was re-elected President, and Rev. Wm. Briggs, D.D., and John S. King, Esq., were re-elected Vice-Presidents.

Should be Stopped Altogether.

Hastings Star: Last year four persons were granted licenses by the Ontario Government to fish for speckled trout (sic), bullheads (perch, etc.) in the River Trent, within a few miles of Hastings. The law compels each of these persons to report the total receipts from their fishing, and while only one of the four made enough money to pay for his license, yet they all want their licenses renewed. Why they want to play a losing game is what puzzles the local fishery overseer and he has requested the government not to renew any of the licenses. And something that puzzled the local and visiting fishermen last summer was the scarcity of game fish as compared with other years.

They Like It.

Hastings Star: A few of our citizens went to Peterboro last Thursday and saw the opera "Peggy from Paris." If good connections could be made on the local railroad quite a number from here would often attend the plays at the Peterboro opera house.

Local Man Missing Since Last Tuesday

Mr. John Green, of 48 Albert St. Leaves Home and Has Not Been Heard of Since, Police are Now Making Inquiries.

Mrs. John Green, of 48 Albert St. the matter, but as the days went by without her hearing of or from him, she sent out among her acquaintances both in the city and in North Monaghan, where Mr. Green has relatives and was himself raised, to ascertain whether he had been heard of. Since the morning he left the house however she has found no trace of the missing man.

Mr. Green is a total abstainer as far as alcoholic liquors are concerned, but owing to his advanced age, is not as strong mentally as in days gone by.

The police have been notified and are now assisting in the search.

POLICE COURT NEWS

The only case tried at Saturday's police court, was that of Geo. Valois, remanded from last Monday, charged with having broken into a house at 180 Edinburg street, and stolen a number of articles, to wit, a revolver, a suit of clothes, a razor and strop, a pair of boots and other articles. Valois chose to be tried summarily instead of by jury, and pleaded guilty.

Joseph Valois, father of the prisoner, explained that his son had been twice before in jail, once for ten days for being drunk, and once for desertion from the Kingston barracks. The old man identified the stolen articles which were in court. He explained how the young man, 18 years of age, would not work, and that if he did work till he got $5 ahead, he would knock off and spend it.

The young man in answer to a question put by the magistrate, said he had nothing to say.

The magistrate remarked, "We have heard a good deal of your family in this court." To the prisoner, he added, "I don't think you are of much use to the community here, six months in the Central Prison."

As young Valois was being taken to his cell, downstairs, preparatory to his trip to Castle Nesbitt, where he will await the Toronto officer who will escort him to prison, he remarked, with a smile, "That's dead easy!"

As the Central Prison, as usual at this time of year is overcrowded, Valois may put in a good part of his time, in the comparative luxury of the county free lodging house, so airily situated, and commanding so fine a view, from the summit of the court house hill.

When the magistrate had sentenced Valois, he remarked to the old man, father of the prisoner who was accompanied by two women in court, "You can now take those things away," meaning the watch, boots, etc. in evidence on the desk of justice. Before the words were well uttered one of the ladies, who had been weeping, made a quick descent upon the articles, and with a gratified smile, evidently born of a surprise that they were all there, lovingly stowed them away in safety.

Large Crowd at St. John's.

At yesterday morning's service in St. John's church, there was a very large congregation, so great indeed, seeing that it was simply a regular and usual service, devoid of extra attractions, such as specially advertised music or any outside clergyman noted for unusual gifts of eloquence, etc., that the rector, Canon Davidson expressed the pleasure it gave Him to see so many there, and particularly some faces that, whilst always welcome, are not often present.

TEACHERS ORGANIZE

Local Pedagogues Meet and Elect Officers.

The Teachers' Institute of this city, which has been moribund for some years, was on Saturday reanimated. A meeting was held, at which Inspector Walker, was chairman, and Mr. J. C. Smythe secretary, pro tem. On motion it was decided to form a city teacher's institute. The following officers were elected.

President—Mr. D. Walker, B.A..
1st Vice-Pres. — Rev. Father McCoil.
Second Vice-Pres.—Miss Weir, B.A.
Sec.-Treas.—Mr. J. W. Kelly.
Executive Committee—Sister Evangelista Mr. H. R. H. Kenner, B. A., Miss E. Dawson.

The officers and the Executive Committee were authorized to draft a constitution.

The meeting then adjourned to meet at the call of the president.

MR. MACDOUGALL'S DEATH

Port Arthur News on Death of Former Peterboro Banker.

In our issue of Thursday we noted that Mr. Allen H. Macdougall, a former member of the local Bank of Ontario's staff, had passed away. In reference to this gentleman's death, the Port Arthur News, of February 13th, says.

"Mr. Allen H. Macdougall, Town Engineer, dropped dead on Algoma street shortly before ten o'clock this morning. Mr. Macdougall was just returning from an inspection of some town work. Mr. Stewart McDonald was approaching along Algoma street, and Mr. Macdougall was just about to speak to him when he fell over on the sidewalk. Mr. McDonald secured a rig, and, assisted by Chief of Police Connors, brought Mr. Macdougall at once to Dr. Brown's house. On examination it was found he was dead. It is doubtful whether life was extinct before removal from the sleigh. Heart trouble was the cause of death.

"The news of Mr. Macdougall's sudden and unexpected death will be received with sorrow by all classes. For the past twenty-five years he had been one of the best-known and most highly respected citizens of Port Arthur. At the time of his death he was about 55 years of age. Though a man of slight build, he was noted among surveyors and men who have accompanied him on survey parties as a man of more than ordinary endurance, and to these the announcement of his death will come as something altogether unlooked for. He was a keen sportsman and one the best-known figures on the curling ice in this district. His personal qualities were such that the expressions of regret heard on all sides may be accepted as meaning a great deal more than mere surprise at the news of an unusual occurrence. Before coming to Port Arthur, the late Mr. Macdougall resided for a period at Peterboro, Ont. His record in Port Arthur has been a most enviable one, and culminated in his appointment only a few weeks ago to the position of town engineer. The condolence of his many friends will be extended to Mrs. Macdougall, and his son, Mr. Guy Macdougall, of this town."

It might be added that Mr. Macdougall and Mr. George Stethem married sisters, the Misses Ridley, of town.

LOCAL EXCURSIONS

Correspondent Advocates Booming Peterboro for Excursionists.

(To the Editor of The Times).

Dear Sir,—It is known that Ald. McWilliams is now working out an extensive system of advertising this city, setting forth the advantages of Peterboro for factories seeking a new location, by means of a book with illustrations, maps, etc., in the latter of which the Otonabee river, between Lakefield and Peterboro, with all the power sites well marked. The power question will be one of the chief features in this advertising campaign. All manufacturers have come to regard power as one of the vital points to consider in locating a new factory.

Now sir, I fully concur in Mr. McWilliams on this move. Peterboro whilst known throughout Canada and the United States, in the abstract as a progressive manufacturing center, must be advertised so that its advantages will be itemized and brought fully before the world at large.

There is however another suggestion prompted by Mr. McWilliam's plan. A few years ago every public holiday and on ordinary days, especially throughout the summer months, thousands of people from all nearby towns and cities used to pour into our fair town, by excursion trains.

Compare this with the present conditions; Every public holiday and often through every month, both summer and winter, thousands of our citizens rush out of the city, to spend an average of, say $3 to $10 each for the benefit of Hogtown, Orillia, Barrie, Belleville, Ottawa and other places. It does not take an expert statistician to see the difference it would make, not only to the merchants but to every class in the community, if an organized system were promulgated whereby every week there to five large excursions arrived in Peterboro, and our visitors spent a like amount in this city.

There is no doubt but what, if arrangements were completed where by many excursionists could be brought here, the merchants, hotelmen, livery men, Street Railway Co. and others would liberally subscribe to such a movement.

Now my idea is to have the council for a few months in the spring and early summer, send a good smart man, supplied with illustrations, hotel rates, canal steamboat rates for time to the lift locks, and other matters of interest to intending visitors, to call upon the various societies, etc. fraternes that usually get up excursions, and talk up this city as holding out the greatest inducements of any place in Canada for excursionists to visit.

The railroads would willingly give free transportation to such a man, when engaged in working up tourist business for them. The city of Detroit, today the greatest excursion city on this continent, adopted a similar plan with great success. If the council would adopt this idea, the merchants could be counted on to assist the plan both morally and financially.

By a proper and judicious representation of Peterboro's advantages to societies organizing excursions for the summer, there is no reason why, instead of things being a great annual exodus of Peterboro's loose capital abroad, we could not have three or four large excursions entering the city every week during the summer and fall months. Averaging each excursion to bring six hundred people, who would have, say $2.50 each, we could during the summer bring into Peterboro a vast amount of money that is generally distributed elsewhere.

Even among excursionists, there would be many visitors whose permanent inspection of our industrial progress, would result beneficially in the matter of new factories.

Yours truly,
ADVERTISER.

FOR A HIGHER DUTY

Coming Tariff Revision to Be in the Line of Greater Protection.

BOOM IN IRON INDUSTRY

Electric Smelting With Power From Waterfalls Sure to Benefit Dominion.

Ottawa, February 17.—The Canadian tariff commission has at length concluded its labors, which ended with the sessions held at Ottawa this week. In all the important manufacturing and business centers the manufacturers, farmers and all classes of the business community have appeared and given evidence and opinions to the commission in respect to tariff matters.

It is now the intention of the government to frame a new tariff measure and submit it to parliament during the forthcoming session, which has been called for March 8. This will mean a very protracted session, although the proposed revision of the tariff itself may not involve sweeping changes in duties.

The present indications are that these changes will not be generally toward a greater degree of protection than now obtains in the Dominion. A year ago the finance minister promised parliament to establish a triple tariff. This would necessitate an all-round readjustment. Such a tariff would compromise a maximum rate of duty against those countries whose customs duties restrict or prohibit imports from Canada; a general tariff against imports from countries less hostile in trade, and a minimum tariff upon the products of such countries as Great Britain and her colonies, which admit Canadian goods free or under favorable terms.

ORE WORK IMPORTANT.

It is pretty generally understood that the experiments in the electric smelting of iron ores, which are being carried on by the Dominion government at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., have proved successful in the direction most desired. The general public has not been allowed to witness the progress of the work, and nothing definite will be given out concerning the experiments until the government issues its official report.

The great significance of these investigations is not yet fully comprehended by the public. Once it has been demonstrated that the electric smelting of ores is a commercial success, it will mean a revolution in the iron and steel industry, and will soon place Canada in the forefront of the world's iron industry.

The Dominion superintendent of mines, Dr. Haanel, who has just inspected the progress of the works, is satisfied with the results already obtained, and says that with power that can be delivered at from $5 to $10 per horse power per annum, there is no question as to the success of electric smelting. The government works at the Soo are not for the purpose of demonstrating whether or not the ores can be reduced by electricity, but to show conclusively the commercial feasibility of the process, and to satisfy the public that it is a profitable one.

NEW ROAD PROJECT ON.

A new railway company, to be called the Grand Trunk Pacific Branch Company, will apply to the Dominion parliament for incorporation for the purpose of building branch lines all over Canada to connect with the Grand Trunk Pacific Road.

The directors of the new company will be practically the directorate of the transcontinental system of the Grand Trunk. The branch lines to be constructed are to serve as feeders to the main line of the system. It is proposed to build branch lines to Halifax, St. John, Montreal and Ottawa, in Eastern Canada. The greater number of the branches, however, will be built in the West, and will include a branch line to Hudson Bay. There will be twenty-three or more of these lines. The Grand Trunk Pacific will also ask parliament for power to guarantee the bonds of any company incorporated for the construction of branch lines or the acquisition of rolling stock and to make necessary working agreements with such companies where bonds are guaranteed.

CAPTAIN'S STORY

How He Got Out and Stays Out of Trouble.

Captain Abran Jones, of 174 E. 90th St., Los Angeles, Cal., tells an interesting coffee story, and says he can be publicly quoted:

"I drank coffee all my life," he says, "and took no harm, I thought, till about 10 years ago when a variety of ailments attacked me one after the other.

"First came a disordered stomach, followed by palpitation of the heart which was very severe, some attacks lasting 6 or 8 hours at a time. Then my bowels got out of order, and I suffered from chronic constipation. This ran on for some years.

"Finally I quit the drugs and struggled along the best way I could, taking the advice of friends but never getting any better. At last I was taken so seriously sick that I had to go to bed and the doctor told my family I could not recover.

"While I lay in this condition a friend suggested that I quit drinking the old kind of coffee and try Postum Food Coffee—to see what it would do for me. He said Postum had pulled him through when he was similarly afflicted.

"I took his advice, quit coffee and drank Postum, and in 3 months' time was in good health. I was so elated at the result that I told my doctor about it. He wasn't very well posted on facts at that time and said that he did not believe that leaving off coffee and using Postum had anything to do with my improved health, but that it was due to good medicine and good advice from the family doctor; that my sickness had worked out of my system the diseased conditions that had been developing for several years, that I could now look forward to good health for some time to come, and that I had better resume coffee drinking, in moderation, and thus save my family the trouble of preparing an extra table beverage every day.

"I took the doctor's advice, stopped the Postum and began drinking coffee again. The result was that all my old troubles came trooping back, and I was once more seriously ill. Then I became alarmed, and swore off coffee for good and all, and resumed the use of Postum, and got well again.

"My health is now as good as it ever was. My dyspepsia is gone. I never have heart palpitation any more, my bowels are in good working order, and all the little ills that go with the big ones have disappeared.

"It is now 5 years since I quit coffee and began to use Postum, and in all that time I have not paid one cent for medicine."

There's a reason.

AN UNBLUSHING BOODLER

The Editor of this Great Family Journal Guilty.

The society editor of this great family journal begs to acknowledge receipt of the first bribe of his editorial career. Some days ago we made inquiries of one of our young society young ladies concerning a news item and elicited the following reply: "Yes, it's true, but ple-e-e-ase don't print it in the paper. If you leave it out, I'll give you a nickel's worth of peanuts."

We are not passionately fond of peanuts, but gallantry is our long suit. That word "please" would have separated this g. f. j. from its overdraft at the bank without a single regret. So we omitted to print the story. It wasn't anything very startling anyway.

Saturday morning a kindly old gentleman, preceded by about six inches of pleasant smile, wafted into the editorial sanctum with a package under his arm about the size of a week's washing.

Peanuts! The whole family will be kept busy for a week eating up the outward and visible manifestations of our venality. This g. f. j. begins to appreciate the joys of being a boodler.

MR. HOGAN HURT

Narrow Escape of Superintendent of Gas Works.

On Saturday afternoon, Mr. John Hogan, the efficient superintendent of the local gas works, had a narrow escape from serious accident if not worse.

It seems that Mr. John Hogan was doing some brick work on a scaffold, about 25 feet from the ground, and two men below were sending up bricks which he piled on it. The scaffold was not very strongly constructed and when the weight it had to bear became too heavy, gave way, Mr. Hogan falling to the ground. Other than a cut on the wrist and a shaking up, Mr. Hogan was not injured.

MR. O. BRADBURN HOME

Former Peterboro Boy Returns on Visit From Battleford.

Many of his old friends on Saturday shook warmly by the hand, a gentleman well and favorably known, here, Mr. Ormond Bradburn, son of our popular representative in the Ontario Legislature.

Mr. Bradburn, whose rapidly growing interests in the Battleford District, will prevent his remaining more than a few weeks with his friends here, has been in his adopted home for about three years. Judging by Mr. Bradburn's physique and sturdy robust appearance, the Northwest must be a locality demanding the services of few physicians.

He reports great activity in land operations, saying that land, which at the time of his arrival, could begot for almost nothing, is now selling at from $10 to $15 an acre.

Mr. Bradburn worked on a Battleford paper for several months, and is now in the employ of the Canada Bridge Company, which is constructing several large bridges over the Saskatchewan river.

ATHLETIC WORLD

BY OUR SPORTING EDITOR

SKATING.

Mr. Oliver Dagty, an old Peterboro boy, who, as noted in a recent issue of The Times, about two weeks ago, captured a $200 purse in a Manitoba championship skating contest, is, according to The Manitoba Free, now training for another important championship match. We wager a suspender button that Peterboro's progeny will get a good fight grip on the simoleons.

CURLING.

Messrs. W. Snowdon and William Croft have authorized us to issue a challenge to Mr. Dickson Davidson, winner in the recent bonspiel. These two veterans of the rinks will, if the challenge is accepted, choose two more players to fill their rink, and will play Mr. Davidson's winning rink for the oysters, the lobsters, the quail on toast or any other supper the challenged prefer, only stipulated, that the supper includes a sample of G. H. Mumm's most excellent produce. The challengers suggest that an admittance fee of 10c be charged, and the receipts be handed to the Deserving poor of Peterboro.

Queen Alexandra Attends "Inner Circle"

Story Is Told That Her Majesty "Commanded" Medium to Attend at Windsor Castle.

London Feb. 18.—It has just leaked out that a few weeks ago Queen Alexandra was actually present at a spiritualistic seance. There is in London a very exclusive spiritualistic circle known as the Inner Circle. They meet usually in an artist's studio in Regent's Park. Sir Oliver Lodge and Sir William Crookes, the famous scientists, who take an interest in spiritualism, have often been to these seances, where spirits are materialized and phenomena have occurred which no one can explain away on ordinary grounds. A great friend of her majesty's went to one of the seances about two months ago. The medium generally employed is a delicate little man about 30 years of age, but he is extremely independent, and will often refuse to take any interest in the proceedings, so that the seances are often canceled. The one at which the Queen was present so impressed her majesty that she told the King about it, and a "command" was given to the medium to appear at Buckingham Palace. To many instructions, however, were given to the medium to insure secrecy and so elaborate were the directions as to the particular door he should enter the palace by that the medium flatly refused the "command."

STATE OPENING.

Most people appear to imagine that the death of King Christian of Denmark, Queen Alexandra's father, will make a serious difference to the London season, and will rob the state opening of parliament of all its splendor. In regard to the latter there will be no difference, as every member of the royal family, except the King and Queen, for the first time in many years is abroad, and there was never an idea of a great procession. The state opening will resemble that after the late Queen's death. Every peeress will be in black, but this only increases the brilliancy of the uniforms of the officers of state.

In regard to the season Queen Alexandra intends to make the mourning as short as possible, as she, like the King, is invariably concerned when London trade is affected. The season in fact promises to be a particularly gay one. Everyone is heartily sick of politics and the Liberal hostesses are planning many galeties.

MILD SCANDAL AT WINDSOR.

King Edward has had to call the old military knights of Windsor to order like a pack of naughty school boys. These military knights are a number of old army officers of good family and service, who are really pensioners of the King and have little houses on the Windsor Castle premises and certain small allowances and emoluments. They are practically guests of the King for life under a general scheme founded by Edward III., amended by Henry VIII. and improved by Elizabeth.

All went well until quite recently when it was discovered that some of the military knights of Windsor were quietly letting their houses to people who did not mind paying high rents for the privilege of boasting that they lived at Windsor Castle. Then there came quarrelings and nickerings and jealousies among themselves, some of them writing to the Duke of Argyle and Viscount Esher, the constable and deputy constable respectively of the castle, complaining that fellow knights had planted bushes or hollyhocks in their little front gardens and were shutting out their neighbors' light. So a few days ago the King appointed a strong man as the new governor of the military knights in the person of Major-Gen. Courtney, who is well known in the British army as a strong disciplinarian. The knights are chafing at the introduction of what they call an "outsider" as governor and urge that one of their own number ought to have been appointed, But King Edward had an object of his own in appointing Gen. Courtney. His majesty is determined to have good behavior among the military knights, especially as their vagaries of late have tended to bring odium upon the precincts of Windsor Castle.

BARTON MURDER THEORY

Buffalo Detectives Revive Possibility That Victim Was Denver Woman

Buffalo, N.Y., Feb. 18.—Buffalo detectives yesterday revived the theory that the young woman murdered at Barton, Ont., last October may have been Miss Fanny Lowthman of Denver, who roomed for a time in Morgan street, Buffalo, at the home of Mrs. Thomas Johnson.

This theory was temporarily exploded last November when it was reported that a girl who claimed to be Miss Lowthman was found alive and well in Rochester.

Mrs. Johnson, who claimed to have positively identified the dead woman in the Hamilton, Ont., morgue in November as Miss Lowthman still insists that she did not err in her identification.

Acting on the belief that Mrs. Johnson may have been correct in stating that the victim was Miss Lowthman, Buffalo detectives are inclined now to believe that another woman may have been posing as Miss Lowthman in Rochester in order to secure the comfortable maintenance of $40 a month which came to the real Miss Lowthman every month from Denver.

Buffalo sleuths therefore will not be satisfied as to Miss Lowthman being alive and not the murdered woman until she proves her identity beyond a doubt. A picture of the murdered woman taken after death is not unlike Miss Lowthman, Mrs. Johnson says, while the description fits perfectly.

LIQUOR DETECTIVES

Break the Dominion Laws by Conspiracy to Commit an Illegal Act.

A few days ago a correspondent asked a question concerning the rights and privileges of Ontario Government liquor detectives, in their endeavors to secure convictions of hotelmen, breaking the law by selling in illegal hours. The Mail and Empire contains the following, which answers the question of our correspondent in full:

"Ottawa, Feb. 15.—The detectives of the Provincial License Department at Toronto today succeeded in securing several convictions against a number of Ottawa license-holders. A charge of conspiracy has been laid by B. Bower and J. Leduc, of the Majestic Hotel, against David Corcoran and Jeremiah Dandinio, the provincial detectives acting in Ottawa under the License Act. The law provides that men so engaged shall not be prosecuted for drinking in a bar after hours. But it is claimed this Provincial Act does not exempt them from action under the Criminal Code for conspiracy, and it is alleged that the action of the detectives to secure drinks was conspiracy, using inducements to cause a man to do an unlawful act.

EUROPEAN PRESS COMMENT

Paris Journal Says the Excitement is "Absurd."

Paris, Feb. 18.—Most of the Paris papers commenting on the wedding of Miss Alice Roosevelt express the opinion that it shows how far Americans have deviated from the true democratic principles which must underlie every republic.

"L'European," an international paper among whose editors are such prominent men as Anatole France, F. de Pressance, George Brandes, and Bjornstjerne Bjornson, writes that the very idea that the wedding of a young girl, who has never accomplished anything, who is not known to take any interest in anything beyond the empty pleasures of society, should be of any particular interest to anybody because she happens to marry during her father's term of office, is absurd.

The paper says; "Because her father happens to be president of the United States and because he happens to lack tact, the whole American press has sung her praises since her trip to Asia. If President Roosevelt had had the slightest sense of what was his duty he would have forbidden his daughter to accept any of the presents given her by Asiatic sovereigns, and which would never have been offered her if her trip had not had the appearance of being official rather than private.

"Now a splendid gobelin has been presented to her in the name of France, and it would be interesting to know who authorized this present and to what account it will be charged."

ALEXANDER ILL.

New York, Feb. 18.—James W. Alexander, formerly president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, is seriously ill in his home in east 64th street.

Mr. Alexander underwent a surgical operation yesterday.

Do You Know That Copper Mining Pays $40,000,000 IN DIVIDENDS ANNUALLY?

Do you realize that mining is one of the world's most profitable industries? Did it ever occur to you that all money and all advantages of civilization is founded almost absolutely upon the products of the mines of the world?

TUSAS PEAK GOLD & COPPER MINING CO.

A corporation, engaged in legitimate mining under the direction of reputable business men who give its management able and careful consideration.

260 Acres of Rich Mineral Lands owned by this company in all every part demonstrated by actual mining work

Immense Deposits of Copper Ores
average values higher than those found in any other great copper camps

Values Proven By Developed Mines
with thousands of feet of workings extending to a depth of over 400 feet

Equipped With Substantial Machinery
consisting of steam hoists, air compressors, machine drills, pumps, etc.

Complete Modern Ore Reduction Mill
is now being built where the ore will be converted direct into bullion

Annual Profits of $90,000.00 Assured
by expert mining engineers based on ores actually blocked out in mines. $50,000.00 has been expended in mine workings which prove these facts.

Stock at 40 Cents a Share
The final issue of treasury stock is now offered for public subscription. The entire proceeds will be used to pay for the machinery for the mill. The day this mill is completed the mine will begin to earn dividends.

YOUR OPPORTUNITY
If you had invested one thousand dollars ten years ago in any one of a dozen different mines whose names we can give you, you would today be worth at least one hundred thousand dollars—and we are offering you a like opportunity—the chance of a life time with success absolutely sure. A letter places you under no obligation and will bring you further details.

FRIENDLY WARNING

No Need to be Alarmed About Stomach Troubles if you Use Mi-o-na.

The most frequent affection of the stomach is catarrh, as the delicate membrane which lines the stomach is easily irritated by harmful food or overeating. Keep a strict watch for the first symptoms of stomach trouble. Take this friendly warning in the spirit in which it is given and profit by it.

Shortness of breath, black specks before the eyes, furred tongue, dizziness, belching of gases or sour food, weakness and debility are all signs of catarrh of the stomach. There is no need to be unduly alarmed, for this disease can be cured by Mi-o-na. It is the only remedy that strikes at the root of the evil and actually cures disease.

It does not contain opium in any form, acids, alcohol, or any other harmful drug or chemical. It is a pure remedy that heals the irritated mucous membrane, stimulates the solar plexus, and aids digestion.

Mi-o-na costs but 50 cents a box.

If you cannot obtain Mi-o-na of your druggist, it will be sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of price. Write us for advice on your case from a leading stomach specialist which will be sent free. The R. T. Booth Company, Ithaca, N. Y.

All Thin, Pale Women

Can Learn the Cause of Their Nervous, Used-up Condition

With women, ill-health is usually traceable to nerve exhaustion. Feeling run-down and tired most of the time is nature's warning that more nerve-force is required.

You must build up, nourish the body, vitalize the nerves, get more flesh and blood.

It's the abundant nutriment and building material in Ferrozone that enables it to cure so many sick women. It increases the appetite, adds weight and strength, restores lost color and develops a surplus of energy and nerve force that defies sickness of any kind. There is living proof in Mrs. Daniel Ferguson, Jr., of Prescott, Ont. Read her statement:

"A year ago my health failed. I grew thin and exceedingly pale. At night it was difficult to obtain restful sleep. My appetite was variable and indigestion bothered me considerably. I became morose and suffered from heart palpitation. You could scarcely believe the benefit I derived in one week from Ferrozone. Color came back to my cheeks. My vitality and appetite increased, renewed nerve force and better spirits came also. Ferrozone did a world of good and made me well.

Remember this: No alcoholic stimulant can nourish and build up like Ferrozone. Fifty cents per box or six boxes for $2.50. At all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

THE SAME OLD RUSSIA

Secret negotiations are on foot between China and Russia. It is given out that the possession of land along the Amur River is the subject under consideration. The conference and its results will bear close watching.

Any opinion entertained that Russia has been permanently stopped in its Asiatic advance by the war with Japan will probably be found erroneous. Russia is tenacious and subtle in its diplomacy and methods of expansion. The partial control obtained over Korea was the result of a long, patient, surreptitious process. Japan saw the growing menace of its own safety but for many years was not in a position to resist effectively.

Russia today is as patient and tireless as ever. This is shown by the negotiations with China before there has been time for recovery from the war with Japan and in the midst of most alarming conditions at home. Headed off in the direction of Manchuria, Russia is probably cherishing designs upon China more ambitious than ever.

SUICIDES IN CHICAGO AND NEW YORK.

Greater New York had 576 suicides to report last year. Chicago had 461. When one takes into account the fact that Greater New York has almost double the population, that is a remarkably favorable showing for that city.

Considering this marked difference in proportion, it is all the more striking to observe the similarities which appear when the suicides are further classified.

In New York the women suicides formed 22.2 per cent. of the entire number. In Chicago women were 21.5 per cent. of all the suicides.

Shooting was the method used by 32 per cent. of the New York suicides, and by 35 per cent. of the Chicagoans. Gas was used by 23 per cent. in New York and by 18 per cent. in Chicago. Carbolic acid was selected by 14 per cent. in New York and by 11 per cent. in Chicago.

In New York 55 per cent. of the suicides were Americans, and in Chicago 56 per cent. In New York 20 per cent. were Germans, in Chicago only 7 per cent. Among other nationalities there were very much wider variations. The Italians, for example, furnished only four suicides in Chicago and fifteen in New York. Bohemians were fourteen in New York and thirty-one in Chicago. Irish were thirty-four in New York and twelve in Chicago.

A study in the variations in suicide by nationalities, taking into account the numbers of each nationality and the conditions of life, would be useful in connection with the problems that arise out of the manner in which our immigrants are distributing themselves in various parts of the country.

REV. MR. MACKAY TO LEAVE

Popular Assistant in St. Paul's Church Goes to Glasgow

It is with feelings of deep regret that the members of St. Paul's church yesterday heard that Rev. W. M. Mackay, assistant pastor of that congregation, at the meeting of the St. Paul's church office bearers, has declined to accept the invitation extended to him a few days ago to remain another year.

It is Mr. Mackay's intention to go to Glasgow, to pursue a special course in theology during his stay in Peterboro he has made a large number of friends by his earnest, quiet manner and consecutious work. His engagement expires early in April. Sheriff Hall and ex-Mayor G. M. Roger were appointed a committee to draw up a resolution suitable to Mr. Mackay's regretted withdrawal.

A committee composed of Messrs. J. A. Fitz, R. E. Wood, Wm. Madill and J. F. Morrison were selected to get information as to what men were available to assume the duties and position of assistant pastor and to arrange for a supply.

Rev. Dr. Torrance presided at the meeting.

Geo. Buskin in the City

Geo. Buskin, of the International Evangelical and Colportage Mission of Algoma and the Northwest, is making his annual visit to Peterboro on behalf of the 23rd year of the work, in the dessemination of the Holy Scriptures and Scriptural literature. 42,000 copies of which in twenty languages have been supplied by the Missions agency. The depot at 202 King street East, Toronto, is still kept open daily for the supply of Biblical literature and Scriptural books in 25 languages are in stock; there is still arrears due on the work of about $3,000, which the missionary is very desirous to discharge. The donations of Peterboro last year in behalf of the work was $33.10, which the missionary very gratefully acknowledges. The work is on behalf of Godliness and is not denominational.

Before Treatment. After Treatment.

He was surprised at how the sores healed— I took your New Method Treatment for a serious blood disease with which I had been afflicted for twelve years. I had consulted a score of physicians, taken all kinds of blood medicines, visited Hot Springs and other mineral water resorts, but only got temporary relief. They would help me for a time, but after discontinuing the medicines the symptoms would break out again—running sores, blotches, rheumatic pains, looseness of the hair, swellings of the glands, scales of the hands scaling, itchiness of the skin, dyspepsia, stomach, etc. I had given up in despair when a friend advised me to consult you, as you had cured him of a similar disease 8 years ago. I had no hope, but took his advice. In three weeks' time the sores commenced to heal up and I became encouraged. I continued the New Method Treatment for four months and at the end of that time every sign and symptom of disease had vanished. I married 7 years ago and my child is now three years old, is sound and healthy. I cannot say too much or recommend your treatment with all my heart. Physicians advise exercising in the case of sick horses. Although the horse after an illness or otherwise harm may remain, treatment be started very slowly and increased by degrees as the strength of the subject will admit. Unless the weather is inclined to be mild some clothing is necessary during exercise, but it should not be too heavy.

The Right of Way.

In the early days of western railway building, days not so long gone by as to be out of memory, there were many exciting races between rival roads for the possession of important mountain passes. Such a race, says the World's Work, was that between the Santa Fe and the Rio Grande roads for the right of way through Raton pass to New Mexico and the southwest.

Engineers and construction gangs worked in mad haste to get ahead of their rivals. The victory fell to the chief of the Santa Fe. When the Rio Grande cohorts arrived they found him alone in one of the big gorges, shovel in hand, slicing earth from an 8,000 foot hill.

"What are you doing here?" they asked.

"Constructing a railroad," he replied. He turned another shovelful of dirt, dropped the tool and hitched up his heavy cartridge belt.

"Any one who interferes with the Santa Fe does it at his own risk," he said quietly.

First the Rio Grande men laughed, and then they raged, and then they turned and went away. Their road was cut off from the south forever.

Took the Hint.

"It doesn't seem like a dream to me," she replied, "for a dream soon vanishes, you know."

He vanished.

He Knew Her.

"I can't decide," she said, "whether to take the hat or not, but it is just the dearest thing I've seen this season."

"The dearest?" asked the husband, with a sardonic laugh. "Then it's certain that you'll take it."

Nothing New.

"Do you believe in original sin?"

To the Canadian Investor

DORES-MONTGOMERY MINING COMPANY OF BULLFROG, NEVADA

The undersigned is pleased to announce to the investors of Canada that he has been appointed Canadian Fiscal Agent of the above company, and is offering a limited amount of Treasury stock at 25c. per share for development work. This property is just 1200 feet southwest of the famous Montgomery Shoshone mine and both have unquestionably the same vein. The group shows a well defined vein cropping out through, and it is a perfect fissure. A six inch talc seam on the hanging wall gives high values. We have also several other ledges, and it is only a matter of development work to make this property equal to any producer in the section.

The management of the Montgomery Shoshone conservatively estimates that the mines has produced $300,000 worth of ore. If this is right, the ore from the mines has averaged about $975 a ton, or about $1830 for every foot of sinking, the mines being 17 7 8 ft clear.

On top, the mines running less than $200 is thrown over the dump as milling ore. No less than 150 tons of ore has been shipped from this mine, all of it coming from the mines. Another shipment of 50 tons or more will be made via Las Vegas in a few days.

The figures given above are startling in the extreme, but the measurements and are values as quoted are official—direct from the management of the wonderful mine that is today astonishing the world.

This property is only 3000 feet from the Dores Montgomery Mine.

RELIABLE FISCAL AGENT WANTED

SPLENDID PROPOSITION

Iron Spar Copper Mining Company Has Appointed a Canadian Agent —Only a Limited Number of Shares for Sale.

Among the new mining properties that are attracting attention in the Coeur D'Alene District of Idaho for their encouraging conditions, the Iron Spar Copper property is one of the foremost. A large auriferous copper ledge traverses the property for a distance of 6,000 feet, crossing from Idaho to Montana, over the main range of the Coeur d'Alene Mountains, which form the boundary line between these States. In the matter of transportation facilities the Iron Spar has a great advantage over many other properties, being distant only a mile and a half from the Northern Pacific Railroad, and a half mile from a good wagon road. The property is owned by the Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., and the greatest economy and dispatch is being practised in opening up vein.

Another contract will be let soon to extend the present tunnel another hundred feet on the vein, and a good workable ore is expected within ten days from time work is started. The character of the vein and enclosing formation is in all essential particulars similar to that of the Monitor and Richmond on the divide, a few miles to the east. Great depth is possible to be gained on the ledge by driving westward into the main range, which line of policy will be strictly adhered to in the matter of development, to further economize and expedite the work. It is the intention of the company to install a compressor and machine drills early in the spring.

Mr. W. K. Hall, of this city, has secured a block of stock of this splendid proposition, and will dispose of it for a short time at ten cents per share.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7 50 per annum for an individual, and from $25 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15 0x1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the holder may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

A free miner may obtain two leases for dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased, royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

Nourishing Blood Means Strength

You are Pale and Weak Because Your Blood is Thin and Weak.

There can be no such thing as health without pure rich blood—no sparkling eyes, clear skin, or active brain.

The very foundation of health and strength lies in the blood, which must be kept free from poisons and impurities.

Nature has no better blood medicine than Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which are composed of such vegetable extracts as mandrake and butternut, known to all doctors for their prompt and healthy action.

If you would drive out disease and increase your force and vigor, take Dr. Hamilton's Pills. You will feel fresher, brighter, and enjoy keener appetite.

She Was Pale and Listless

"Before using Dr. Hamilton's Pills," writes Miss Edith E. Phelps of Woodstock, "I was pale and listless, my color was yellow, and my appetite very poor. To-day I am a different girl, weigh more, look better, and feel improved in every way."

Why not use Dr. Hamilton's too? You'll get that hearty bracing health that thousands and thousands are enjoying because they use this famous medicine. Price 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1.00, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

RE G. H. MUNROE'S ARREST

Mr. Munroe Explains Satisfactorily His Position.

A recent New York journal, of high standing, contained an account of the startling and altogether unexpected arrest of Mr. Geo. H. Munroe, of the well and favorably known capitalists and brokers of that city.

As is known to many of our readers, this large financial concern has thousands of clients in Canada, and have transacted a large amount of business in stocks and bonds with capitalists of this city and county.

As the relations between Messrs. Munroe & Munroe, and their customers in this section have invariably been characterized by probity, good will on both sides, and in most instances to the financial benefit of their clients, Mr. Munroe's arrest came as a great surprise.

It might be noted that this arrest was at the instance of a former United States Senator Warner Miller.

Mr. Munroe now gives a candid and convincing proof of innocence on his part in any attempt at wrong doing.

Mr. Munroe in his statement to the New York journal, says in part;

I deem it necessary to make some public announcement of my position.

When the settlement was made with the brokerage houses was sustained losses by reason of the slump in Montreal and Boston stock last year, the entire holdings of my firm in this stock were turned over to the brokers for equal distribution among them and their claims were settled in full. At the same time the claims of my firm against the Consolidated Company were released, but a claim of our Montreal office against the old Montreal and Boston Copper Company amounting to about $19,000 was left open and subsequently suit was begun by our firm in British Columbia for the collection of this amount. The attorney for the brokerage houses, who had in the meantime himself become largely interested in the Dominion Copper Company, which took over the properties of the Montreal and Boston Consolidated Company, notified my attorneys that unless we withdrew our suit in the west, suit would be begun here on an alleged claim of Warner Miller and a civil order of arrest procured. This was to injure my credit and to confuse in the minds of the public a civil order of arrest with criminal proceedings. This suit of Warner Miller's is based on statements which are utterly false and untrue.

The claim on which he procured the civil order of arrest is based entirely upon documents which were not issued by me and alleged statements which I never made. When the suit was begun I immediately deposited collateral and gave bond for $15,000, and my attorneys are now preparing papers for an application to compel Miller to increase his bond of $2,500, so that I may be protected in the proceeding which will be instituted against Miller, which will be pushed to a final conclusion as rapidly as possible.

OTTAWA FIRE INS. CO.

The sixth annual meeting of the Ottawa Fire Insurance Co. shows that this company is fully determined to protect to the uttermost their policy holders.

One great feature developd at this meeting of the shareholders was a marked increase in the net premium income for last year, this showed a gain of $6,439.45 over 1904.

The losses by fire from last year were 57 1-2 per cent. of net premium income. In the matter of security to policy holders, it might be noted that the company's securities were increased by $21,000 invested in debentures, and a further payment of $5,000 towards reducing the mortgage on real estate.

To provide for unexpected, but always possible serious losses by large conflagrations, the company set aside $10,000, as the nucleus of a fund established to meet such contingencies. This careful provision for protection of their policy holders cannot but engender an unlimited feeling of security among those patronizing the Ottawa Fire Insurance Co.

One of the most important matters to be considered by policy holders in an insurance company is the character of its assets. The Ottawa Fire Insurance Company's assets are of the highest and safest nature, including municipal debentures deposited with the Dominion Government, amounting to $56,000, municipal debentures, railway and other bonds to the extent of $119,438, real estate $55,000, and other similar safe investments.

FOR 4TH TERM

Rev. J. G. Lewis of Mark St. Church Asked to Stay.

The popularity of Rev. J. G. Lewis, pastor of Mark street church, is very much in evidence, as the Board of Managers at their last meeting, gave him a pressing invitation to remain a fourth year in the position he has filled so ably and acceptably.

At the end of the conference year in June, Rev. Mr. Lewis will have been in Peterboro three years. This means that if he decides to remain a fourth year he will be in Peterboro until June, 1907.

Rev. Mr. Lewis thanked the board for their kind offer and said he would consider the request and give them his decision later.

A Wonderful Record.

As made up by improved and exact processes Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, ulceration and retroversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health. It cures the backache, periodical headaches, the dragging-down distress in the pelvic region, the pain and tenderness over lower abdominal region, dries up the pelvic catarrhal drain, so disagreeable and weakening, and overcomes every form of weakness incident to the organs distinctly feminine.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, the makers of which are not afraid to print their formula on the bottle wrapper, thus taking their patrons into their full confidence. It is the only medicine for women, every ingredient of which has the strongest possible endorsement of the most eminent medical practitioners and writers of our day, recommending it for the diseases for which "Favorite Prescription" is used. It is the only put-up medicine for women, sold through druggists, which does not contain a large percentage of alcohol, so harmful in the long run, especially to delicate women. It has more genuine cures to its credit than all other medicines for women combined, having saved thousands of sufferers from the operating table and the surgeon's knife. It has restored delicate, weak women to strong and vigorous health and virility, making motherhood possible, where there was barrenness before, thereby brightening and making happy many thousands of homes by the advent of little ones to strengthen the marital bonds and add sunshine where gloom and despondency had reigned before.

Write to Dr. R. V. Pierce. He will send you good, fatherly, professional advice, in a plain, sealed envelope, absolutely free. Address him at Buffalo, N. Y.

The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, by Dr. Pierce, 1008 pages, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address as above.

Ottawa Fire Insurance Company

Sixth Annual Report

The Directors have pleasure in presenting the Sixth Annual Report and Statements of the Company's accounts for the year ended 31st December, 1905.

Fire losses for the year were about 57 1-2 per cent. of the Net Premium Income. Investments in Debentures show an increase of $21,000, and a further payment of $5,000 in reduction of mortgage on real estate has been made.

With the view of lessening the probabilities of Calls having to be made to meet possible conflagrations, the Directors have set aside $10,000 as the commencement of a Conflagration Contingency Fund, which can be added to year by year as the profits admit.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

CHARLES MAGEE, President.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

The Statement we have presented today is in every way, I think, an encouraging one. The Net Premium Income is a little more than the previous year. This, the Directors consider, a very satisfactory feature, as owing to a general reduction of limits upon risks on nearly all classes of commercial hazards, it would not have been surprising if the Net Premium Income had shown a decrease instead of an increase. The character of the risks held by the Company is constantly improving, through careful inspection and the benefit of previous experience.

You will notice that we have added to our Reserve for Unearned Premiums in accordance with the Dominion Government standard $4,459.92, increasing the Reserve to $121,118.46, and have made a new departure in setting aside out of the profits, the sum of $10,000 to form the nucleus of a Conflagration Fund, and it is hoped that in future years the Board of Directors, who hold office, may be able to increase this Fund, so that the Company will be in a position to meet any such disasters as have occurred in the past, without any undue strain.

The fire losses, I must confess, have been somewhat disappointing, and had it not been for some severe losses during the last days of December, the Net Profits would have been about $4,000 more. I am glad to say the prospects for the present year are good.

The Company is fortunate in having first class agents, and they all manifest an increasing interest in its welfare and bear testimony to the high standing of the Company throughout the Dominion, as well as in Newfoundland.

The President moved, seconded by Mr. C. Berkeley Powell, that the Directors' Report and Financial Statement just read be received and adopted.—Carried.

Mr. Jas. F. Cunningham was re-appointed Auditor for the ensuing year.

The Board of Directors were unanimously re-elected, with the addition of Mr. Benjamin Rothwell, as follows: C. Jackson Booth, Hon. W. C. Edwards (Senator), Allan Francis, Chas. Magee, Denis Murphy, W. S. Odell, C. Berkeley Powell, C. C. Ray, C. Rose, Bennett Rosamond, Benjamin Rothwell.

At a subsequent meeting of the Board Mr. Charles Magee was re-elected President, and Messrs. C. Berkeley Powell and C. Ross were re-elected First and Second Vice-Presidents respectively.

Board of Education Want a New School in South of City to Relieve Badly Congested Conditions---Board Unaminous in its Necessity.

Last night an adjourned meeting of The Board of Education was held. Those present were, Messrs. Ferguson, chairman; Pringle, Crane, Dumble, Ackerman, Hayes, Morrison, Hill and Fair.

Minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

A report of the Property Committee as follows, was read;

Gentlemen,—Your Property Committee, beg to report that, pursuant to instructions received from the Board, your committee endeavored to arrange an exchange of lots with the military authorities, but that they were unable to arrive at any understanding with them. With a view to ascertain the cost of renovating the old separate school, provided it should pass into the hands of the Board, your committee employed Messrs. J. M. Fitzsimmons and H. C. Stabler, to estimate on cost of the work. Their letters attached hereto. (The report of the two gentlemen showed that the cost of the work proposed would cost from $3,500 to $3,800.)

Your committee regret to have to report the death of Mr. Doupe, for some years janitor of the east ward school who performed his duties in a very satisfactory manner. We would recommend the appointment of Mr. Fred Norris, to fill the place, at the salary of $20 per month, from Feb. 1st, '06. We recommend that the late Mr. Doupe's salary be paid to Feb. 1st.

Your committee advertised for tenders for the supply of dry hardwood for next winter, and beg to recommend that the tender of the Peterboro Cartage Co., at $5.50 be accepted.

Dr. Morrison moved that no action be taken by the Board towards having plans for the new Collegiate Institute prepared until the action of the Ontario Government, relative to a combined building, combining Normal School and Collegiate Institute be known.—Carried.

Mr. Pringle then read the following report of the committee appointed to act re the possible Normal school for this city, viz;

Gentlemen,—Your committee appointed at last regular meeting to deal with the Normal school question and the public school accommodation, begs to report;

1st, That the Normal school matter was taken up by Mr. Bradburn, M.P.P., who made arrangements with the Minister of Education, to meet a deputation from the B.S. Board, Board of Education, Board of Trade, and leading citizens, who were to wait upon him, and present Peterboro's claims. This was done, and we have good reason to believe that the Minister was very favorably impressed with the claims advanced by the the deputation.

2. That your committee visited the South Central School, and the south-east part of the town, and is unanimous in the opinion that steps ought to be taken, immediately to provide additional school accommodation in that part of the city. And although your committee considered the advisability of making additions to the South Central building, yet most of the opinion, that it would be unsatisfactory to build another school, south of the C.G.E. Works and the site most centrally located is lot No. 1—19 and 12—3, plan 82, west of Park street and south of Chamberlain street containing about 3 1-2 acres. Your committee would advise the purchase of this lot as it is admirably suited for the purpose, being centrally located and the grounds sufficiently large. T. J. Lundy, esq., the owner of the property, was waited upon, and the committee believes the lot can be bought for a reasonable price. Your committee begs to recommend that it be authorized to take the necessary steps to secure a suitable property, to have plans prepared for a satisfactory commodious school, the cost estimated, and to wait upon the city council for the purpose of having funds granted, and to build and equip the school, in order that if at all possible, the building may be ready for occupation for opening of the schools in September.

(Sgd.) W. PRINGLE, Chairman.

After some discussion as to the desirability of the lot, taking both pros and cons, Mr. Hill said, "Can we get the money to spend on the lot or not?" Mr. Fair said, "Property and buildings all round this lot, show it must be satisfactory as regards health."

Relative to the proposed request to the council for a grant for this proposed new school in the south ward it was decided to ask for funds to erect an eight room school, to cost on a rough estimate from $30,000 to $35,000.

It was moved by Mr. Morrison, seconded by Mr. Dumble, That a committee be appointed to get an architect to draw plans and submit estimate of cost of an eight-room school to the Board. Said architect's report and estimate to be submitted in writing.

Mr. Dumble brought up the question of teaching music in the public schools, however the suggestion did not meet with enthusiastic support.

The meeting then adjourned until next Monday.

MR. GREEN FOUND

As noted in yesterday's issue, Mr. John Green of 48 Albert street, who left his house, arrayed in all the glory of his Sunday clothes, last Tuesday, and who had not been heard of by his wife, although enquiries had been made from all his friends, both in the city, and this township of Monaghan, was located yesterday morning in the Nicholls Hospital.

It seems that a week ago today, Mr. Green after leaving home, without expressing any such intentions, went to Dr. Brady's surgery, and consulted him regarding an illness he felt coming on. The doctor, recognizing the serious condition of his patient advised him to go straight to the hospital. Never suspecting that Green had come away from home without stating his intentions to consult a medical man, or supposing that the old man had, between the time of the consultation, and when Mr. Green went to the hospital, he would go home and let his wife know what he was about to do, the doctor did not notify Mrs. Green; hence her complete lack of knowledge of her husband's whereabouts, and consequent anxiety.

Mr. Green now lies in a ward at the Nicholls Hospital, his face, except for holes cut through for sight and breathing, completely enveloped in a mask, with a bad case of erysipelas.

Mr. Green was notified of her husband's location and condition yesterday morning.

A FATAL MISTAKE

A most deplorable accident was that of Mr. Johnston Jordan, a boot and shoe dealer of Port Hope, who yesterday, at noon, took poison by mistake.

It seems that Mr. Jordan before partaking of his dinner, at the regular noon hour, went to his son's room, Dr. McKinley was in the room at the time and Mr. Jordan went into another room for some tonic as he complained of feeling unwell. There were standing together two brown bottles exactly alike except that the carbolic acid was doubly labelled. On his way in with the bottle he took a swallow of the contents and unfortunately it proved to be pure carbolic acid instead of the medicine. When he reached his son's room the mouth and throat were burned white and in less than two minutes the organ was paralysed and he was unconscious.

Dr. McKinley at once used every means to relieve him and Dr. Forgrat was also called. Everything possible was done, but it all proved of no avail and in passed away in less than half an hour. The bottle was double labelled, but being the same size as the medicine bottle he did not notice the label. The carbolic acid has been used in large quantities since the son's sickness for disinfectant.

With the sun lying in a very critical condition this sudden shock comes doubly severe to the widow and family, and the hand of sympathy is extended to them in this their hour of deep affliction.

HAS APPENDICITIS

Mr. John McMullen Taken to the Ross Hospital.

A South Verulam correspondent of the Bobcaygeon Independent says;

Mr. John McMullen was taken to the Ross hospital on Tuesday morning for appendicitis. On Sunday afternoon he was taken with pains in the bowels, that he thought were cramps. They passed off though and he had a fairly comfortable night, Monday morning the pains returned and later on settled in the right side. A message was sent for a doctor, and on his arrival it was pronounced appendicitis, and he was recommended to go to the hospital for an operation. Tuesday morning he was to be driven to the Dunsford station, but it was found that he could not sit up, so the neighbors were quickly gathered, and sixteen of them took turns in carrying the unfortunate patient on a stretcher. It was three miles, but luckily it was a pleasant morning, warm and no wind, and he was got to the station quite comfortably. At last account he was being prepared for the operation, which was to be made on Thursday morning. His sleepy condition is rather against him, but it is hoped that the operation will prove successful. His many friends are naturally anxious.

We might say that the operation was successful.

Railways are seriously considering the advisability of entering into an agreement by which the travelling public will either have to pay for their berths in sleepers by 5 o'clock in the afternoon of the day they purpose taking a sleeper, or forfeit reservations. It is contended that many people make reservations over the wire or at ticket offices for a certain night, and under the present arrangements such berths are held until the trains start out, but these people do not inform the companies of their change of plans, but keep the berths reserved until the train leaves. Then the berths are empty and the companies are minus the money they should bring.

It is further claimed that sleepers are run at great cost and that even though berths are sold to persons who happen to be on a train looking for a berth after it has started, yet the inconvenience to the roads and to the travelling public is so great that a reform ought to be introduced. If people notified agents of railroads when they decide not to use berths reserved for them, then they would be sold to others who are anxious to get them, but now persons allow berths to be held up to the last moment just as though they were paid for. This is said to cause trouble and loss which must soon be remedied. It is considered that most persons know by 5 o'clock in the evening whether or not they are going to use reserved berths on the same night, and if they are not absolutely engaged by that hour companies should have the alternative of selling them to those who would use them. Vacant berths return no revenue, and it was stated by a passenger official yesterday that people in Montreal have been known to verbally engage berths on both C. P. R. and G. T. R. trains to Toronto during the day, and then use only one berth or perhaps neither at night, leaving the companies in uncertainty. An expression of public opinion on this matter would not be ignored by railroads.

PERIL IN CHINA ALARMS POWERS

Anti Foreign Outbreak More Serious Than Boxer Uprising Believed to Be Near.

UNITED STATES IS ALERT

Secretary Root Likely to Give Congress Some Secret Information for Its Guidance.

London, February 19.—Private information from diplomatic sources in Peking indicates that the gravest view is taken there of the situation in China. The present agitation is declared to be more formidable than the Boxer rising five years ago.

UNITED STATES IS ALERT.

Washington, D. C., February 19.—It is probable that Secretary Root will have an opportunity to explain to Congress through one of the house committees the actual need of the proposed increase of the number of American troops in the Philippines, which led to to the passage between Secretary Taft and the Senate committee on appropriations recently.

For it is said that the War Department in moving in this direction is simply following the suggestion of the State Department, and it is probable that Secretary Root will find it necessary, unless the plan for holding a force ready for service in China is to be abandoned, to explain to Congress the facts which have impelled him to make the suggestion to Secretary Taft.

The explanation doubtless will be made in confidence, for although it is known in a general way that the State Department has had many disquieting reports from its agents in China, it would scarcely be diplomatic to publish them.

WORSE THAN BOXER UPRISING.

It can be stated, however, that the conditions in China at present bear a striking resemblance to those that preceded the Boxer uprising of 1900. The position of the state Department is this as only the presence of American troops made the Peking relief expedition possible and saved the lives of the Legationers. It would not be justified in refraining from taking every precaution necessary to avert a possible loss of American lives and property, not only at the Legation in Peking but among the missionaries and the American business men in the Chinese trade centers.

BOYCOTT IS GROWING.

President Roosevelt had a talk today with the Rev. Lyman P. Peet, who for eighteen years has been the head of the American College at Foo Chow, China.

The President and Mr. Peet discussed conditions in China at some length. Mr. Peet told the President that the boycott against American products, in his opinion, was getting worse. It has been the cause of several ugly riots and crimes. Mr. Peet said the Chinese officials show a desire to abate the boycott and to insure peace, but in many instances they secretly encourage the boycott.

CHINESE STUDENTS INSULTED.

San Francisco, Cal., February 19.—Charges of cruel treatment toward Chinese students upon their arrival in this country were made this morning before Commissioner Hart North by several young Chinese, who maintain they were treated with indignity.

Fifteen students in all were examined concerning the case of a young man named Ching. The students are all attending the university at Berkeley, and made their report to Mr. North at the request of Secretary Metcalf.

SHIPPING ARMY SUPPLIES.

Omaha, Neb., February 19.—Fearing, it is said, the possibility of an outbreak against foreigners in China, orders have been received at the quartermaster's depot in this city to rush supplies to the Orient with the utmost dispatch. A force of men has been at work day and night for several days loading cars with equipment, clothing, tents and other accoutrements for immediate shipment to the Philippines. Several cars already have been loaded and started westward.

Army men in Omaha are reticent, but the hasty shipment of supplies is looked upon by those who have expressed themselves as evidence that the United States is preparing fir any emergency that may arise in the Chinese situation.

Earthquakes on Island of St. Lucia.

Castries, Island of St. Lucia, D.W.I., Feb. 19.—Following the earlier earthquakes of yesterday afternoon, another shock was felt at 5.45 p.m. yesterday and loud detonations and slight shocks continued until three o'clock this morning.

The inhabitants are in a very disturbed state of mind and business is suspended.

Some of the larger residences have been badly damaged and their occupants have sought shelter elsewhere. Many private houses and stores sustained serious losses.

Cable communication with the Islands of St. Vincent and Barbadoes has been severed by the earthquake.

A GOOD APPOINTMENT

Mr. Cotsworth Made Vice-President of Upper Canada C. O. B. Ass'n.

The Port Hope Guide says: We noticed by the published annual report that Mr. John Alexander Cotsworth of Port Hope, formerly of Toronto, electrical and waterpower engineer, and canal transportation expert has been honored by being re-elected a vice-president of Upper Canada College Old Boys' Association—the governing body of that great College school. The president is Mr. W. H. Beatty, Toronto, and other vice-presidents are Col. Geo. T. Denison, Hon. Col. J. S. Hendrie, M.L.A., Sico Koengsmill, K.C., and Judge Barron; the secretary is Arnold Morphy. A roll of old boys is being published to date, from the founding of the college in 1829, giving information relative to their subsequent careers and dates of attendance. The recording of such information, much depends with the old boys and their co-operation is asked.

PICTON BAPTISTS

Will Probably Erect a New Church---Rev. O. C. Elliott Investigating.

Referring to the good work done by Rev. Mr Elliott, formerly of this city, the Picton Times says;

Rev. O. C. Elliott, of the Baptist home missions of Ontario and Quebec, has been in town for several days looking into the matter of building a new Baptist church in Picton. It is proposed to build on the Barker property next to Dr. Philp's, facing Market street, and if sufficient encouragement is forthcoming building will be commenced very soon. Mr. Elliott is meeting with very good success so far.

"ARMY" NEWS.

Capt. McAmmond will Conduct a Funeral Service in Stirling To-day

Staff-Capt. McAmmond goes to Stirling today to conduct the funeral service of Mr. Williams, a member of the Salvation Army corps in that village. Deceased was an uncle of Mrs. Henry Green, Lafayette Avenue, Peterboro.

Adjutant Jennings is in Toronto. He attended the big reception to Commissioner Coombs in Massey Hall last night, at which Premier Whitney was to have been chairman. The Commissioner gave an address on colonization and immigration work of the Army.

Miss Olive Boorman, who has been a faithful soldier in the local corps, will farewell at the barracks on Sunday evening next. She goes to Toronto to take a course in the Salvation Army Training School and qualify as an officer. Her many friends will wish her every success.

TURF CLUB MEET

Yesterday Peterboro Turf Club Transacted Business and Elected Officers.

Yesterday afternoon, a meeting of the Peterboro Turf Club, was held in the Bank of Ontario Chambers. Mr. Alex. Elliott, one of Peterboro's best known advocates of sporting matters, occupied the chair.

After routine business had been transacted, the important matter of the club's financial standing was brought up. In view of the hard luck experienced this winter, whereby the clerk of the weather seemed to have conspired against the Turf Club, it is almost miraculous to learn that the club has, after all accounts are settled a balance to the good.

It might be explained that the present directorate of the local Turf Club started in under a bad handicap. The club had, previous to their management, been plunged into debt. Even with this debt outstanding, and considering the splendid record of last year's races, which, although good prizes were given, were not attended as they should have been, and more than all, this winter, the club, at great expense for advertising and sundries and a fine series of races arranged for, and which were called off owing to exigencies of the weather, still the club stands to the right side of the bank book.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Pres.—R. J. Munro.
Vice-Pres.—H. Neil.
Treas.—R. S. Jackson.
Sec.—Arthur Rountree.
Directors—Messrs. Lipsett, Tooley, Brooks, Holland and Dunn.

SURPRISED DOCTOR

Illustrating the Effect of Food.

The remarkable adaptability of Grape-Nuts food to stomache so disordered that they will reject everything else, is illustrated by the case of Mrs. H—— of Racine, Wis.

"Two years ago," she says, "I was attacked by a stomach trouble, so serious that for a long time I could not take much of any sort of food. Even the various kinds prescribed by the doctor produced most acute pain.

"We then got some Grape-Nuts food, and you may imagine my surprise and delight when I found that I could eat it with a relish and without the slightest distress.

"When the doctor heard of it he told me to take several small portions each day, because he feared I would grow tired of it as I had of all other food.

"But, to his astonishment, (and that of everybody else). I did not tire of Grape-Nuts, and became better day by day, till, after some weeks, my stomach entirely recovered, and I was able to eat anything my appetite craved.

"My nerves, which had become so weakened, that I feared I would become insane, were also restored by the Grape-Nuts food in connection with Postum Coffee which has become our table beverage. I appreciated most gratefully and thankfully the good that your food preparations have done me, and shall be glad to answer any letters inquiring as to my experience." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

King's Speech The Most Radical Yet

Forecasts Bills Regarding Trades Disputes, Workmen's Compensation, Education and Irish Coercion---No Embargo Bill.

EXTRACT FROM KING'S SPEECH.

"My Ministers have under consideration plans for improving and protecting economies in the system of government in Ireland, and for introducing into it means for associating the people with the conduct of Irish affairs. It is my desire that the government of the country in reliance upon ordinary law should be carried on, so far as existing circumstances permit, in a spirit regardful of the wishes and sentiments of the Irish people."

London, Feb. 19.—Among the points of the King's speech today were the announcement of a new constitution for the Transvaal and a constitution granting responsible government to the Orange River colony. The Colonial Conference, which, owing to existing circumstances, cannot be held this year, has been postponed until the early part of next year, with the concurrence of the colonial governments concerned.

NEEDLESSLY IRRITATING.

The London Globe, commenting on the King's speech, says it is not merely radical, it is needlessly irritating.

PEACEFUL RELATIONS.

London, Feb. 19.—It is understood that the King's speech at the opening of Parliament today will include an expression of satisfaction for Great Britain's continued peaceful relations in Europe, especially with France, and a desire for a friendly solution of the Moroccan conference. It will also contain an announcement concerning conditions in South Africa, of the appointment of a commission to proceed thither to examine into the question of a franchise, and that meanwhile the importation of Chinese to the Transvaal shall be stopped and the terms of the Chinese ordinance subjected to revision.

THE LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM.

The suggestion of the following legislative program will be made;

An education bill.
A trades disputes bill.
A workman's compensation Act.
An amendment of last year's Act for the relief of the unemployed.
The repeal of the Irish coercion Act.
The introduction of a Scottish education bill.
Bills for the equalization of rates in London.
Other minor measures.

No official forecast of the speech from the throne has been issued, but the foregoing indicates its general drift. It is quite certain that the speech will be the most radical ever put into the mouth of a sovereign.

Although it is known that the Government will not attempt a Home Rule bill for Ireland, well informed persons assert that the Cabinet has discussed the possibility of some sort of a devolution measure or scheme for relieving the congestion of Parliamentary business. It is even stated that the King's speech will contain a hint of such an intention.

KING A HOME RULER.

The Earl of Aberdeen, the new Irish Viceroy, while a guest of the College of Surgeons on Saturday, made a significant reference to Irish affairs. After remarking the great change in public feeling in England towards Ireland in the last thirty years, as full of hope for Ireland, he said; "There is another auspicious feature in the outlook. I allude to the well-grounded belief that his Majesty the King is actuated by a warm solicitude for the welfare of Ireland and her people."

Canadians who expected the immediate exemption of this country from the cattle embargo will be disappointed that no reference was made in the speech from the throne to legislation on that question. Perhaps the matter may be dealt with under "bills of minor importance."

PARLIAMENT OPENED.

London, Feb. 19.—King Edward opened the second Parliament of his reign this afternoon with the customary ceremonial. The absence of Queen Alexandra, the Prince and Princess of Wales, and the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, and the mourning into which the court has been thrown by the death of King Christian detracted somewhat from the brilliance of the pageant.

Immediately after reading the speech the King returned to Buckingham Palace.

KING IS STILL LAME.

It was noticeable that the King is still suffering from the injury to his knee sustained while out shooting on November 16 last. He walked haltingly, aided by a stick. His speech was clearly audible everywhere in the hall, despite occasional huskiness.

ATHLETIC WORLD

BY OUR SPORTING EDITOR

CURLING.

Yesterday a Times representative was called in by one of the Dickson Davidson rink that so distinguished themselves during the recent carnival, in connection with a challenge contained in our issue of Monday's date. This carrier, at first thought to treat the challenge issued to Mr. Davidson's rink as a joke. It might be as well to recall to the memory of our readers that in the issue above noted, Messrs. W. Snowden and Wm. Croft, challenged Mr. Dickson Davidson's winning rink to a game for oysters, lobsters, chicken on the half shell or any other supper the challenged choose to name. When convinced that these veterans of the stones and besom meant business, the carrier in question, regretted that Mr. Kerr, of Mr. Davidson's rink will be out of town for a few days. On his return, the challenge will probably be accepted. It is a red-hot game may be looked for, and we venture a guess that the veterans will show a good account of themselves.

* * * * *

Yesterday, Mr. W. Croft, one of Peterboro's oldest curlers, when approached by a Times representative, got into a reminiscent mood. When talking about the recent challenge issued by himself and Mr. Snowden to the Dickson Davidson rink, he referred to curling days of old. Mr. Croft went on to tell of his experience at Harwood against a rink of cripples. "You be papers," said this old veteran of the rink, "I had a good rink down to Harwood, and expected to win out against all comers. The first thing I knew a little local rink called the "Cripples," came up against us. Well sir, I'll be ——, if the rink didn't include a man with a club foot, a one-armed man, a man with a wooden leg, and a man with one eye, and I'll be ——, if they didn't beat us out hands down. Sayl on the way home to Peterboro, the only remark passed was by one of our rink, who said, "That one-eyed man beat us out, he used to look away off to the outside of the rink and by an inturn got right plumb center!"

A GOOD CARNIVAL

Last night the Brock street rink was a scene of merriment and gaiety. The bright costumes of the merry making maskers, the joyous music of our good 57th Regimental Band, the shouts of approval from the thousands of pleased spectators, filling every available spot, the rhythmic ringing of the glittering blades over the glassy ice, the pretty faces to which Jack Frost had brought garlands of nature's coloring, and the exciting doubt as to whom among the costumed skaters would secure the prizes, all made a toute ensemble of beauty, enjoyment and interest worthy of repellections.

The Foresters who have for years so successfully conducted Peterboro's winter carnivals, had every reason last night, to congratulate themselves on their success.

The prizes this year were above the average and there is no doubt but what the awards met with general approval.

Those in costume had possession of the ice until the judges, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. McWilliams, and Mr. and Mrs. C. B. McAlister, had awarded the prizes, then everyone that desired or had skates joined he glittering throng on its cheering way round the rink.

The prizes which had, for some days been on exhibition in Mr. R. McWhinnie's store window, attracted much attention. Mr. J. R. Medland was chairman of the Committee of Management, and Mr. A. Martin secretary.

MRS. GARVEY'S FUNERAL.

Yesterday morning, the last sad rites were accorded to the remains of the late Mrs. Michael Garvey of Otonabee, who passed away on Saturday last, from her late residence to the Douro cemetery.

The deceased had been suffering from heart trouble for three months past and the last attack was too severe. She was 58 years of age, and leaves eight children, four boys and four girls, to mourn her loss. Three brothers, Robert, of Douro; John, of Galway, and Allen, and three sisters, Mrs. Callaghan, Mrs. R. Devlin, Otonabee, and Mrs. Clancy, of Percy, also survive.

The final issue of treasury stock is now offered for public subscription. The entire proceeds will be used to pay for the machinery for the mill. The day this mill is completed the mine will begin to earn dividends.

YOUR OPPORTUNITY

If you had invested one thousand dollars ten years ago in any one of a dozen different mines whose names we can give you, you would today be worth at least one hundred thousand dollars—and we are offering you a like opportunity—the chance of a life time with success absolutely sure. A letter places you under no obligation and will bring you further details.

When Run-down "Draggy," Used-up

You Lack the Vigor, Courage and Staying Power that "Ferrozone" Can Supply

Night comes and it's hard to sleep. Morning dawns and the anxious, tired feeling is still there. Don't neglect this gradual decline; it can't cure itself. But by forming rich, pure blood, Ferrozone will quickly supply the nutriment and building material your system craves.

Instantly you are aware that some powerful force is building up your depleted energies. Do once you feel braced, toned, strengthened. Search the world over and you won't find anything to tone up a weak system like Ferrozone. Physicians claim it is the most strengthening, uplifting medicine ever discovered.

"All those spells of tiredness," but bounding, joyful health when you take Ferrozone, of which Mrs. H. S. Gold, of Bowmans, Man., speaks in the following words of praise:

"I state my case because I think it may assist other women to health. A year ago I was almost a wreck. I was pale and emaciated, suffering from nervousness, and hysteria. Little things going wrong in the house bothered me. The doctor advised different treatments but they didn't help. He said my low condition was due to weakness that might never be cured. Ferrozone had a peculiar grateful effect and built me up quickly. The ills I suffered from are cured. I am now strong and vigorous and was made so by Ferrozone."

Why not cast aside the claims of sickness and enter the bright, happy life of robust health. Let Ferrozone help you—let it cure you once and forever. Price 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

JAPAN'S HAND IN CHINA.

Suspicion that Japan is at the bottom of much of the anti-foreign agitation in China is natural to students of conditions in Eastern Asia. It is an easy step from recognition of Japanese prowess and consciousness of power to belief that Japan cherishes boundless ambitions. Then the conclusion that the masters of Nippon are actively planning their country's aggrandisement in China readily follows. The average white man living in Eastern Asia dislikes anything which indicates the lessening of Occidental prestige and the rise of Oriental power and independence.

The well-known war correspondent, Thomas F. Millard, goes far beyond vague suspicions in a recent magazine article on Chinese conditions and prospects. He deals with concrete facts of sinister significance.

It is shown that a large number of Chinese newspapers are under Japanese control. The hold which Japanese money and Japanese journalists have gained in the fast-widening newspaper field of China is steadily becoming more effective. Chinese newspapers are by no means the inert ... antiquated records of formal matters which they used to be. They are multiplying, enlarging and dealing more and more with live questions of great importance to the Chinese people.

Therefore it means much when twenty or thirty prominent Chinese papers, all under Japanese influence or owned by Japanese journalists, take up incidents calculated to inflame Chinese antagonism against foreigners. When the same studied moderation of language and the same cunningly veiled appeals to Chinese prejudice and passion run through all of these papers the conclusion is inevitable that a great game is being played with rare skill.

The fair inference is that a broad and systematic campaign is under way in Japan for the undermining of all European and American influence and interests in the Chinese Empire. There are differences, of course. England is greatly dealt with. Germany is an especial object of attack, by inference and in guarded fashion, by the Chinese papers under Japanese control. But Japan is apparently moving toward the goal of entire domination, in influence and in mastery of political and business forces, over all other outside elements in China.

If this is true it constitutes one of the most significant and momentous international problems which other civilized nations must face.

BARTON MURDER THEORY

Buffalo Detectives Revive Possibility That Victim Was Denver Woman

Buffalo, N.Y., Feb. 18.—Buffalo detectives yesterday revived the theory that the young woman murdered at Barton, On., last October may have been Miss Pansy Lowthean of Denver, who roomed for a time in Morgan street, Buffalo, at the home of Mrs. Thomas Johnson.

This theory was temporarily exploded last November when it was reported that a girl who claimed to be Miss Lowthean was found alive and well in Rochester.

Mrs. Johnson, who claimed to have positively identified the dead woman in the Hamilton, Ont., morgue in November as Miss Lowthean still insists that she did not err in her identification.

Acting on the belief that Mrs. Johnson may have been correct in stating that the victim was Miss Lowthean, Buffalo detectives are inclined now to believe that another woman may have been posing as Miss Lowthean in Rochester in order to secure the comfortable maintenance of $40 a month which came to the real Miss Lowthean every month from Denver.

Buffalo sleuths therefore will not be satisfied as to Miss Lowthean being alive and not the murdered woman until she proves her identity beyond a doubt. A picture of the murdered woman taken after death is not unlike Miss Lowthean, Mrs. Johnson says, while the description fits perfectly.

Expert Dyers.

The Tyrians, it is claimed, were the most expert dyers of ancient times. The fabrics dyed with the famous tyrian purple did not assume their proper color until after two days' exposure to the light and air. During this time they passed through a gradation of shades of yellow, green, blue, violet and red, which the dyers understood how to arrest and fix at any moment.

Peter H. Summers, of Kalamazoo, Mich., relates his experience: "I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in early youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who heard at me, guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers (illegible) memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I tried all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, went to Mt. Clemens for baths, but received little benefit. While AFTER TREATMENT BEFORE TREATMENT at Mt. Clemens I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kergan, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the New Method treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through my nerves. I was cured mentally, physically and sexually. I have sent them many patients and will continue to do so."

Hobbes and Geometry.

Hobbes was not yet fifteen when he went to Oxford. He did not much care for logic, yet he learned it and thought himself a good disputant. There is no reason to think he learned anything else at Oxford save a strong dislike of academic institutions and methods. He turned from the official studies to amuse himself with geography and voyages. As to mathematics, there was no official recognition of them at all while Hobbes was at the university, so there is nothing improbable in the statement that Hobbes had never opened a copy of Euclid until he was near middle age. The story is best told in Aubrey's own words:

"He was forty years old when he looked on geometry, which happened accidentally. Being in a gentleman's library, 'Euclid's Elements' lay open, and it was the forty-seventh proposition. Lib. I, so he read the proposition. 'By George,' says he, 'this is impossible!' So he read the demonstration of it, which referred him back to another, which he also read, et sic deinceps,' that at last he was demonstratively convinced of that truth. This made him in love with geometry."

The Oldest Tale of a Tub.

The cynics, so called from the Greek word for a dog, were a rude, snarling sect of so called philosophers, who despised riches, the arts and all culture. Among these Diogenes was conspicuous. He was born in 412 B. C., and when a man he dressed in a coarse robe, which covered him day and night, and carried a wooden bowl and a bag for his alms and his food. His home was a large tub discarded from the temple of Cybele, a huge earthen jar, that had held wine or oil for the services and sacrifices of the temple. Though cracked and patched, it was large enough to hold him lying at full length. The story goes that Alexander the Great came up to him one day and asked what he could do for him. "Don't stand between me and the sun," was the curt reply, upon which the emperor is said to have exclaimed, "If I were not Alexander I would be Diogenes!"

Lightning as a Rock Driller.

"Lightning when in the mood has an ugly habit of drilling," writes an English observer. "It will drill the hardest rock, rock which would turn cold steel, and not only drill but vitrify it. They have found in Cumberland channels from thirty feet deep and from two to four inches in circumference. The interior was hard and glazed where the solid substance had been melted by the stabbing flashes. Artificial experiment has shown that a powerful shock from a battery will vitrify finely powdered glass, but not feldspar or quartz. The lightning, however, does it in the manner described—not in one place, but in many, showing that before striking the ground it divided into several branches, each strong enough to penetrate and liquefy the solid rock."

In a Man's Pockets.

A fairly well equipped gentleman true to his calling and to his friends carries quite a kit of tools. There are a jackknife, a match box, a cigar cutter, a nail file, a corkscrew, a finger nail tool and possibly a cigar holder and some good five centers to give away. And yet women wonder what he finds to put in his pockets. To facilitate further the business of just hanging around he must have a little money, a handkerchief, bunch of keys, fountain pen, some lead pencils and sharpener, eyeglasses, notebook, watch, old letters, papers of more or less supposed value and a cardcase. Not one pocket could be spared unless it is the one on his nightshirt, and that looks so sweet.

Told by the Watch.

To tell the points of the compass by a watch point the hour hand at the sun; then south is halfway between the hour hand and the figure 12 of the dial. To measure an angle by a watch lay two straight edged pieces of paper on the angle, crossing at the apex. Holding them where they overlap, lay them on the face of the watch, with the apex at the center. Read the angle by the minutes of the dial, each minute being six degrees of arc. It is easy to measure within two or three degrees in this way.

Why His Head Didn't Ring.

Two footmen turning a corner came into collision. The shock stunned one of them. He pulled off his hat and, laying his hand on his brow, said: "Be a blow. My head's a-ringing again."

"Nae wonder," said his companion. "Your heid was aye empty—that makes it ring. My heid disna ring a bit."

"How could it ring," said the other, "seein' it was aye cracked?"

Long Words.

The longest words in English are short by comparison with certain words of construction in other languages. It is common in German to use compounds which, although not involved or cumbersome in meaning, look alarmingly long, and it is said that one Sanskrit word has no less than 180 syllables.

The Wise Wife.

Mrs. Tom—I wouldn't let my husband have his own way as yours does. Mrs. Dick—Does he? Mrs. Tom—I heard him say so today. Mrs. Dick (softly)—I'm glad he thinks so. I've been a long time teaching him that.

Quite Solid.

"Let me see a plain wedding ring."

"Solid?"

"You bet I'm solid. We've been engaged more'n a month."

RE G. H. MUNROE'S ARREST

Mr. Munroe Explains Satisfactorily His Position.

A recent New York journal, of high standing, contained an account of the startling and altogether unexpected arrest of Mr. Geo. H. Munroe of this well and favorably known capitalists and brokers of that city.

It might be noted that this arrest was at the instance of former United States Senator Warner Miller.

Mr. Munroe now gives a candid and convincing proof of innocence on his part in any attempt at wrong doing.

Mr. Munroe in his statement to the New York journal, says in part;

I deem it necessary to make some public announcement of my position.

When the settlement was made with the brokerage houses who sustained losses by reason of the slump in Montreal and Boston stock last year, the entire holdings of my firm in this stock were turned over to the brokers for equal distribution among them and their claims were settled in full. At the same time the claims of my firm against the Consolidated Company were released, but a claim of our Montreal office against the old Montreal and Boston Copper Company amounting to about $19,000 was left open and subsequently suit was begun by our firm in British Columbia for the collection of this amount. The attorney for the brokerage houses, who had in the meantime himself become largely interested in the Dominion Copper Company, which took over the properties of the Montreal and Boston Consolidated Company, notified my attorneys that unless we withdrew our suit in the west, suit would be begun here on an alleged claim of Warner Miller and a civil order of arrest procured. This was to injure my credit and to confuse in the minds of the public a civil order of arrest with criminal proceedings. This suit of Warner Miller's is based on statements which are utterly false and untrue.

The claim on which he procured the civil order of arrest is based entirely upon documents which were not issued by me and alleged statements which I never made. When his suit was begun I immediately deposited collateral and gave bond for $15,000, and my attorneys are now preparing papers for an application to compel Miller to increase his bond of $2,500, so that I may be protected in the proceeding which will be instituted against Miller, which will be pushed to a final conclusion as rapidly as possible.

GEO. H. MUNROE.

To the Canadian Investor

DORES-MONTGOMERY MINING COMPANY

OF BULLFROG, NEVADA

The undersigned is pleased to announce to the investors of Canada that he has been appointed Canadian Fiscal Agent of the above company, and is offering a limited amount of treasury stock at 25c. per share for development work. This property is just 1200 feet southwest of the famous Montgomery Shoshone mine and both have unquestionably the same vein. The group shows a well defined vein cropping out through, and it is a perfect fissure. A six inch talc seam on the hanging wall gives high values. We have also several other ledges, and it is only a matter of development work to make this property equal to any producer in the section.

The management of the Montgomery Shoshone conservatively estimates that the mines has produced $300,000 worth of ore. If this is right, the ore from the mines has averaged about $975 a ton, or about $1250 for every foot of sinking, the mines being 4 x 7 in clear.

Ore from the mines running less than $300 is thrown over the dump as milling ore. No less than 150 tons of ore has been shipped from this mine, all of it coming from the mines. Another shipment of 50 tons or more will be made via Las Vegas in a few days.

The figures given above are startling in the extreme, but the measurements and ore values as quoted are official—direct from the management of the wonderful mine that is today astonishing the world.

This property is only 1200 feet from the Dores Montgomery Mine.

RELIABLE FISCAL AGENT WANTED

SPLENDID PROPOSITION

Iron Spar Copper Mining Company Has Appointed a Canadian Agent —Only a Limited Number of Shares for Sale.

Among the new mining properties that are attracting attention in the Coeur D'Alene District of Idaho for their encouraging conditions, the Iron Spar Copper property is one of the foremost. A large auriferous copper ledge traverses the property for a distance of 6,000 feet, crossing from Idaho to Montana, over the main range of the Coeur d'Alene Mountains, which form the boundary line between these States. In the matter of transportation facilities the Iron Spar has a great advantage over many other properties, being distant only a mile and a half from the Northern Pacific Railroad, and a half mile from a good wagon road. The property is owned by the Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., and the greatest economy and dispatch is being practised in opening up vein.

Another contract will be let soon to extend the present tunnel another hundred feet on the vein, and a good workable ore is expected within ten days from time work is started. The character of the vein and enclosing formation is in all essential particulars similar to that of the Monitor and Richmond on the divide, a few miles to the east. Great depth is possible to be gained on the ledge by driving westward into the main range, which line of policy will be strictly adhered to in the matter of development, to further economize and expedite the work. It is the intention of the company to install a compressor and machine drills early in the spring.

Mr. W. E. Hall, of this city, has secured a block of stock of this splendid proposition, and will dispose of it for a short time at ten cents per share.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $25 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15 by 1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the holder may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER MINING claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5, recordable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The leases shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,

Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

A Severe Affliction.

The many friends of Mr. E. M. Elliott, the popular County Clerk, will sympathize with him in his anxiety over the illness of his wife and children. Mrs. Elliott was stricken with pneumonia, followed by one of her children while two others are quite ill with la grip. Under the care of a skilful physician, assisted by two nurses, it is hoped that they will soon recover.

LOCAL INCIDENTS

By The Times Man on the Street

—No police court yesterday morning.

—Local Orange Lodge, No. 40 meet last night.

—The Inter-Press Hockey match has been postponed until March 1st.

—The Board of Education held an adjourned meeting yesterday evening.

—There will likely be a military camp in Cobourg during the early summer.

—For genuine bargains in fancy china see north window of Times Bookstore.

—A congregational social will be held in St. Paul's church on Wednesday evening.

—The Foresters' carnival was held at Brock street rink last night and was most successful.

—The Ladies' Missionary Society of Charlotte street church will meet on Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock.

—George street fast night looked like a New Orleans Mardi Gras, with the costumers making to the rink.

—Messrs. Jas. McPherson and Godfrey Coughlan are putting a tile floor in Mr. Papps's fine George St. stores.

—Mr. Robert Butcher, who had his hand badly smashed at Calcutt's brewery one day last week, is convalescent.

—The directors of the Toronto Industrial Exhibition have agreed upon August 27th to September 10th, as the date for this year's exhibition.

—The appointment of Messrs. William Hickson, William Adams and Peter Perdue as License commissioners for East Victoria county has been gazetted.

—Judging by the number of baby carriages out yesterday, on account of the fine weather, Peterboro is not threatened with an epidemic of race-suicide.

—The Deanery of Durham and Victoria will hold a Deanery meeting in St. John's church, Port Hope, today and Wednesday, February, 20th and 21st.

—The annual meeting of the Board of Trade for the election of officers, receiving of reports, etc., will be held in the city council chamber on Tuesday, March 6th.

—A head-on collision at Thorold, near St. Catharines resulted in the death of Motorman Geo. Lane, of the electric road between St. Catharines and Niagara Falls.

—We note that in reference to the coming inter-press hockey match, that the Review, "Frank(ly)" speaking, shows a desire to slo their opponents up "Brown."

—Imitation cut glass vases standing twelve and fifteen inches high, regular price 25 cents, on sale for 19 cents at Times Bookstore. Don't fail to get one. Just the thing for long stem flowers.

—The W.M.S. of Mark St. church will hold an open meeting Wednesday afternoon in the church. Mrs. Morrow, a British Columbia missionary, will address the meeting. Miss Kendry and Mrs. (Dr.) Prust will sing.

—Bancroft Times: The manager of the Princess soladite quarries will make a shipment of about two car loads to London, England, this week. Some of the blocks weigh almost six tons. Dunnannon can boast of having the only quarry of the kind in the world.

—Dr. Gray's letter relative to the injustice of an alleged attempt to get rid of Mr. R. B. Rogers, from his position of engineer on the T.V.C., has caused more comment, and generally speaking favorable comment, than any article contained in the press of Peterboro, for many a month. To use a trite expression, "It has been the talk of the town" since publication.

—The Young Men's Guild of St. Luke's church will hold an "at home" in their rooms, Hunter street east, on Friday evening next at eight o'clock, to which ladies and gentlemen are cordially invited. Refreshments will be served and during the evening a presentation will be made to Mr. Joseph Ball for fifteen years caretaker of the church, who has just resigned.

—We are pleased to note that an esteemed evening contemporary, has advocated the council supplying P.C. Miller with a uniform. As noted in a former issue of The Times this should be done in the interests of the city. Blue cloth and brass buttons, not only give a prestige and power to our constables, but look better for the city than having a man in "mufti" performing the duties of a policeman.

At Bethany Tabernacle To-night.

The special services at Bethany Tabernacle will close with this evening's service. There has been a growing interest with each service. At eleven o'clock Dr. Wilson will speak again on the work of the Holy Spirit. At 2.30 o'clock addresses will be given by Pastor Stephens, Rev. Mr. Sheets and Dr. Wilson. At 7.30 a missionary address will be given by Rev. C. I. Winkwara of the Congo, Africa. Mr Winkwara is an earnest and interesting speaker, and should receive a hearing from a large audience.

The March Delineator.

In the March number The Delineator has fallen under the spell of romance which the forthcoming marriage of the President's daughter has evoked, and presents as its leading feature an article on "The Brides of the White House," illustrated with a handsome portrait of Miss Roosevelt never before published. The fiction of the number includes a short story by Stewart Cutting, a clever study of child life by Virginia Woodward Cloud, and the continuation of "The President of Quex," Helen M. Winslow's interesting club story. Viola Allen, the popular young actress, who recently married a southern millionaire, writes of Shakespere's heroines from the point of view of one who has personated many of them with great success. Dr. Murray concludes her series on "The Rights of the Child," with a paper on growth and development; and a unique feature beginning in this number is "Houses by Correspondence," the first being The Doctor's House. Stories and pastimes are supplied for the amusement of children, and in the other departments many topics of interest and value to the home are treated. Fashion of course, plays a large part in this number, and the newest styles are illustrated and described in detail.

High Water in Stony Lake.

Mr. John McCauley, of Julian's Landing, was in the city yesterday. He reported that the water in Stoney Lake was never as high as at present, and that it is now on a level with the wharf. Last summer it was four feet below the surface of the dock. Five ice eighteen inches in thickness, is being taken from the lake.

Bishop Scollard in the City.

On Sunday morning at 10.30 mass in St. Peter's Cathedral His Lordship Bishop Scollard, of Sault Ste. Marie addressed the large congregation present. His Lordship had been attending the consecration of Bishop Bernard, of St. Hyacinthe, on Thursday last, and stopped off here to visit on his return to the Sault, and Sunday night he went out to his old home in Emsmoore, where he will remain for a couple of days.

HYOMEI KILLS CATARRHAL GERMS

All the stomach dosing in the world cannot do any actual good in the treatment of catarrhal troubles, unless the nose and throat are completely freed from the catarrhal germs, and the poison that they produce.

Hyomei is Nature's true cure for catarrh. It destroys all germs in the air passages and lungs, soothes and heals the irritated mucous membrane, and effectually drives from the system all traces of the poison. When using the Hyomei treatment, the air you breathe is like that on the Mountains, high above sea level, where the pine woods fill the air with purifying and healing qualities that give health and strength to those suffering from diseases of the respiratory organs. Breathed through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, the healing air of Hyomei reaches every tissue of nose, throat and lungs, and immediate relief is given, and a permanent cure is soon made.

The complete Hyomei outfit, consisting of an inhaler, medicine dropper, and one bottle of Hyomei, costs only $1.00, extra bottles 50 cents.

If you cannot obtain Hyomei of your dealer, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write today for consultation blank that will entitle you to services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hyomei Building, Ithaca, N. Y.

DIED SUDDENLY OF HEART DISEASE.

How frequently does a head line similar to the above greet us in the newspapers. The rush, push and strenuousness of the American people has a strong tendency to lead up to valvular and other affections of the heart, attended by irregular action, palpitation, dizziness, smothered sensations and other distressing symptoms.

Three of the prominent ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made are recommended by some of the leading writers on Materia Medica for the cure of just such cases. Golden Seal root, for instance, is said by the UNITED STATES DISPENSATORY, a standard authority, "to impart tone and increased power to the heart's action." Numerous other leading authorities represent Golden Seal as an unsurpassed tonic for the muscular system in general, and as the heart is almost wholly composed of muscular tissue, it naturally follows that it must be greatly strengthened by this superb, general tonic. But probably the most important ingredient of "Golden Medical Discovery," so far as its marvelous cures of valvular and other affections of the heart are concerned, is Stone root, or Collinsonia Can., Prof. Wm. Paine, editor of Paine's Epitomy of Medicine, says of it:

"I not long since, had a patient who was so much depressed with valvular disease of the heart that his friends were obliged to carry him upstairs. He however, gradually recovered under the influence of Collinsonia (medicinal principle extracted from Stone root), and is now attending to his business. Heretofore physicians knew of no remedy for the removal of so distressing and so dangerous a malady. With them it was all guess-work, until fearfully warned the afflicted that death was near at hand. Collinsonia unquestionably affords relief in such cases, and in most instances effects a cure."

Stone root is also recommended by Drs. Hale and Ellingwood, of Chicago, for valvular and other diseases of the heart. The latter says: "It is a heart tonic of direct and permanent influence."

"Golden Medical Discovery," not only cures serious heart affections, but is a most efficient general tonic and invigorator, strengthening the stomach, invigorating the liver, regulating the bowels and curing catarrhal affections in all parts of the system.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, marked on the envelope "Tenders for Construction," will be received at the office of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway at Ottawa, until twelve o'clock noon on Monday the 12th day of March, 1906, for the work required for the construction, in accordance with the plans, profiles and specifications of said Commissioners, for the following sections of the Transcontinental Railway, the said work to be completed on or before the first day of September, 1907, viz.:—

(1) District "F." From a point designated on the plans of the said Commissioners at or near the City of Winnipeg, to a point known as Peninsula Crossing, near the junction point of the Port William branch of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, a distance of about [illegible] miles.

(2) District "B." From a point designated on the plans of the said Commissioners, at the north end of the Quebec bridge and Railway Company's bridge in the vicinity of the City of Quebec, to a point near La Tuque, a distance of about 150 miles.

(3) A steel viaduct about 3,000 feet long across the Cap Rouge Valley, in said District "B," in the vicinity of the City of Quebec, the work to be performed in accordance with the General Specifications of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway, and the General Specifications for steel bridges and viaducts of the Department of Railways and Canals of Canada, 1905.

Plans, profiles and specifications may be seen in the office of the Chief Engineer of the Commissioners at Ottawa, also in the office of the District Engineer at Kenora, Ontario, for the section of District "F," and for the section of District "B" in the office of the District Engineer at Quebec.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made in duplicate, and on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners.

Separate tenders must be submitted for the work in each District.

Tenderers shall not be in any way entitled to rely upon the classification or any other information given by any person on behalf of the Commissioners, and before submitting any tender, bidders should make a careful examination of the plans, profiles, drawings and specifications, and read the forms to be executed, and fully inform themselves as to the quantity and quality of materials and character of workmanship required; and are understood to accept and agree to be bound by the terms and conditions contained in the form of contract, specifications, etc., annexed to the form of tender.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank of the Dominion of Canada, payable to the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway for the sum of four hundred thousand dollars ($400,000), for District "F," and two hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars ($225,000), for District "B," and thirty-five thousand dollars ($35,000) for steel viaduct in said District "B." Any person whose tender is accepted shall within ten days after the acceptance thereof furnish the security required by the Commissioners for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms, sign the contract, specifications and other documents required to be signed by said Commissioners; and in any case of refusal or failure on the part of the party whose tender is accepted to complete and execute a contract with the said Commissioners and to furnish the approved security within ten days after the acceptance of the tender, the said cheque shall be forfeited to the Commissioners as liquidated damages for such refusal or failure, and all contract rights acquired by the acceptance of the tender shall be forfeited. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

"All mechanics, labourers or other persons who perform labour for the purposes of the construction of the works hereby contracted for shall be paid such wages as are generally accepted as current for competent workmen in the District in which the work is being performed, and, if there is no current rate in such District, then a fair and reasonable rate; and, in the event of a dispute arising as to what is the current or a fair and reasonable rate, it shall be determined by the Commissioners, whose decision shall be final."

"This agreement is subject to the regulations now in force, or which may at any time hereafter be in force during the construction of the works hereby contracted for, made under the authority of the Department of Labour, and which are or shall be applicable to such works."

"The contractor shall in connection with the whole of the said work, as far as practicable use only material, machinery, plant, supplies and rolling stock manufactured or produced in Canada, provided the same can be obtained as cheaply and upon as good terms in Canada as elsewhere, having regard to quality and price."

The contractor shall conform to the Fire Regulations adopted by the Commissioners, and also to the Laws and Regulations respecting fires in the different Provinces wherein the work is being performed.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

By order.

P. B. RYAN, Secretary.

Importance Of Trent Canal

Held By Experts to Be the Cheapest Grain Route on the Continent.

At the Cobourg Town Council meeting Mr. J. A. Culverwell addressed the Council on the advisability of accepting the invitation of Peterboro to join with some forty other deputations to interview the Government at Ottawa to press for the immediate completion of the Trent Valley Canal.

After a discussion the Council appointed the whole Council and Messrs. J. B. McColl, M.P.; E. C. S. Huycke, K.C.; F. M. Field, J. D. Hayden and W. J. Crossen.

Port Hope is also sending a strong deputation, says The Times. Mr. Culverwell said he was not there to advocate any outlet of the canal waterway, but to urge Cobourg to press the Government, along with deputations from the whole of Central Ontario to complete this great work immediately. He had the honor of discovering the Trent Valley Canal some three years ago, and whereas the people then looked upon it as a political football, today this work has been proven before the Royal Transportation Commission to be the cheapest grain route on the continent and the country must now understand its practical utility, both from a local and national standpoint. Mr. Culverwell stated he held letters from the leading transportation experts of the world endorsing his arguments on behalf of the canal.

Of course the depth of this new survey has changed the whole situation. The old lockxill depth of six feet was a farce and is now changed to eight feet four inches on the lockxill, nine and one half feet in canal cuttings and ten and one half feet in lake and river stretches, which gives capacity for a 25,000 bushel barge canal, the total cost probably being about ten million dollars. This will give a cheaper grain route than the one hundred and fifty million dollar Erie Canal (the old plus the enlargement cost). Our canal waterway, too, will open up over one thousand miles of inland shore, and open to this great Central Ontario also the vast timber limits of Georgian Bay, and besides will be the greatest regulator for railway freight.

DIED IN WINNIPEG

Mr. W. G. MacFarlane, Formerly of This City Passes Away.

The condolences of his many friends were yesterday offered to Mr. Andrew MacFarlane, of Homewood avenue, who in the morning, was the sad recipient of news of a most heartbreaking nature. The telegram conveyed the sad intelligence of the death of his son, Mr. W. G. MacFarlane, who passed away yesterday at his home in Winnipeg. Mr. MacFarlane was 34 years of age, and had been a resident of Winnipeg for the past eighteen years. He was born in Peterboro, and educated here. He was vice-president and manager of the Canadian Marshall-Wells Company, of Winnipeg. He had been in poor health for some time. Last summer he visited his parents here at that time.

Mr. MacFarlane's mother, Mrs. Andrew MacFarlane, has been with her son in Winnipeg for the past six months. Mr. MacFarlane left for Winnipeg, on receipt on his terrible news.

Besides his parents, deceased is survived by his wife and one daughter. Three brothers and three sisters also survive him. The brothers are, Charles of Port Arthur, Ernest of Winnipeg and Bruce of Peterboro, Mrs. W. D. Wilgar, Toronto; Mrs. W. R. McCuish, of Port Arthur and Miss Winifred MacFarlane of Peterboro, are the sisters.

The late Mr. MacFarlane, had many friends in Peterboro, to whom his death will come as a great shock.

The funeral will take place in Winnipeg.

A MILITARY CAMP

Prominent Officers Inspect This City Relative to Possible Training Camp

Peterboro yesterday was pretty thoroughly surveyed by prominent military officers, accompanied by Lt.-Col. Miller, with a view to its possible selection for location of a military training camp. The officers here are, Lt.-Col. D. Douglas Young assistant district officer commanding, Kingston, and Lt.-Col. G. St. C. Perrin of Kingston.

Major (Dr.) Young of the 25th field battery also accompanied the visitors on their tour of inspection.

At present the training camp for military district No. 3 is located in Kingston.

Dissatisfaction has been expressed for some time with the Kingston camp where there is no rifle range.

It has been decided to abandon the Kingston camp, and it is understood that Peterboro, owing to excellent facilities, is looked upon as a favorable site for the camp. Lt.-Cols. Young, Perrin and Miller inspected a site near Nassau yesterday afternoon.

If Peterboro is successful in securing the camp it will mean that between 4,000 and 5,000 men will spend two weeks in camp here every summer. It will be a training camp for infantry, cavalry and artillery. Peterboro has an excellent rifle range and it is said this will have considerable weight in favor of this city.

TOUCHED FOR $183 (?)

Louis Miller an Expelled Citizen of Russia Regrets Visit to Local Opera House.

Yesterday morning, Mr. B. Lastar, a local merchant called at the police station relative to the loss by a friend of his, Mr. Louis Miller, 213 Charlotte street, of $183, in green backs.

The story of Mr. Miller's loss is that on Monday evening, with three children who are friends of his, he decided to take in the play at the Grand Opera House. Mr. Miller related his unlucky adventure to a Times representative, saying that after he had decided to take the children to the "Fatal Wedding" melodrama, he entered the main entrance, and stepping up to the ticket office pulled out his bank book, which contained $184 in bills. He took out a $1 bill and put the rest of the money back in the pocket inside of his coat. He asked for four twenty-five cent tickets and was informed at the office that the twenty-five cent tickets, the price for admission to the "gods," were only sold at the ticket office on the first flight of stairs. He then went up there and bought the tickets, thinking no more about his money until the show was over. Coming down the steps he felt for his bank book, and it was gone. He does not know when or how he lost it, and cannot say whether he was robbed or if the money fell out of his pocket. At any rate it is missing. Several persons bumped up against him in the crush, but he did not feel any particular jolt. He drew the money from the bank yesterday and intended to use it to buy a business.

Mr. Lastar, whilst in the police station retold the story to Acting Chief Adams. Mr. Lastar informed P.C. Adams and Times man, that the reason Miller had this money in his pocket, was that he had only drawn it out of the bank that afternoon, intending to leave yesterday morning for Toronto, where he purposed buying a horse and cart, and going into the peddling business in that city. The money consisted of four $20, ten $10 and three $1 bills. Mr. Lastar considered that the local police should notify the Belleville police, as the "Fatal Marriage" combination showed there last night, to be on the look-out for persons changing $20 bills. Mr. Lastar, thought that very likely, some hangers-on of the show troupe, may have seen Mr. Miller flash his roll, and following him up to the gallery, when a suitable chance presented itself, steal the money. The police, however, do not take much stock in Mr. Lastar's theory considering rather, that as Mr. Miller tried to replace the bank book and bills back into his inside coat pocket, he made a misjudgment, and instead of shoving it into his pocket let it slip down between the inside of his coat and his vest. This theory of the police is somewhat substantiated by Mr. Lastar's explanation, that several times on the way to the gallery, Mr Miller placed his hand, outside his coat, to feel that his goods were safe; this would have a tendency to hold the bank book in place until he arrived at his seat.

Mr. Lastar explained that Mr. Miller, who was expelled from Russia, has only been in this country about four months, during which time his work has only been spasmotic. Thus most of the money lost is that from the land of the great white Czar.

Dog Lost and Found.

Yesterday, Messrs. McCallum Bros., the Water street liverymen, were much exercised over the disappearance of a handsome greyhound belonging to them. The dog left the barns about eight a.m., and after the city had been searched for this animal it turned up safe and sound about 3 p.m., having followed a conveyance hired to a customer yesterday morning. The dog had followed the rig many miles into the country and then returned with it in the evening.

Mr. W. C. Harrison Improved.

Mr. W. C. Harrison, a Norwood saw mill owner, and brother of Mr. Robt. Harrison of this city, who has been confined in the Nicholls Hospital for a long time, has been discharged as cured. Some weeks ago a piece of sawdust, thrown from a swiftly moving saw flew into his eye and Mr. Harrison was seriously threatened with loss of sight in that eye.

ANOTHER FACTORY

Good Roads Machinery Co. of New York State May Locate Here.

There is more than a probability that Peterboro's fast growing family of industries may, in the near future, be augmented by still another arrival.

Mr. John Robinson, representing the Good Roads Machinery Co., of Marathon, N.Y., and connected with their Canadian agency at Hamilton, is here in connection with the portable stone crusher which the city council has authorized the Board of Works Committee to secure tenders for.

Mr. Robinson, who is a guest at the Snowden House, says that he had already seen Ald. Hicks, chairman of the Board of Works, and that he had put in a tender for his company. Mr. Robinson also said that he was trying to arrange for a meeting with the Manufacturers' Committee. His company is very anxious to establish a factory in Canada, and Mr. Robinson says that before long he fully expects that there will be a good roads machinery factory in Canada, making not only road machinery, but also the steel work for bridges.

The Climax Company at Marathon N.Y., is a big concern, and they turn out machinery of the very latest type.

SYMONS ARRESTED

Man Arrested in Belleville for Exposing Obscene Pictures.

The Belleville Intelligencer says: A man named Harry Symons, who has been for some time employed with an up-town hotel, was arrested this morning on a serious charge, which is laid under the criminal code and charges that the accused did wilfully expose to view pictures of an obscene character. A warrant for the arrest of the accused was sworn out and placed in the hands of a police officer, who executed it. Symons will appear before the magistrate tomorrow morning. The charge is an exceptionally rare one in this section of the community, this being the first arrest ever made here for the offence charged. Symons has not been in the city for any length of time.

His Dream Came True.

Rochester, N.Y., February 21.—James Brothers, of Fairport, was struck by the Fast Mail train at the New York Central station at Lyons yesterday and instantly killed. Just before his death he had told a friend that his dead brother had appeared to him in a dream the night before and said—"I have come to you." He told several persons of the dream, saying that it worried him.

MR. A. M'DONALD DYING

Operation Performed Yesterday For Appendicitis.

As noted in former issues of The Times, Mr. A. McDonald, the well-known and universally respected proprietor of the large mills at Point St. Charles, has for the past few days been seriously ill with appendicitis.

Mr. McDonald's condition had become so serious it was found advisable to remove him to St. Joseph's hospital.

An operation was performed yesterday afternoon by local physicians, and although the operation, from a surgical point of view was very successful, we regret to say that Mr. McDonald's condition late last night was extremely precarious. In fact The Times was very much concerned to learn from Mr. McDonald's attending physician, that it was altogether improbable that he would survive the night. It seems that Mr. McDonald's general state of health and general physique was far from robust, in fact he is so run down in health that the operation, whilst necessary as a chance to save him, was a desperate risk. We trust however to learn later this morning, that this good citizen has rallied, and that his recovery will be attained.

LATER.

We sincerely regret to say that before going to press this morning the sad intelligence was conveyed to us that Mr. McDonald passed away last night in the hospital. Mr. McDonald, who was married and has a family was a good husband, a good father and a good citizen. His death will create a void in Peterborg's citizenship hard to fill.

A CONVICT WRITES

Samuel Wynn Wants Information About His Wife and Family.

Acting Chief of Police Adams has a letter signed by Rev. Canon Cooke, Chaplain of the Kingston Penitentiary, asking information concerning the whereabouts of the wife and family of a convict there by name Samuel Wynn. The letter says in part:

Portsmouth, Kingston.

The wife and family of a convict here lives or did live in your town. He has not heard from or of them for some time. He sent a letter addressed to Peterboro last November, but it was returned to him from the Dead Letter Office. He is very much distressed. His name is Samuel Wynn * * * News of them would give the poor fellow much relief, and oblige.

Acting Chief Adams yesterday located the family and sent the asked for information to the Penitentiary Chaplain.

It will be remembered that Wynn was sent from here to the penitentiary some time ago, for a term of five years for stealing a horse.

Bandits Attack Mexicans.

El Paso, Texas, February 21.—Wm. Smith and seven Mexicans, on the way to Dolores Mine, with money, on Saturday, were attacked by four robbers near Tomas, Mexico. A bloody battle was fought. Two men of Smith's party were killed, and Smith fell mortally wounded. The robbers failed to secure the money from the Mexican party. Two Americans have been arrested on suspicion, and a posse is looking for the bandits.

THE TRENT VALLEY CANAL AND MR. R. B. ROGERS

Never, of late years, has any political move received more universal condemnation by decent adherents of the two great opposing political parties of this country, irrespective of party politics, than the threatened dismissal of Mr. R. B. Rogers, Superintending Engineer of the Trent Valley Canal.

The general sentiment is, and in our opinion rightly, that this threatened official decapitation of a man who has given the best years of his life towards faithful, honest and intelligent management of a great Government work, that his resignation would not be demanded for inefficiency, misconduct, or badly done work, but simply as a result of misrepresentation and wire pulling of a clique for personal ends.

It is patent to the most superficial observer that, during the quarter of a century Mr. Rogers was practically in absolute control of this great undertaking, and had the purchasing of the supplies used thereon, he had countless opportunities for graft, had he been of the grafter class. It is not too much to say that, had Mr. Rogers not been a man of sterling integrity and above all possibility of approach for improper proposals, he would today be a rich man. There is yet to be shown the first hint of anything crooked in his dealings with the canal's affairs.

The whole evidence in the recent investigation does not show one real fact condemnatory of either Mr. Rogers' honesty or ability.

The fact that a leak occurred in the canal has yet to be traced to any fault of Mr. Rogers. On the great Erie Canal breaks like the recent one here, and worse, are matters of comparatively frequent occurrence; yet even in that country of political position grabs, we do not see the resignation of the chief engineer asked for. In this matter of Mr. Rogers' threatened dismissal, even many local adherents of the party now in power at Ottawa openly admit that this is a bold attempt to create positions for hungry office seekers.

Should such an act be perpetrated it will prove a boomerang that may have a tendency, as far as this part of the country is concerned, to make many friends for the Conservative party. This is not in the interests of the great Liberal party of Canada.

A DOURO BRIDE

Miss Bridget Condon Becomes the Bride of Mr. Michael Walsh.

At St. Joseph's church, Douro, with Rev. Father Kelly officiating, yesterday morning one of the prettiest weddings held in many a day, was celebrated.

There was a large assemblage of friends of the high contracting parties present.

The bride was Miss Bridget Condon, daughter of Mr. John B. Condon, and the groom was Mr. Michael Walsh, a member of the township council. The bride, who was gowned in a handsome costume of olive grey with a fawn coat, and white hat, was assisted by Miss Loretta Mahoney of Douro, who wore a light grey dress, fawn coat and white hat. Mr. Frank Walsh of Asphodel, supported the groom.

After the ceremony the happy bride and groom adjourned to the home of the bride's father, where hearty congratulations were offered the happy couple.

At noon an excellent wedding dinner was served, and on its completion the bride and groom left for the home of the latter, where they will live in future.

Mr. and Mrs. Walsh are both very popular throughout the whole district. Many very handsome and valuable gifts were received by the bride.

OFFICERS INSTALLED

Local Elks Hold Meeting Terminating in Banquet.

Last night the local lodge of Elks met in Forresters' Hall, Simcoe St., and held a most interesting meeting.

The principal business of the evening, the installation of officers for the ensuing term, was accomplished most successfully under the presiding officers of the lodge.

After the business of the evening was terminated, those present, to the number of about 35 adjourned to the spacious dining room. Across this large chamber a long table, tastefully draped and glittering with glass and silver, was spread. Mr. W. McCallum, the expert George street caterer, had charge of this branch of the evening's proceedings, and needless to say, performed his duties in a most acceptable manner. A good menu, served in highest style, and containing toothsome delicacies was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. The banquet was enlivened by impromptu speeches, songs and general pleasantries.

Saskatoon Wants Capital Site.

Winnipeg, Man., February 21.—Mr. Sutherland, M.L.A., for Saskatoon, in the Saskatoon Legislature, is here and says in regard to the capital site question in the new provinces, the people of Saskatoon consider the matter from the point of view of convenience to the province as a whole against the claims of any one town. Saskatoon is central, and will be connected with every portion of the province by railways under construction or that will be constructed in the near future.

POLICE COURT NEWS

Last night two visitors from Montreal, were guests at the Hotel des Cops. They were not prisoners but, as above noted, "self-invited guests." The two weary wayfarers, arriving here without the funds to secure accommodation in a regular hotel were Michael Dowd, on his way to James Ray to take a job, and Jas. Currier, who wants work here. Both hailed from Montreal, and are respectable looking men.

Crisis Reached in The Morocco Case

France's Offer Rejected and She Appeals to the World, Ending Private Negotiations---War Rumors to Spread.

Paris Feb. 21.—Germany's rejection of France's proposal at Algeciras, that the proposed Moroccan police system shall be French and Spanish has given renewed gravity to the Franco-German situation. It is officially announced that Germany's action leaves France no course but to terminate the private negotiations and appeal to the judgment of the world before the open conference.

SUSPENDS MEETINGS.

This decision suspends the meetings between M. Revoil, head of the French mission at Algeciras, and Herr Von Radowitz, chief of the German delegation, at which they have been seeking to find an accord. The deadlock which ensues promises to result in an open rupture at Algeciras, in which each side maintains the positions which it took up before the open conference.

The sentiment in official circles is that Germany's reply tends to destroy the usefulness of the conference by making an agreement impossible.

WAR RUMORS AGAIN.

Reports are in circulation to the effect that France intends to withdraw from the conference, but they are not confirmed.

It is expected that the strained situation will have the effect of renewing the alarmists' war reports, and of arousing public apprehension.

OBITUARY

Death of Mr. Thos. Fair 432 Rogers Street.

Yesterday morning, at 432 Rogers street, east ward, there passed away in the person of Mr. Thomas Fair, one of Peterboro's oldest residents. The late Mr. Fair was 57 years of age, and had only been confined to his bed for about two weeks.

Deceased was born in Douro, but moved to the city when comparatively young.

He is survived by a wife and three daughters, all of whom are residents of Peterboro. Three sisters, also survive one in Peterboro, one at Niagara and the other at Cobourg.

The late Mr. Fair was employed with Adam Hall for about sixteen years but of late had been working for the Dickson Company.

The funeral will take place on Thursday at two o'clock from his late residence to Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. J. G. Potter, of St. Andrew's church, which Mr. Fair attended, will officiate.

Mr. Macmaster's Prediction.

London, February 21.—Mr. Donald Macmaster has visited four of the Conservative clubs in the Lehigh district of Lancashire, and thanked the workers for their services during the election. One of the best auguries for the future success of the Unionist party, said Mr. Macmaster, was that Balfour and Chamberlain had come to an absolute agreement, on which the battles of the party would be fought. Mr. Macmaster contended that when the country had an opportunity of seeing in how little the present Government carried out its election promises, it would see that the true interests of the laborer lay with the Unionist party.

MR. BEAL RINGED

P. P. of Lansdowne Lodge S. O. E. Who is Retiring, Honored.

A pleasing function, in connection with the last regular meeting of Lansdowne Lodge, No. 25, Sons of England, was the presentation of a valuable ring to Mr. Harry Beal, the retiring past president of this lodge.

Mr. King Smith made the presentation and congratulated Past President Beal on his good record.

On the outside of the ring is engraved S.O.E. and on the inside "Presented to Bro. H. Beal, Past President 1905-06, by S.O.E. Lodge No. 25, Peterboro."

Mr. Beal has held office in the Sons of England Lodge for fourteen years, and has been awarded the long service jewel.

Mr. Beal responded in feeling and appropriate terms for the kind recognition of his services.

WHAT MANNER OF WOMAN IS THIS?

Eva Fay Creates Sensation at Grand Opera House Last Night--Remarkable Worker of Strange People Has Set All Peterboro Agog.

There are mysteries and mysteries. Some of them are capable of solution, while others baffle the minds of many. The Fays certainly are presenting an entertainment all this week at the Grand Opera House, which is fascinating, intensely interesting and bewildering. It is indeed a riddle or riddles; an enigma of enigmas.

Never in the history of local amusements has an attraction been presented which has proven more exciting, interestingly weird, as the entertainment offered by the Faya Perchance Mrs. Fay's work is akin to the seeresses "Delphi" of old, for in the far-away Greece and Rome, two thousand years ago, the wise folk of that ancient time were wont to consult a prophetess or oracle whenever any of the events of life were in a perplexing tangle, when they had ships to send off on a voyage, or business or love affairs were intricate and needed untangling.

A peculiarity concerning the oracle Delphi, too, was that her answers to questions put her always equivocating in a way, so that which ever way the prophesy turned out the seeress could hedge herself behind the peculiar phrase of her reply.

Mrs. Fay on the contrary, is direct and to the point, and tells her questions plainly what they are anxious to know.

MRS EVA FAY.

The Fays have created an unparalled sensation here, and to say that they have stirred Peterboro from center to circumference is not to exaggerate. That they will have packed houses nightly goes without saying.

The Fays are ably assisted by a clever company of vaudeville artists and Mr. Fay certainly had an eye to the artistic when he selected his company. Rostow the equilibrist, is a marvel, and the electrical display at the conclusion of his act makes a decided hit. The Rappo sisters presenting their Siberian, Circassian, Cossack and Russian dances, are indeed a most novel and entertaining act. Phil. Staats is a clever monologist and eccentric piano player, but of course it is the Faya who are the chief interest.

Died While Watching a Play.

Montreal, February 21.—Isaac Levy, 46 years of age, a former Montreal merchant, met death under sudden and peculiar circumstances in the Gotham Theatre, Harlem, New York. He was attending a performance by a burlesque company, and apparently enjoying the production, as he laughed heartily. He was in the standing room with William Wolf, and suddenly Wolf felt his companion fall heavily against him, and slip limply to the ground. He called a surgeon, who pronounced the man dead from heart failure.

WHY SO WEARY ?

Always Restless and Weak Is t Natural—But It s Dangerous

You have to work hard. This uses up lots of nerve force and tears down the body faster than it can build up.

The result is a half-dead feeling you can't shake off. Somehow you must get more vitality. The water in your blood must be turned into nutriment and building material.

This is just what happens in using Ferrozone, which renews the blood and nerves, and makes each organ do the work that nature expects of it.

Ferrozone quickly increases your weight, brings appetite and healthy color, instills a reserve of vigor into the system that defies weariness, exhaustion, debility, or sickness of any kind.

Ferrozone quickly increases your weight, brings appetite and healthy color, instills a reserve of vigor into the system that defies weariness, exhaustion, debility, or sickness of any kind.

The enormous strengthening power of Ferrozone is proved in the case of Mrs. Edward Hill, of Orr Lake, Ont., who says:

"Two years ago I had a nervous breakdown. At night I tossed restlessly in bed, unable to get any rest from sleep. In the morning I suffered from over-powering weakness. My appetite was poor. I grew pale, thin and despondent. A slight backing cough also added to my burden.

"My doctor said to try Ferrozone, and it did me good in a few days. I increased in strength, the nervous sensations disappeared, and with my appetite came back my color and good spirits. I have gained over ten pounds in weight, and as my age is 56, I consider Ferrozone is a marvel." (Signed) Mrs. Edward Hill.

REMEMBER THIS: Ferrozone is a true tonic—not an alcoholic stimulant. Fifty chocolate-coated tablets in a box for fifty cents, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

PETERBORO, FEBRUARY 20 1906

FRANCE'S READINESS FOR WAR

With the Moroccan problem still unsolved, the question is being frequently asked in the European press whether France is better prepared for war now than she was in 1870. The man who, in the event of war would be intrusted with the destinies of France is General Brugere. He is not unknown to Americans, having been at the head of the French delegation which came to the United States to represent France at the dedication of the monument to Rochambeau. He is a fighter and a worker, a brave, sincere, liberal minded soldier. To say that he is a military genius of the calibre of Moltke would be an exaggeration, but that is no reason why France should not feel herself safe with him at the head of her army, for soldiers like Moltke only make their appearance at long intervals. After General Brugere come General Hargon; General Duchesne, who was in command of the expedition which subjugated Madagascar; General Dessirier, the present Governor of Paris; General Dodds, whose work in several campaigns marked him as a soldier to be counted upon; Generals Metzinger and Voyron, who commanded in the Madagascar expedition under General Duchesne and General Donop. These men, together with General Pendezec, Chief of the General Staff, would be in command of the various armies of France. Like all army officers throughout the world, except those who participated in the Russo-Japanese war, they are comparatively untried men, so far as the latest developments of military science are concerned. On paper, at a superficial glance, the German army appears to be stronger than that of France. In time of peace Germany's army is about 625,000 men; that of France, on a peace footing, numbers about 580,000 men. But what is more important is that every year in Germany about 300,000 recruits arrive at the age of conscription, whereas in France the number of conscripts annually available is only about 230,000. In time of war the size of the two armies would be limited only by the number of men the country could keep in the field. It is roughly computed that Germany could call on 5,000,000 trained men and France about 3,500,000.

THE NEW COMMANDMENT

The denunciatory admonitions of eminent Catholic priests illustrate the manner in which union labor has alienated the sympathy of the public in recent years. The Catholic clergy are noted for their sympathy for the poor, and probably a majority of union workers who belong to any church are included in their flocks; but the good priests have never hesitated to rebuke union men when they deserve it, or to criticise some of the false principles of unionism.

When Archbishop Ireland, of the United States, made his famous pronouncement, "The right to work is as sacred as the right to strike," he struck a mighty blow at the intolerance and intimidation of union labor towards non-union workers. And now comes Archbishop Keane, of Dubuque, Ia., last Sunday, denouncing as a "school of thievery" the principle of unionism which demands as high wages for the incompetent workman as are paid to the skilled workers. He declared that this practice, together with the agitation for shorter hours, resulted in forcing employers to pay poor laborers more than they earn, and in teaching the workers to do as little work as possible.

Perhaps more striking still was the sermon of the Rev. Thomas Fagan, of the Redemptorist Fathers' church in Kansas City, last Sunday. In denouncing the intolerant methods of union men who refuse to allow non-union men to work alongside them, and the apprentice system by which union labor restricts the opportunities for work, the reverend father said:

The trusts and corporations of the United States today are ravenous vultures, sucking the very life blood out of the laboring element, but on the other hand the greatest enemy of the laboring man is the union, when it in turn takes the sustenance out of the mouth of its own kind who refuse or are unable to join its ranks. The right to work is a divine right, and anyone who in any manner interferes with this right encroaches on the ten commandments. The divine right to labor is interfered with when men organize for their own benefit to the detriment of others engaged in the same labor or trade. When they go so far that they will allow only a certain number of men to work in order to raise wages, and, that this wage may not be lessened, restrict the number of apprentices, they do an injustice to their fellow men greater than is done by the corporation, who does not restrict the number of employed, but the amount of wage. The laborer is worthy of his hire, and no fair-minded person objects to a man acquiring as much financially as possible, but when he does it to the detriment of others, by shutting off the avenues of employment to his fellow men, he is then creating a new and pernicious commandment, "Thou shalt not labor."

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on a senile variocele. At first I could hardly tell the trouble would become severe and I was often ill in bed for a week at a time. My family physician did me an operation which only made matters worse, but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but none could do all they wanted with me. Finally I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boy asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy and Kergan, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skilful. He wrote them and got the same kind letter for me. My symptoms were described and I followed month's treatment. I was cured and discharged. However, continued treatment for a time to be on the safe side. I am rewarded with a complete cure. I can gladly earn $3 a day in a machine shop before treatment. Now I earn $4 and never lose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment."

Wordsworth's "Joke."

A rare old book, called "The Living Authors of England," published in 1849, commences with a study of Wordsworth, in which is recorded what is said to be the only joke the poet ever made. At a friend's house after dinner, it appears, the conversation turned upon wit and humor. Thomas Moore, who was present, told some anecdotes of Sheridan, whereupon Wordsworth observed that he did not consider himself a witty poet. "Indeed," he said, "I do not think I was ever witty but once in my life."

Being pressed to tell the company what this special drollery was, the poet said, with some hesitation: "Well, I will tell you. I was standing some time ago at the entrance of my cottage at Rydal Mount when a man accosted me with the question, 'Pray, sir, have you seen my wife pass by?' whereupon I answered, 'Why, my good friend, I didn't know till this moment that you had a wife!'"

The company stared and upon realising that this was all there was to the poet's joke burst into a roar of laughter, which Wordsworth smilingly accepted as a genuine compliment to the brilliancy of his wit.

He Had References.

In her book "A Southern Girl In '61" Mrs. D. Giraud Wright tells a capital story about General John C. Breckinridge of Kentucky. He was invited by a certain lady of rank in London to luncheon. The lady had just advertised for a footman. Mistaking the hour, General Breckinridge reached the house before the appointed time and by some accident was ushered into Lady Blank's presence without being announced. The day was in June. Owing to the heat the blinds were drawn, letting in subdued light. Lady Blank, glancing at the advancing figure, to the astonishment of the visitor, greeted him thus: "Have you a reference from your last place?" The general took in the situation instantly and, with a twinkle in his eye, unobserved by the hostess, answered respectfully, "Yes, my lady." "What were your duties?" was the next query. "Well, my lady, in the last three places I held I was vice president of the United States, major general in the Confederate army and secretary of war of the Confederate States of America."

When Lincoln Had Few Friends.

In 1864 Lincoln was of all men the least commended by the Republicans in congress. On one occasion an editor visiting Washington asked Senator Thaddeus Stevens to introduce him to some members of congress who were favorable to Lincoln's re-election. Stevens led him to the desk of Mr. Arnold of Illinois. "There," said he, "is the only Lincoln member of congress that I know!" Stevens himself regarded Lincoln as incompetent and weak. Henry Wilson (afterward vice president) spoke of him as politically a failure. Greeley had a low opinion of his ability. His personal friends, such as Washburn, Raymond and Thurlow Weed, believed his re-election an impossibility. Even Lincoln himself at one time doubted it.—H. T. Peck in Bookman.

The Lord's Prayer.

The question having arisen as to whether the English version of the Lord's Prayer is a true reproduction of the original as found in Matthew, a native Greek scholar proceeds to answer it. He deals with the petitions in order, translates each word with all the shades of meaning of the original and then presents the whole in this form:

"Our Father which art in heaven, hallowed be thy name—thy dominion come—thy (fixed) purpose be done, as in heaven, so, too, on earth. Give us this day our mere (or simple) bread and forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors theirs, and let us not fall into a tempter's snare, but deliver us from the evil one."

Very Lively.

A London paper relates that a crowd of sightseers scurrying across the road from the Strand caused a partial block in the traffic. The lagging of a particularly pompous old gentleman roused the ire of a hold up cabby. "Now, then, hurry up there, can't yer?" he shouted.

"Am I not hurrying, cabman?" was the mild expostulation.

"'Urryin'?" snorted cabby, with a flick of his whip. "You're a-jumpin' about like a bit o' stickin' plaster!"

A Diplomatic Answer.

Admiral Drake when a lad at the beginning of his first engagement was observed to shake and tremble very much and, being rallied upon it, observed with a presence of mind, or, at all events, of humor, in which even Nelson was lacking, "My flesh trembles at the anticipation of the many and great dangers into which my resolute and undaunted head will lead me."

First Treaty of Portsmouth.

The first treaty of Portsmouth, N. H., was signed July 11, 1713, the contracting parties being belligerent Indians and the whites. The news of the treaty of Utrecht, which ended Queen Anne's war, reached the city Oct. 20, 1712. The Indians desired a treaty, and it was formally signed on the above date.

Learning a Lesson.

Judge—You are charged with assault and battery. What have you to say? Prisoner—Not a word, yeroner. It was sayin' too much got me into this scrape.

Quite a Feat.

Judge—Who bit your ear off? Mrs. Black (wishing to protect her husband)—I—I did it mahself.

Delaware's Hundreds.

In the days when the Saxons dominated England prior to the coming of William of Normandy the people were formed into divisions of hundreds. This was done mainly for military purposes and the convenience of assembly upon the summons of the powerful earls and barons to whom the people owed allegiance. These hundreds usually consisted of ten families, each family being computed at a minimum of ten persons. In time the families increased in membership, but did not lose their individual identity or change the designation of organization. In the natural order of events these hundreds expanded into communities and ultimately into geographical divisions and took on geographical designations. Some of the American colonists adopted this form of geographical division, and thus we still have hundreds in Delaware and Virginia, although in the latter state that form of designation is but seldom used. But in Delaware hundred is universally used to describe the divisions of a county and is equivalent to the township in other states.

The Last Long Sleep.

Familiarity with death is apt to alter one's earliest conceptions of it. Two ideas are very generally accepted which experience shows to be false. One is that the dying usually fear death and the other that the act of dying is accompanied by pain. It is well known to all physicians that when death is near its terrors do not seem to be felt by the patient. Unless the imagination is stimulated by the frightful portrayal of the supposed "pangs of death" or of the sufferings which some believe the soul must endure after dissolution it is rare indeed that the last days or hours of life are passed in dread.

Most sick persons are very, very tired. Sleep—long, quiet sleep—is what they want. I have seen many people die. I have never seen one who seemed to fear death, except when it was or seemed to be rather far away. Even those who are constantly haunted while strong and well with a dread of the end of life forget their fear when that end is at hand.

Sincere by Nature.

The physician has methods by which he determines whether or not a patient is shamming. Other people have different methods, which may sometimes be as successful as the doctor's.

"Do you believe that was a real faint of Sally Ann's, or do you think she just shammed so's to look interesting to Willy Lane and make him offer to take her home in his buggy?" asked one of the participants in a recent picnic.

"It wa'n't any sham on Sally Ann's part," said Mrs. Ricketts, to whom the appeal was made. "I should think when you know Sally Ann wears sixes and that she lay there with her feet sticking right straight up for everybody to see for nearly fifteen minutes you'd realize that 'twasn't any make believe faint."

A Wonderful Bed.

A very costly bed was built in Bombay for a native ruler some years ago. At the four corners were full sized figures of Grecian maidens, the ones at the top holding stringed instruments, while those at the foot bore in their hands huge fans. Extending the full length of the bed was a music box capable of playing for half an hour before the repertory of tune was exhausted. The weight of the body set this music box in motion, while at the same time the figures at the head of the bed fingered the strings of their instruments, while those at the foot waved their fans, a concealed motor furnishing the power that kept the fans going all night long.

To the Canadian Investor

OF BULLFROG, NEVADA

The undersigned is pleased to announce to the investors of Canada that he has been appointed Canadian Fiscal Agent of the above company, and is offering a limited amount of treasury stock at 35c. per share for development work. This property is just 1200 feet southwest of the famous Montgomery Shoshone mine and both have unquestionably the same vein. The group shows a well defined vein cropping out through, and it is a perfect fissure. A six inch talc seam on the hanging wall gives high values. We have also several other ledges, and it is only a matter of development work to make this property equal to any producer in the section.

The management of the Montgomery Shoshone conservatively estimates that the mines has produced $200,000 worth of ore. If this is right, the ore from the mines has averaged about $975 a ton, or about $120 for every foot of sinking, the mines being 4 x 7 in clear.

Ore from the mines running less than $200 is thrown over the dump as milling ore. No less than 150 tons of ore has been shipped from this mine, all of it coming from the mines. Another shipment of 60 tons or more will be made via Las Vegas in a few days.

The figures given above are startling in the extreme, but the measurements and ore values as quoted are official—direct from the management of the wonderful mine that is today astonishing the world.

This property is only 1200 feet from the Dores Montgomery Mine.

RELIABLE FISCAL AGENT WANTED

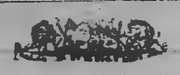
SPLENDID PROPOSITION

Iron Spar Copper Mining Company Has Appointed a Canadian Agent —Only a Limited Number of Shares for Sale.

Among the new mining properties that are attracting attention in the Coeur D'Alene District of Idaho for their encouraging conditions, the Iron Spar Copper property is one of the foremost. A large auriferous copper ledge traverses the property for a distance of 6,000 feet, crossing from Idaho to Montana, over the main range of the Coeur d'Alene Mountains, which form the boundary line between these States. In the matter of transportation facilities the Iron Spar has a great advantage over many other properties, being distant only a mile and a half from the Northern Pacific Railroad, and a half mile from a good wagon road. The property is owned by the Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., and the greatest economy and dispatch is being practised in opening up vein.

Another contract will be let soon to extend the present tunnel another hundred feet on the vein, and a good workable ore is expected within ten days from time work is started. The charactar of the vein and enclosing formation is in all essential particulars similar to that of the Monitor and Richmond on the divide, a few miles to the east. Great depth is possible to be gained on the ledge by driving westward into the main range, which line of policy will be strictly adhered to in the matter of development, to further economize and expedite the work. It is the intention of the company to install a compressor and machine drills early in the spring.

Mr. W. K. Hall, of this city, has secured a block of stock of this splendid proposition, and will dispose of it for a short time at ten cents per share.



SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15 by 1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,

Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

A LARGE CUT

Dickson Company Has Had a Busy Season.

The annual meeting of the Dickson Company was most gratifying to all concerned, and their officers of the past year were unanimously re-elected.

During the past season 17,000,000 feet of logs were cut in the company's limits in Cavandish, Anstruther and Harvey townships. This is about 3,000,000 more feet than was taken out in 1904

The saw mills, both in Peterboro and in Lakefield, have had a busy season. In 1905 no less than 800 cars loads of ties were shipped from Peterboro for the C.P.R. or 12,000 in all.

Railways are seriously considering the advisability of entering into an agreement by which the travelling public will either have to pay for their berths in sleepers by 6 o'clock in the afternoon of the day they purpose taking a sleeper, or forfeit reservations. It is contended that many people make reservations over the wire or at ticket offices for a certain night, and under the present arrangements such berths are held until the trains start out, but these people do not inform the companies of their change of plans, but keep the berths reserved until the train leaves. Then the berths are empty and the companies are minus the money they should bring.

It is further claimed that sleepers are run at great cost and that even though berths are sold to persons who happen to be on a train looking for a berth after it has started, yet the inconvenience to the roads and to the travelling public is so great that a reform ought to be introduced. If people notified agents of railroads when they decide not to use berths reserved for them, then they would be sold to others who are anxious to get them, but now persons allow berths to be held up to the last moment just as though they were paid for. This is said to cause trouble and loss which must soon be remedied. It is considered that most persons know by 6 o'clock in the evening whether or not they are going to use reserved berths on the same night, and if they are not absolutely engaged by that hour companies should have the alternative of selling them to those who would use them. Vacant berths return no revenue, and it was stated by a passenger official yesterday that people in Montreal have been known to verbally engage berths on both C. P. R. and G. T. R. trains to Toronto during the day, and then use only one berth or perhaps neither at night, leaving the companies in uncertainty. An expression of public opinion on this matter would not be ignored by railroads.

Bethany Tabernacle Services.

Rev. C. L. Wickware, from the Congo, Africa, and Dr. Wilson, from New York City, gave the closing addresses of the convention last night in Bethany Tabernacle. Dr. Wilson's address was listened to with eager interest, was of the most helpful character. Dr. Wilson and Mr. Stephens will leave for Ottawa this morning.

Yesterday Ald. Jas. Graham, the well-known local contractor began work on the splendid new meat market to be shortly opened at the corner of George and Brock streets, in the stand lately vacated by Mr. Westlake. Mr. Graham is tearing out the windows and greatly enlarging them. Other important improvements will be inaugurated, which will make this one of the most complete places of its kind in Canada.

DEATH OF MRS. WM. FOSTER

Yesterday morning, Mrs. Foster, widow of the late Wm. Foster, aged 81 years passed away at her home, 321 Mark street. Deceased was a native of Ireland, and came to Canada with her mother in 1832, and since her arrival has always lived in Peterboro. Her death was perhaps hastened by the receipt of a telegram a week ago, announcing the death of her only remaining son, John James Foster, who died at Detroit, Mich.

The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2.30 from the residence of her nephew, Mr. T. B. Maddock, 328 Mark street, to Little Lake cemetery, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt will officiate.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription,

Is not a secret or patent medicine, against which the most intelligent people are quite naturally averse because of the uncertainty as to their harmless character, but is a medicine OF KNOWN COMPOSITION, a full list of all its ingredients being printed, in plain English, on every bottle wrapper. An examination of this list of ingredients will disclose the fact that it is non-alcoholic in its composition, chemically pure glycerine taking the place of the commonly used alcohol, in its make-up. The "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Pierce is in fact the only medicine put up for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, sold through druggists, that does not contain alcohol and that too in large quantities. Furthermore, it is the only medicine for woman's special diseases, the ingredients of which have the unanimous endorsement of all the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice, and that too as remedies for the ailments for which "Favorite Prescription" is recommended.

A little book of some of these endorsements will be sent to any address, postpaid, and absolutely free if you request same by postal card or letter, of Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Don't forget that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, for woman's weaknesses and delicate ailments, is not a patent or secret medicine, being the "Favorite Prescription" of a regularly educated and graduated physician, engaged in the practice of his chosen specialty—that of diseases of women—that its ingredients are printed in plain English on every bottle-wrapper; that it is the only medicine especially designed for the cure of woman's diseases that contains no alcohol, and the only one that has a professional endorsement worth more than all the so-called "testimonials" ever published for other medicines. Send for these endorsements as above. They are free for the asking.

If you suffer from periodical, headache, backache, dizziness, pain or dragging down sensation low down in the abdomen, weak back, nervousness and weakling, catarrhal, pelvic drain, or are in distress from being long on your feet, then you may be sure of benefit from taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets the best laxative and regulator of the bowels. They invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. One a laxative; two or three a cathartic.

OLD AGE PENSIONS FOR INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

Dominion Government Will Probably Take Steps to Improve its Railway Properly.

That the Hon. Mr. Emmerson, Minister of Railways and Canals, is the right man for his responsible position is daily being recognized and appreciated by those conversant with the vast concerns so capably managed and adjusted by his master mind.

It is well known in this Dominion that for many years the annual returns from the Intercolonial Railway, which is practically a Government property, and which is entirely controlled by the Department of Railways and Canals, show a seemingly poor showing.

Hon. Mr. Emmerson has decided that not only is this railroad to be placed on a more paying basis but that a most unfair discrimination shown in his returns, when his plans have been put in operation, shall be ended. In lessening the expenses, an important step towards improving the output on the Intercolonial Railway for the same expenditure of wages, is to decrease the number of employees whose advanced years preclude their giving a return in physical toil or mechanical skill equal to that of their prime.

To get rid of these civil servants the Minister will have to choose between two courses. The first is the dismissal of all employees who have passed a given age, but public opinion will lustily revolt against that course. The general sentiment of Canadians is averse to summarily dismissing these men who have given the best years of their lives to the public service, and then cast them aside as an outworn garment.

On the Intercolonial Railway there are over 100 hundred employees who have passed the age limit, many of whom are practically incompetent through the burden of years, to properly fulfil their onerous duties, which involve public safety. Many of these are appointees of the Conservative Government, so that to dismiss such, even though their retention must necessarily prevent proper working of the road, would leave the way open for slurs to be cast at the Minister by their fellow-partizans.

Still something must, in the interests of the road and the public in general, be done and done promptly. The only course open for the Minister to adopt is old age pensions.

Here, however, a great obstacle is met with. The present modus operandi of all Governmental pensions is based upon annual contributions by Civil Servants towards the general pension fund. Employees of the Post Office and Inland Revenue Departments have 2 per cent. of their salaries deducted towards their ultimate superannuation.

Now the I. C. R. has at present no arrangement with the general Government for pensioning off aged employees. There is no doubt but what something must be done to get the places of those unable by the infirmities of age filled with competent men. As noted above, it would be unjust to throw these old men aside. The only option left those controlling such matters is to provide a pension fund to include employees of this Canadian railroad. Again it would be manifestly unfair to pension off the many old employees of the road and pay their superannuation allowances out of a fund, should one such be started, made up by contributions of the younger generation. The axioms of insurance show that such would be unbusinesslike, unfair and untenable.

To provide for a proper working of the I. C. R. it has been suggested and with every symptom of fairness, that for a given term of years the Dominion itself shall start this pension fund and bear the same as a charge upon the general revenues of the country. If the Dominion does not assume this obligation, the establishment and operation of the fund will necessarily be indefinitely postponed. But if the Dominion undertakes to bear the charge of pensioning existing aged employees for a given term of years, it will help thereby to place the I. C. R. upon a solid business basis with a certainty of the railway much more rapidly than otherwise being able to sustain its proportion of the fund ultimately from the revenues of the railway.

A DRAMATIC SUICIDE

Denver Woman Walked Upon Theatre Stage and Shot Herself.

Denver, Colo., Feb. 21.—Leaving her seat in one of the boxes in the Crystal Theater during last evening's performance, Mrs. C. A. Welder made her way to the stage and after flourishing a revolver for a moment in full view of the audience, discharged the weapon at her own person, inflicting a probably fatal wound. Persons in the audience thought that the shooting was part of an act and made no outcry. Screams of the performers in the wings showed that something unusual had occurred. When the woman was carried away unconscious by stage attendants, she still held the weapon and a photograph, said to be that of her young son. Mrs. Welder finally was removed to a hospital, quiet was restored and the performance was resumed.

Relinquishes Command.

Ottawa, Feb. 21.—Lieut.-Col. Roper, whose command of the Governor-General's Foot Guards regiment proved unpopular with the rank and file, last night handed over the stores of the corps to Lieut.-Col. Hodgins, D.O.C. He thus relinquishes the command and will be succeeded by Major H. A. Bate, Lieut.-Col. Roper's retirement (will date a month hence when he will have served sufficient to retain rank.

IN FAVOR OF MR. ROGERS

The Montreal Star's Ottawa correspondent says: Popular opinion is turning in Ottawa in favor of Mr. R. D. Rogers, whose resignation was recently asked for by the Ministry in connection with his work on the Trent Canal, he having been accused of negligence in this connection. It is alleged that Mr. Rogers has not been fairly treated, and the fact that he asked to have an enquiry made with regard to his work is pleaded in his favor.

The enquiry was made by a competent engineer, who was absolutely impartial, but he based his judgment on the evidence of the witnesses who perhaps had more interest at stake than the engineer, who thereby assumed the responsibility.

OF INTEREST TO GALLERY GODS

Mr. Fay Manager of The Fays & Company Cuts Price of Gallery Tickets From Twenty-Five to Fifteen Cents

Mrs. Fay is creating a sensation but the vaudeville is worthy of note for besides the Faye there was perhaps the finest vaudeville program that has ever been offered in Peterboro. Alaba Humeridx, down on the program as a Vogi from India, certainly gives a clever exhibition of cabinet work which not only mystifies and entertains, but provoked round after round of applause, and kept the house in a continual uproar of laughter. It is a good act no matter what may be the nationality of the man with the unpronounceable name.

The Rappo sisters, Russian Cossack dancers, are certainly great. They made the hit of the evening in the vaudeville bill as they well deserved. This act with Sadi Allarani, the world renowned equilibrist, were head liners for several weeks in Hamersteins theatre in New York last season. Rostow exhibits some feats in mind balancing which seem well nigh impossible, and finishes his act on a highly decorated electrical pyramid which forms a most pleasing spectacle, and a novelty in every sense of the word.

Mr. Fay is presenting Orisis a sort of suspension act, which is similar to acts of the character witnessed before, but evidently performed in an entirely different manner, completely puzzles everybody present. He performed this act on a brilliantly lighted stage, and used nothing but stage properties which apparently belonged to the house. Mr. Fay after making a few passes over the form of a prepossessing young miss clothed in a most exquisite Oriental costume, placed her in a seeming hypnotic state has her placed on a couch and with a few waves of his hands over her raises her three or four feet above the stage level, and then passes a solid wooden hoop about her form showing there was no connection or mechanical device supporting her, and then passes the hoop down to the audience for examination. This act perhaps received more rounds of applause than any other act, except, of course, Mrs. Fay in Thaumaturgy. It is a puzzler and apparently a hard problem to solve.

Phil Staats the jolly comedian, who plays the piano, was very clever, and seemed to please the audience, although his stock of jokes were a little bit old, and have been told here many times before.

TORONTO IN 2 HOURS

G. T. R. May Put on a Local Flyer via Port Hope.

There has of late been much talk concerning the advisability of the G.T.R. putting on a daily train which would leave Peterboro each afternoon at four o'clock. The run to Toronto would be made via Port Hope, the entire distance being 101 miles, in two hours or a little more, the same as was made on the special train, for those attending the Mendelssohn concert.

Should the G.T.R. put on this flyer stops would be made only at Millbrook, Port Hope, Bowmanville, and Oshawa, and the distance traversed in two hours and fifteen minutes.

Pale and Anxious

Your Countenance Indicates the Body's Awful Struggle for Health.

Impossible to work or think clearly when there is no reserve of vigor, no nourishment in the blood, no supply of nerve energy.

The life of the half-sick man is pitiful, in fact, almost criminal, when bounding strength is so quickly derived from Ferrozone.

This nutritive tonic is guaranteed to strengthen all men, women and children. Weak organs get new force, vital energy is generated. Muscle and flesh are added, healthy color is restored and the blood fairly tingles with new-found life.

Read the evidence of Jno. Carter, of 514 King St. East, Toronto, who says:

"After a severe attack of Grippe my health was almost shattered. I suffered constantly from nervousness and dyspepsia. At night I would waken with terrible palpitation and heart pains. Work became a great effort. At times in the morning I was so tired and weak I could hardly work another minute.

"Then came a bad attack of rheumatism which laid me up in bed. I could scarcely lift the weight of a pound and to stoop or bend was impossible. My druggist recommended Ferrozone, and he knew what he was talking about, for it rebuilt my strength, gave me abundant appetite, better blood, and new nerve energy. The rheumatism has disappeared. I weigh more, feel refreshed and vigorous, and am able to work ten hours a day. Ferrozone did it all."

You will be steadied, toned and strengthened for all time to come with Ferrozone. Get the genuine in 50c. boxes or six for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., or Kingston, Ont.

ONTARIO AGRICUTTURAL COLLEGE AND EXPERIMENTAL FARM

The College was established in 1874. Its objects were twofold: First, to train young men in the science and art of improved husbandry; and second, to conduct experiments and publish the results. In 1875, the president said in his first report: "It is evident to the most cursory observer that Canada depends, and will be obliged for many years to depend largely, if not exclusively, on her raw produce for her national wealth. And amongst the various forms of raw material, none are so valuable as those included under the heading of Agricultural Produce. To the observant statesman, it is plain that the readiest manner of increasing the national wealth is by increasing the quantity and quality of that produce. But though plainly seen, it is not so easily accomplished. Precedent, prejudice, and general conservatism stand in the way. Throughout the Province there is a powerful minority of intelligent, enterprising and successful farmers pursuing the improved system of cultivation; yet the great majority are depending solely on increased acreage for increased returns."

That was thirty years ago, and the College, facing these conditions, with the opposition of the very class which it was intended—to help, has grown steadily in favor with the people, until now farmers themselves visit the College in June and December to the number of nearly 40,000; and we had last year in attendance at the various College classes 1,204 students. More than 1,200 teachers visited the College and examined the workings of the different departments during the past two years.

In the beginning students were paid to attend the Institution, and there was practically no revenue from the College or farm. In 1905, we turned into the Provincial Treasury as revenue from the College and farm $61,868.30. The work of the different departments is as follows:

(1) Field Agriculture.—Teaching of students and experimenting with field crops is the work of this department. In Mr. Zavitz's report report of last year the following paragraph appears under the head of "Barley": "The results show that the Mandscheuri gave decidedly the greatest yield per acre of the four varieties for the whole period of fifteen years, and also for the last five years. The Mandscheuri gave an average of 9.3 bushels per acre per annum over the Common Six-rowed barley in the average results for fifteen years. The average area devoted to barley in Ontario from 1893 to 1904 is given as 633,390 acres per annum. An increase of nine bushels of barley per acre throughout the Province would, therefore, amount to an increase of over five million bushels of barley in Ontario annually. This increase at fifty cents per bushel would amount to about two and a half million dollars. Two and a half million dollars annually would pay the running expenses of about thirty Agricultural Colleges like the one located at Guelph. The Mandscheuri barley was imported from Russia by the Ontario Agricultural College in the spring of 1889. Not only has it made a very excellent record at the College, but it has given high results in the co-operative experiments throughout Ontario, and has been grown in general cultivation very successfully during the past few years. In looking up the records of the Bureau of Industries, we find that the average yield of barley throughout the Province for the period of ten years from 1895 to 1904, inclusive, is 29.3 bushels per acre; while that for the period of ten years from 1885 to 1894, inclusive, was 24.85 bushels per acre. This shows an annual average increase of about 4 1-2 bushels per acre, for the latter as compared with the former period of ten years. From these results does it not appear as though the introduction of the Mandscheuri barley by the Ontario Agricultural College has been worth to the Province of Ontario within the past ten years an annual money value equal to more than fifteen times the entire cost of the College?" Similar work is being done with wheat, and oast, and peas, and rye, and grasses, and clover, and roots.

(2) Animal Husbandry.—Here students are taught the comparative values of the different breeds of domestic animals, and as it is said that 80 per cent. of all the crops grown on the farms of Ontario is fed to live stock, it will be seen at a glance how important it is to be able to tell a good feeder when one sees it.

(3) Dairying.—The making of better butter and better cheese and the breeding and feeding of better dairy animals. The average cow in Ontario gives less than 3,000 pounds of milk per year. The College, by careful selection and proper feeding, have built up a grade herd which, in 1904, contained sixteen cows which gave more than 6,000 pounds each.

(4) Horticulture.—Here we are somewhat handicapped by severe climatic conditions. Being 940 feet above Lake Ontario, we cannot grow the more delicate fruits. Students are given instruction in the growing of all kinds of fruit, vegetables, and flowers, and experiments are conducted with the small fruits and with clover crops for the orchard.

(5) Bacteriology.—Nitrogen is one of the principal needs of a plant. It is worth, commercially, about 20 cents a pound. The air is 80 per cent. Nitrogen, and yet plants cannot use it in the form in which it appears in the atmosphere. Certain bacteria, if introduced into the soil, will work on the roots of clover and other leguminous plants, take the nitrogen from the atmosphere, and convert it into plant food. Our Bacteriologist propagates in his laboratory and supplies in small bottles millions of these nitrogen forming bacteria, which may spread upon the seed before it is sown, and thus introduce into the soil these nitrate-forming bacteria. A crop of clover will leave in the soil in the roots alone about fifty pounds of nitrogen per acre. Thus the plant food supplied to the soil by a crop of clover is $10 per acre in one year, and the farmer has the clover crop, tops, and leaves to the good. This, if practised on every farm, would mean millions each year to the Province.

(6) Chemistry.—It was said a few years ago that sugar beets could not be grown profitably in this Province. Our Department of Chemistry conducted experiments in the different parts of Ontario and analysed the beets at different stages of growth. It is now known that we can grow as good beets as in any part of the world, and men are putting their money into the building of sugar beet factories. Over 22,000,000 pounds of beet sugar were made in Western Ontario last year. Chemistry did it.

Our Chemistry Department last year analysed flour made from four different grades of wheat grown in the North-West. There was a difference of many cents per bushel in the market value of these wheats, and yet, after analysing the flour and having bread made from each of the different lots, it was found that the fourth grade made bread just as good, just as palatable, just as much bread per bushel of flour, and just as nutritious as the higher grade, but it was not so bright in color. The result of this analysis will enable poor people, or people in moderate circumstances, to get the best bread for their families at very much less than they have been paying.

(7) Physics.—In this department are taught the principles of soil cultivation and soil drainage. All farm crops take their food from the soil in a watery solution. When the land dries up, no more food can be taken; hence the necessity for a knowledge of how to conserve soil moisture. This is one of the most important questions that a farmer has to deal with, and experiments are being conducted in the Department of Physics all the time along these lines.

(8) Botany.—In this department the subjects of weeds and how to destroy them, the question of fungous growth, and when and how to spray to exterminate them, the importance of growing grasses and clovers, and such things are taken up and discussed.

(9) Entomology.—Again, millions of dollars are lost every year by insect depredation. Only by studying the life history and habits of an insect can it be properly combatted. These are taught to the farmer's boys and bulletins are published and sent broadcast to the farmers from our Entomological Department.

(10) Poultry.—Chickens used to sell anywhere on the market from 20 to 30 cents a piece. Today they bring three times that amount, where they have been properly fed, killed and dressed. We have no trouble in disposing of our poultry here at from 12 to 15 cents a pound dressed, and our students are taught how to breed and feed so as to obtain these results. We have four different styles of poultry houses to test the effects of heat and cold on the egg-laying proclivities; hence we find that the coldest, and therefore the cheapest house, is the best, and that fresh air, not warm air, is essential to good egg production.

(11) Macdonald Institute.—Three things are taught: Domestic Science, Manual Training and Nature Study. In Domestic Science there were 200 girls in attendance last year, each one being obliged to learn cooking, sewing and laundry work. In a Province where over 90 per cent. of the women do their own house-work, what a blessing it would be if they were all properly trained for their daily duties. Manual Training makes boys and girls handy in the use of simple tools, and Nature Study, which is really elementary agriculture, helps teachers to the extent that they may return and give to their pupils an education that will more nearly fit them for the earning of their daily bread.

The College is thus doing three things: First, fitting boys and girls for their life work on the farm; Second, by experimenting along different lines it is saving the farmers millions of dollars each year by securing for them exact data in reference to the value of different farm crops, farm animals, and so forth; and Third, by the writing and publication of bulletins and reports, the farmer is supplied in his own home with reliable information in reference to his business.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, marked on the envelope "Tenders for Construction," will be received at the office of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway at Ottawa, until twelve o'clock noon on Monday the 12th day of March, 1906, for the work required for the construction, in accordance with the plans, profiles and specifications of said Commissioners, for the following sections of the Transcontinental Railway, the said work to be completed on or before the first day of September, 1907, viz:—

(1) District "F." From a point designated on the plans of the said Commissioners at or near the City of Winnipeg, to a point known as Peninsula Crossing, near the junction point of the Port William branch of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, a distance of about 246 miles.

(2) District "B." From a point designated on the plans of the said Commissioners, at the north end of the Quebec Bridge and Railway Company's bridge in the vicinity of the City of Quebec, to a point near La Tuque, a distance of about 150 miles.

(3) A steel viaduct about 2,600 feet long across the Cap Rouge Valley, in said District "B," in the vicinity of the City of Quebec, the work to be performed in accordance with the General Specifications of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway, and the General Specifications for steel bridges and viaducts of the Department of Railways and Canals of Canada, 1905.

Plans, profiles and specifications may be seen in the office of the Chief Engineer of the Commissioners at Ottawa, also in the office of the District Engineer at Kenora, Ontario, for the section of District "F," and for the section of District "B" in the office of the District Engineer at Quebec.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made in duplicate, and on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners.

Separate tenders must be submitted for the work in each District.

Tenderers shall not be in any way entitled to rely upon the classification or any other information given by any person on behalf of the Commissioners, and before submitting any tender, bidders should make a careful examination of the plans, profiles, drawings and specifications, and read the forms to be executed, and fully inform themselves as to the quantity and quality of materials and character of workmanship required; and are understood to accept and agree to be bound by the terms and conditions contained in the form of contract, specifications, &c., annexed to the form of tender.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank of the Dominion of Canada, payable to the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway for the sum of four hundred thousand dollars ($400,000), for District "F," and two hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars ($225,000), for District "B," and thirty-five thousand dollars ($35,000) for steel viaduct in said District "B." Any person whose tender is accepted shall within ten days after the acceptance thereof furnish the security required by the Commissioners for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms, sign the contract, specifications and other documents required to be signed by said Commissioners; and in any case of refusal or failure on the part of the party whose tender is accepted to complete and execute a contract with the said Commissioners and to furnish the approved security within ten days after the acceptance of the tender, the said cheque shall be forfeited to the Commissioners as liquidated damages for such refusal or failure, and all contract rights acquired by the acceptance of the tender shall be forfeited. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

"All mechanics, labourers or other persons who perform labour for the purposes of the construction of the works hereby contracted for shall be paid such wages as are generally accepted as current for competent workmen in the District in which the work is being performed, and, if there is no current rate in such District, then a fair and reasonable rate; and, in the event of a dispute arising as to what is the current or a fair and reasonable rate, it shall be determined by the Commissioners, whose decision shall be final."

"This agreement is subject to the regulations now in force, or which may at any time hereafter be in force during the construction of the works hereby contracted for, made under the authority of the Department of Labour, and which are or shall be applicable to such works."

"The contractor shall in connection with the whole of the said work, as far as practicable use only material, machinery, plant, supplies and rolling stock manufactured or produced in Canada, provided the same can be obtained as cheaply and upon as good terms in Canada as elsewhere, having regard to quality and price."

The contractor shall conform to the Fire Regulations adopted by the Commissioners, and also to the Laws and Regulations respecting fires in the different Provinces wherein the work is being performed.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

Calumet-Tellurid Golde Mining Co.
OF CALUMET, MICHIGAN,
offers a limited amount of its Treasury Stock at ONE DOLLAR per share, full paid and non-assessable. Properties consisting of four groups of lode claims and equal to claim area of 27 full lode claims, or about 270 acres, with two valuable water rights and a water reservoir—a lake of about 30 acres surface area.
Development is equal to 1700 lineal feet, at a cost of $15 per lineal foot—tunnels, drifts, cross-cuts, winze and surface cuts and trenches, and one ten gravity stamp concentrating mill. Three groups, water rights, mill and tunnel sites, etc., are fully paid; one group, held on title bond, is partly paid for. Good Grade of Profitable Milling are blocked out, in sight, to last for a sixty ton mill for over two years time. Safe and conservative estimate for mining the ore, delivering and milling it, at a cost of about $4.00 per ton. Three separate mill runs, for testing purposes, have returned from $9.00 to $14.30 per ton of rock, principally in gold.
This is a Bonanza for Intelligent Investors
In order to make operations absolutely up-to-date, perfect, both the mining and the reduction of ores, the Board of Directors have placed a limited amount of Treasury Stock at par value $1.00 per share on the market. Six reports of nine well known mining men. Properties situated in San Juan Gold Belt, San Miguel County, Southwestern Colorado.
ECONOMY, HONESTY and CONSERVATISM
Capitalization 500,000, par value $1.00, and non-assessable. Two years development, properties paid—as above stated, and we have in our treasury remaining 300,000 shares. Show us something better.

VARICOCELE CURED

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on a double varicocele. When I tugged hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy and Kergan, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skilful. He wrote them and got the New Method Treatment for me. My progress was somewhat discouraging during the first month's treatment, but I was rewarded with a complete cure. I now clearly earn $3 a week more in a machine shop before treatment, and am gaining fast and never lose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.

SELECTIONS

Three Tombs at Westminster.

In the east walk of the cloisters at Westminster abbey there are three most interesting graves—those of Thomas Betterton and his wife, better known as Bess Saunderson, and the ever fascinating Mrs. Bracegirdle. Of all the people who lie within these hallowed walls it may safely be said that Betterton has the best claim of all to this privilege. No small measure of praise must be accorded to this gifted actor for the fact that he almost more than any one else was responsible for the resuscitation of the English drama after the stern regime of the Puritans. Mrs. Bracegirdle was either adopted by Betterton or placed under his care, and she very soon took all hearts in London by storm. She achieved her greatest success in acting in Congreve's plays. Her artistic career, however, was a comparatively short one, for Mrs. Bracegirdle retired from the stage in dudgeon when Anne Oldfield first became her dangerous rival. She lived on in honorable retirement and beloved by all, high and low, far and near, until the year 1748, when she was buried here beside her old friends the Bettertons.—London Mail.

How Dreams Are Weighed.

An ingenious instrument which demonstrates the close connection that exists between dreams and brain calculation is known as the "tilt board." A long, shallow tray big enough for a man to recline upon is balanced exactly upon a steel blade. A subject is placed upon it and put to sleep, whereupon the end containing his feet generally falls. But eventually the subject begins to dream, and then the tray containing the sleeper's feet reascends, the extent to which it moves varying according to the vividness of the dream. The explanation is that the blood leaves the brain of a sleeper directly the mental activities cease, and, the head as a result becoming lighter, that end of the balance rises. When the sleeper dreams small quantities of blood are recalled to the brain to supply the dreams, and the balance is gradually changed. In this way dreams may be weighed.

Venus Among the Incas.

The only planet which the Incas had discovered was Venus, which they called the hairy on account of the brightness of its rays. They said that, being the most brilliant of the stars, the sun would not permit it to be separated from him and obliged it to attend his rising as well as his going down, just as at the courts of kings only the most distinguished lords and the handsomest ladies were admitted to the ceremonious royal risings and retirings. It appears nearly certain that the Incas spoke of Venus under two different names, according as it preceded or followed the sun. To this day the native Peruvians name it in fanciful language the eight hour torch and the twilight lamp. As this star served to show the Indians when it was time to prepare the maize for cooking, they also gave it a name indicative of that act. A chapel in the Temple of the Sun was consecrated to this planet.

Auctioneers in England.

The auctioneers of the United Kingdom cannot claim to belong to a very ancient profession so far as that country is concerned. Though auctions were familiar institutions in ancient Rome, the first in the British islands is said to have been held about 1700, when Elisha Yale, governor of Fort George (Madras), put up for sale his trophies of the east, and, although "auction" was defined in 1678 as "a making a publick sale and selling of goods by outcry," it does not appear to have been recognized then as a British institution. The word "auctioneer" does not occur before the eighteenth century.

Lorenzo Dow and Burr.

When the timid colonial clergymen were afraid to criticise Aaron Burr's treason they asked Lorenzo Dow what he thought of Burr's meanness. He raised both hands like a great V and shouted: "Aaron Burr mean! Why, I could take the little end of nothing whittled down to a point, punch out the pith of a hair and put in 40,000 such traitor souls as his, shake 'em up, and they'd rattle."

An Ardent Lover.

"And you went straight to her father and demanded his daughter's hand?"

"I went straight enough, but I—well, I'll admit that I didn't carry out my original purpose."

"Scared?"

"Scared! No, sir! But we got to talking stocks, and I forgot all about it."

No Goes Out.

"That's a pretty swell smoking jacket you've got on," said the caller.

"Smoking jacket?" replied Hemp ck. "Why, this is my house coat."

"Well, that's the same thing"—

"Well, I guess it isn't the same thing; not in this house. When I want to smoke I have to put on my overcoat."

A Rising Man.

Warden (to newly arrived convict)—In this institution we try to put a man to work at his own trade or profession, so that he can work his way up. What is your occupation? Convict—I'm an accountant.

The Limit.

Tom—May Peckin is certainly what you might call a "kissable" girl. Dick—Kissable? Why, man alive, she's positively edible.

His Mistake.

Milly—And how does your brother take married life? Tilly—He takes it according to directions. His mother-in-law lives with him.

A STORY OF CHARLES II.

Mrs. Mole, of Toronto, Says That Her Mother's Family Hid Fugitive

Toronto, February 21.—Mrs. Mole of 1202 King street west, Toronto, has applied to the British Admiralty office for information regarding the birth of her mother. The latter, Margaret Britannia Robinson, was, she says, born on one of the vessels in the fleet of Admiral Lord Nelson, in 1801 or 1802, and was four years of age before she was taken from the ship to the shore to live. Mrs. Mole's mother married twice, first a man named Brandon, and afterwards a man named Case. Lord Nelson was godfather to Mrs. Mole's mother. Mrs. Mole claims her family, or, at least, the Robinsons, are entitled to a royal annuity of one hundred pounds for hiding away Charles II. when a fugitive prince, in their home in "Offerton Hall," near Sunderland, Durham County, England. Mrs. Mole has a picture of the house, she also possesses an ancient pair of decanters and an engraving dated 1761 of the burial of General Fraser. These objects have been secured by the Industrial Exhibition Association for display at the next exhibition.

An Ashantee Belle.

On the Ashanti Gold Coast the costume of a reigning belle is less a matter of well fitting clothes than of well spiked hair. The hair is first divided into a half dozen braids; then these braids are stiffened with wax and tar until they are as hard as kindling wood and stick out straight from the head in a semicircle like the spokes of a wheel. Thus coiffured, the belle is ready to conquer all hearts.

A Bargain Rush.

"How did the manager get all those women out of that burning theater so quickly?"

"He went on the stage and announced that a man down at the entrance was giving away samples of baking powder."

No Rested.

"Good morning, Uncle Charles. Did you sleep well? I'm afraid your bed was rather hard and uneven, but"—

"Oh, it was all right, thank you. I got up now and then during the night and rested a bit, you know."

Flattered Her.

"Yes," said the fair young girl, "everybody says I'm just the picture of mamma."

"Well," replied the gallant youth, "you're certainly a flattering picture."

To the Canadian Investor

DORES-MONTGOMERY MINING COMPANY

OF BULLFROG, NEVADA

The undersigned is pleased to announce to the investors of Canada that he has been appointed Canadian Fiscal Agent of the above company, and is offering a limited amount of treasury stock at 8c. per share for development work. This property is just 1800 feet southwest of the famous Montgomery Shoshone mine and both have unquestionably the same vein. The group shows a well defined vein cropping out through, and it is a perfect fissure. A six inch talc seam on the hanging wall gives high values. We have also several other ledges, and it is only a matter of development work to make this property equal to any producer in the section.

The management of the Montgomery Shoshone conservatively estimates that the mines has produced $300,000 worth of ore. If this is right, the ore from the mines has averaged about $975 a ton, or about $1250 for every foot of sinking, the mines being 4 x 7 in clear.

Ore from the mines running less than $250 is thrown over the dump as milling ore. For these three 120 tons of ore has been shipped from this mine, all of it coming from the mines. Another shipment of 80 tons or more will be made via Las Vegas in a few days.

The figures given above are startling in the extreme, but the measurements and ore values as quoted are official—direct from the management of the wonderful mine that is today astonishing the world.

This property is only 1800 feet from the Dores Montgomery Mine.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces (exceptins 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15.0x1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

Exhaustion All Gone!

To-day She is Buoyant With Health and Vital Energy Given by A Medicine Suited to the Female Sex

There is no medicine for health and strength that accomplishes so much as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. For womanly troubles they have no equal.

Miss Katie E. Emerson, one of Brockton's popular young ladies, in the following letter voices the conviction of hosts of her friends;

"Two months ago I was completely used up. I was weak and miserable. My strength was gone, and I had no appetite or energy left. What I needed was a blood purifier and ayetematic tonic which I found in Dr. Hamilton's Pills. To-day I am brimming over with spirits and vitality, good health that came from using Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

No one can over-estimate the true worth of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Their enormous curative power makes one marvel. You soon have richer blood, better appetite, clearer complexion, freedom from weakness and ill-health. Dr. Hamilton's Pills are sold everywhere 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

BURIED IN GRAIN

Port Hope Man Smothered to Death By Wheat.

A Port Hope despatch received yesterday related a peculiar and most distressing occurrence that happened there on Tuesday, whereby Jas. Sculthorpe of that town lost his life.

It seems that Sculthorpe was inspecting some wheat bins in his father's mill. While examining a large one containing spring wheat, the bottom gave way and he was buried under the grain and smothered to death before he could be removed.

Mr. Sculthorp was well known in Peterboro and vicinity, and his death will be heard of with regret. He managed the mill at Port Hope for his father, Mr. Jas. Sculthorp, Deceased is survived by his wife.

—The Board of Works met last night. Particulars in another column.

—Dr. Barnardo Nesbitt's successor in the Ontario Legislature will be elected today.

—The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. will meet this afternoon at 3.30 o'clock.

—A congregational tea and reception was held in St. Paul's church yesterday evening.

—The Mark street Ladies' Aid meeting called for this afternoon has been postponed for one week.

—The Senior Girls' Guild of All Saints' church will meet this evening at 8.15 o'clock to arrange for a drive.

—The American Cereal Company yesterday reduced the price of oats to 35c per bushel. They were paying 37c previously.

—Last night the Board of Works opened and considered tenders for the rock crusher the city contemplates buying.

—The Girls' Guild of St. John's church will attend Holy Communion in a body at the early service next Sunday at 8.30.

—The Girls' Guild of St. John's church have completed arrangements for their "Old Time," social for next Monday evening in the Sunday school.

—The annual Y.M.C.A. boys' camp re-union will shortly be held. The following committee will arrange the program, S. Madill, E. Arrott, P. Wallace Hal. Wallace, Fred Hall.

—The Y.M.C.A. Literary and Debating Club held a meeting yesterday evening. Mr. Fred Ray gave a paper on "The Life of William Lyon Mackenzie and the Rebellion of 1837."

—Messrs. R. O. Mills and D. Horsefall have opened a tailoring establishment at 430 Water street. This store is called the "X—L Tailors." These gentlemen are both practical tailors and expert workmen.

—A wedding that was to have been celebrated in a local hotel on Tuesday night did not consummate. A clergyman of this city was called in, but on arrival finding that the license had been issued under false pretences very properly declined to act.

—It now seems as though Peterboro was going to get the carpet factory as noted in Monday's issue. The representatives of this factory after overlooking the city and holding consultations with the Manufacturers' Committee express themselves as very favorably impressed with this city as a site.

—Last night the Fays were greeted by a house that was as closely packed as in the shell of an egg. Their performance was simply marvellous and will probably be today as that of the preceding night, the whole talk of the city. Some of their work makes one think that the miracles of old are being revived.

CHALLENGE ACCEPTED

Dickson Davidson's Rink Will Play the Snowdon-Croft Combination.

Our readers will remember that, a few days ago, a challenge appeared in these columns issued by Messrs. W. Snowden and W. Croft to the Dickson Davidson Rink who so distinguished themselves in the recent bonspiel in Charlotte street rink.

These veterans of the ice think that, although they have not played this year, they can, after this match is over, dangle the scalps of the Davidson rink before their tepees, and chuckle as the western wind blows through the suspended whiskers of their opponents.

Yesterday Mr. Davidson notified us to say that his rink has decided to take up the challenge thus thrown down, provided and stipulated that the losing rink shall pay for a barrel of flour, to be given to such charitable institution or charity as the winning rink may select.

There is no doubt but what the Snowden-Croft experts will agree to this stipulation, so a good red hot game may be looked forward to as soon as the ice is in shape.

Death of Mr. W. Walker, Otonabee.

The sad intelligence has been received here of the death of Mr. Wm. Walker of Otonabee, who passed away last Friday. Mr. Walker, a highly respected resident of the township, who was sixty-two years old, was born in Asphodel, but has lived most of his life on his farm, lot 11, con. 3, of Otonabee. He was a consistent member of the Presbyterian church, and for a number of years has held the office of elder in the Westwood Presbyterian church. The deceased leaves to mourn his loss, four brothers; Peter of Indian River, Thomas of Oregon, U.S., John and Joseph of Villiers, and two sisters, Jane and Alice, at home.

TO CATARRH SUFFERERS

Hyomei Cures by Breathing Medicated Air.

The popularity and increase in the sales of Hyomei are unique in the annals of medicine. Such astonishing cures have been made by this remedy that its sale is steadily increasing every year.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1.00 and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket, a medicine dropper, and a bottle of Hyomei. The inhaler lasts a life-time, and if one bottle does not cure, an extra bottle of Hyomei can be obtained for 50 cents. It is the most economical of all remedies advertised for the cure of catarrh, and is the only one that follows Nature in her methods of treating diseases of the respiratory organs.

Breathe through the inhaler for a few minutes four times a day, and your catarrh is cured. That's all.

If you cannot obtain Hyomei of your dealer, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write today for consultation blank that will entitle you to services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hyomei Building, Ithaca, N. Y.

Railways are seriously considering the advisability of entering into an agreement by which the travelling public will either have to pay for their berths in sleepers by 5 o'clock in the afternoon of the day they purpose taking a sleeper, or forfeit reservations. It is contended that many people make reservations over the wire or at ticket offices for a certain night, and under the present arrangements such berths are held until the trains start out, but these people do not inform the companies of their change of plans, but keep the berths reserved until the train leaves. Then the berths are empty and the companies are minus the money they should bring.

It is further claimed that sleepers are run at great cost and that even though berths are sold to persons who happen to be on a train looking for a berth after it has started, yet the inconvenience to the roads and to the travelling public is so great that a reform ought to be introduced. If people notified agents of railroads when they decide not to use berths reserved for them, then they would be sold to others who are anxious to get them, but now persons allow berths to be held up to the last moment just as though they were paid for. This is said to cause trouble and loss which must soon be remedied. It is considered that most persons know by 5 o'clock in the evening whether or not they are going to use reserved berths on the same night, and if they are not absolutely engaged by that hour companies should have the alternative of selling them to those who would use them. Vacant berths return no revenue, and it was stated by a passenger official yesterday that people in Montreal have been known to verbally engage berths on both C. P. R. and G. T. R. trains to Toronto during the day, and then use only one berth or perhaps neither at night, leaving the companies in uncertainty. An expression of public opinion on this matter would not be ignored by railroads.

Indians to be Tried.

Our Indian wards, it seems, occasionally get noisy, particularly when copious draughts of fire-water have been put out of sight. High Constable Geo. Cochrane, visited Chemong, in response to communications he had received. In consequence of his visit eight summonses were issued, but the constable was able to locate only four of the alleged offenders. It is said two have gone to Parry Sound and two to Aldersville. The charge against them is having intoxicating liquor in their possession and acting disorderly at a recent celebration held in the school house in that village.

MR. R. C. KINDRED'S DEATH

New Comer to the City Passes Away in Nicholl's Hospital.

Yesterday morning Mr. Robert C. Kindred, who had been undergoing treatment for about a month's time in the Nicholls Hospital, passed away in that institution. The deceased was thirty years of age, and had only been a resident of the city for a short time. He was a former resident of Zion, but had worked in Oshawa previous to coming to Peterboro.

He is survived by his mother and one sister, who are now residents of Peterboro.

The funeral will take place on Friday to Zion, where interment will be made.

Habit-forming Medicines.

Whatever may be the fact as to many of the so-called patent medicines containing injurious ingredients as broadly published in some journals of more or less influence, this publicity has certainly been of great benefit in arousing needed attention to this subject. It has, in a considerable measure, resulted in the most intelligent people avoiding such foods and medicines as may be fairly suspected of containing the injurious ingredients complained of. Recognizing this fact some time ago, Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., "took time by the forelock," as it were, and published broadcast all the ingredients of which his popular medicines are composed. Thus he has completely forestalled all harping critics and all opposition that might otherwise be urged against his medicines, because they are now of known composition. Furthermore, from the formula printed on every bottle wrapper, it will be seen that these medicines contain no alcohol or other habit-forming drugs. Neither do they contain any narcotics or injurious agents, their ingredients being purely vegetable, extracted from the roots of medicinal plants found growing in the depths of our American forests and of well recognized curative virtues.

Instead of alcohol, which even in small portions long continued, as in obstinate cases of diseases, becomes highly objectionable from its tendency to produce a craving for stimulants, Dr. Pierce employs chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine, which of itself is a valuable remedy in many cases of chronic diseases, being a superior demulcent, antiseptic, antiferment and supporting nutritive. It enhances the curative action of the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherry bark and Bloodroot, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery," in all bronchial, throat and lung affections attended with severe coughs. As will be seen from the writings of the eminent Drs. Grover Coe, of New York; Bartholow, of Jefferson Medical College, Phila.; Scudder, of Cincinnati; Ellingwood, of Chicago; Hale, of Chicago, and others, who stand as leaders in their several schools of practice, the foregoing agents are the very best ingredients that Dr. Pierce could have chosen to make up his famous "Discovery" for the cure of not only bronchial, throat and lung affections, but also of chronic catarrh in all its various forms wherever located.

ONE OF THE RICHEST PROSPECTS EVER DISCOVERED.

The Iron Spar Mining Co.

The Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., owning valuable property on the divide between the States of Idaho and Montana, a copper proposition of exceptional promise, a property that even a novice, by personal inspection, ought to discern merits in, so apparent are the indications which guide the prospector in the work of making great mineral discoveries. An immense copper bearing ledge traverses the ground from east to west and is so well defined and conspicuous in its surface outcrop that anyone however unfamiliar with outward appearances of mineralization, once shown the ledge, may follow it uninterruptedly for several thousand feet. The fact is that copper ores appear in the vein gangue even to the grass roots.

The vein is large, 15 to 20 feet wide, and horizontally continuous across the whole extent of the claims, a distance of 6,000 feet. Being a true fissure and cutting the country formation at a considerable angle, it is entirely consistent with geological laws to suppose that it has also great vertical dimension.

Everybody who has made any study of the profits derived from successful copper mining operations can not have failed to observe the splendid and continuous dividends paid to investors. Copper mining has been so dependable a source of revenue throughout the world that today many investors prefer it to the more fickle high grade gold propositions. Look at the enormous and steady profits paid investors in all the great copper fields of the world, as viz: The Lake Superior mines in Michigan, Butte mines in Montana, Bisbee and Tombstone in Arizona, the mines of Utah, the great Tintic mines in Spain, and the Mexican mines. The demand for copper increases with the advance of civilization and the immense demand created by the growing popularization of electrical power justifies the belief that the supply will hardly keep pace with the demand for years to come. Copper mining is safe and profitable, once you have found a good property. That is just what we are trying to introduce to you, and you have this in the Iron Spar.

The sum of 400,000 shares of the fully paid capital stock was set aside as a treasury fund to be devoted to the improvement, development and equipment of the property. Nearly the entire block remains in the treasury at the present date, only so much having been drawn out as was necessary to defray the expenses of operation since the formation of the Company. The miners have all taken stock as pay instead of cash.

The undersigned has a limited number of Shares for sale at TEN CENTS per share. All interested should call or write at once.

Carpet Factory May Locate Here

Council Will Probably Meet To-night, to Reach an Agreement as to Exactly What Inducements They are Prepared to Offer.

The Manufacturers' Committee of here that there is but one carpet the city council met at five o'clock factory in Canada, and everything last evening, in response to a hurried call from Chairman Ald. McWilliams. The object of this meeting was to endeavor to arrive at a definite and final proposition to offer the Brinton's Co., Limited, of Kidderminster, England, who are considering the establishment in this city of a branch of their big carpet manufactory, to enable them to better compete in Canadian markets.

Messrs Reginald S. Brinton and P. S. Preen, members of this English firm, were to reach Peterboro today with a view to learning definitely just what inducements this city will give for the location here of a carpet industry, backed by big capital, and the offering of a similar and flourishing concern in the Old Country. Should an acceptable agreement to them and our city fathers be arrived at, the company are anxious to prepare plans of, and place under construction their buildings at the earliest possible date. They propose to commence manufacturing operations in a main building 60x120, and a second one 40x80; these however might be reduced to two-storey buildings, the reduction in height being spread over a corresponding area so as to give the same floor space. They would employ at the outset 50 hands; but confidently anticipate a very rapid increase in capacity. It might be pointed out points to the location here of this concern being very desirable indeed from all points of view. Several propositions have been discussed by the Manufacturing Committee and the carpet company's representatives, and it was hoped that things would assume a more tangible shape last evening in preparation for the visit of Messrs. Brinton and Preen today. The committee, however could not of themselves alone commit the city council to any particular limit in the way of inducements, and consequently decided to endeavor to have a meeting of the committee of the whole council called for tonight when a definite proposition will be reached for the acceptance or rejection by the firm in question. Ald. McWilliams was instructed to try and reach Messrs. Brinton and Preen by 'phone, and explain the Manufacturers' Committee's position and have those gentlemen postpone their visit, if possible until the Whole Council are an unit as to exactly how far they are prepared to go in the way of "inducements."

This carpet manufacturing concern have propositions from other places eager to secure their location in their midst, and while our Manufacturers' Committee are particularly anxious to capture this industry for Peterboro, and they are, to their credit, handling the question in a business-like manner, in the interests of both the city and the carpet factory.

THAT BARREL OF FLOUR

Will the Davidson or Snowdon-Croft Rink Donate It?

Our readers will remember that, a few days ago, a challenge was issued, through our columns, by Messrs. W. Snowden and W. Croft to the winning D'Davidson rink, who won out at the recent bonspiel in Charlotte street rink. This challenge as noted in yesterday's issue, was accepted by the Davidson rink. Yesterday a Times representative called on both Messrs. Snowden and Croft to ask whether they would make good now their (as thought) bluff was called Both of them expressed every willingness in fact are enthusiastic desire to show these neophytes in the curling game that the older generation knows perhaps as well how to place the stones as the younger carriers. It is understood that as soon as cold weather returns, and the ice is in proper condition, the challengers will choose Messrs. T. Rutherford and J. Stanger for their rink, and do their best to make the Davidson combination put up a barrel of flour for the poor of Peterboro, this being the stakes at issue.

Yesterday afternoon quite a bunch of Peterboro gentlemen were gathered in a local hotel when the subject of this coming match was brought up. One word led to another, and the result was that a Toronto commercial man put up $20 to back his opinion that the Davidson rink would win, it was promptly covered by a local sport. Another bet of $5 was made on even terms on the result of the game by two local men.

NEXT YEAR'S FAIRS

Mr. D. Hughes-Charles Attends the Great Toronto Meeting.

A despatch received yesterday from Toronto says;

The feature of this annual meeting of the Ontario Association of Fairs and Exhibitions, held in the city hall on Wednesday, was the address of Mr. J. W. Sheppard of Cayuga. Mr. D. Hughes-Charles, president of the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition, is in attendance.

Money should be distributed among the fairs, Mr. Sheppard said, in proportion to the amount each expended as prizes for agricultural products. The Government, he advised, should appoint an auditor for the purpose of examining their books, in order to ascertain their relative importance. The attendance at the fairs throughout the province last fall showed a marked increase over previous years. Mr. H. B. Cowan received a tribute for his indefatigable efforts to promote the welfare of the various agricultural societies in the province. He commended the Government for its determination to revise the Agricultural and Arts Act.

Mr. H. B. Cowan, superintendent of fairs, described his tour of inspection among nine States of the Union, saying that he found that Ontario surpassed them in this respect.

Hon. Nelson Monteith congratulated the delegates on the favorable reports which they presented. He assured them that the new Act would be along the lines suggested by the association at last year's convention.

Mr. H. B. Cowan gave an entertaining address on the fair grounds of the various agricultural societies of the province and their lines of work. The address was beautifully illustrated by stereoptican views.

ONTARIO LICENSES

Last Year 2808 Licenses Were Issued For Selling Liquor.

The annual report of the License Department shows that in 1904-1905 a total of 2,808 licenses were issued. Of these 2,495 were ordinary licenses for the year, 21 for beer and wine, 55 of the former and 7 of the latter for six months' terms, 298 shop and 22 wholesale licenses. There were 59 extensions, 505 transfers and 15 removals. The total licenses in 1903-'04 were 2,974 and in 1902-'03 3,023. The Provincial revenue from licenses and fines in 1903-'05 was $304,789.59, in 1903-'04, $304,777.70 and in 1904-'05, $297,825. The payments to municipalities were respectively $250,229.16, $257,866.84, $248,492.10. The total collections on account of licenses and fines, including the sums imposed by municipal by-laws were for the respective years named, $644,695.94, $648,412.90, $637,762.58. The total amount paid for expenses of commissioners and salaries of license inspectors for 1904-'05 was $69,174.87 compared to $69,412.73 for 1903-'04. The miscellaneous expenditure for the two years were respectively, $15,777.81 and $14,-959.89. The commitments for drunkenness in 1905 were 4,157, compared to 3,580 in 1904. The largest number prior to last year was 4,097 in 1883.

A QUICK ANSWER

Lady Attending Recent Toronto Revival Services Replies to Mr. Torrey.

Yesterday, a local gentleman whose daughter has been, for some weeks, visiting in Toronto, received a letter from her containing a little episode that is too good to keep.

This young lady, in company with two Toronto girl friends, attended the Torrey and Alexander services one evening.

Mr. Torrey was giving a very pathetic appeal, illustrated by his own family experience. "Yes," he went on to say "I know that my father and mother are in heaven, they were good christian people, etc., but my grandmother was a worldly woman, and I regret to say I am afraid she has gone to h——."

About this time the three young ladies tiring of the harangue, decided to leave. As they walked to the door, Mr. Torrey noticing them, and evidently not relishing his discourse being sufficient to hold them, with finger extended towards the departing ladies, said "There are three young women now on the way to h——." The young lady from Peterboro, not liking this remark nor the publicity given her and her friends, turning round, asked the speaker, "Can I take any message to your grandmother?" The large assemblage audibly tittered.

HOUSE OF REFUGE

Mr. John Bell of Cedar Park Against Lakefield as a Site.

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Dear Sir,—It seems strange to me to hear that our County Council is talking of buying land near Lakefield or Norwood for the purpose of building a House of Refuge. As a ratepayer of both county and city, I say that the Townships of Smith, Douro, Otonabee and North Monaghan should join with the City of Peterboro, like the spokes of a wheel. Why should a County building like the House of Refuge be set away from the rest of our County buildings. Is it because it is a house for the poor, or does our Council want a jaunt every time the court sits to Lakefield or Norwood. It would be a great folly to erect our House of Refuge at either Lakefield or Norwood, while our Court House and Jail are in Peterboro, the hub of four of our best Townships, where excellent sites can be had near our County City for small money.

JOHN BELL,
Cedar Park.

February 21st, 1906.

Prince Rupert.

The above caption is the euphonious and appropriate name which the Grand Trunk Pacific have adopted for their terminus on the Pacific coast. The people of Canada were given an opportunity of naming this city, which some day will become one of the greatest seaports on the Western coast of America, and 1200 different names were submitted by those who took part in the contest. A name has been chosen that is significant of Canada and one that was prominent in the early history of the country, when nearly the entire area of British North America was known as Prince Rupert's Land. Under the terms of the competition that the name should contain not more than three syllables, nor more than ten letters, the name which complied with the conditions and most nearly resembled that selected was Port Rupert, this name being suggested by Mrs. John Orme, of Bonnechere, Ontario, and by Mr. R. Kirkwood, of Coppercliff, Ontario. The judges, however, decided that "Prince Rupert" was a more pleasing name and more appropriate, and awarded the two-hundred and fifty dollar prize to Miss Eleanor A. Macdonald, of Winnipeg, Manitoba, who was the only one who submitted this name. The Grand Trunk Pacific, however, recognizing the spirit of the contest awarded the same amount to each of the two contestants who submitted the name Port Rupert.

But why Prince Rupert? What had the dashing young cavalry leader of the cavaliers nearly two hundred years ago to do with Canada? Prince Rupert was really the first British Canadian business magnate. He was a promoter of the Hudson's Bay Company, and its first Governor, in 1670. In that year Charles II. granted a charter to the Prince and seven other noblemen and gentlemen, incorporating them as "The Governor and Company of Adventurers of England, trading into Hudson's Bay," and securing to them "the whole trade and commerce of all those seas and straits, bays, rivers, lakes, creeks and sounds in whatever latitude they shall be, that lie within the entrance to the Straite commonly called Hudson's Straits, together with all the lands and territories upon the countries, coasts and confines of the seas, bays, etc., aforesaid, that were not actually possessed by or granted to any of our subjects, or possessed by the subjects of any other Christian Prince or State. The first settlements of the country thus granted, which was to be known as Rupert's Land, were made on James Bay and at Churchill and Hoyle's River.

Prince Rupert was born in 1619, the son of Frederick V., Elector-palatine and Elizabeth, eldest daughter of James I. of England. He was a man of impetuous bravery, but at the same time showed lack of caution. When only 13 years old he took part in the siege of Rheinberg, and at the age of 18 commanded a regiment of cavalry in active service. At the beginning of the civil war in England he was placed at the head of a regiment of horse and took part in several battles. Notwithstanding a serious error at Marston Moor, he was soon appointed Commander of all the Royal troops. After the defeat of Naseby, on June 14, 1645, he retired to Bristol, but surrendered that city on August 52. The King thereupon deprived him of his commission. In 1648 he was, for want of any competent man, appointed to command the fleet. He was blockaded by Blake in Kinsale Harbor, and in October, 1648, forced his way out and steered for Lisbon. Blake pursued him and he was only saved by assistance from the King of Portugal. He subsequently escaped to the West Indies, but after the restoration of Charles II. he was made a Privy Councillor, and served under the Duke of York against the Dutch. He was afterwards Governor of Windsor Castle, where, during the last nine years of his life he devoted himself to scientific and artistic pursuits. He died November 29, 1682.

RUSS AGGRESSION NOT YET CHECKED

The Bear Continues His Intriques in Celestial Empire.

THE RUSSO-CHINESE BANK

Through Bank Russia Has Secured Ascendancy, Commercial and Military, in Two Provinces.

St. Petersburg, February 23.—Chinese relations and the negotiations of Minister Pokotiloff with the Pekin Government are engrossing the attention of Russian diplomacy, even to the exclusion of the Algeciras conference, though an unfavorable conclusion of the latter, with all its prejudical effect on Russia's situation, now is considered here within the bounds of probability.

Foreign Office officials make a mystery of the subject matter of the negotiations at Pekin, but Minister Pokotiloff is chiefly interested with Manchuria and the preservation of Russia's special rights there. Apprehensions of an indefinite result, are voiced in despatches from Pekin. The negotiations are directed in securing Russia in her favored position in Mongolia. These apprehensions are rather belated in view of the fact, though this is not generally known, that two of the easterly provinces of Mongolia, Tsetsenchan and Tusshetuchan, intervening between Pekin and the Trans-Baikalian frontier, generally eastward of a line running from the southern end of Baikal to Pekin, were long since given over to Russo-Chinese bank exploitation, and are thus actually part of Russia's sphere of influence under an agreement, the existence of which, because it was made by the bank and not by the Government, the Foreign Office even affects to ignore. Russian troops, consisting of infantry, cavalry and artillery, have been introduced at the various important centres "for the protection of Russian consuls."

"These military "outposts of the Empire," have been pushed forward to Chinese territory, the whole Siberian and Central Asian frontier chain, extending from Kerulen, in Eastern Mongolia, through Urga, Ulassutai, Tarbagati, Urumptsi, Kuldja, Kashgar, and Yarkland to Khotan on the border of Thibet. The cat was let out of the bag concerning the presence of considerable forces at Urga, including infantry and Cossacks, and several guns, by the incautious publication of a casual account of a celebration of the departure of one company of the garrison and the arrival of another in an obscure provincial paper.

The two provinces given over to the Russo-Chinese bank over the route of the proposed railway from Baikal to Pekin, for which a concession was obtained, but the money was wanting. The Russo-Chinese Bank also has valuable mining rights, including gold.

The Manchurian situation has given rise to a sharp difference of opinion in the Government, one side urging a speedy realization of the provisions of the treaty of Portsmouth, for the evacuation except by railway guards, and the complete abandonment of the Manchurian adventure, and the other side working for delay, pleading in justification of its attitude the claim that the decision of China to send several corps to Manchuria is directed against Russia.

A special session of the council for national defense has been called to consider the question.

4,000 SOLDIERS HERE

C. G. E. Co. Officials Agree to the Military Using Their Ground at Nassau.

Mr. Frederick Nicholls of Toronto, general manager of the Canadian General Electric Co., accompanied by Messrs. H. G. Nicholls, W. D. Hay, E. K. Wedd and J. A. Bremner of head office staff, spent yesterday on a tour of inspection.

Mr. Nicholls was somewhat reticent on the subject of the anticipated extension to the works as noted in a former issue of The Times.

However the presence of these prominent officials of the C.G.E. Co., resulted in a conference being held between them and Aldermen Hicks and McWilliams, relative to the proposed military camp in the city.

The object of the conference was to secure permission from Nicholls, as representing the Canadian General Electric Company, to use the grounds belonging to the company at Nassau. The request of the gentlemen representing the City Council and the local regiment was that the company would allow the militia the use of these extensive grounds, and after hearing the representations made, Mr. Nicholls granted the permission asked for, which means that the camp for No. 9 Military District will this year be held at this point instead of at Kingston, where it has for years been held.

Mrs. Fay Daughter Of Indian Princess

Born in India, She Inherits Her Power, Little History of the Remarkable Fays Who Are Turning Away Hundreds of People From Opera House.

CITY AGOG OVER FAYS, WHO ARE THEY?

Thirty-five years ago, while the country was still on the evolution stage, while superstition reigned, the policy of the Puritan Fathers ruled and the whole people were in such a transition stage, that they were amenable to all sorts and conditions of fakirs, the Davenport Brothers came on the scene of action. These comprised three—a trio whose fame afterwards became prevalent throughout the whole world—H. Melville Fay, John and Ira Davenport.

It was a novelty, the act that the Davenports presented. Nothing like it had ever before been given to the public. The writer, who was a young man at that time, distinctly remembers the excitement created when it was announced in Jamestown, N.Y., that the wonderful Davenport Brothers were coming to town; that they would play there on a certain night. It was the presumption of their attraction. What caught the village—for Jamestown then was only a village of perhaps 10,000 inhabitants. The hall was packed with anxious, curious people; investigators, sceptics and spiritualists, all eager to see the marvelous feats of the Davenport Brothers, whose reputation had preceded them, and who even then were celebrated as the first and only performers in those feats, the nature of which could only be accounted for through spirit agency.

The writer well remembers his pack ed "town hall," the eager, frightened faces of the people assembled, and the afterward denouement, which created an excitement which was almost a riot. The demonstrations were so amazing; the feats which H. Melville Fay and his associates performed so wonderful, the people simply didn't know what to do or say. It was given out that the untying process—the brothers first being tied with small ropes,—was the direct work of the spirits. The enhancement of the interest of the entertainment.

The work which the Davenport Brothers gave was certainly the neatest, the cleverist, the most incomprehensible of anything that had ever been presented before a wondering public. If it is not spirits, what in all creed the vast audiences who thronged and packed the halls and theaters where the Davenports appeared. And that was the question: who was it? Committees were always appointed from the audience. They tied the brothers—or rather H. Melville Fay, for he was the star of the trio—as tight as ropes could tie him. He entered a cabinet, and "in the twinkling of an eye," the cabinet was opened and behold he was loosened, the ropes (were lying on the floor! It was wonderful! and those living in this generation cannot begin to conceive the excitement it created.

The Davenport Brothers showed all through this country; then went to Europe, where their triumphs were repeated all through the kingdom. They were before the public twenty years and accumulated a large fortune for each one of them.

Mr. John T. Fay, who, with his wife, Mrs. Eva Fay, is playing at the opera house this week, is the only son of H. Melville Fay, the original one of the "trio of the Davenport Brothers." Whether the mysticism of the father has descended to the son—whether heredity holds good in this case, or not, audiences must figure out for themselves. It is probable, however, that in the line of mystic cycles the course of hereditary must evolute from father to son. H. Melville Fay, father of John T. Fay, now at the Grand Opera house this week, with the wonderful (as well as charming) Mrs. Fay — the secress of all the centuries—was an associate of the Davenport Brothers, Ira and John Davenport. He was the senior and the brains of the trio. He guided managed and directed the company until all of them realized a handsome fortune. Their secret, or secrets, were never revealed. Mr. John T. Fay performs the same sleight (to call it by that name) with Mrs. Fay, as the first part of their entertainment, as was done by his father, the originator, the first of all, thirty-five years ago. It is unnecessary to dilate upon the improvement Mr. Fay of this generation has made over the first attempts of his father and two associates. Audiences can see for themselves. This is a case of both heredity and practice, with development added; the latter, perhaps, being the real essence of the whole. No more wonderful people ever existed on earth than the Fays—be it heredity, evolution or inherent occultism derived from the India atmosphere; the study of telepathy and association with the Brotherhood of 80 of India and Egypt, which both these remarkable people experienced for years prior to their appearance on the stage ten years ago.

Mrs. Eva Fay is from India, the child of an Indian Princess, her father was a British Army officer, Mrs. Fay inherits her wonderful power from a long line of Mahatma and Yogi ancestors, her work is akin to the Oracle of Delphi. Many unscrupulous people noticing the success of these wonderful people have thought to gain some wealth by aping at the work, but their attempts were simply ridiculous, some have the audacity to even use the name of the Fays or one nearly, but the lion's skin will not hide the ears of the ass, and the work of these pirates was but a burlesque on the finished performance of the bona-fide Fays.

CHARLOTTE ST. WINS

In a Close Match Last Night in Brock Street Rink.

In a city league game last night at the Brock street rink, the Charlotte street hockey team defeated the High Life's in a very closely contested match. Both teams worked hard from the start and held the pace out to the end. The ice was in bad condition, and it was very hard for the players to keep the puck ahead of them. At half time the score stood 1—1. And about the middle of the second half the Methodists scored another goal, the game ending in their favor by a score of 2—1.

The line-up was:

High Life		Charlotte
Fitzpatrick	Goal.	Lang
Maher	Point.	Roddis
Ford	Cover-point.	Moore
McGrath	Rover.	Nichol's
Hall	Center	Miller
Long	Left Wing.	Dusty
Ross	Right Wing.	Grose

COFFEE vs. COLLEGE

Student Had to Give Up Coffee.

Some people are apparently immune to coffee poisoning—if you are not, Nature will tell you so in the ailments she sends as warnings. And when you get a warning, heed it or you get hurt sure. A young college student writes from New York:

"I had been told frequently that coffee was injurious to me, and if I had not been told, the almost constant headaches with which I began to suffer after using it for several years, the state of lethargic mentality which gradually came upon me to hinder me in my studies, the general lassitude and indisposition to any sort of effort which possessed me, ought to have been sufficient warning. But I disregarded them till my physician told me a few months ago that I must give up coffee or quit college. I could hesitate no longer, and at once abandoned coffee.

"On the advice of a friend I began to drink Postum Food Coffee, and rejoice to tell you that with the drug of coffee removed and the healthful properties of Postum in its place I was soon relieved of all my ailments. The headaches and nervousness disappeared entirely, strength came back to me, and my complexion which had been very, very bad, cleared up beautifully. Better than all, my mental faculties were toned up, and became more vigorous than ever, and I now feel that no course of study would be too difficult for me." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Walked to Her Death In the Otonabee River

Mrs. James Crowe of Lakefield, Whilst in a Despondent Mood, Deliberately Commits Suicide in Full View of Several Boys.

Yesterday one of the most deliberate and successfully carried out tragedies that has ever been chronicled in the history of the thriving little village of Lakefield ever experienced, occurred there and gave the villagers great food for conversation.

Mrs. James Crowe, a widow who had lived for many years in that village, and who was about 75 years of age deliberately and without seeming fear of present or future, was yesterday afternoon seen to cross the bridge from the far side of the Otonabee, towards Morris' planing mill, and near the blacksmith's shop, descending the bank, with the courage of despair or from a decided atrement of life, walked into the river until beyond her depth. She was seen by some boys to commit the rash act. The boys, of course, startled by so unusual and desperate a deed, at once rushed to give information to the nearest men, but their warning was too late. Mrs. Crowe, true to her determination, was carried away by the fast water and carried away by the current, was quickly borne to her death. The body, with some difficulty was recovered.

The late Mrs. Crowe whose husband predeceased her some years ago, and who for many years has lived near near the Presbyterian church, was somewhat mentally unbalanced, and subject to fits of deep despondency. She leaves to mourn her loss two married daughters, one living in the north part of the township of Smith, and one in Western Ontario. Whilst the date of the funeral, at the time of our going to press was not definitely settled we understand that it will take place on Saturday.

Dr. Baker of Lakefield was summoned as soon as the body was recovered but far too long a time had elapsed for professional aid to succeed in rekindling the already extinguished spark of life.

OUR CITY OFFICIALS

Interview With Mr. Carscallen M.P.P. Relative to City's Private Bill.

On Wednesday, Mr. H. Carscallen, chairman of the Private Bills Committee of the Ontario Legislature, was interviewed by Ald. R. F. McWilliams and City Solicitor E. H. D. Hall, respecting the private bill the city of Peterboro is asking to have put through. Mr. Carscallen went very thoroughly into all the clauses of the bill. Messrs. McWilliams and Hall fully explained the details of the bill, and received much encouragement, although the power question and the purchase of land to hold for manufacturers were matters of public policy, and Mr. Carscallen could not say how the committee might treat these matters.

M'NAUGHT ELECTED.

Yesterday the Hon. Geo. W. Ross and his political adherents must have sat upon the porcupine as per a recent cartoon in the Toronto World, instead of a mossy bank of ease. Mr. McNaught carried he riding of North Toronto by over 1400 majority over his opponent ex-Mayor Urquhart, the Liberal candidate.

The Toronto Conservative headquarters were a scene of great self-congratulations and enthusiastic jubilation.

Mr. Thos. Fair's Funeral.

Yesterday afternoon a long and solemn cortege crossed the Hunter street bridge, following on the last mortal remains of Mr. Thos. Fair, from his late residence, 238 Mark street. The interment took place in the Little Lake cemetery. Rev. J. G. Potter conducted the funeral service.

POLICE COURT NEWS

Yesterday, despite the beautiful sunshiny weather the Languor Loving League, were represented in full force at the police court to hear the trial of Fero Bruno, the Italian charged with having attempted to wound another son of Italy, with a knife at Rosetti's Bethune street Boarding House.

The first witness called, through Mr. Minocolo, interpreter, said he board, at a Charlotte street boarding house. The trouble took place at Rosette's Bethune street boarding house. He went to prisoner's boarding house and after accomplishing the business he went outside. Here is met Thomas and Pasquale, who were engaged in conversation. He saw the prisoner, with a knife in his hand coming after him, the witness. Prisoner told him to "go way." He heard prisoner open the knife when he took its from his pocket. Could not recognize the knife produced in court as it was dark. Prisoner did not threaten further than to say "go way."

Prisoner followed him up as he the witness went away. No ill-feeling existed between them. Prisoner had been drinking. Sovenzo Tomas, next witness, through Minocolo, was lying down in his bed that night upstairs. Heard loud talking outside. Pasquale, Guilimardo, Bruno the prisoner, and another. They were talking together; Bruno was trying to strike one of them, when witness grabbed Bruno to prevent him striking the other. Did not see who took the knife from Bruno, did not see it as it was dark.

Nicole Mirausch, then went into the box and said, per Minocolo, one of the men outside the house asked where Tomas was, only using the English words "Where is Tommy?" Bruno who was under liquor took exception to the speaker using the English language.

After a lot of evidence had been heard, The magistrate reserved judgment until this morning's court.

Prosecuting Attorney R. E. Wood, on conclusion of the trial said that costs of $1 each should be allowed to each witness, and $2 to Mr. Minocolo the interpreter. The Magistrate allowed them costs except to Pasquale Calvaggio whose mother he saw the prosecuting attorney believed to have told the truth.

THOS. PATERSON & CO.,

P. S.—A description of this proposition will appear in these columns in a few days. Watch for it.

How Consumption Starts

Tired When You Waken--Languid All Day—Nerves Worn Out —Snap All Gone

Your limbs feel "draggy" and excessively weak. A night's sleep seldom brings satisfying rest. Continuous headaches, exhaustion and nervous sensations destroy your health. Soon every spark of vitality is used up. Then you catch tuberculosis.

Start to-day. Build up, get new nerve force, and overcome this process of decay. Use Ferrozone, which physicians consider the most vitalizing, uplifting tonic ever made.

Ferrozone cures because it can furnish the body with sufficient nutriment and building material.

Think of the instant effect—at once the appetite increases, delightful color in the cheeks proves that rich, red blood is being circulated. Tired muscles are invigorated, flesh and weight are added. Nerve force develops, and bounding, joyous health is firmly established.

This is certain—Ferrozone restores failing strength from any cause. The experience of Mr. Thos. Dowd, of Schreiber, Ont., proves this;

'Household worries and cares had about exhausted my strength. I was weak and miserable. My cheeks lacked the color of health, and occasionally I had spells of rheumatism. Then my appetite fell off, and nothing could tempt me to eat. Worn-out feelings, chills and despondency filled my very being. I became anaemic and dwindled down to a shadow. Consumption was very near. Ferrozone put strength in my body with a rush. It built me up, strong, virile and happy, and I have been well ever since."

Ferrozone cures sickness by curing the real cause—lack of blood and nerve tone. It keeps people at their best—fit ready and anxious for work. In 50c. boxes only, six for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

Morning Times

The paper is the only Morning Daily published between Toronto and Ottawa, and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

Strangers visiting Peterboro are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the office of the Morning and Weekly Times, where they will be furnished with writing material, if needed.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press, and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 25 cents per month, and to outside points at $4 per year, strictly in advance.

UNION LABEL

PETERBORO, FEBRUARY 22 1906

A BUSINESS SESSION.

His Honor's message to the Ontario Legislature betokens a business session. The program embraces a lot of important matters which it is proposed to attend to during the session, and there will be plenty of work for the members.

Among the measures promised are these:

To improve the Agricultural college at Guelph.

To improve immigration into Ontario.

To improve the Ontario mining law.

To further extinguish the Indian title in various parts of the province.

To amend the county council law.

To amend the laws having relation to lands and mines.

To amend and consolidate the liquor license act.

To amend the volunteer grants act.

To amend the railway act, the street railway act and the electric railway act.

To amend the agriculture and arts act—probably in respect of the small fairs.

To amend and consolidate the various acts referring to companies.

To revise and amend the acts relating to public schools and the act respecting the Department of Education.

To amend the act respecting the University of Toronto.

To amend the supplementary act, 1906, providing for the taxation of railways.

A very good bill of fare, indeed.

PAIN AN ADVANTAGE.

Sir Frederic Treves, who brought King Edward through a dangerous illness a few years ago, has performed a service to the world by discussing before the Edinburgh Philosophical institution the beneficience of disease. What are commonly considered the symptoms of disease are, according to the eminent surgeon, not signs of progress of the ailment but proofs that the system is defending itself. Without these distressing indications of the nature of the trouble it might be impossible to relieve the sufferer. They are the alarm of the sentinel who tells at the same time where the citadel is invaded and that the invader is resisted.

Peritonitis, for example, is an exceedingly painful thing, but it is not dangerous. Nobody dies of peritonitis, says Sir Frederic. Peritonitis is nothing but a process of cure. The malady is appendicitis. Its progress is accomplished so secretly that if it were not for peritonitis the existence of appendicitis would not be discovered until it was too late to do anything for the patient. The appendix itself does not pain any one even when almost destroyed. But the peritoneum is more sensitive. It begins at once to fight the bacteria to which the appendix is giving way, and it notifies the brain through the medium of pain messengers that there is a battle going on.

Sir Frederic Treves cites the common cold as another instance of the rout of a secret foe through the alarm given by pain. Sneezing, catarrh, sore throat, coughing, and the general discomfort which accompanies a cold are not symptoms of a disease. The efforts of the sufferer should not be directed to stopping them directly, but to aiding nature, which is putting up a brave fight against dangerous bacteria. Indeed, a cold would in the majority of cases prove fatal if these symptoms of resistance were not present. The presence of infection would not be discovered until the bacteria were so numerous that a fight would be hopeless. The system that is too weak to resist of itself is almost beyond the aid of medicine.

Incidentally, a warning may be drawn from these sentences which should have weight with those economical people who think it cheaper to buy an advertised remedy than to consult a physician. A medicine which stops coughing, which allays inflammation, which deadens the pain, may be thwarting nature's efforts to cure. The kindly messenger must be welcomed, not slain; the soldiers of nature should be reinforced, not ordered to retreat.

In figuring up its losses during the war Russia neglects to mention the loss of its hard-earned reputation as a world power.

Judging by the pictures of Mr. Longworth, somebody should have sent him a bottle of hair restorer.

DR. TYERMAN SENDS RESIGNATION

The Liberal Member for Prince Albert Who is in Toronto, Has Decided to Wash His Hands of Western Insinuations.

Toronto, Feb. 21.—From the trend of affairs Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, must look for another Liberal candidate to contest the seat in a bye-election.

Dr. Tyerman, who is visiting in the city, announced to the press yesterday that he had sent in his resignation.

"I mailed it last night," said the doctor, "as soon as I heard that Judge Prendergast had completed his recount. It would have been in long ago if a legal technicality had not prevented its being accepted before the judge had finished his work.

"I am heartily disgusted with the atmosphere of innuendoes and recriminations that followed his, my first entrance into political life, and decided to wash my hands of it all as soon as the opportunity came."

"Will Mr. Donaldson have to find another opponent in the event of a bye-election?" Dr. Tyerman was asked.

"I cannot answer that positively either way. My present feelings express relief that I am out of it all. My party, however, may persuade me to re-contest the seat."

Dr. Tyerman refused to enter into any details of the current rumors of "crookedness" in his district. He knew nothing, he said, beyond hearsay.

Wonders of the Eye.

Viewed as an optical instrument, the human eye may well be called perfect, for it is an apparatus contained in a globe less than an inch in diameter, in which is produced an image practically perfect in form and color and which can be accurately adjusted almost instantly for every distance from five inches to infinity, which is movable in every direction, has an area small enough for the detection of the most minute details and at the same time large enough for the appreciation of large objects, and which enables us to see all shades of color and to estimate distance, solidity, and, to some extent, the consistency of objects, and yet this wonderful instrument, perhaps the most varied in its capabilities of any part of the body, is persistently misused and neglected. Is it any wonder that some day nature resents this treatment and leaves the offenders in total and perpetual blindness?

OF CALUMET, MICHIGAN,

offers a limited amount of its Treasury Stock at ONE DOLLAR per share, full paid and non-assessable. Properties consisting of four groups of lode claims and equal to claim area of 27 full lode claims, or about 270 acres, with two valuable water rights and a water reservoir—a lake of about 20 acres surface area.

Development is equal to 1700 lineal feet, at a cost of $15 per lineal foot—tunnels, drifts, cross-cuts, wings and surface cuts and trenches, and one ten gravity stamp concentrating mill. Three groups, water rights, mill and tunnel sites, etc., are fully paid; one group, held on title bond, is partly paid for. Good Grade of Profitable Milling are blocked out, in sight, to last for a sixty ton mill for over two years time. Safe and conservative estimate for mining the ore, delivering and milling it, at a cost of about $4.00 per ton. Three separate mill runs, for testing purposes, have returned from $8.40 to $14.30 per ton of rock, principally in gold.

This is a Bonanza for Intelligent Investors

In order to make operations absolutely up-to-date, perfect, both the mining and the reduction of ores, the Board of Directors have placed a limited amount of Treasury Stock at par value $1.00 per share on the market. Six reports of mine well known mining men. Properties situated in San Juan Gold Belt, San Miguel County, Southwestern Colorado.

ECONOMY, HONESTY and CONSERVATISM

Capitalization 500,000, par value $1.00, and non-assessable. Two years development, properties paid—as above stated, and we have in our treasury remaining 325,000 shares. Show us something better.

Hobbes and Geometry.

Hobbes was not yet fifteen when he went to Oxford. He did not much care for logic, yet he learned it and thought himself a good disputant. There is no reason to think he learned anything else at Oxford save a strong dislike of academic institutions and methods. He turned from the official studies to amuse himself with geography and voyages. As to mathematics, there was no official recognition of them at all while Hobbes was at the university, so there is nothing improbable in the statement that Hobbes had never opened a copy of Euclid until he was near middle age. The story is best told in Aubrey's own words:

"He was forty years old when he looked on geometry, which happened accidentally. Being in a gentleman's library, 'Euclid's Elements' lay open, and it was the forty-seventh proposition Lib. I, so he read the proposition. 'By George,' says he, 'this is impossible!' So he read the demonstration of it, which referred him back to another, which he also read, 'et sic deinceps,' that at last he was demonstratively convinced of that truth. This made him in love with geometry."

The Oldest Tale of a Tub.

The cynics, so called from the Greek word for a dog, were a rude, snarling sect of so called philosophers, who despised riches, the arts and all culture. Among these Diogenes was conspicuous. He was born in 412 B. C., and when a man he dressed in a coarse robe, which covered him day and night, and carried a wooden bowl and a bag for his alms and his food. His home was a large tub discarded from the temple of Cybele, a huge earthen jar, that had held wine or oil for the services and sacrifices of the temple. Though cracked and patched, it was large enough to hold him lying at full length. The story goes that Alexander the Great came up to him one day and asked what he could do for him. "Don't stand between me and the sun," was the curt reply, upon which the emperor is said to have exclaimed, "If I were not Alexander I would be Diogenes!"

Lightning as a Rock Driller.

"Lightning when in the mood has an ugly habit of drilling," writes an English observer. "It will drill the hardest rock, rock which would turn cold steel, and not only drill but vitrify it. They have found in Cumberland channels from thirty feet deep and from two to four inches in circumference. The interior was hard and glazed where the solid substance had been melted by the stabbing flashes. Artificial experiment has shown that a powerful shock from a battery will vitrify finely powdered glass, but not feldspar or quartz. The lightning, however, does it in the manner described—not in one place, but in many, showing that before striking the ground it divided into several branches, each strong enough to penetrate and liquefy the solid rock."

In a Man's Pockets.

A fairly well equipped gentleman true to his calling and to his friends carries quite a kit of tools. There are a jackknife, a match box, a cigar cutter, a nail file, a corkscrew, a finger nail tool and possibly a cigar holder and some good five centers to give away. And yet women wonder what he finds to put in his pockets. To facilitate further the business of just hanging around he must have a little money, a handkerchief, bunch of keys, fountain pen, some lead pencils and sharpener, eyeglasses, notebook, watch, old letters, papers of more or less supposed value and a cardcase. Not one pocket could be spared unless it is the one on his nightshirt, and that looks so sweet.

Told by the Watch.

To tell the points of the compass by a watch point the hour hand at the sun; then south is halfway between the hour hand and the figure 12 of the dial. To measure an angle by a watch lay two straight edged pieces of paper on the angle, crossing at the apex. Holding them where they overlap, lay them on the face of the watch, with the apex at the center. Read the angle by the minutes of the dial, each minute being six degrees of arc. It is easy to measure within two or three degrees in this way.

Why His Head Didn't Ring.

Two Scotsmen turning a corner came into collision. The shock stunned one of them. He pulled off his hat and, laying his hand on his brow, said: "Sic a blow. My heid's a-ringing again."

"Nae wonder," said his companion. "Your heid was aye empty—that makes it ring. My heid diesna ring a bit."

"How could it ring," said the other, "seein' it was aye crackit?"

Long Words.

The longest words in English are short by comparison with certain monstrosities in other languages. It is common in German to use compounds which, although not involved or cumbersome in meaning, look alarmingly long, and it is said that one Sanskrit word has no less than 152 syllables.

The Wise Wife.

Mrs. Tom—I wouldn't let my husband have his own way as yours does. Mrs. Dick—Does he? Mrs. Tom—I heard him say so today. Mrs. Dick (softly)—I'm glad he thinks so. I've been a long time teaching him that.

Quite Solid.

"Let me see a plain wedding ring."

"Solid?"

"You bet I'm solid. We've been engaged seven a month."

The Right of Way.

In the early days of western railway building, days not so long gone by as to be out of memory, there were many exciting races between rival roads for the possession of important mountain passes. Such a race, says the World's Work, was that between the Santa Fe and the Rio Grande roads for the right of way through Raton pass to New Mexico and the southwest.

Engineers and construction gangs worked in mad haste to get to it ahead of their rivals. The victory fell to the chief of the Santa Fe. When the Rio Grande cohorts arrived they found him alone in one of the big gorges, shovel in hand, slicing earth from an 8,000 foot hill.

"What are you doing here?" they asked.

"Constructing a railroad," he replied. He turned another shovelful of dirt, dropped the tool and hitched up his heavy cartridge belt.

"Any one who interferes with the Santa Fe does it at his own risk," he said quietly.

First the Rio Grande men laughed, and then they raged, and then they turned and went away. Their road was cut off from the south forever.

A Bath in Bubbles.

"To take a bath at Tiflis, in Russian Caucasia, is to court a sever to be forgotten experience," says one who knows. "The masseur who presides over the toilet of his patrons is a weird looking figure. His head is shaved, a rag is twisted around his waist, and his feet are dyed a beautiful red. You are seized by this individual, rubbed, pushed face downward on a marble slab, find his feet in your spine and his hands upon your shoulders. Then he grinds his feet up and down your back. They are round your neck, on your head—everywhere! Then he vaults lightly off, and in a moment, from a linen bag filled with soap, he has squeezed clouds of perfumed bubbles, and you are hidden in them from head to foot as completely as if you had fallen into a snowdrift. You are not absolutely bruised, but you are clean."

The Name of China.

We speak of China and the Chinese, little thinking that the natives of the Flowery Kingdom never hear those terms until after leaving the place of their birth or coming in contact with some traveler. They have many names by which they designate themselves and the land which they inhabit, but Chinese and China are not among the number. The most ancient name of China is Tienhai, which signifies "beneath the sky." Since the present ruling house took control of the empire in 1650 the name of Tatsingkwoh has been applied to the kingdom as a whole and Chungkwoh to that portion known to American readers as the Middle Kingdom.

Still Had a Little Pride.

"What is this man charged with?" asked the police justice.

"Stealing a dog, your honor," said the officer.

"Well, sir, what have you got to say for yourself?"

"Your honor," answered the prisoner, drawing a grimy coat sleeve across his nose, "if you'll make it embezzlement I'll plead guilty. I may be a thief, but I've got feelings."

To the Canadian Investor

DORES-MONTGOMERY MINING COMPANY

OF BULLFROG, NEVADA

The undersigned is pleased to announce to the investors of Canada that he has been appointed Canadian Fiscal Agent of the above company, and is offering a limited amount of treasury stock at 25c. per share for development work. This property is just 1200 feet southwest of the famous Montgomery Shoshone mine and both have unquestionably the same vein. The group shows a well defined vein cropping out through, and it is a perfect fissure. A six inch talc seam on the hanging wall gives high values. We have also several other ledges, and it is only a matter of development work to make this property equal to any producer in the section.

The management of the Montgomery Shoshone conservatively estimates that the mines has produced $300,000 worth of ore. If this is right, the ore from the mines has averaged about $975 a ton, or about $1800 for every foot of sinking, the mine being 6 x 7 in clear.

Ore from the mines running less than $200 is thrown over the dump as milling ore. No less than 100 tons of ore has been shipped from this mine, all of it coming from the mines. Another shipment of 10 tons or more will be made via Las Vegas in a few days.

The figures given above are startling in the extreme, but the measurements and ore values as quoted are official—direct from the management of the wonderful mine that is today astonishing the world.

This property is only 1200 feet from the Dorse Montgomery Mine.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

COAL.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

QUARTZ.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $20 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15. Ox1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

—The Ladies' Literary Association of St. Peter's T.A.S. will meet this evening. Miss Vivian Donoghue will read a paper on "Pioneer days in Canada."

—Dr Bruce Smith, the Ontario Government official, recommends that a prison and reformatory be established in this province north of Lake Superior.

—Sir Thomas Shaughnessy of the C. P.R., in declining an invitation from the Board of Trade of Brantford, hinted that the C.P.R. desired closer connected with the city.

The funeral of the late Alfred McDonald will take place this morning at nine o'clock, instead of ten, as announced, from the family residence, No. 2 Crescent street to St. Peter's Cathedral, and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery.

—Mr. James Allen, proprietor of the Allen House, has sold his well-known stallion New Ontario Chief, to Mr. John Aehinson, of South, for the handsome sum of $1650. Mr. Allen is now making arrangements to purchase a thoroughbred French Stallion.

—Will some reader of The Times please ask the Fays when our progressive city council is going to give five P.C. Miller a suit of regulation police clothing. It does not require the skill or leger-de-main of those skilled magicians to notify them that it is required.

—J. J. Turner & Sons have received an order from the municipal council of the county of Perth for five double tents for the use of consumptive patients in that municipality. You can safely bet that when this firm gets an order they will "Turner" in on short notice.

—Last night a local merchant on George street, left seven pairs of rubbers hanging outside his shop after closing up. Early this morning he will be wondering whether the rubbers have gone into "Innocuous desuetude," or whether a thief has captured them. For full information he might apply to Mr. Lockhart, of R. A. Dutton & Co., who saved the goods.

ITALIAN ARRESTED

Frank Boccacio in Limbo for Cashing Cheques.

Last night a young, and for the benefit of our young lady readers, interesting looking, Italian, passed the weary hours away, reclining on the hard side of a plank in cell No. 3, Hotel des Cops. This man whose name is given in the evening papers as Razio alias William, and Derangio, but as far as our feeble powers of pencil wound hand, called by the same name as the eminent writer, Boccacio, and who has been working in the Cordage Co., was arrested yesterday afternoon by P. C. Miller, and is alleged to wrongfully cashed railway work cheques drawn in favor of Guseppi De Napri. It appears that both he and the companionat were working on a railway line some distance from the city and that the latter gave him some cheques to take to the city and give to Carman Aosta, who keeps a boarding house at 45 Farmer street, and who was authorized to cash the cheques. It appears instead of giving them to the boarding house keeper he took a forged order up to Mr. Minnecola Hunter street, and he endorsed the cheques on the strength of the order which was purported to give the prisoner the authority to get them cashed. The offence was committed in 1904.

The prisoner told a Times representative last night that he did cash a cheque in October of 1904, that he left this city to work at a distance and that on his return here the following September he wrote a friend of the men, then working in Ottawa, that he had the money and would send it on request. As no such demand he claims, was made, he spent the money and is now "broke" with the exception of this week's wages due at the Cordage Co. He will appear for trial this morning.

A WESTERN BRANCH

Retail Merchants Protective Association Now Has Branch in Winnipeg

Mr. Robert Fair, president of the local Retail Merchants' Association, has received a letter from Mr. E. M. Trowern, travelling secretary of the association, stating that he has just organized a branch at Winnipeg, which included delegates from the Province of Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan, thus increasing the membership of the Dominion Association by over 1,000 members.

THE COUNCIL ACT

Deputation Wait on Hon. Mr. Hanna Asking Repeal.

Considerable interest is taken in the Commee Bill throughout this city. As most of our readers are aware a strong deputation was sent by the city o Toronto, including City Clerk Armstrong of Peterboro, and representatives of other cities to wait on Hon. Mr. Hanna, to discuss repeal or amendment of "That piece of iniquity." During their interview an interesting discussion was upon a proposition to prohibit suits for damages against municipalities because of disrepair of roadways or sidewalks.

It was shown that liability for such actions is putting a premium upon perjury, and the city has no redress.

The deputation requested legislation providing two-year terms for members of all municipal governments; the right to put down roadways or sewers on a two-third vote of the Council without regard to petitions for or against such improvements; and power for municipalities, to build and operate street railways, lighting, and power, or other public utilities, in opposition to existing companies, unless a positive agreement to the contrary existed.

Changes in the assessment law were also discussed, and Mr. Hanna made no definite pronouncement.

Controller Hubbard said that the feeling is becoming more general that the Commee Act should be repealed, because it is beginning to be felt that if a municipality desires to go into supply any public need it is absurd that it should be debarred from doing so, while private companies can come in and compete with present companies."

Mark Street Auxiliary Celebrates.

There was a large attendance when the Mark street Auxiliary of the Women's Missionary Society celebrated the silver anniversary. The meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. J. G. Lewis. Mrs. Alexander Morrow gave an address. A Bible reading was given by Mrs. (Rev.) W. J. Crothers and several vocal selections were rendered by Miss Kendry. The Mark St. choir was also present and assisted in the programme.

Habit-forming Medicines.

Whatever may be the fact as to many of the so-called patent medicines containing injurious ingredients as broadly published in some formula of more or less influence, this publicity has certainly been of great benefit in arousing needed attention to this subject. It has, in a considerable measure, resulted in the most intelligent people avoiding such foods and medicines as may be fairly suspected of containing the injurious ingredients complained of. Recognizing this fact some time ago, Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., "took time by the forelock," as it were, and published broadcast all the ingredients of which his popular medicines are composed. Thus he has completely forestalled all harping critics and all opposition that might otherwise be urged against his medicines, because they are now or KNOWN composition. For-thermore, from the formula printed on every bottle wrapper, it will be seen that these medicines contain no alcohol or other habit-forming drugs. Neither do they contain any narcotics or injurious agents, their ingredients being purely vegetable, extracted from the roots of medicinal plants found growing in the depths of our American forests and of well recognized curative virtues.

Instead of alcohol, which even in small portions long continued, as in obstinate cases of disease, is decidedly objectionable from its tendency to produce a craving for stimulants, Dr. Pierce employs chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine, which of itself is a valuable remedy in many cases of chronic diseases, being a superior demulcent, antiseptic, antiferment and supporting nutritive. It enhances the curative action of the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherry bark and Bloodroot, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery," in all bronchial, throat and lung affections attended with severe coughs. As will be seen from the writings of the eminent Drs. Grover Coe, of New York; Bartholow, of Jefferson Medical College, Phila.; Scudder, of Cincinnati; Ellingwood, of Chicago; Hale, of Chicago, and others, who stand as leaders in their several schools of practice, the foregoing agents are the very best ingredients that Dr. Pierce could have chosen to make up his famous "Discovery" for the cure of not only bronchial, throat and lung affections, but also of chronic catarrh in all its various forms wherever located.

Young Lady at Lakefield Relates Experience at Recent Carnival.

Yesterday The Times was given an outline of a conversation in the house of a young lady from Lakefield, who attended the recent Forresters' carnival. The story, told by a guest at the young ladies' father's house runs thuswise.

"You ought to have seen me," said the vivacious young lady to a guest the clergyman of her family.

"I'd just got the skates on and made a start, when I came down on my—"

"Maggie!" said her mother.

"What! Oh, it was funny! One skate went one way, and the other t'other and down I came on my—"

"Margaret!" reprovingly spoke her father.

"Well, what! They scooted from under me, and down I came on my—"

"Margaret!" yelled both her parents.

"On my little brother, who had me by the hand, and like to have smashed him. Now, what's the matter?"

The girl's mother emerged from behind the coffee pot, a sigh of relief escaped from the minister, and the old gentleman turned the conversation.

STARVING IN PETERBOROUGH

Men and Women who are in Need—Liberal Offer.

There are scores of people in Peterboro and vicinity who are starving in the midst of plenty. This is not because they are in need of food, but because they cannot digest the food they eat.

To help these unfortunates our leading druggists have recently received a large supply of Mi-o-na, the most recent discovery for the cure of stomach troubles.

Mi-o-na is an universal combination of remedies for the stomach and digestive organs than heretofore have been little known in this country. It soothes and heals the irritated mucous membranes of the stomach, stimulates the solar plexus, and strengthens the nervous system.

One little tablet out of a 50 cent box of Mi-o-na before meals, and you can eat what you like and when you like. You will have no more head-aches, back-aches, heart-burn, or indigestion. Mi-o-na will give you perfect health and strength.

If you cannot obtain Mi-o-na of your druggist, it will be sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of price. Write us for advice on your case from a leading stomach specialist which will be sent free. The B. T. Booth Company, Ithaca, N. Y.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, marked on the envelope "Tenders for Construction," will be received at the office of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway at Ottawa, until twelve o'clock noon on Monday the 13th day of March, 1906, for the work required for the construction, in accordance with the plans, profiles and specifications of said Commissioners, for the following sections of the Transcontinental Railway, the said work to be completed on or before the first day of September, 1907, viz.:—

(1) District "F." From a point designated on the plans of the said Commissioner at or near the City of Winnipeg, to a point known as Peninsula Crossing, near the junction point of the Fort William branch of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, a distance of about 245 miles.

(2) District "B." From a point designated on the plans of the said Commissioners, at the north end of the Quebec Bridge and Railway Company's bridge in the vicinity of the City of Quebec, to a point near La Tuque, a distance of about 150 miles.

(3) A steel viaduct about 3,000 feet long across the Cap Rouge Valley, in said District "B," in the vicinity of the City of Quebec, the work to be performed in accordance with the General Specifications of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway, and the General Specifications for steel bridges and viaducts of the Department of Railways and Canals of Canada, 1905.

Plans, profiles and specifications may be seen in the office of the Chief Engineer of the Commissioners at Ottawa, also in the office of the District Engineer at Kenora, Ontario, for the section of District "F," and for the section of District "B" in the office of the District Engineer at Quebec.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made in duplicate, and on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners.

Separate tenders must be submitted for the work in each District.

Tenderers shall not be in any way entitled to rely upon the classification or any other information given by any person on behalf of the Commissioners, and before submitting any tender, bidders should make a careful examination of the plans, profiles, drawings and specifications, and read the forms to be executed, and fully inform themselves as to the quantity and quality of materials and character of workmanship required; and are understood to accept and agree to be bound by the terms and conditions contained in the form of contract, specifications, &c., annexed to the form of tender.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank of the Dominion of Canada, payable to the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway for the sum of four hundred thousand dollars ($400,000), for District "F," and two hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars ($225,000), for District "B," and thirty-five thousand dollars ($35,000) for steel viaduct in said District "B." Any person whose tender is accepted shall within ten days after the acceptance thereof furnish the security required by the Commissioners for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms, sign the contract, specifications and other documents required to be signed by said Commissioners; and in any case of refusal or failure on the part of the party whose tender is accepted to complete and execute a contract with the said Commissioners and to furnish the approved security within ten days after the acceptance of the tender, the said cheque shall be forfeited to the Commissioners as liquidated damages for such refusal or failure, and all contract rights acquired by the acceptance of the tender shall be forfeited. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

"All mechanics, labourers or other persons who perform labour for the purposes of the construction of the works hereby contracted for shall be paid such wages as are generally accepted as current for competent workmen in the District in which the work is being performed, and, if there is no current rate in such District, then a fair and reasonable rate; and, in the event of a dispute arising as to what is the current or a fair and reasonable rate, it shall be determined by the Commissioners, whose decision shall be final."

"This agreement is subject to the regulations now in force, or which may at any time hereafter be in force during the construction of the works hereby contracted for, made under the authority of the Department of Labour, and which are or shall be applicable to such works."

"The contractor shall in connection with the whole of the said work, as far as practicable use only material, machinery, plant, supplies and rolling stock manufactured or produced in Canada, provided the same can be obtained as cheaply and upon as good terms in Canada as elsewhere, having regard to quality and price."

The contractor shall conform to the Fire Regulations adopted by the Commissioners, and also to the Laws and Regulations respecting fires in the different Provinces wherein the work is being performed.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

ONE OF THE RICHEST PROSPECTS EVER DISCOVERED.

The Iron Spar Mining Co.

The Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., owning valuable property on the divide between the States of Idaho and Montana, a copper proposition of exceptional promise, a property that even a novice, by personal inspection, ought to discern merits in, so apparent are the indications which guide the prospector in the work of making great mineral discoveries. An immense copper bearing ledge traverses the ground from east to west and is so well defined and conspicuous in its surface outcrop that anyone however unfamiliar with outward appearances of mineralization, once shown the ledge, may follow it uninterruptedly for several thousand feet. The fact is that copper ores appear in the vein gangue even to the grass roots.

The vein is large, 15 to 20 feet wide, and horizontally continuous across the whole extent of the claims, a distance of 6,000 feet. Being a true fissure and cutting the country formation at a considerable angle, it is entirely consistent with geological laws to suppose that it has also great vertical dimension.

Everybody who has made any study of the profits derived from successful copper mining operations can not have failed to observe the splendid and continuous dividends paid to investors. Copper mining has been so dependable a source of revenue throughout the world that today many investors prefer it to the more fickle high grade gold propositions. Look at the enormous and steady profits paid investors in all the great copper fields of the world, as viz.: The Lake Superior mines in Michigan, Butte mines in Montana, Bisbee and Tombstone in Arizona, the mines of Utah, the great Tintic mines in Spain, and the Mexican mines. The demand for copper increases with the advance of civilization and the immense demand created by the growing popularization of electrical power justifies the belief that the supply will hardly keep pace with the demand for years to come. Copper mining is safe and profitable, once you have found a good property. That is just what we are trying to introduce to you, and you have this in the Iron Spar.

The sum of 400,000 shares of the fully paid capital stock was set aside as a treasury fund to be devoted to the improvement, development and equipment of the property. Nearly the entire block remains in the treasury at the present date, only so much having been drawn out as was necessary to defray the expenses of operation since the formation of the Company. The miners have all taken stock as pay instead of cash.

The undersigned has a limited number of Shares for sale at TEN CENTS per share. All interested should call or write at once.

HIGH IN BALOON O'ER PEAKS OF PYRENEES

PARIS, Feb. 24.

A dramatic story of his voyage through the air has been told by Signor Duro, who won the Deutsch Cup by crossing the Pyrenees in a balloon.

In the course of an interview yesterday he stated that his start was delayed at Pau, andhewas not able to get away until 4 o'clock in the evening. Consequently, the greater part of his journey was made in the dark.

Soon after the start he rose to a height of 4500 feet, and was in the clouds. He threw out ballast, and rose to 5000 feet, a height sufficient to cross the highest point in the Pyrenees—the Pic du Midi, 4500 feet high.

He had miscalculated his height, however, and his guide rope caught. Just as he was about to cut it a gust of wind set him free.

But to insure no further accident, he threw out two sacks of ballast, and at once rose to a height of 9000 to 11,000 feet. It became intensely cold, the thermometer showing 35 degrees below freezing point.

Then far below him he saw some lights, and he knew that his object had been accomplished, and he had crossed the mountain range.

He was without a light, and had to make his observations by the glow of a cigar, which he smoked in a gauze cover, especially invented by him for safe smoking in a balloon.

Then the balloon began steadily to descend. At midnight the guide rope struck the ground. The ballast was frozen hard, and Signor Duro had to throw out whole bags at a time. His provisions also were frozen, and was compelled to fast.

He passed over Madrid at 1.30 a. m., and finally descended at Guadixe, on the railway between Almeira and Madrid, at 8 o'clock in the morning. The wind was taking him directly toward Morocco, but he had no inclination to go there, he said. Had the wind been right for Algeria, he might have continued the voyage, as he had enough ballast to last until 4 o'clock in the evening.

INJURED POLICEMAN IS AIDED BY PRINCE

CALCUTTA, Feb. 24.

The Prince and Princess of Wales were the chief actors this morning in a little incident which will be remembered in Mysore long years after the ceremonials of the royal visit are forgotten.

As they were motoring to Seringapatam to view the ruins, the Princess saw a native policeman lying in the road. He had been preceding the royal motorists on a bicycle, and had fallen and broken his leg.

The Princess ordered the driver to stop, and the Prince, alighting, walked along the road to where the man lay. On hearing the nature of the injuries the Prince assisted in obtaining water for the man, and did not return to the car, in which the Princess remained, until the man had been removed to the hospital.

The action was intensely appreciated by the natives present, and the news of the Prince's kindness spread rapidly.

An eye-witness tells me that as the man was carried away the natives could be heard asking one another: "Who could have supposed that so great a man would ever have been so fortunate as to receive such notice from the Shahzada?"

When the royal visitors returned from Seringapatam every one had heard the story, and they were received with unprecedented enthusiasm.

Nothing could have impressed the native mind more than the sympathy shown by the Emperor's son for a humble native official. The details will be carried to every corner of the State.

MORE WOMEN SHOT BY BRUTAL COSSACKS

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 24.

Fifty educated Esthonians at Dorpat, most of them landowners, have telegraphed a protest to the St. Petersburg newspapers against wholesale military executions in districts where revolutionaries did not destroy property.

It is stated to-day that over seventy alleged revolutionaries have been shot at Pskin, where no violence had been committed. At Lissenzeno, in Pernambuco, two women and several children, who were cowering in the ruins of a house, were shot in cold blood by Cossacks.

BERLIN, Feb. 17.

A sensation surrounds Princess Fahim, who is appearing in Schumann's circus here as a bareback rider.

The princess, an American named Blanche Bertram, was a member of a German circus company visited Constantinople. Among the spectators was Prince Fahim, an official dignitary of the Turkish court, who fell in love with her and married her, against the Mohammedan rites.

The discovery that a Mohammedan Prince, pledged to the suppression of morals, was wedding a circus rider, brought Fahim to a rude desert spot in Arabia.

The Turkish police arrested the Princess and expelled her from Turkey penniless.

She was compelled to support her husband by her own efforts. But the princess retains her diamonds and jewels, valued at several thousands, and as a Princess she now commands a princely salary.

Monks of St. Bernard to Drive Visitors to and From Famous Monastery.

GENEVA, Feb. 17.

The monks of the Grand St. Bernard will soon make their debut as chauffeurs.

After a struggle lasting over a year they have received the permission from the Vatican and Italian authorities to run a motor-car service between the foot-hills of Grand St. Bernard and Empire—their properties—and Domodossola and Aosta, the townships will be shown from the snowy mountains, who will very soon.

The cars, which are being specially constructed to climb the steep gradients, will at the present be employed for the transport of tourists only.

Later, however, the monks intend to start a service for anybody who wish to visit their hospices in the summer months.

JAILS CANNOT HOLD HIM

Champion Prison Breaker of Spain is Arrested in Lisbon.

LISBON, Feb. 17.—One of Spain's most noted jail breakers, Candido Alcoschel, has just been arrested here.

He has broken out of the Carcel Modelo, of Madrid; the Carcel de Pinto, and the ordinary prison at Madrid several times in the last five years, and always marks his flight by a big jewel robbery.

As a last resource, the authorities sent him to a penitentiary in Leanda, in Portuguese Africa. Thence he also escaped and embarked on a steamer for Lisbon.

News of his escape had, however, been telegraphed to Europe, and a few hours after he landed he was again in the hands of the police.

ENGLISH TOURIST MISSING

HEIDELBERG, Feb. 17.—The police authorities here are informed that an Austrian subject, named Eduard Zippel, who has been arrested in Rova, in the Austrian Alps, has been found to be in possession of the watch and visiting cards of Thomas Reid, a teacher from Paisley, who disappeared from Heidelberg while touring in Germany in July last.

An Austrian woman has been arrested here under suspicion of being an accomplice in what is believed to have been the murder of Mr. Reid.

Mr. Reid was last seen alive on the morning of Sunday, July 30, at Heidelberg. He had announced his intention of going to Baden, but did not arrive there.

CLAIRVOYANT PROSECUTED

Bank Director's Reputation Said to be Injured by Woman.

ZURICH, Feb. 17.—A bank director at St. Gallen is prosecuting a clairvoyant of Zurich for defamation of character in representing him to the police as a defaulter.

Some time ago $20,000 was lost from the bank. The police went to the clairvoyant for assistance, and she told them to search the house of the bank director in Wyl.

The money, she said, was made up in bank notes, and would be found in the lining of an old brown hat.

The police acted on this information, but found no old brown hat and no money, and the manager brought his action. The affair has excited great indignation against the police in the canton.

PRINCESS BEATRICE OF COBURG

KING'S NIECE MAY WED A PRINCE OF HANOVER

Gossip Says Another Marriage Will Occur in English Royal Family This Year.

LONDON, Feb. 17.

If Continental gossip proves true, it is not unlikely that another marriage will take place in the English royal family before the year is over.

The prospective bride is said to be the pretty and vivacious Princess Beatrice of Coburg, who spends as much of her time here as the season. The youngest daughter of the late Duke of Edinburgh, she is clever and popular and has already refused several advantageous proposals.

Prince George of Brunswick-Luneburg, to whom it is said she is to be betrothed, is the eldest son of the Duke of Cumberland, to whose immense wealth he is heir, and should the present Duke come to the throne of Hanover he would, by succeeding the throne of Brunswick, figure as a sovereign Prince George is an important station.

PARIS, Feb. 17.

The Queen of Sweden and her son, Prince Eugene, have just arrived in this city.

Gossiping tales are merely stopping on their way to Monaco where they will be joined by King Oscar at the end of the month. It is stated in the Paris newspapers, however, that the Prince is determined to renounce his royal rights and marry a young Swedish virtuoso, a concert singer, resident in Paris, with whom he is deeply in love.

The story goes that for months past the King and Queen have tried to force him from his decision, but he has obstinately made up his mind to marry the lady of his choice. The Queen has therefore consented to come to Paris to see the lady.

BATTENBERG PRINCE TO BECOME BENEDICT

PARIS, Feb. 17.

The Journal announces today that Prince Alexander of Battenberg, Princess Ena's brother, has been betrothed to Princess Marguerite Murat, the daughter of Joachim Napoleon Prince Murat and Comte Ney d'Elchingen.

The news of the engagement is officially contradicted, but it is generally understood here that the announcement is simply a premature one. The official announcement will possibly be made in a few weeks.

Princess Marguerite is a charming girl of 18, and is a great favorite in Paris society. She is descended on her mother's side from Marshal Ney.

POLICE CHASE THIEVES IN FAST MOTOR CARS

Goods Worth $100,000 Stolen by Clever and Daring Gang of Thirty-Five.

POSED AS RAILWAY MEN

PARIS, Feb. 17.

The Paris police have succeeded in arresting a gang of thirty-five thieves, whose exploits were of a most audacious character. They were captained by an ex-member of the Paris police force, a man named Arnaud.

One of the methods adopted by the thieves was to steal goods by means of an imitation railway goods van. The van, in charge of two or three of the men, would call at large warehouses from which goods were likely to be sent by rail. They collected the parcels, entered them up in a dummy receipt book and drove off. In this way over $20,000 worth of goods have been stolen since the beginning of the year.

The headquarters of the gang was on a piece of waste land at Levallois, a suburb of Paris, where they carried on a business as owners of a motor garage. The leaders were in the habit of using a motor car to drive to and from their headquarters.

Several times the police watched their car, but were never able to trace it to Levallois. They therefore determined to chase the thieves in a motor car, and on Monday two detective inspectors hired a car and began following the thieves from place to place. At last, seeing that they were followed, the thieves put on full speed and succeeded in out-distancing their pursuers.

Yesterday the police determined to be equal with them, and, accepting a couple of racing machines, gave chase. The police, however, were stopped four driving at a speed of twenty-five miles an hour, but it was only when the second car came up with a police Magistrate inside that they were allowed to proceed.

Eventually the whole gang of thirty-five thieves were captured, and it was found that at the garage they had a complete workshop fitted up for the alteration of stolen motor cars and bicycles.

ASSASSINS THREATEN FINANCIER'S LIFE

Agent of Russian Government in Berlin Told That His Death Has Been Decided On.

BERLIN, Feb. 17.

Herr von Mendelssohn, the great German financier, has been confronted to death by the Russian revolutionary party.

He received this information by mail on his Berlin residence this morning, and communicated with the police at once.

Elaborate precautions are now taken by the financier to avert his threatened assassination. Three mounted police patrol the pavement, who, by shadowing the movements and proceedings of the suspected, will prevent any attempt at carrying out the dastardly threat.

Herr von Mendelssohn, who holds an exposed position, and for that reason is always in danger from the revolutionary party, receives the sympathy of Germany, and the representatives of the German Government in the Russian capital have been instructed to express to the Russian Government the sympathy of the German Government. Herr von Mendelssohn and his family are considered as forming part of Germany, because they are nearly all united under her national banner.

BRIDES FOR CANADA FROM SALVATION ARMY

Booth's Great Organization Adds Matrimonial Bureau to Its Other Agencies.

CHANCE FOR THE GIRLS

LONDON, Feb. 17.

To its multifarious agencies the Salvation Army is to add an emigration bureau of a matrimonial nature on a great scale.

This far-reaching decision was taken at a conference of officials in London yesterday, and [illegible] has been arrived when the army can be of useful service in this respect to the entire world," said Mr. Cowper, territorial commissioner, whose headquarters are in Toronto, Canada, yesterday, in making the announcement.

Work is to be begun forthwith. Fifty marriageable young women will leave London for Canada on the first emigrant steamer, Empress, which sails March 1, and others will follow soon afterward.

"There are 10,000 men at least in Canada waiting for brides," said Major Morris, deputy secretary for emigration.

According to Colonel Lamb, head of the emigration department in London, the Salvation Army will act as a chaperone.

"We intend," he said, "to see that a young girl is given a proper introduction and placed in the right society; in fact, to do the practical thing in a commonsense fashion.

"When a girl has a proposal she can have proper advice. If she asks we shall inquire into the character and pedigree of her suitor."

The officials will arrange such entertainments as garden parties and harvest festivals to allow the men from the Western plains to meet the young women.

In the meantime, great quantities of letters from girls with matrimonial proclivities are being received by the Salvation Army. Whether or not this is due to the alleged decline of love-making or to the strong feminine love of romance which finds great play across the wide ocean and weighs not pluses the officials have not decided.

ESTATE BEQUEATHED BY TALKING MACHINE

VIENNA, Feb. 17.

Alois Stabo, the son of a wealthy peasant of Szegedin, Hungary, who died recently, has been arrested for forging a will by means of a phonograph.

Shortly before the death of the peasant, the servants were called into his room and heard a voice proceeding from the bed say: "I leave all my property to my eldest son, Alois, and my other children are to get nothing."

As a verbal statement made by a testator when on the point of death, in the presence of witnesses, constitutes a valid will in Hungary, this disposition of the peasant's property was upheld in the courts.

A few days ago however, Alois' brothers, with whom he had quarrelled, informed the police that the voice the servants heard was not that of his father, but that Alois had spoken the words into a phonograph. He had placed the instrument under his father's bed, and when the old man had left comfortable, soon called the servants in and set it going.

The police searched his house, and found the phonograph, record, and the machine. Stabo is now to be charged with fraud.

The Scourge of Consumption

Thousands Are Dying—If Tired Languid or Run Down Get Protection Before Too Late

No child, man or woman is safe from consumption unless their blood is pure, rich and nourishing.

Allow the blood to become thin, and immediately the whole system grows weak. The lungs are deprived of resisting power and the ever-present tubercular bacilli develops.

The most positive protection against consumption is Ferrozone, which restores the blood to full strength. Weak organs are instantly strengthened. Worn-out tissues are rebuilt. New life is given to the lungs and all danger of consumption is destroyed.

Mrs. E. J. Richardson, Manotick, Ont., tells as follows of her enormous gain in health from Ferrozone: "For two years I was not well. I was thin and anaemic. Towards spring I fell into a condition of nervous exhaustion. A dead tiredness hung over me like a load of lead. Housework of any kind I simply couldn't do. A bad cough developed that worried me greatly for I thought it might be tubercular. When I first read of Ferrozone I was convinced it was good. I took it regularly for eight weeks and the change in my condition was wonderful. My cheeks filled out and became clear and rosy. I gained eight pounds and now am strong and vigorous as possible."

Ferrozone feeds, nourishes and tones up the body—it sends the thrill and vim of robust health from head to foot—makes you feel better at once. Won't you use Ferrozone? Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

MUNICIPAL EXTRAVAGANCE.

The tendency of Ontario municipalities is to increase the burdens of debt and taxation. The showing is one that ought to make municipal officials pause, and lead people to enquire where it will end. The statistics show that the increase is very rapid. In 1900 the taxation imposed was $12,982,821, in 1904 it was $15,553,950.

The rate per head in 1900 was $6.45; in 1904 it was $7.49.

The average rate on the dollar in 1900 was 15.8 and in 1904 it was 17.2.

In 1900 the debenture debt of the municipalities was $57,172,802; in 1903 it had increased to $63,927,539.

In 1900 the floating debt was $7,708,083; in 1903 it was $8,596,493.

The population has increased from 2,013,864 in 1900 to 2,076,970 in 1904.

The population has increased a little over 3 per cent, in four years; the debt has increased about 11 per cent. in three years.

The figures should be studied. There is in them a warning against extravagance. The municipal councils are, generally speaking, poor financiers. In spite of the good times they have been running into debt and piling up tax burdens. It is time they began to take in sail.

USELESS BILLS.

Hardly a legislature assembles anywhere but some legislator of more or less prescoity thinks it incumbent upon himself to introduce a bill which is perhaps nothing more than an old paper under a new reading. Many bills of this character have frequently sprung up in the Ontario legislature and more are likely to at some my session. Not one in a dozen have any merit in them, and are not informed by the constituents of the members introducing same. Generally speaking, if the legislatures would repeal about half the laws now on the statutes and rigidly insist upon the enforcement of the others, the country at large would be far better off. A good and needed law is frequently necessary as conditions change, but a good watchdog at the law-making mill is also necessary.

In Paris a church was flooded in order to get the people out. In this country the puzzling problem is how to get the people in.

A GOOD ENTERTAINMENT

The Fays Drew a Crowded House and Kept the Audience Amused.

Last night the opera house was crowded to the doors with a highly delighted and deeply interested audience. Some of the questions answered by Mrs. Fay caused an uneasy feeling and a creepy sensation to pass through the audience.

A leading lady member of the Methodist church, was heard to say distinctly, as she made her exit from the house, "Mr. ——. I'm sure it is telepathy or wave thoughts that suggest the replies Mrs. Fay gives." However it is done, the exhibition is done well and a Philadelphia lawyer would be puzzled to give the key to the situation. The Fays have caught on in this city, and are sure of crowded houses when they next appear which we hope will not be as far off as intimated by Mr. Fay last night. It is a good clean, enjoyable, amusing, and if we had only the solution of the mysteries shown, we might add instructive show.

LOCAL ARTISTE

Mrs. McGregor Sings in Opera House After Fays' Performance.

Last night a few of the personal friends of Mrs. McGregor, Peterboro's brilliant and accomplished singer, were by special invitation, present at the opera house, after the Fays' fine performance was over, to hear the talented artiste test the acoustic qualities of the house.

The pianist who had played during the Fays' performance, kindly remained as accompanist.

Mrs. McGregor displayed in most undeniable manner, that her full, sweet and penetrating soprano voice could be heard and appreciated in every part of the house. This experiment also displayed the fact that the acoustic properties of the house are as near perfection as could be desired.

Mrs. McGregor sang a number from the opera Deo Freishutts and Shirley's Resurrection. Those fortunate enough to be invited, enjoyed a rare treat, as Mrs. McGregor has a soprano voice of high pitch, sweet tone and under absolute control.

The March Delineator.

In the March number the Delineator has fallen under the spell of romance which the forthcoming marriage of the President's daughter has evoked, and presents as its leading feature an article on "The Brides of the White House," illustrated with a handsome portrait of Miss Roosevelt never before published. The fiction of the number includes a short story of Mary Stewart Cutting, a clever study of child life by Virginia Woodward Cloud, and the continuation of "The President of Quex," Helen M. Winslow's interesting club story. Viola Allen, the popular young actress, who recently married a southern millionaire, writes of Shakespeare's heroines from the point of view of one who has personated many of them with great success. Dr. Murray concludes her series on "The Rights of the Child," with a paper on growth and development; and a unique feature beginning in this number is "Houses by Correspondence," the first being the Doctor's House. Stories and pastimes are supplied for the amusement of children, and in the other departments many topics of interest and value to the home are treated. Fashion of course, plays a large part in this number, and the newest styles are illustrated and described in detail.

Mr. Bogue on His Contract.

Yesterday Mr. Jas. Bogue, the well-known local contractor expressed in no uncertain manner, his sentiments respecting the contract he has just completed on the east ward outfall sewer.

Mr. Bogue says that he has been paid 80 per cent. of value of the work completed and accepted, but he says he is entitled to 95 per cent. according to his contract. He says he is not asking any favors of the city; he merely wants what he is rightly entitled to.

Mr. Bogue explained that it was the fault of the city's officials that he was unable to start sooner than he did and after he had started he was delayed by the city not securing the right of ways that were necessary. In fact he said there are some right of ways that he has not received.

Mr. Bogue says his contract entitles him to 95 per cent. of the value of all completed work, and that the city has no right to withhold it.

Mr. P. Young in the City.

Mr. P. Young the veteran steamboat man of the Kawartha Lakes route was in the city on Thursday. Pat looks as young as his name, and is as hearty as twenty years ago when the S.S. There is no doubt but what the good ship Majestic will capture a good share of the northern traffic. What this old time line's management does not know about running excursion is hard to learn in fact it would puzzle the Fays to explain.

LAID TO REST

Funeral of Late Mr. Alfred McDonald.

Yesterday the last sad rites in connection with the death of one of Peterboro's most respected and generally beloved citizens, Mr. Alfred McDonald, the well-known Point St. Charles lumberman, were celebrated in the presence of a large gathering of evidently deeply grieved friends.

Mr. McDonald's funeral was attended officially by the members of the C.M.B.A., T.A.S., C.O.F., and A.O.H; to the number of about 200, while the hundreds of carriages made one of the largest and most imposing funerals ever seen in Peterboro.

The floral contributions were beautiful, including a bouquet from the boys of the fourth class at Murray street school, a spiritual bouquet from Mrs. N. T. de Laplante; gates ajar, from the employes; heart, from Mr. and Mrs. Irwin, a cross, from the Gov. Lake Front Grain Co.; a bouquet, from Mr. John Laplante; wreath from Mr. V. Eastwood; wreath and cross, from the C.M.B.A., and a bouquet, from Mr. W. Rudkins.

The pall bearers were six members of the C.M.B.A., viz., Messrs. George Bell, Joseph Picard, sr.; James Bogue, Richard Sheehy, H. Phelan and John Corkery.

The route of the sad cortege lay from the deceased's residence to St. Peter's Cathedral, and reached from the corner of Crescent street nearly to Hunter street.

At St. Peter's Cathedral a large congregation had gathered. The solemn high mass was sung by Rev. solemn high mass was sung by Rev. Dr. O'Brien, assisted by Father Kelly and Father Galvin, while the prayers for the dead were read by his Lordship Bishop O'Connor.

His Lordship spoke in the highest terms of the departed one, and said that the life of the late Alfred McDonald was an example worthy of all following.

Interment took place in the Roman Catholic cemetery, where the concluding portion of the solemn burial service was said by Rev. Dr. O'Brien.

NO REDUCTION

Liquor Licenses in This County Already Few Enough.

The annual report of the Ontario inspector of liquor licenses has just been issued and a copy of it received by The Times.

According to this report there has been no change in the number of liquor licenses in the ridings of East and West Peterboro since 1902. In East Peterboro, the number of the ordinary yearly licenses in 1902 was ten, the same number as in 1905. In West Peterboro the number has been twenty-seven for the past four years.

The report shows that there has been a great reduction in the number of Liquor licenses in the county since 1874. In the county of Peterboro in 1874, there were ninety-eight tavern licenses and sixteen shop licenses. In 1905, as noted above, there were only thirty-seven tavern licenses and six shop licenses.

THE SCHEME OFF

All Attempts to Form Local Poultry Association Fail Through.

As noted in previous issues of The Times, Mr. William Collins has tried hard to get local poultry fanciers and breeders to organize an association for mutual benefit. Mr. Collins both personally, and through the medium of the local press, endeavored to interest those who should find it to their advantage to form such an association.

Mr. Collins states that he received only two replies, and as so little concern has been manifested in the effort to organize a club, no meeting will be held, and the movement is therefore off so far as he is concerned. If a poultry show is to be held next winter as proposed, now is the time for the local fanciers to get together, but it is apparently not the intention to hold such an exhibit, judging by the little interest displayed in the move to organize a club.

COMMISSION WANTED

Warden T. J. Johnston, of this County in Toronto.

Mr. T. J. Johnston, the very efficient and popular warden of this county, has returned from Toronto, where he was one of the delegates attending the Western Ontario Good Roads Association.

Some of the planks in the platform of this delegation were the following resolutions:

"That this association approves of the present system of elective county councils.

"That we believe that the disqualifying clauses in sections 81 and 82 might be removed, and all councillors, reeves and mayors be eligible for election as county councillors.

"That before any radical change be made in the present system a commission be appointed to investigate and report on the whole question of municipal representation.

A very long discussion was held, the result of which seemed that there was nearly complete unanimity against the proposed alterations in the county councils act. A deputation waited upon Premier Whitney and the Cabinet yesterday, and set forth their views on the whole question.

Hon Nelson Monteith, Minister of Agriculture, addressed the delegates in the morning, saying his sympathies were heartily with them, and he believed they would receive a reasonable response from the Government when they put forward their interests.

NOW IS THE TIME

A Rare Opportunity For Investment in Splendid Proposition.

In these days of multitudinous opportunities for investment in mining propositions offered to the speculative public, it is well to thoroughly investigate every scheme before putting in hard earned or slowly saved dollars.

In another column of this issue appears the advertisement of a property that reports made by competent and reliable engineers show to be one of the safest and most promising investments for capital now on the market. We refer to the Iron Star Mining Co., whose property is located in Missoula County, Montana.

A personal inspection of the property which is situated about one and one-half miles from Salon Spur, on the Northern Pacific Railway, and therefore easily accessible for shipping purposes, has just been made by Mr. W. H. North, the well-known mining engineer, whose name is synonymous for expert work and reliability.

Mr. North in his report, made after a thorough examination of the property, says that the property is "specially valuable. It contains he says; "I find the property contains a strong and consistently defined fissure vein. There are three places where work has been done. At one point the vein is about ten feet wide, filled almost entirely by a lively quartz which is more or less mineralized with pyrites of copper and some galena."

Mr. North goes on to say that he, himself, took a pick sample of the galena which assayed 35.4 ounces of silver and 81.1 per cent. lead. Some of the quartz, taken at random showed copper pyrites carrying 12.9 per cent. of copper and 80 cents per ton of gold. "The mineralization is scattered pretty generally through the quartz-vein, with occasional pockets eaten into the quartz filled with nodules of copper pyrites," Mr. North adds.

The mining expert's whole report, which is on file in this office, and which is too long and comprehensive to give in its entirety, is a most encouraging account of the Iron Star Mining Company's grand property.

Mr. Kelsey Hall, the local lessee has been fortunate enough to procure a limited number of shares of this company's stock, of which 400,000 shares were set aside as a "treasury fund to be used for improvement and development purposes, and which Mr. Hall has been authorized, for a short time only to offer at 10 cents per share.

Judging by the report made by by Mr. North this property, which has only been partially developed, is one of the richest on the continent, and owing to its fortunate position near the railway, will in a short time be a veritable gold mine. Those seeking investment for funds, where safety and golden prospects go hand in hand, would do to communicate with, or call upon Mr. Hall, at once, as the present price of 10 cents per share will very soon be raised to a very much higher figure.

REAR-ADMIRAL HICHBORN.

ADMIRAL'S WORDS CARRY WEIGHT.

His statement concerning Peruna will have much weight as it goes out into the world.

What he says is echoed by many other naval officers of high standing.

WHAT THE ADMIRAL SAYS.

Philip Hichborn, Rear-Admiral United States Navy, writes from Washington, D. C., as follows:

"After the use of Peruna for a short period, I can now cheerfully recommend your valuable remedy to any one who is in need of an invigorating tonic."—Philip Hichborn.

AN EVERPRESENT FOE.

The soldier and the sailor are especially subject to catarrh in some form or phase.

Exposed as they are to constant changes, subject as they are to various vicissitudes, and all kinds of climate, wet and dry, night and day, they find catarrh to be their most insidious and everpresent foe.

In the barracks and on the field, Peruna is equally efficacious.

Taken in time, it will absolutely prevent catching cold.

PE-RU-NA AN ABSOLUTE SPECIFIC.

After a cold has become established, Peruna will break it up quicker than any other remedy known to man.

Even after a cold has become settled in some organ of the body Peruna can be relied upon to promptly dispel it.

Peruna will cure catarrh, whether acute or chronic, but a few doses taken in the first stages of the disease will be more effective than when the disease has become chronic.

If you suffer from catarrh in any form, do not neglect it. Take Peruna at once. Delays in such matters are dangerous.

RECOMMENDS PE-RU-NA.

"I am convinced of Peruna's curative qualities and I unhesitatingly recommend it to to all persons suffering from catarrh."—Commodore Somerville Nicholson.

FROM HIS OWN EXPERIENCE.

"The use of your Peruna as a remedy and cure for catarrh by many of my friends who have been benefited by the same, as well as my own experience as to its efficacy and good tonic properties, causes me to recommend it to all persons."—Ex-Lieut. U. S. Navy, James M. Morgan.

PE-RU-NA CURES THROAT CATARRH.

"I can cheerfully recommend your remedy, Peruna, to my friends and other sufferers as one of the best remedies I have ever tried for catarrhal troubles of the throat and kindred diseases. I also consider Peruna a grand tonic."—Admiral James A. Greer.

FOR COUGHS AND COLDS.

"I have used your Peruna with satisfaction and can cheerfully recommend the remedy as an effective remedy for coughs and colds."—Rear-Admiral J. A. Howell.

USED PE-RU-NA IN HIS FAMILY.

"I have used Peruna in my family with the most flattering results.

"I can recommend your valuable remedy as a most efficient remedy for coughs, colds and catarrh."—Col. U. S. Marine Corps, C. J. Porter.

No remedy ever yet devised has received such unstinted eulogy from so many renowned statesmen and military men as Peruna.

Horse Injured on Bridge.

That those in charge of our roads and bridges should exercise great vigilance, was shown on Thursday night. As the Oriental Hotel bus was crossing the bridge on Hunter street, one of the horses got a leg through the planking, the animal being severely hurt. At first it was feared that the leg was broken and that the horse would have to be killed, but it is now in Dr. McKercher's stables under treatment. Repairs were made to the bridge yesterday.

BLOOD DISEASES

If you inherited or contracted any Blood Disease you are never safe unless the virus or poison has been eradicated from the system. At times you see alarming symptoms, but live in hope no serious results will follow. Have you any of the following symptoms? Sore throat, ulcers on the tongue or in the mouth, hair falling out, aching pains, itchiness of the skin, sores or blotches on the body, eyes red and sunken, dyspeptic stomach, sexual weakness—enlarged glands. Don't trust to luck. Don't ruin your system with the old fogy treatment—mercury, potash and patent medicines, which suppress the symptoms for a time only to break out again when happy in domestic life. Don't let quacks experiment on you. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT is guaranteed to cure you. OUR GUARANTEES ARE BACKED BY BANK BONDS that the Blood or Skin disease will never return. Thousands of patients have been already cured by our NEW METHOD TREATMENT for over 20 years, and no return of the disease. No experiment, no risk—not a "patch up," but a positive cure. The worst cases solicited.

HAD BLOOD POISON 12 YEARS

The New Method Treatment Cured Him after Drugs, Mercury, Hot Springs, &c., all failed.

Wm. H. Patterson, of Saginaw, Mich., relates his experience: "I do not like notoriety and especially of this kind, but I feel I owe this much to Drs. K. & K. for the great good they have done me. I had a serious blood disease when 24 years of age. The skin and blood symptoms gradually developed. Pimples and ulcers formed, running sores broke out, hair became loose, pains in the bones and joints, dyspepsia, stomach, head, back, ears, etc. It is needless for me to say I tried doctors. I grew to hate the touch of one. Powerful mercury for four months each time. It helped me temporarily, but in six months after retreating bone I was as bad as ever. Finally a Doctor friend of mine advised me to see Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. He said he had known of them for over 20 years, and as they made a specialty of blood diseases and treated the worst cases by the newest methods they ought to be expert in curing them. I was afraid of advertising doctors, but I took his advice. They agreed to treat me under a guarantee or no pay. I investigated their financial standing and found they were perfectly responsible, so I commenced the new method Treatment. The eruptions disappeared in two weeks, the bone pains in four weeks and in four months I was entirely cured. Yes, sir, I can recommend the New Method Treatment for Blood and Skin Diseases."

SELECTIONS

ZANGWILL IN PALESTINE.

Pen Picture of the Holy Land and the Sea of Galilee.

Israel Zangwill writes of Palestine: "When your oriental journey is all over it is long before you will grow reconciled to the prosaic world of Europe and America. The squalor and discomfort, the beggars and the lepers will be forgotten. Your eyes will be full of the pageantry of the east—of white tents and starry skies and glorious sunshine and radiant color and of a more beautiful humanity clad in flowing garments of indescribable patterns and innumerable hues, dusky, glorious limbed men and graceful women draped in sheets and bead veils. You will dream of domes and minarets and long covered bazaars, where the merchant squats cross legged amid his wares and business in a lazy, hour long bargaining. You will hear the plaintive cadence of Arab love songs and the barbarous clang of oriental music, and you will not be so sure that the strenuous, grinding smoky life of the west is an improvement upon the patriarchal repose of the book of Genesis."

Of the sea of Galilee he says again: "In gospel time it was alive with ships and boats. Now for a change from horseback we hired the entire fleet, a couple of boats, and were rowed by brawny fishers to the head of the lake, where we took our ease in a khan till the horses came up. But I must not leave you with the impression that Palestine is wholly desolate and degenerate. For miles around Jerusalem there is indeed a stony desolation that makes the heart sink. But even at its worst the land retains traces of its ancient fatness; the bleak hills are terraced with the indications of ancient olive trees. The choked up springs could be liberated, and reafforesting would cool and moisten the climate.

"Occasionally an Arab settlement or a German or Jewish colony makes the wilderness to blossom as the rose. The planting of eucalyptus trees will diminish fever. Even as I write a world famous tobacco planter comes in to tell me how he has started a Palestine plantation, from which he hopes a profit, and how a million poor Jews throughout Europe and Asia are dying to be allowed a chance of working upon the holy soil. If only the government would guarantee titles to the land bought!"

Paper Gas Pipes.

Paper gas pipes are among the novelties reported from Europe. Manila paper is cut up into stripe whose width is equal to the length of the pipe section to be used. The paper bands are then passed into a vessel filled with melted asphalt. After coming out of the bath the prepared strip is rolled uniformly and very tightly around an iron rod or pipe, which serves as the core and has the same diameter which the gas pipe is to have. The rolling of the paper is stopped when the right thickness has been secured. After the pipe section which is thus formed has been put through a high pressure it is covered on the outside by a layer of sand, which is pressed into the asphalt while still hot. The outer surface of the pipe is treated with a waterproof compound. It is said that the pipe is very tight and is cheaper than metal piping.

The Gambling Duchess.

Ponte Vecchio (Old Bridge) is the nickname applied in London society circles to the Duchess of Devonshire owing to her passionate devotion to the game of bridge. The duchess' one absorbing passion, in fact, is gambling, and she has always been ready to take a turn at any game where there was a chance of placing a bet. She is an ardent follower of the turf. Despite or rather because of her known weakness for gambling she is said to be, next to the king, the most potent personality in smart society. Her first husband was the Duke of Manchester, grandfather of the present duke. The duchess is now nearly eighty years of age, but her figure is miraculously preserved, and her hair is said to have been practically unaffected by the passing of the years.

A Canadian Opinion of Punch.

A copy of Punch's Almanac has been received at this office. It is England's leading exponent of humor. A member of this great journal's staff read it through carefully and studied every drawing. Then he went outside and kicked at a strange dog. The English brand of humor is sedate and stately. It is not intended to be laughed at. Laughter—that is, loud laughter—is excessively rude, don't you know. Punch's Almanac for 1906 is sixpen'orth of humor profundo. The man who would laugh at Punch would go into hysterics at a funeral. Punch's notion of humor is altogether too sublime for any place outside of an English drawing room.—Bobcaygeon (Ont.) Independent.

Historic Furniture.

When he returned to Washington recently Ambassador von Sternburg brought a complete suit of drawing room furniture that had adorned the rooms occupied by Napoleon in Leipsic. These treasures were bequeathed to the ambassador by a relative whose grandfather had owned the place where the Corsican elected to abide. The furniture is ancient Flemish, and in the tapestry are woven mythological designs. The frames bear a gold design. A desk at which Napoleon wrote vigorous messages is part of the legacy.

A Plague of Moths.

A plague of moths has been visiting the inhabitants of Sydney, N. S. W. In some parts of the town residents and shop keepers have been unable to use oil lamps, because the moths swarmed into the chimneys and extinguished the lights. At some of the railway stations the moths have even extinguished the signal lights and stolen lamps.

SUBSCRIBE FOR THE TIMES

Delaware's Hundreds.

In the days when the Saxons dominated England prior to the coming of William of Normandy the people were formed into divisions of hundreds. This was done mainly for military purposes and the convenience of assembly upon the summons of the powerful earls and barons to whom the people owed allegiance. These hundreds usually consisted of ten families, each family being computed at a minimum of ten persons. In time the families increased in membership, but did not lose their individual identity or change the designation of organization. In the natural order of events these hundreds expanded into communities and ultimately into geographical divisions and took on geographical designations. Some of the American colonists adopted this form of geographical division, and thus we still have hundreds in Delaware and Virginia, although in the latter state that form of designation is but seldom used. But in Delaware hundred is universally used to describe the divisions of a county and is equivalent to the township in other states.

The Last Long Sleep.

Familiarity with death is apt to alter one's earliest conceptions of it. Two ideas are very generally accepted which experience shows to be false. One is that the dying usually fear death and the other that the act of dying is accompanied by pain. It is well known to all physicians that when death is near its terrors do not seem to be felt by the patient. Unless the imagination is stimulated by the frightful portrayal of the supposed "pangs of death" or of the sufferings which some believe the soul must endure after dissolution it is rare indeed that the last days or hours of life are passed in dread.

Most sick persons are very, very tired. Sleep—long, quiet sleep—is what they want. I have seen many people die. I have never seen one who seemed to fear death, except when it was or seemed to be rather far away. Even those who are constantly haunted while strong and well with a dread of the end of life forget their fear when that end is at hand.

Sincere by Nature.

The physician has methods by which he determines whether or not a patient is shamming. Other people have different methods, which may sometimes be as successful as the doctor's.

"Do you believe that was a real faint of Sally Ann's, or do you think she just shammed so's to look interesting to Willy Lane and make him offer to take her home in his buggy?" asked one of the participants in a recent picnic.

"It wa'n't any sham on Sally Ann's part," said Mrs. Ricketts, to whom the appeal was made. "I should think when you know Sally Ann wears sizes and that she lay there with her feet sticking right straight up for everybody to see for nearly fifteen minutes you'd realize that 'twasn't any make believe faint."

A Wonderful Bed.

A very costly bed was built in Bombay for a native ruler some years ago. At the four corners were full sized figures of Grecian maidens, the ones at the top holding stringed instruments, while those at the foot bore in their hands huge fans. Extending the full length of the bed was a music box capable of playing for half an hour before the repertory of tune was exhausted. The weight of the body set this music box in motion, while at the same time the figures at the head of the bed fingered the strings of their instruments, while those at the foot waved their fans, a concealed motor furnishing the power that kept the fans going all night long.

Charcoal.

Charcoal is one of the greatest purifiers of water that we have. Water or any substance allowed to percolate through it will be freed of all animal organisms or foreign particles. It is one of the best sweeteners of the breath. After a hearty meal it is a splendid thing for the stomach if added to it is a little ginger. It is excellent with which to cleanse the teeth, for it removes fungous growth that many tooth powders fail to touch. It relieves pain caused by a burn.

Expert Dyers.

The Tyrians, it is claimed, were the most expert dyers of ancient times. The fabrics dyed with the famous tyrian purple did not assume their proper color until after two days' exposure to the light and air. During this time they passed through a gradation of shades of yellow, green, blue, violet and red, which the dyers understood how to arrest and fix at any moment.

His Appointment.

Husband—I think I shall have to go out tonight, my dear. I have an appointment. Wife—Oh, Tom, what is it? Husband—An appointment with my tailor. He is to call here at 8 to collect his bill.

Unpleasant Proof.

Hotel Visitor—Now, you are sure this bed is quite clean? Servant—Yes, sir; the sheets were only washed this morning. Just feel them. They ain't dry yet.

Aims of a higher order, even though they be not fulfilled, are in themselves more valuable than lower ones entirely fulfilled.—Goethe.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 25 by 1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

Placer mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after 10,000 tons.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

RUSSIAN TERRORISM.

The Ruses to Which Trepoff Is Compelled to Resort.

I was chatting the other evening with a Parisian who had just returned from Russia and who told me that in western Europe we had as yet no real idea of the state of affairs there.

"Trepoff, for instance, who has the position once occupied by Plehve, knows that any moment he may be blown to pieces, as Plehve himself was, although he spent £20,000 a year to assure his personal safety. Do you know," my friend added, "how Trepoff goes out? A landau leaves the palace surrounded by a squad of Cossacks. A man is in it, but the man is not Trepoff. Trepoff drives in an ambulance wagon, with the red cross of Geneva floating from the driver's seat, and as he passes people cross themselves and murmur, 'Another one of Trepoff's victims.'

"I went to interview Trepoff a few days before I left St. Petersburg," he added. "I had received a letter promising me an audience. At the palace I was passed on to a secretary, who took me through three empty salons to a small private office, where he left me. A few minutes later he returned and pointed to a telephone upon the table. 'His excellency is waiting for you,' he said quietly. 'Waiting?' 'Yes, at the other end of the wire. He sees nobody.' 'But I am a personal friend of his excellency's,' I explained. 'And that is why you are allowed in the palace,' was the answer.

"And so I said goodby by telephone to Trepoff. I could not bring the words 'Au revoir' across my lips somehow, for who knows where Trepoff will be when I am next in Russia?"—Paris Letter to London Express.

A Wild Twelve Hours.

More intoxicants are drunk between 6 o'clock p. m. Dec. 31 and 6 o'clock a. m. Jan. 1 than during any other twelve hours in the year, declares a writer in What to Eat. "Women who never taste liquor on any other day now often make it a practice to indulge freely on the event of watching the old year out and the new year in. The seats in the great restaurants in New York and Chicago are engaged two months in advance for the occasion, and on the night of the revel the orgies, in which women at other times recognized in church and high social circles participate, "continue till daylight." The scene in one restaurant is described as follows:

"Women rose to the floor and, brandishing their spilling glasses, proposed toasts to the house. Some made speeches. Men tied about their heads wreaths of wineglasses, knives and forks and loaves of bread all bound together by napkins, and rose to make speeches, and respectable women laughed at them as if it were a very funny sight to see."

Ten Fortunes, $2,000,000,000.

Today it is computed that there are in the United States no fewer than seventy estates that average in value $35,000,000 each. There are ten private fortunes aggregating $2,000,000,000—those, namely, of John D. Rockefeller, Andrew Carnegie, Marshall Field, W. K. Vanderbilt, John Jacob Astor, J. P. Morgan, Russell Sage, J. J. Hill, Senator W. A. Clark and William Rockefeller. There are 100 fortunes aggregating $3,000,000,000 and 4,500 aggregating $10,000,000,000. Five thousand men in this country, whose aggregate wealth is estimated at $15,000,000,000, actually own, to say nothing of how much they control, nearly one-sixth of our entire national wealth in money, land, mines, buildings, industries, franchises and everything else of value, which sixth, if put into gold, would give them all of the yellow metal above ground in the world and leave more than $9,000,000,000 still owing them.—Harper's Weekly.

Schoolbooks and Contagion.

A discussion of far reaching interest has taken place in the French Academy of Medicine on the subject of class books as disseminators of contagion in schools, especially in the case of such diseases as scarlet fever, measles and diphtheria. Paper has long been recognized as a dangerous agent of infection, even in tuberculosis, owing to the habit among children of turning over leaves with fingers wetted with saliva. Dr. [illegible] in order to test the [illegible] danger in schoolbooks made long experiments to establish the duration of infective power in various bacilli, finding this to range from forty-eight hours for one to fifty days for the Ebertic and 100 days for the Koch bacillus. General agreement was expressed as to the importance of thorough disinfection of school materials.

Interviewing the Turk.

An interview with the sultan of Turkey has its amusing side. That monarch is not supposed officially to know any language but his own. An interpreter translates his majesty's questions at the audience, then cringes with awe as he listens to the words of his royal master. The contrast is close to the ridiculous. At the conclusion of the interview the sultan rises and says quietly in the visitor's language or in French, "I say that our business is over, will you join me in my study and have a cup of coffee?"

A Chivalrous Message.

Let us defend woman! In these days feminism is one of the battle standards of all reformers. Whatever may be said of the rehabilitation of woman under Christianity, her lot—at least among us—is far from enviable.—President Roosevelt in His Message.

Charcoal.

Charcoal is one of the greatest purifiers of water that we have. Water or any substance allowed to percolate through it will be freed of all animal impurities or foreign particles. It is one of the best sweeteners of the breath. After a hearty meal it is a good thing for the stomach if mixed with a little ginger. It is excellent also which to cleanse the teeth. It removes fungous growth that tooth powders fail to touch. It is good for pain caused by a burn.

A trip around the world in 60 minutes at a mere trifle.

Scores upon scores of people are daily taking advantage of our very liberal and decidedly interesting offer.

Magnificently finished and exquisitely photo-color views in place of the oldtime and antiquated views of the past. A most pleasant and interesting hour to spend journeying around the globe viewing the places of greatest interest, most beautiful scenery, etc., at a mere trifle of cost through our liberal plan. These views illustrate some of the most noted places in the world--mountain scenery both in America and Europe—waterfalls and other famous natural phenomena, some of the world's most famous buildings, places of historical interest and places famous for beautiful architecture or beautiful natural scenery. This set is of the greatest educational value, presenting, as it does, such realistic likenesses of scenes and places that we all should know about. We want every household in this city to have one of these sets. Imagine yourself taken through the Orient, on a trip to California, through the world's Fair to see the splendid scenes as though you were right there on the spot. By a special process, a combination of lithographing and half-tone work, we are able to offer a collection of colored views from every part of the world in the most beautiful, natural and startling life-like color effects, which must be seen to be appreciated. It is impossible to describe the grandeur and beauty of these views. Come and see them. We want each and every household in this city to have a set of these.

It wasn't so very long ago that hundreds of thousands of people spent many pleasant hours with the stereoscope, but heretofore they were compelled to pay enormous prices for views, think of it, as high as 50c each for colored pictures. We sold thousands upon thousands of stereoscopic views, in colors, at 50c each in those days, but imagine each and every view had to be colored by hand. In the past few months we have had repeated demands for them, and being able to secure the latest and most beautiful colored views to furnish to the public at a ridiculously low price, we entered into the stereoscope plan on quite a large scale, and have taken immediate advantage of the International Art Association, who have spent an enormous amount of money to get out special color plates and have finally completed their end, namely: To place on the market thousands of magnificent stereoscopic views, the most beautiful, interesting and exciting scenes from every land, in the grandest and most exquisite natural colors.

Now we come to our great special offer. Read our plan carefully as it describes the stereoscope and tells how to secure the scope and views at almost no cost to you.

First the stereoscope. The Stereoscope is our world-famous "Aluminum Crystal Lens" Stereoscope. Genuine aluminum hood, bound with dark rich red velvet. Frame is of fine finished cherry wood with patent folding handle, folding underneath frame, and sliding bar. The lenses are extra fine quality, selected for clearness and brilliancy. 1¼ inches in diameter, ground from best quality glass and carefully adjusted. This Crystal Lens Aluminum "Scope" has won universal praise from lovers of the beautiful, and as a means of entertainment stands second to nothing.

OFFER No. 1 The Stereoscope and 25 beautiful Colored Views and THE DAILY TIMES for one year, for $4.00

OFFER No. 2 The Stereoscope and 25 beautiful Colored Views and THE WEEKLY TIMES for one year, for $2.50

Funeral Plants.

The olive, oak, laurel, myrtle, rosemary, cypress, amaranth and parsley are all funeral plants among the Greeks and Romans. "To be in need of parsley" was a Greek euphemism indicating the death of the person so described. An Athenian army once marching against the Lacedaemonians was stampeded on its way out of the city by meeting two mules laden with parsley, the omen being that the whole army would soon be in need of that article.

The Spring Trap.

The spring trap is constructed on the principle of the jaws of a shark or dolphin.

The Heliotrope.

The heliotrope takes its name from two Greek words signifying "to turn toward the sun." There are several flowers of this family which during the day turn their faces to follow the course of the sun.

A Simple Experiment in Freezing.

Pour a little water on a board under a hot stove, then mix in a tiny cup a quantity of ice and salt, stir it thoroughly and place it on the board in the water. The freezing process will very shortly begin. The theory is the rapid evaporation caused by the heat.

Chinese and Paper.

The Chinese are believed to be the second people to manufacture paper from vegetable fiber. The Chinese annals place the invention at a date probably about 1,500 years before Christ.

Adobe Houses.

The first adobe houses were built by the swallows.

Carthamine Flowers.

The carthamine flower has for thousands of years been used to dye fabrics of a yellow color. The mummy cloths found in Egyptian coffins are dyed yellow with this flower.

Germs Hate Sea Water.

Disease germs on the deck of a ship soon die. This fact has been scientifically demonstrated by an Italian physician. He found by bacteriological investigation that even the most hardy germs were removed and destroyed by simply washing the decks with sea water.

The White Anemone.

According to Ovid, the white anemone sprang from the tears of Venus shed for Adonis.

The Prolific Turbot.

One of the most prolific of fishes is the turbot. The number of eggs in five specimens examined by a scientist recently varied from over 5,000,000 to more than 10,000,000. The heaviest of these specimens weighed only twenty-one pounds, and the belief is expressed that large specimens are still more fertile.

The German Heath.

The German heath, according to the popular legend of that country, was dyed red by the blood of unbelievers shed during Charlemagne's violent efforts to convert the whole German nation at once.

A Digging Fish.

The digging fish is a native of the lakes and rivers of central Africa. When the dry season approaches it burrows in the mud at the bottom of its residence to the depth of two or three feet, goes to sleep and awaits the return of the wet season.

Blotting Paper.

Blotting paper is wholly unsized, the lack of sizing enabling it to take up and retain the ink of the writing on which it is laid.

Gnat Eggs.

The eggs of the gnat are arranged by the parent insect in the form of a raft which floats with its concave side uppermost. If upset it speedily readjusts itself and cannot be kept under the water. At the proper time a valve in the lower part of each egg opens and the insect escapes into the water beneath.

A Steel Graver.

The iron pen mentioned by Job in the book of that name in the Bible is supposed to have been a steel graver used for cutting inscriptions on stone.

Turning Back the Hands.

Captain Bassett was the first man officially to lengthen time by turning back the hands of the senate clock in Washington. He did it for the first time March 4, 1844, by direction of Senator Wiley P. Mangam of North Carolina, then president of the senate pro tempore. This is history.

The Cydippe.

The cydippe, a peculiar water insect, propels itself with a pair of paddles which both in shape and general appearance closely resemble those in use by oarsmen.

The Stylus.

The Roman pen, or stylus, was an iron implement, sharp at one end like an awl and flat at the other like a paper cutter. It was used for writing on tablets of wood or ivory covered with wax. The sharp end was employed for writing and the flat for erasing or correcting what was written.

The Grapple Plant.

The drag used for recovering bodies from the bottoms of ponds or streams is modeled after the well known grapple plant, a thorny bush common in South America and Africa.

Modern Inks.

Modern inks date from 1708, at which time researches of Dr. Lewis and Hubaucourt in the chemistry of ink began

DRUNKENESS IS INCREASING

So Says Anglican Bishop of Toronto in Appointing Temperance Sunday

Toronto, February 21.—The Bishop of Toronto has issued a circular to the clergy of the diocese appointing the first Sunday in Lent to be observed as temperance Sunday, in accordance with a canon of the Synod of the Diocese of Toronto, which enacts that a certain Sunday in each year be set apart for temperance and that a sermon be preached on the subject of temperance. In the circular the Bishop says in part: "In view of the fact that drunkenness is on the increase, not only in the City of Toronto, but in the Province of Ontario generally, I would remind you once more of the need of persistently keeping before the minds of our people the evils arising from the abuse of intoxicating liquors."

JAPAN HAS WARNED CHINA

Points Out the Danger of All Anti-Foreign Demonstrations.

Tokio, February 23.—The Foreign Office has issued a statement to the effect that Japan does not share the apprehension of some powers with regard to the imminence of an extensive outbreak in China. Several successive incidents indicating a feeling of hostility to foreigners have been noticed, however. Accordingly the Imperial Government, actuated by a desire for China's welfare, has warned the Government at Pekin of the grave danger of such manifestations, and the urgent importance of suppressing them.

To the Canadian Investor

DORES-MONTGOMERY MINING COMPANY OF BULLFROG, NEVADA

The undersigned is pleased to announce to the investors of Canada that he has been appointed Canadian Fiscal Agent of the above company, and is offering a limited amount of treasury stock at 5c. per share for development work. This property is just 1500 feet southwest of the famous Montgomery Shoshone mine and both have unquestionably the same vein. The group shows a well defined vein cropping out through, and it is a perfect fissure. A cut-[illegible] sample taken on the hanging wall gives high values. We have also several other leases, and it is only a matter of development work to make this property equal to any producer in the section.

The management of the Montgomery Shoshone conservatively estimates that the veins can be produced $10,000 worth of ore. If this is right, the ore from the winze has averaged about $25 a ton, or about $1820 for every foot of sinking, the winze being 4 x 7 in clear.

Ore from the winze running less than $250 is thrown over the dump as milling ore. No less than 150 tons of ore has been shipped from this mine, all of it coming from the winze. Another shipment of 50 tons or more will be made via Las Vegas in a few days.

The figures given above are startling in the extreme, but the measurements and ore values as quoted are official—direct from the management of the wonderful mine that is today astonishing the world.

This property [illegible] only 1500 feet from the Dores Montgomery Mine.

POLICE COURT NEWS

Yesterday morning the Italian named Bruno, whose case was enlarged from Thursday's court, was present for sentence. The magistrate said that the evidence clearly showed that Bruno tried to wound Guiligando, that the Bruno's explanation regarding the use of his knife to cut tobacco was contradicted by his own evidence. He sentenced Bruno to two months in the county jail at hard labor. His Worship said that people must understand that their difficulties must be settled by their fists, if physical force be necessary instead of using knives.

Francisco Boccacio, an Italian, was charged with having taken, stolen and appropriated to his own use $40, during November of 1904. Mr. LaPlante, who appeared for the prisoner, asked that the case be enlarged as he had only a few minutes before court opened, that the case brought to his notice, and was then about to go to the Division Court. Mr. Wood, prosecuting attorney consented to the matter being held over until Monday's court.

An Innovation for Peterboro.

Mr. Jas. J. McPherson, the well-known local contractor, yesterday completed one of the best tile flooring contracts that ever was in evidence in this city, viz., in Mr. Pappas fine cigar store on George street. The floor is finished in a mosaic pattern and is a splendid example of the art. Formerly, we understand, that such work necessitated sending to distant cities to get this class of work properly done, so that this admirably finished work is undeniable evidence that Peterboro is becoming daily a more cosmopolitan place in its abilities and the work of its artisans.

Peterboro Jail Statistics.

The report of the Inspector of Prisons and Reformatories of Ontario has just been issued for the year ending Sept. 30th, 1905. In the table showing the number of prisoners committed to jail, Peterboro shows an improvement, as there were 227 committed during 1904 and only 205 during 1905. In 1885 Peterboro had 57 persons committed to jail for drunkenness, and in 1905 only 12. Of the total expenses for the local jail during 1905 were $3,436.42. The average cost per day for each prisoner in Peterboro's jail during 1905 was 15 cents, as compared with $1.20 in Orangeville, 60c. in Napanee, 56 cents in Barrie, and seven cents in St. Thomas. (St. Thomas' half of fare must be remembered.)

LAST DAY OF THE MARVELLOUS FAYS

Strange Weird Power of Mrs. Fay Has Created Great Excitement.

MYSTERIOUS THAUMATURGY

Legitimate Entertainment Can Not Be a Fake, Theatre Packed.

Again did the Fays mystify and amaze an audience which packed the Grand to its capacity last night. It was a large and delighted audience which left the theater after they had spent two hours of solid amusement, mysterious, uncanny at times it is true, but nevertheless highly entertaining and that is all the Fays claim to do. Why all this talk of fake, nothing can be a fake unless it is an imitation" and in as much as the Fays state distinctly that they make no claim, that there is no pretense, and the sole object is to amuse and entertain. The writer can not see but what this talk of fake is thoroughly out of place and without bearing on the subject. Mrs. Fay was particularly apt in her replys last night, making many good hits. she told people the numbers on their watches, the dates on coins, the names of books they had been reading, their mother's maiden names, and many questions of this class which the writers thought to trap Mrs. Fay with, but in every case she made a correct reply, there were some few who asked their questions mentally, that is did not write them down as requested, simply keeping their minds on one subject, Mrs. Fay seemed equally able to tell them what they wanted to know. As for those who had reduced their questions to writing, it seemed easy for Mrs. Fay. Today is the last of the Fays' ladies' matinees, and tonight brings to a close the most remarkable engagement in the history of amusement in the city of Peterboro.

NEW CATTLE FEED

Americas Cereal Co. Yesterday Started New Branch of Industry.

Peterboro's great manufactory of cereals the American Cereal Co. yesterday, in addition to their recently added puffed rice department, as described in a former issue of The Times, started still another branch of their extensive outputs.

This latest addition to the goods that make Peterboro famous, is molasses feed. This is a feed for horses and cattle, and a large export business will be done, as well as supplying the domestic trade. Already a large export order has been received, and this new brand of feed will doubtless command world wide attention, and incidentally make Peterboro the place of its make, a household word with stock raisers.

Only the purest cane molasses is used in its manufacture. The liquid is brought into Peterboro in large tank cars. It is then mixed by large mixing machines with other food and put up in 100 pound sacks for the local trade, and in fifty kilo sacks for export.

There are two kinds—the Molac Molasses Dairy Feed, and the Molac Horse Feed. The Molac Molasses Dairy Feed is claimed by the company to be the most economical and efficient ration yet put forward for the purpose of increasing the quality, quantity, and thereby the profits of the products of the dairy herd.

Molac Molasses Dairy Feed costs one-fifth less than Gluten Food or other high protein feeding materials, and is so compounded as to insure the animal receiving the benefit of all paid for.

MANY MILLIONS MORE CAPITAL FOR THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY WILL BE ASKED

From Ten to Fifty Millions and Additions to the Directorate are in Order. Funds are Required for Expansion. —H. D. Warren of Toronto Added to the Board.

The Bell Telephone Company of Canada, at its annual meeting held today, announced a policy of expansion larger and more comprehensive than anything heretofore undertaken.

Mr. C. F. Sise, the president, stated that the needs of the present and future were such that a resolution would be put before the stockholders asking that the capital of the company be increased from ten to fifty millions.

Another resolution bearing on the broadening out process was that which increases the board of directors by one member, and which will later make two further increases to the board, giving a directorate of eleven in place of eight.

The first new director added is Mr. H. D. Warren, of Toronto, and later on two others will find seats on the board. One of the last named will represent Western Ontario and the other Manitoba.

Respecting the increases in capital from ten to fifty millions, permission for the same to be made at the coming session of Parliament, President Sise stated that they had been seriously hampered in their work for lack of ready capital to keep pace with the requirements of the business. Of course, this additional capitalization would not come all at once, but stock would be issued as the increase of business made necessary new plants, new lines and all that went to make up a telephone service in a country which was growing as fast as Canada is.

In respect to the additions to the directorate Mr. Sise stated that the time had gone by for confining the interests to a city like Montreal. In the old days, when the Canadian Bell Company was not nearly so large, an all-Montreal directorate had been found sufficient, but now that their interests lay in all parts of the country, it was thought wise to include in the directorate men who would represent these different sections.

REVIEW OF THE YEAR.

Referring to the year 1905 Mr. Sise reviewed briefly the Parliamentary investigation. He said that 43 meetings had been held, and that no less than 2,000 pages of evidence had been written. He was glad to say that from the beginning to the end there had not been one single item which reflected the slightest discredit to the company. In one way and another the investigation had cost a great deal, in legal and other expenses.

This matter had scarcely been adjusted when Manitoba began to talk of municipalization of telephone system and Government ownership. Mr. Sise announced that the Bell Company proposed to go on doing business in Manitoba in spite of all that had been said and written on the subject. Of the total sum of $3,000,000 spent on new work during the year 1905, Manitoba had received as her share some $400,000, on which the return had not been relatively as large as in other sections of Canada.

The annual statement presented to the meeting and read by Mr. Charles P. Sclater, secretary treasurer, was in part as follows:—13,885 subscribers have been added during the year, the total number of sets of instruments now earning rentals being 78,195. The Company now owns and operates 536 exchanges and 930 agencies. 6,871 miles of wire have been added to the Long Distance System in 1905. The Long Distance lines now owned and operated by the company comprise 17,082 miles of wire on 8,046 miles of poles. $325,000 of 5 per cent. bonds were sold during the year, the net premium on which $16,250 has been carried to the contingent account.

16,000 shares of new stock were offered to the shareholders at 85 per cent. premium, to be paid for in five quarterly instalments. Three of these instalments are included in this statement bringing the paid up capital to $3,904,840, and premium on stock to the amount of $137,742.50 has also been carried to the contingent account. From the balance of revenue account, amounting to $306,951.10, $45,351.97 have been carried to insurance reserve account, $56,191.23 to accident reserve account and $150,000 to the contingent account, leaving a balance of revenue account to be carried to 1906 of $54,318.90.

One ballot was sufficient to elect the directorate which with the exception of Mr. H. D. Warren have served before:—C. F. Sise, Hon. Robert Mackay, F. D Fish, Robert Archer, Wm. R Driver, Hugh Paton, Charles Cassils, Thos. Sherwin and H. D. Warren.

Mr. B. A. Boas just previous to the close of the meeting arose and stated that he believed a vote of thanks was due President Sise. He considered that the Bell Telephone Company was about the most ably managed corporation in Canada, and the thanks of the stockholders was due personally to the able president who gave the work his entire time and attention.

Mr. Sise in reply paid a high tribute to his staff.

offers a limited amount of its Treasury Stock at ONE DOLLAR per share, full paid and non-assessable. Properties consisting of four groups of lode claims and equal to claim area of 27 full lode claims, or about 270 acres, with two valuable water rights and a water reservoir—a lake of about 30 acres surface area.

Development is equal to 1700 lineal feet, at a cost of $15 per lineal foot—tunnels, drifts, cross-cuts, winzes and surface cuts and trenches, and one ten gravity stamp concentrating mill. Three groups, water rights, mill and tunnel sites, etc., are fully paid; one group, held on title bond, is partly paid for. Good Grade of Profitable Milling are blocked out, in sight, to last for a sixty ton mill for over two years time. Safe and conservative estimate for mining the ore, delivering and milling it, at a cost of about $6.00 per ton. Three separate mill runs, for testing purposes, have returned from $8.46 to $14.80 per ton of rock, principally in gold.

In order to make operations absolutely up-to-date, perfect, both the mining and the reduction of ores, the Board of Directors have placed a limited amount of Treasury Stock at par value $1.00 per share on the market. Weak, Listless, Sleepless Men and Women Cured Every Day by Dr Hamilton's Pills.

The physical suffering and mental anguish that victims of sleeplessness endure is indeed a sad story. But in Dr. Hamilton's Pills there is swift relief from this awful condition. Thousands have proved the merit of this grand medicine, among them Mrs. G. T. Lyons, one of the best known residents of Geneva, who writes: "My health ran down and I was unable to sleep. I had headache and pains in different parts of my body. In the morning I was weary and exhausted—no rest or comfort came from the snatches of sleep I got.

"Dr. Hamilton's Pills braced me at once. After the first night I got refreshing sleep, that extreme weariness left me and I recovered very fast.

"No medicine I ever used gave such telling results as Dr. Hamilton's Mandrake and Butternut Pills."

Don't let sleeplessness drive you crazy. take Dr. Hamilton's Pills and get well. You will increase in flesh, your appetite will be vigorous, force and energy will be instilled into your nervous system.

Farmers Telephones.

Port Hope Times: Mr. G. W. Jones, of Newtonville, was in town on Saturday for the purpose of organizing a local telephone line for Hope and Clarke Townships. Lines have already been built from Orono, Pontypool and Newtonville, and the object is to build another line into Hope Township with connection with Port Hope. Mr. Jones obtained the names of fifteen to twenty farmers who are anxious for connection. In the autumn it is expected that some 200 subscribers will be connected on the line. An extension is now being built from Tyrone to Orono. For farmers who will construct a mile of line the charge for a 'phone is only three dollars per year and in addition they receive half the tolls that they collect from their neighbors. The charge for those who do not street the line is ten dollars per year.

THE BREAKFAST FOOD FAMILY

(Written for The Times.)

Jack Spratt could eat no fat
At home or up the lakes,
He thrived and fattened all the time
On Canada's dear old Flakes.
(Made by Meldrum).

But Mrs. Spratt will none of that;
Foodine she cannot eat,
Her special wish is for a dish
Of Expurgated Wheat.

To William Spratt that food is flat
On which his mater doted,
His favorite feed—his special need—
Is good old Quaker Oats.

But sister Lil can't see how Will
Can touch such tasteless food.
As breakfast fare it can't compare,
She says, with Shredded Wood.

Lycurgus votes for Father's Oats;
Proggins appeals to May;

THE CHINESE BOYCOTT

Action Against United States is Quickening Canadian Operations.

Ottawa, February 23.—Mr. Alex. McLean, Canadian Agent in Japan, writing to the department under date January 17, says the Chinese boycott of United States trade is being held up to the maximum of tension, and that as the prospect of the Washington authorities modifying the terms of the treaty becomes less hopeful preparations are going on for the more stringent application of boycott measures. The situation, adds Mr. McLean, seems to have quickened noticeably the aspirations of Canadian traders, and the same may be said of those of Australia and Europe.

The Japan Steamship Company, in resuming their Australian and European services, are said to be hastening their movements because of the prospective maintenance of the boycott. Mr. McLean remarks that preparations for the general incorporation of the match factories in Japan are being pushed. The prospectus of the new concern has been submitted to the Government for approval.

The capital is placed at $3,000,000.

The annual meeting of the Albany Club will be held on Tuesday evening next, when the election of officers will take place.

Ottawa Street Cars Seized.

Ottawa, February 23.—A unique seizure was made in Ottawa this morning, when Sheriff Sweetland, acting on behalf of Miss Therese Dodd, seized four cars belonging to the Ottawa Street Railway Co. to satisfy a judgment of $1200 against the company for injuries received in an accident by Miss Dodd. The sale of the cars is fixed for February unless the money is in the meantime paid.

The Way of Insurance Companies.

Yesterday a citizen suggested to The Times that a local mutual fire insurance company be organized in Peterboro, in order to bring down insurance rates. He said that all money spent on engines and fire apparatus in the hope of bringing down insurance rates is a delusion. The insurance companies make great promises as to what they will do, but after you blow in your money for fire protection the old insurance rate will stand or be replaced by a higher one. This great family Journal must admit there is more truth than poetry in the statement.

The Downward Path.

A prominent business man said to The Times yesterday: "I always hate to see a farmer sell his farm and come to town," he remarked. "He nearly always buys a grocery store with the idea that all the money that comes over the counter is net profit. He soon sees he is losing money and sells out to some other farmer. Then he starts in some other little business and sits around waiting for man to come and buy. In a year or two he has his wife start a boarding house, and when the jig is up with that he demands a government office on the ground that he has been putting in all his time since he sold his farm working for other fellows and he thinks the party owes it to him. After he is beaten he gets sore, and becomes a loafer. There are several such here in town. I am always mighty sorry to see a man sell his farm and move to town unless he is ready to retire, and has money enough to educate his family and keep him the rest of his life." There is a certain amount of good horse sense in this.

KEENE.

A special meeting of the Sons of Ilest was called on Tuesday evening in the Hall of Wisdom for the purpose of nominating a president for the year 1906. At precisely seven o'clock Minney Wale Jonas took the chair and ordered the brethren to take their respective seats. After Minney Wale opened the meeting, he rose and addressed the members as follows: My dear brethren, I feel proud tonight that I can stand before you with an unspotted character and a clear conscience, for I can assert to you that I have been a faithful president. I have done everything in my power for your good. I must admit that I imposed several heavy fines, but you deserved to be punished when you disobeyed the laws of this club. You, I suppose, are aware that this meeting was principally called for to nominate a proper person as your president. I am open for the office again, and trust you will support me. With these few remarks I will take my seat and leave the meeting open for nominations. Minney Wale was nominated by Buttermilk Humphries, and Fighting Archie by Farmer Scullie. They will be voted for on Tuesday evening next, in the Hall of Wisdom. Fighting Archie thanked the brethren for the honor of the nomination and solicited their support. Poney Moore rose to his feet and informed the president that he had several charges against a few of the members. He charged Ponty Mac, Yankey Mac and Engineer Mac with violating the rules by bucksawing wood with a license. Minney Wale fined them 50 dollars a piece. Poney also charged Fatty Drummond with sending four candles through the post office to a young lady. He was fined 25 dollars and 5 cents. Poney then informed the president that he professed to be a weather prophet. Now, says Poney, you know nothing about the weather. If you listen to me I will explain to you the reason that we have had such mild weather this winter. In the first place we must have heat to counterbalance the cold. Now, I presume you are acquainted with Warmer Plunket. Well, he invented a new stove which throws such a heat that he had to move it out of the house, so you see it is the heat from this stove that caused the mild weather. Now to prove that I am right in my argument: He let the fire out last week and it became so cold that the thermometer registered 25 below zeor. Minney Wale imposed a fine of 100 dollars on Plunket for spoiling our winter, to be paid in one day from date or he would make it even hotter for him. Wolf Howson then stood up and informed the president that it was time to close, for he heard the roosters crowing. Minney Wale took the hint and asked Wazy McFarlane and Shoemaker Clark to sing the closing ode. They made the shingles tremble on the roof of the hall. The meeting was then closed until next Tuesday evening at eight o'clock sharp. "God Save The King."

Do You Want to Know What You Swallow?

There is a growing sentiment in this country in favor of MEDICINES OF KNOWN COMPOSITION. It is but natural that one should have some interest in the composition of that which he or she is expected to swallow, whether it be food, drink or medicine.

Recognizing this growing disposition on the part of the public, and satisfied that the fullest publicity can only add to the well-earned reputation of his medicines, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has "taken time by the forelock," as it were, and is publishing broadcast a list of all the ingredients entering into his leading medicines, the "Golden Medical Discovery" the popular liver invigorator, stomach tonic, blood purifier and heart regulator; also of his "Favorite Prescription" for weak, over-worked, broken-down, nervous and invalid women.

This bold and out-spoken movement on the part of Dr. Pierce, has, by showing exactly what his well-known medicines are composed of, completely disarmed all harping critics who have heretofore unjustly attacked them. A little pamphlet has been compiled, from the standard medical authorities of all the several schools of practice, showing the strongest endorsements by leading medical writers of the several ingredients which enter into Dr. Pierce's medicines. A copy of this little book is mailed free to any one desiring to learn more concerning the valuable, native, medicinal plants which enter into the composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are tiny, sugar-coated anti-bilious granules. They regulate and invigorate Stomach, Liver and Bowels. Do not forget the "pill habit," but cure constipation. One or two each day for a laxative and regulator, three or four for an active cathartic. Once tried always in favor.

$50,000 GIVEN AWAY, in copies of The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a book that sold to the extent of 680,000 copies a few years ago, at $1.50 per copy. Last year we gave away 300,000 worth of these invaluable books. This year we shall give away 500,000 worth of them. Will you share in this remedy? ONE OF THE RICHEST PROSPECTS EVER DISCOVERED.

The Iron Spar Mining Co.

The Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., owning valuable property on the divide between the States of Idaho and Montana, a copper proposition of exceptional promise, a property that even a novice, by personal inspection, ought to discern merits in, so apparent are the indications which guide the prospector in the work of making great mineral discoveries. An immense copper bearing ledge traverses the ground from east to west and is so well defined and conspicuous in its surface outcrop that anyone however unfamiliar with outward appearances of mineralization, once shown the ledge, may follow it uninterruptedly for several thousand feet. The fact is that copper ores appear in the vein gangue even to the grass roots.

The vein is large, 15 to 20 feet wide, and horizontally contiguous across the whole extent of the claims, a distance of 6,000 feet. Being a true fissure and cutting the country formation at a considerable angle, it is entirely consistent with geological laws to suppose that it has also great vertical dimension.

Everybody who has made any study of the profits derived from successful copper mining operations can not have failed to observe the splendid and continuous dividends paid to investors. Copper mining has been so dependable a source of revenue throughout the world that today many investors prefer it to the more fickle high grade gold propositions. Look at the enormous and steady profits paid investors in all the great copper fields of the world, as viz: The Lake Superior mines in Michigan, Butte mines in Montana, Bisbee and Tombstone in Arizona, the mines of Utah, the great Tintic mines in Spain, and the Mexican mines. The demand for copper increases with the advance of civilization and the immense demand created by the growing popularization of electrical power justifies the belief that the supply will hardly keep pace with the demand for years to come. Copper mining is safe and profitable, once you have found a good property. That is just what we are trying to introduce to you, and you have this in the Iron Spar.

The sum of 400,000 shares of the fully paid capital stock was set aside as a treasury fund to be devoted to the improvement, development and equipment of the property. Nearly the entire block remains in the treasury at the present date, only so much having been drawn out as was necessary to defray the expenses of operation since the formation of the Company. The miners have all taken stock as pay instead of cash.

The undersigned has a limited number of Shares for sale at TEN CENTS per share. All interested should call or write at once.

Castellane Affair Scare to Society

General Revelations Apprehended if Case Had Gone to Courts---Count Has Lost His Position.

Paris, Feb. 25.—Paris society breathes considerably easier since it has become convinced that the Castellane affair will not result in a great scandal, which would reveal the general rottenness of Faubourg St. Germain.

The countess' desire to avoid a scandal as far as possible has given her the sympathy of all and allayed the fears of the many high-born ladies who had repeatedly snubbed her, and now shuddered to think that the hour of retribution has come.

Count Boni, who has never been particularly popular outside a certain set, has been dropped entirely since it is evident that he will have no longer the money to squander, which alone gave him entrance to many aristocratic circles.

The more decent element is rather disappointed, because they had hoped that Countess Anna, with typical American energy, would have exposed the people in society, which society itself is anxious to get rid of, but cannot drop because of lack of proof.

The countess' failure to do so is taken by many to mean that she still loves her husband, and that a reconciliation at some future time may still be possible.

WANT GAYER TIME.

The latest grudge against the government of the people who love to be in opposition at all times, is that it has been decided to adopt the Greenwich time as standard in France.

At present the official time here is base on the Paris meridian, which means that Paris time is about nine minutes ahead of London.

It might have been expected the Intransigeant, edited by the old fire-eater, Henri Rochefort, is very strong in its denunciation of the lack of patriotism which it sees in adopting the standard of another country no matter how friendly our present relations are.

That the English may in turn very soon adopt our metrical system, makes no difference to these people, who think it patriotic proper that France should set the fashion in everything.

PRINCE NAPOLEON'S BOOK.

Prince Victor Napoleon, who, for years, has been a resident of Brussels, has just finished his book on "Napoleon at St. Helena," on which he has been working for years.

The work, which is exceedingly interesting is based largely on unpublished family documents in the possession of the prince, and a number of autograph letters from Napoleon to King Jerome and Princess Borghese, his brother and sister, throw new sidelights on the character of the great emperor.

On many points Prince Napoleon's work differs very much from that of Lord Rosebery and other English books on the same subject.

MARTIAL FEVER.

The anti-militarists are rapidly losing ground in Switzerland, even among the most radical Socialists, who are becoming less cosmopolitan and more patriotic and national in their ideas.

Several Socialistic papers at Grueth and at Winterthur openly advocate the strengthening of the defences of the country, even at considerable expense.

It is to be hoped that our French Socialists will follow their example.

BELGIUM'S FEARS.

Belgium continues to live in fear of a new Franco-Prussian war, which it considers imminent, and for which it is by no means prepared.

There is little doubt that in case of a new Franco-Prussian war, the kaiser would not for a moment think of respecting the neutrality of that diminutive country, but will unhesitatingly try to march through it to attack France's weakest line of defence.

Belgium knows that she has herself to blame for her dangerous position. She has neglected to keep her defences in good shape; the forts along the Meuse are not able to withstand even the first attacks of an enemy, but hurried orders have been issued to stock them with powder, shells and military stores, and the garrisons are being reinforced.

The Belgians know William the Sudden, and are convinced that if he is defeated at Algeciras he will not be slow in seeking revenge.

the spot sharp at three, and no time was wasted on superfluous preliminaries. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Hoosier. The bride was given away, together with a cheque for $1,000 by the promoter of the game, her father. If the bride didn't look handsome it was not the fault of the regalia she had on, which consisted—among other things that baffle adequate description—of a crepe machine over a priming coat of peu-de-soie. The French knots showed up in great form and profusion. A full veil, carrying a basket of maiden's hair and forget-me-nots, caught with safety pins, completed the bewildering dream of dry goods. The bridesmaid, a sister of the bride, was finished in orange grey shellac—we mean, she was dressed in taffeta over a gown of pale blue, and looked fetching. The groom's brother officiated as referee, and under his scientific rulings the game was pulled off without a hitch. The little neice of the bride made a capital flower girl, and was a tower of strength on the hope team. After the game, the spectators to a man sat down to a dainty dejeuner. The grate receipts were costly in the extreme, and testified to the great popularity of the bride with all true lovers of the sport. The spliced team, Mr. and Mrs. Gobel, left for their future residence at Crump's Corners on the five o'clock train this morning. A send-off party accompanied them to the depot and discharged a few rounds of raw rice and old slippers, but no one was seriously hurt. We extend our heartiest congratulations to the bride's parents. —A Reader."

Kindly Words For Peterboro's Latest Disciple of Esculapius.

The Campbellford Herald says: Dr. Ernest Frederick, son of our townsman, Mr. J. A. Frederick, has commenced the practice of medicine in the city of Peterboro. Dr. Frederick, after graduating with honors at the University of Toronto, spent a year in the leading hospitals of England, returning last autumn and accepting a position on the staff of a medical college in Albany, N.Y., some weeks ago he resigned his position on the college staff, and is now establishing a practice of his own in Peterboro. The Herald and his many friends here, join in wishing him success.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE

Offer of Public Speaker is Declined With Thanks.

At a meeting of the Farmers' Institute held Saturday afternoon in the Munro House, with President Hunter in the chair, the secretary explained that Mr. George A. Putman, Toronto, superintendent of Farmers' Institutes, had offered to send a speaker to the annual meeting. This was discussed, and it was moved and seconded by Messrs. Stothart and Mitchell, that the speaker be dispensed with, and that the meeting be adjourned until the annual meeting on Saturday, June 16th next, at the city council chamber at one o'clock.

There were also present Messrs. Willian, Collins, secretary; Mann, Stothard, Calles, Chambers and Mutchett.

The Crisis in the Orient.

San Francisco, February 24. — Ten thousand Chinese boys, many of them native sons of the golden West, all of them fully equipped, and all soldiers drilled by American officers, will leave the Pacific Coast between this date and March 8, for their fatherland. They are returning under an urgent call from the leaders of the Chinese Empire Reform Association at home, and while the greatest secrecy is maintained among those who know just what wholesale departure of Chinese residents means, enough has transpired to make it absolutely certain that their going has to do with a crisis in affairs that is anticipated in the Orient.

TIED DOWN

20 Years' Slavery—How She Got Freedom.

A dyspepsia veteran who writes from one of England's charming rural homes to tell how she won victory in her 20 years' fight, naturally exults in her triumph over the coffee habit:

"I feel it a duty to tell you," she says, "how much good Postum Food Coffee has done me. I am not only grateful, but also desire to let others who may be suffering as I did, know of the delightful method by which I was relieved.

"I had suffered for 20 years from dyspepsia, and the giddiness that usually accompanies that painful ailment, and which frequently prostrated me. I never drank much coffee, and cocoa and even milk were too strong for my impaired digestion, so I used tea, exclusively, till about a year ago, when I found in a package of Grape-Nuts the little book, 'The Road to Wellville.'

"After a careful reading of the booklet I was curious to try Postum Food Coffee, and sent to 64 Shoe Lane, London, for a package. I enjoyed it from the first, and at once gave up tea in its favor.

"I began to feel better very soon. My giddiness left me after the first few days' use of Postum, and my stomach became stronger so rapidly that it was not long till I was able (as I still am) to take milk and many other articles of food which I was formerly compelled to deny myself. I have proved the truth of your statement that Postum 'makes good, red blood.'

"I have become very enthusiastic over the merits of my new table beverage, and during the past few months have conducted a Postum propaganda among my neighbors which has brought benefit to many, and I shall continue to tell my friends of the 'better way' in which I rejoice." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason. That little book, "The Road to Wellville," may be found in pkgs. of Postum and Grape-Nuts.

GERMAN INTRIGUES IN MEDITERRANEAN

Seeking a New Naval Base on Island of Thasos

Will Oppose the Concession Granted by Sultan of Turkey in Return for Germany's Support.

London, February 24.—Germany is on the point of obtaining great industrial concessions and a coaling station on the island of Thasos, off the Macedonian port of Kavala, on the Aegean Sea. Last September, the Sultan of Turkey, to whom Thasos politically belongs, issued an irade granting a concession to a number of gold mines on the island to German subjects. Austria and France immediately protested on the grounds that the same mines had already been conceded to Austrian and French subjects. Britain also protested, declaring that the first Khedive of Egypt hailed from Thasos, that the island belonged to the jurisdiction of Egypt, and hence could not be summarily disposed of by the Sultan. The Sultan practically ignored this claim but agreed to indemnify the Austrian and French subjects whose concession had been seized.

Then the German Government promising the Sultan financial and diplomatic support in several stipulated contingencies, asked for the concession of a coaling station. It is reported that this either has been, or is about to be granted.

The British Government is thoroughly aroused, Sir Nicholas O'Connor, British ambassador to Turkey, is using all his power to defeat Germany's purpose.

Thasos would give Germany a fine naval position in the eastern part of the Mediterranean for general reasons, and for the particular reason that it is opposite the northern terminus of the Bagdad railway, and offers the Kaiser a seabase for all his great enterprises in Asia Minor. Moreover, it would give Germany a new approach to the Balkans and add a fresh incentive to persevere in her purposes relative to Trieste.

OLDEST SUBJECT OF THE KING

He Lives in London and is Returned Emigrant to the United States.

London, February 24. — "Grandfather" McNally, King Edward's oldest subject, who lives at the Home for the Aged, maintained by the Little Sisters of the Poor, has entered his 110th year.

For fourteen years the Sisters whose only funds are the alms they beg from door to door, have cared for the old man. It is twenty-eight years since he returned from the United States, and while he was there he buried his wife, whom he married in Ireland when she was a girl and he was a lad of eighteen.

"It is thirty years since she died, and she was eighty then.

"Yes, I have lived a very long while," he said to a visitor. "It is because I have always led a steady life. I was never the worse for drink in my life. I never ate too much. I never believed in ruining my stomach with too much drink or food. Aye, I am happy. I sleep well and enjoy my victtles."

THE MONEY PAID

Brother of Deranzio, Pays Over $43 the Italian is Alleged to Have Stolen.

Our readers will remember that F. Deranzio, an Italian, was charged at Friday morning's police court, with having stolen $43 from another Italian, Di Napri by name. Deranzio's brother paid over the money to the complainant at the police station on Saturday and endeavored to have the charge withdrawn. Acting Chief Adams whom he first consulted, advised him to see his Worship P. M. Dumble, who, in turn, told him to interview County Crown Attorney Wood on the subject. Mr. Wood informed him that the charge would have to be dealt with at this morning's session of the police court, court, when the case of Deranzio comes up for hearing.

THE INTERCOLONIAL

Minister of Railways says Profits will Soon Run Into Millions.

Ottawa, February 24.—The Minister of Railways said today: "I expect that the Government system of railways will come out on an even balance on the 30th of June of this year and I venture to predict that within three years the annual surplus of the Intercolonial Railway will run into the million column. That is a good deal to say, but it can be done, and without in any way impairing the service.

"Our proposed retrenchments are not simply effervescent; they are not for this year alone. They would not be worth troubling about if that were all. What we are aiming at is to put them on a permanent basis."

Mr. Emmerson intimated that experts were now in Moncton changing the entire system of book-keeping, by which this would be modernized as well as economized. The Minister also intimated that the anendeu passenger rates will go into effect on the first of next month.

Pitiable Story of a Widow in Windsor

Windsor, Feb. 25.—Three boys, aged four, eight, and five, for adoption. Apply 112 Albert street.

In this little "want ad" in the Record a pitiable story is revealed. Mrs. Wm. Moore, a young widow, with four children, who is unable to support them after a year's trial by taking in boarders has lost an unequal battle with the world, and now, broken in health from overwork, she has decided to part with her three boys of good homes can be secured for them. The oldest child, a girl, named Myrtle, will be raised by her grandmother, Mrs. Wm. Clarke, 112 Albert street, where Mrs. Moore is living at present.

Besides the little girl, who is 12 years old, there are the three boys, Harry, aged 10, Armen, aged 8, and Stanley, aged 5. Several applications have been made for the eldest boy, but he was taken ill a few days ago, and until he recovers he will be kept at Mrs. Clarke's home.

WOULD NOT HELP.

Mr. Clarke is a laborer and not in circumstances in which he could support his daughter and her children. In Sandwich West, on the Huron line, lives the father of Mrs. Moore's late husband. Wm. Moore, who is a wealthy farmer, but who refuses to take any of the children for adoption, and advises the plan of sending them out among strangers. The Children's Aid Society communicated with Mr. Moore, but he could not be persuaded to render relief.

It was about eighteen months ago that Wm. Moore, jr., was killed in Walkerville by being crushed between a wall and a heavy wagon, the horses of which became frightened by a passing train. There was no insurance, and the little money that was saved by the couple went to defray burial expenses.

KEPT BOARDING HOUSE.

Then at the corner of Sandwich and Marcotette streets the widow started a boarding place, and worked hard to keep up the place and support herself and children. Her health was never good, and the great strain caused the attending physician to order the frail woman to take a rest. Since then she has been living with her parents, who intend keeping her and the eldest child, Myrtle, but whose circumstances will not permit of the keeping of the three little boys. Mrs. Moore is worrying greatly over parting with her children, and it is feared that the shock of actually parting with them will seriously affect her.

WEARING HER WEDDING DRESS

Stabbed Her Aunt and Uncle Because Stories They Told Caused Husband to Desert Her.

New York, Feb. 25.—Josephine Pollar Terranova, the 17-year-old Italian matron, who it is alleged, stabbed Gaetano Riggo, and his wife, with whom she had made her home before her marriage two months ago was arrested yesterday. The charge against the young woman now is murder, as Riggio died in a hospital early yesterday from his wounds. Mrs. Riggo's condition is somewhat improved.

The stabbing took place last Thursday night at the Riggio home in the Bronx, a short time after Mrs. Terranova had been seen to enter the apartments, but when the neighbors reached there she had gone. Both the old people were found unconscious. Just before his death Riggio accused Mrs. Terranova of stabbing himself and wife, but he gave no reason for the act. The theory of the police has been that Mrs. Terranova was angry with the Riggons because she held them responsible for trouble which resulted in her separation from her husband.

After her arrest, Mrs. Terranova told the police that she stabbed both Riggio and his wife. She asserted that she was justified by the treatment which she claimed to have received at Riggio's hands since she was 13 years old. When she told her husband of Riggo's treatment he refused to live with her, then girl said, and for this reason she attacked both her uncle and his wife.

When the young woman was arrested yesterday she wore her wedding dress. On the front of the skirt was a large dark stain. She said it was made by Riggio's blood.

A Painter's Hard Luck.

Some time ago a well-known Peterboro man stopped a painter on the street and asked him to go up and look his house over and tell him what he would charge for painting it. The painter said it wasn't necessary, as he knew the house well, and agreed to do the work for $65. The contract was let and nothing more was thought about it by the owner of the house until the painter came in for his money. The owner of the house was angry to think the painter should ask for his money in advance and told him so, when the painter said he had painted the house. Investigation showed that the painter had painted a neighbor's house, and when he tried to collect for it the neighbor told him he would not pay him a cent, but was going to sue him for damages.

TEACHERS ENCOURAGED

Ontario Department of Education Offers 14 Scholarships.

A circular letter issued by the Education Department announces 14 scholarships of the value of $75 for male and $50 for female teachers holding second-class certificates. They are for nature study courses at the Macdonald Institute, commencing April 5th, and lasting three months. It is the desire of the authorities that every part of the province should be represented, and travelling expenses will be paid. Teachers who desire to compete should apply to the Education Department before March 10th. It is to be hoped that some of the Peterboro teachers will avail themselves of the chance.

The King May Meditate.

London, February 24.—Circumstances point to the approaching mediation of King Edward in the Moroccan controversy.

The fact that the King has exchanged autograph letters with the Kaiser, the tenor of which pointed to such an offer has been commented upon on the Berlin Bourse. A meeting it is rumored, between King and Kaiser will shortly take place.

The report is strengthened by a despatch from Algeciras, which quotes the Duke of Almodovar, head of the Spanish mission at Algeciras, as saying that a plan is being sought, by which the differences between France and Germany can be adjusted.

IS KING HOPELESSLY LAME

New York Cable Says King Edward Will Never Walk Without a Cane

New York, Feb. 25.—According to the London correspondent of the World, King Edward can never walk again without the aid of a cane. The King's fall while shooting in Windsor forest last November resulted in breaking a tendon Achilles.

The World correspondent states this on indisputable authority. It was announced at first that the King had sprained his ankle.

The King is 65 years old, and nature, even with surgical assistance, cannot completely repair the broken tendon Achilles of a man of that age, the correspondent avers. Leaning on a stick, King Edward walks very slowly, and with a pronounced limp.

His Majesty leaned heavily on a crutch-handled stout Malacca cane when he opened parliament. He could not arise from the throne until the cane was handed to him. He wears an orthopedic instrument inside his boot to support his ankle.

Otherwise the King looks to be in good health, but is planning for a quiet, restful stay at Biarritz before his Mediterranean cruise.

JAPS WILL BE BIGGER MEN

Philadelphia, Feb. 25.—That he will increase the size of the Japanese race to the normal stature of the Caucasian race by teaching them how and what to eat, was the declaration made by Surgeon-General Takaki of Japan in a lecture delivered in the medical lecture room of the University of Pennsylvania yesterday afternoon. The surgeon-general quoted statistics about the men of the army and navy to prove that by giving them the proper diet he has brought them nearer the standard of the weight of the men of the English and American navies. Surgeon-general Takaki declared that many diseases common in Japan have been almost wiped out by the same method. He has made it his life work to find a method by which the size of the Japanese race be made normal.

"Within a few generations I am sure that the Japanese race will be of normal size," he added. "It is one of the greatest humiliations of our life that we are so small. The Caucasian race is normal in size and that is what we want to be. That is what we will be within a short time if the people of my race follow my directions. The emperor has promised to join hands and help the work along. I learned men must now agree that the Japanese only need proper food and plenty of it. Give them nourishing food and all of it they can eat."

REBELS DEFEAT TURKS.

Island of Perim, Red Sea, Feb. 25.—The rebels in Yemen Province, Arabia, are gaining important successes over the Turks.

The latter, after sustaining losses at Sana, retreated to Taiz with the Arabs in pursuit.

Fighting is proceeding at Taiz.

The rebels, whose headquarters are at Khamr, have occupied Jebal Doras and Mashar, and have surrounded Amran.

KILLED ON STREET.

Warsaw, Feb. 25.—Privy Councillor Ivanoff, director-general of the Vistula Railroad, was shot and killed on Bracka street yesterday by an unknown man. Mr Ivanoff was energetic in suppressing the recent railroad strike, and dismissing many employes for participating in it.

VICTIM'S HAT FOUND.

Hamilton, Feb. 25.—The most important discovery in the Barton murder case was the finding yesterday afternoon of the red velvet hat worn by the unknown victim.

Protestants Send Petition to the King

Formal Potestant in Behalf of 57th Organizations Against the Marriage of Princess Ena to Alfonso of Spain.

London, Feb. 25.—The Council of the Imperial Protestant Federation has addressed the following petition to his Majesty the King:

"To the King's Most Excellent Majesty.

"May it please your majesty:

"The Council of the Imperial Protestant Federation, comprising fifty-seven united Protestant organizations in England, Scotland, Ireland, America, Australia, Canada, Ceylon, Tasmania and New Zealand, and thus representing many millions of your majesty's most loyal and devoted subjects scattered throughout your empire, humbly approaches your majesty with reference to the rumors of a proposed marriage between Her Royal Highness Princess Ena of Battemberg and his majesty the King of Spain. The council begs to humbly state to your majesty that the announcement of this proposed marriage which has appeared in all the leading British newspapers, has caused the deepest sorrow and distress to those whom the Imperial Protestant Federation represents; more especially as it is believed that an essential condition of such a marriage taking place will be the previous reception of the Princess Ena into the Church of Rome. Had her royal highness become a member of that communion a few years ago, the marriage in question would not have excited so much surprise, but that so momentous a change should now take place, merely as a condition of a marriage, has greatly shocked the feelings of those of your majesty's loyal and devoted subjects who are in membership with the Imperial Protestant Federation. There is, however, another condition essential before this marriage can take place, and that is that your majesty's consent must first be given both to this marriage as well as to the previous reception of your royal niece into the Church of Rome.

"This being the case, the Council of the Imperial Protestant Federation earnestly appeals to your majesty to withhold your consent to the proposed marriage. By granting this humble petition, your majesty will remove many grave anxieties, and gladden the hearts of an exceedingly large number of your majesty's devoted and loyal subjects.

"Signed on behalf of the council,

"James W. Walsh,

"Organizing secretary of the Imperial Protestant Federation.

"Dudley House, 36-38 Southampton street, Strand, London, W.C.

Confessed His Crime.

Mount Holly, N.J., February 24.—After undergoing the "third degree" for hours, George Small, the first negro suspect arrested for the murder of Miss Florence Allinson, of Mooreestown, for which crime Rufus Johnson, another negro, is under sentence to be hanged next Friday, confessed that he strangled the woman to death while Johnson robbed the house. "I killed Miss Allinson, Rufus Johnson, my pal was robbing the house while I choked the woman to death in the barn. I just couldn't see Rufus hanged for a crime he didn't commit," said Small. The confession will possibly save Johnson from death. The murder was committed on January 18. Johnson was arrested a few days later and was tried February 8. In one hour Johnson was convicted.

THE FINEST AUTO

Mr. Perkins Pays $23,000 For Most Complete Chug-Chug in the World.

New York, February 24.—The finest automobile in the world has just been purchased by George W. Perkins, former vice-president of the New York Life Insurance Co., and partner of J. Pierpont Morgan. It cost $23,000.

It has a limousine body, containing revolving chairs, a wash stand, toilet cases, mirrors, electric lights, patent heaters, hat cords, parcel nets, leather pocket filled with various articles, a writing desk, and a cabinet containing smokers' articles.

It has also a telephone and an annunciator leading to the chaffeur's seat, so the occupant of the car can be in touch with the driver at all times.

At the rear of the dashboard in front of the chaffeur are several small electric lights. Over each is a silver mounted label, bearing instructions of various kinds, such as "more speed," "slower," etc. By pressing a button in the interior of the car the lights are illuminated to signify the directions to be carried out.

If some special order is to be given the telephone is used, and receiver of which is shaped like a horn, and is situated close to the right ear of the driver.

To Purchase 40,000 Acres.

Ottawa, February 24.—The Department of Indian Affairs has been informed that the Grand Trunk Pacific is actually negotiating for the purchase of 40,000 acres of land in the Indian Reserve, situated on the shore of Kaien Island, British Columbia. The company has placed before the department a plan indicating the position of the lands which they intend to acquire, they being in the immediate neighborhood of the railway terminus.

The department has had no official news since concerning this negotiation, but has been led to suppose that it is being put through directly with the Indians.

PETERBORO ENDANGERED

Another Case of Diphtheria Unloaded by Local Lumber Co. in the City.

Late Saturday night another case of infectious disease, diphtheria, was brought to Peterboro from a local company's lumber camps.

Mr. Pearson who manages the summer resort at Burkehorn, arrived Saturday night in this city, driving down a man named Cochrane who was sick, and who had been cast by a camps team, for the camps, about 40 miles back of Burkhorn. Mr. Pearson who was hired by the company to bring this sick man to the city alleged late that night, when it developed that Cochrane was threatened with, and had every symptom of the dread scourge diphtheria, that, being a married man, with four children he would not have taken any amount, and exposed himself, and consequently to the danger of contracting the disease.

Where the great danger of these men, with infectious and dangerously contagious diseases being unloaded upon this city, in that the Ontario Government Inspector of Hospitals has positively forbidden the two hospitals of Peterboro, from taking in such cases.

It simply means that, as the hospitals cannot take such cases in, these sick men are bound to go from house to house seeking admission, and then risk spreading disease that would shortly and easily create a fearful epidemic.

In the case of Cochrane, for instance on Saturday night, when the young man arrived in town he was refused admittance to the local hospitals, and for hours wandered round in the rain, giving the germs of this disease good opportunity for spreading abroad through the city.

Yesterday he was driven to his father's residence, in the township of Dysart.

In the early part of last week still another man with diphtheria was sent to this city from the same camps, and being refused admission to the local hospitals, was compelled to be taken into the residence of a relative at the corner of Water and Murray streets. Still another man from this camp with an infectious disease was unloaded upon the city, and located in the east ward.

It is not for us to judge what sanitary regulations are followed in these lumber camps or in the various townships of this county, but it is now up to the health authorities and police of Peterboro, to take such steps as will effectually prevent Peterboro being made a dumping ground, and general resipient of the infection. Rich employers who could well afford to provide private hospital accommodations for their own sick in any event this thing of deliberately unloading diphtheria patients upon a community in no way responsible for their sickness, and running every risk of Peterboro becoming a hot-bed of disease, must be stopped right now.

The young man Cochrane, whilst wandering about our streets last Saturday night, may be the cause of numerous outbreaks of diphtheria in the city. It was rumored that Dr. Omer drove out to the lumber camp last night to investigate.

If the dictates of humanity and common decency towards the community will not prevent placing the citizens of Peterboro into needless danger of an epidemic, the citizens will have to form quarantine regulations to prevent any further occurrences.

C. G. E. BENEFIT SOCIETY

Encouraging Reports For Local Mutual Benefit Society.

There was a large attendance and great enthusiasm prevailed at the semi-annual meeting of the Canadian General Electric Company Employees' Mutual Benefit Society, held Friday evening at the Y.M.C.A. The president, Mr. R. E. Harding, was in the chair, and the report presented by the secretary, Mr. F. A. Shannon, was of a most encouraging nature.

The receipts for the six months for the ending Dec. 30th, 1905, amounted to $1,085.77.

A committee was appointed to arrange for a social evening for the members of the club and their wives and friends will be held some time during March. The Foresters' Hall will likely be engaged for the purpose.

The society has now over 600 members, and is in a flourishing condition.

WORKS FOR THE POINT

Dominion Gov't to Spend $25,000 at Young's Point.

Last week Mr. J. H. McClellan, superintendent of the canal; Mr. D. Eason, C.E.; Mr. Clem. Gordon, of Peterboro, and Mr. W. Murphy, of Montreal, were at Young's Point, registered at the Lake View House, and it is stated that their visit was connected with the proposed extensive work to be done, this coming summer in the village. There is reason for believing that the Department of Railways and Canals, will spend in the neighborhood of $15,000 there, and the works which will be constructed will be a new steel bridge over the canal and a new cement pier.

The Uxbridge Journal gets off the following:

In answer to the Journal's call a few weeks ago for something new in the line of wedding reports, I submit the following, written by a football enthusiast who had a habit of writing rapidly and carelessly and trusting to the editor to revise. In this instance the editor was away, or too busy to get over the copy, and it appeared in print as follows:—"Yesterday afternoon at the campus of Mr. Hiram Billings, a great crowd of the best sporting blood in the countryside assembled to witness the long-advertised match between his eldest daughter, Samanthy, and Mr. Cyrus Gobel, of Crump's Corners. The opposing teams arrived on

TIREDNESS MEANS DANGER

Indicates Faulty Blood and Worn Out Nerves—Build Up, or Total Collapse will Surely Follow.

When you're tired all day, bothered by trifles, exhausted with nervousness, be sure there is something wrong.

You need bracing up, need more nourishment in the blood, need a powerful medicine to vitalize the nerves and distribute force and staying power to all over-worked organs.

The most marvelous success is Ferrosone, a nourishing tonic so scientific as to be the admiration of every physician. Ferrosone performs wonders for people in poor health; acts directly on the blood, enriching it with strength and new life that is at once dispatched to all parts of the body. Ferrosone feeds the nerves and vital energies, supplies force, determination and joyous, buoyant spirits.

A case where there was lassitude and lack of strength is told by Mr. David Brown, of post-office box No. 80, Beeton, Ont.: "About a year ago my health commenced to fail. My hands and feet seemed always cold. I felt worn-out and exhausted, weak as a little child. My face twitched. My limbs and arms commenced to lose their sense of feeling and finally my left side was perfectly numb. All my color left. My appetite ran down. Ferrosone was the first to give me any help. I improved with it very quickly. It toned up the blood and started circulation, so that the numbness gradually disappeared. My condition was perfectly cured by Ferrosone, and I have been well ever since. (Signed) "David Brown."

SPECIAL NOTICE.—To get satisfactory results be sure you get Ferrosone only. Fifty cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

IF THERE IS WAR.

The issues at stake at Algeciras are of great importance to the people of the British Empire, for if there be war between France and Germany over this dispute, it is too much to hope that Britain will not be involved. Who else may be involved, it is hard to say; but it is quite as difficult to say who may not. Italy will be in the delicate position of being an ally of Germany, and a party to an agreement with France that she should have a free hand in Morocco. Austria will have no interest except to support Germany; but will Austria be anxious at this time to help make the House of Hohenzollern supreme on the Continent of Europe? Russia, on the other hand, is the ally of France; but can she afford to quarrel under the present circumstances with the power which can keep Poland quiet?

A war between Britain and France on the one side and Germany on the other, would be for all the parties "a leap into the dark." The London Times' correspondent has been telling us of late that the French army is in far better fighting condition than it has been for many decades; and that the French defences along the German frontier are said to be impregnable. Thus it might be entirely possible for the French to remain on the defensive and roll back the tides of German invasion, while the French and British fleets swept the seas of German shipping and hermetically sealed German ports. How long Germany could stand a siege of this nature, it is impossible to predict; but it must not be forgotten that she would be wide open toward Russia and Austria, and so would have considerable access to the outside world. The closing of German ports would be a minor calamity when compared with the closing of either British or French ports.

Would the German army of invasion be as effective as in 1870? Figures cannot give us the answer to this question. The spirit of the German people would offer a better clue. In 1870 they were quite conscious that they were fighting for the future life of the German nation, which was just then about to be born. But today is there not a feeling in Germany that its industrial and trade progress should not be checked for any question of Morocco, or even any advantage to be gained by teaching France to look to Berlin for orders? If Germany were a constitutionally governed country, would there now be danger of war at all? That is the real question; for if Germany is not as a whole full of enthusiasm for the war, the army of invasion will betray this fact.

But surely the great financiers of Berlin, Paris and London should be able to command peace today in the very centre of civilization!

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Two great men have died in Chicago in the past few days. Marshall Field left $150,000,000; Dr. Harper left $13,000,000. Both were almost equally widely known and equally respected in their widely separated fields of labor in life. Even in this mercenary age the man who left little was valued as highly as the man who left millions. Money was not at all the measure of Dr. Harper's achievement, and very far from being the measure of Mr. Field's achievement. Their work was in different lines, and both attained the highest success.

Lawyer Patrick has got another stay of execution till March. Perhaps the governor of New York was afraid the poor man's taking off would seem too hasty if the date of execution was not again postponed. It is only a few years since he was tried. Besides, the man he was convicted of killing has been dead a long time, and probably doesn't mind it now. Then the delay will average up about right with a few of the lynchings down South, and give the proper gait to American justice—neither too swift nor too slow. American business men may be swift, but American courts never.

SOLVED THE BARTON MURDER?

Detective Wells Says He Has Received What He Considers Positive Information.

Toronto, Feb. 24.—The Barton murder mystery has been solved, but until an arrest has been made the names of the victim and murderer will not be disclosed.

This is what Detective W. J. Wells, of the Provincial Detective Force, said this morning when asked by a press representative if it was true that the murderer had been located and the victim identified.

"I consider that I have positive information in letters which reached me this morning from across the border, which, to my mind, solves the mystery of the Barton murder beyond a doubt," said Mr. Wells.

"Is that due to the clue given by the boots?"

"The tracing of the brand — Our Foot Queen—has brought complete and decisive information."

"Is the murderer a Toronto man?"

"My information does not and never did connect any Toronto man, or any man who ever worked for a Toronto firm with the murder. But information which I already had from the town where the Foot Queen brand is sold indicated that it is more than probable that the murderer and his victim were here a few days before the murder."

"Was the victim Fanny Lowthian?"

"No."

Calumet-Tellurid Colde Mining Co.
OF CALUMET, MICHIGAN,

offers a limited amount of its Treasury Stock at ONE DOLLAR per share, full paid and non-assessable. Properties consisting of four groups of lode claims and equal to claim area of 27 full lode claims, or about 270 acres, with two valuable water rights and a water reservoir—a lake of about 30 acres surface area.

Development is equal to 1700 lineal feet, at a cost of $15 per lineal foot—tunnels, drifts, cross-cuts, wings and surface cuts and trenches, and one ten gravity stamp concentrating mill. Three groups, water rights, mill and tunnel sites, etc., are fully paid; one group, held on title bond, is partly paid for. Good Grade of Profitable Milling are blocked out, in sight, to last for a sixty ton mill for over two years time. Safe and conservative estimate for mining the ore, delivering and milling it, at a cost of about $4.00 per ton. Three separate mill runs, for testing purposes, have returned from $8.40 to $14.80 per ton of rock, principally in gold.

This Is a Bonanza for Intelligent Investors

In order to make operations absolutely up-to-date, perfect, both the mining and the reduction of ores, the Board of Directors have placed a limited amount of Treasury Stock at par value $1.00 per share on the market. Six reports of mine well known mining men. Properties situated in San Juan Gold Belt, San Miguel County, Southwestern Colorado.

ECONOMY, HONESTY and CONSERVATISM

The New Method Treatment Cured Him after Drugs, Mercury, Hot Springs, &c., all failed.

Wm. H. Patterson, of Saginaw, Mich., relates his experience: "I do not like notoriety and especially of this kind, but I feel I owe this much to Drs. K. & K. for the great good they have done me. I had a serious blood disease when 24 years of age. The skin and blood spots, chronic gonorrhœa, developed. Pimples and ulcers formed, running sores broke out, hair became loose, pains in the bones and joints. I visited Hot Springs twice for four months each time. It helped me temporarily, but in six months after returning home I was as bad as ever. Finally a Doctor friend of mine advised me to see Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. He said he had known of them for over 30 years, and as they made a specialty of these diseases and treated the worst cases by the hundred they ought to be expert in curing them. I was afraid of advertising doctors, but I took his advice. They agreed to treat me under a guarantee or no pay. SELECTIONS

TO A RELUCTANT EDITOR.

I've piped for you, I've sung for you,
The changes metric rung for you
From every modern tongue for you,
But all to no avail!
Why are you still refractory
To poems from my factory?
Is nothing satisfactory
I've offered you for sale?

I've wasted stamps galore on you,
My philatelic store on you,
And so I'm rather sore on you—
I'll pay you back some day!
You took some stuff before of me,
The minted gold and ore of me,
Why will you have no more of me?
Now, tell me that, I pray.

I've tried the sonnet form on you
And every other norm on you—
In fact, a perfect swarm on you,
From Latin down to Dutch.
But you no longer heed my stuff,
You do not seem to need my stuff—
Now, tell me, do you read my stuff?
By Jove, I thought as much!

—William Wallace Whitelock in New York Times.

A Good Place.

Old Gentleman—Getting on well at school, my boy—got a good place in your class, eh?

Jones, Minor—Yes, sir; next the stove.—Tatler.

Indispensability.

"No," said Burton Holmes, "it doesn't do to get a swelled head and think you're indispensable to the welfare of this world.

"I was in the lobby of a big hotel in Cincinnati when a bus load of traveling salesmen came from the station. Every man of them, as he signed the register, paused to shake hands with the hotel clerk, a fatherly old fellow who had been there many years.

"'Ah,' said one of them to the clerk, 'it's a good thing you're still on deck, Uncle Dave. I don't think the house could run without you.'

"'Couldn't it, just!' said Uncle Dave. 'You fellows would come in here, and if there was a strange clerk you'd say, "Where's Uncle Dave?"'

"'And the clerk would say: "Why, didn't you hear? He died a month ago."'

"'And then you'd say: "Well, I'll be darned! That's too bad. Say, when'll dinner be ready?"'"—Woman's Home Companion.

Spoke Too Soon.

"My dear," said the caller, "I was over to see Mrs. Gabbit yesterday afternoon, and you just ought to have heard what she said about you. Why, she talked about you all the time I was there."

"Mrs. Gabbit!" exclaims the hostess warmly. "Well, all I've got to say is that nobody believes a word she says. That woman couldn't speak the truth if she tried. Everything she says is pure invention—I won't give it a worse name, but I have my own opinion."

"I'm dreadfully sorry to hear it. She talked all the time about you and said she thought you were the nicest woman in this town and a lot more of the same nature."—Chicago Tribune.

So Gallant of Him.

He—Here's a reporter who wants a description of your gown.

She—Mercy! I don't want any notoriety. Just tell him I'm clothed in my right mind.

He—I shall have to tell him, then, that you are the most gorgeously gowned woman at the ball.—Baltimore American.

Population Reducers.

"How did China come to be so densely populated?" asked the inquisitive person.

"Because," answered the man who always knows the answer, "it started its civilization so long before the invention of automobiles and trolley cars."—Washington Star.

Easy Way to Carve.

Freddy lived in a boarding house near where they had been excavating for the subway. One day when he saw his mother struggling with a particularly tough steak the boarders were convulsed to hear him pipe up:

"Mamma, why don't you blast it?"—Chicago Inter Ocean.

The Main Trouble.

"The main trouble with pedestrianism as an exercise," said the man with mental strabismus, "is that when a fellow first begins it his friends declare he is crazy, and that when he has been at it two or three days he begins to share their opinion."—Judge.

Not So Wonderful.

Myer—It was certainly a miracle. I barely escaped with my life.

Gyer—Huh! I fail to see anything miraculous about that. Now, if you had escaped without your life the story would be far more interesting.—Detroit Tribune.

Two Ways of Keeping Them.

"What is double entry bookkeeping, pa?"

"Refusing to lend your own and borrowing others and failing to return them."—New York Press.

Clay in Paper.

Too large a percentage of clay used in the manufacture of paper not only increases the weight, but renders the paper weak and liable to be easily torn.

Ancient Timber.

Probably the oldest timber in the world is found in the ancient temples of Egypt in connection with stone work which is known to be at least 4,000 years old. This, the only wood used in the construction of the temples, is in the form of ties, holding the end of one stem to another.

To Cave In.

"To cave in" comes from the English coal mining regions. After a mine had been worked out and abandoned the last item in its history was the caving in of the ground above.

Leonardo da Vinci.

Leonardo da Vinci, being a great architect and engineer as well as painter and sculptor, left notebooks proving that he had studied the flight of birds and had planned flying machines to be driven by wings or by screw propellers. But as Leonardo was good at figures he seems to have abandoned his plans after finding out how much force would be needed.

Paper Making.

The first hint of paper making in Europe was in Constantinople. The process was brought from China by way of Samarkand in A. D. 651.

Croutons.

To make croutons, or fried bread, for soups cut bread into slices a quarter of an inch thick, remove the crust and cut the bread into cubes and fry them in smoking hot melted butter until they are crisp and golden brown in color.

A Bag of Money.

A strange story of money recovered comes from Liverpool. A chimney sweep in cleaning an oven flue found £40 in coin in a bag. On telling the lady of the house she burst into tears and fainted. She had put the money there herself years ago and, having forgotten the fact, had accused her son, who was rather wild, of stealing it, with the result that he had left the house in indignation and had never returned.

To the Canadian Investor

DORES-MONTGOMERY MINING COMPANY

OF BULLFROG, NEVADA

The undersigned is pleased to announce to the investors of Canada that he has been appointed Canadian Fiscal Agent of the above company, and is offering a limited amount of treasury stock at 25c. per share for development work. This property is just 1200 feet southwest of the famous Montgomery Shoshone mine and both have unquestionably the same vein. The group shows a well defined vein cropping out through, and it is a perfect fissure. A six inch talc seam on the hanging wall gives high values. We have also several other ledges, and it is only a matter of development work to make this property equal to any producer in the section.

The management of the Montgomery Shoshone conservatively estimates that the mines has produced $300,000 worth of ore. If this is right, the ore from the mines has averaged about $975 a ton, or about $1250 for every foot of sinking, the mine being 4 x 7 in clear.

Ore from the mines running less than $250 is thrown over the dump as milling ore. No less than 150 tons of ore has been shipped from this mine, all of it coming from the mines. Another shipment of 50 tons or more will be made via Las Vegas in a few days.

The figures given above are startling in the extreme, but the measurements and ore values as quoted are official—direct from the management of the wonderful mine that is today astonishing the world.

This property is only 1200 feet from the Dores Montgomery Mine.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15 x 1320 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

Placer mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The leases shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

HERE IS A CURE FOR

Sleeplessness

Weak, Listless, Sleepless Men and Women Cured Every Day by Dr Hamilton's Pills.

The physical suffering and mental anguish that victims of sleeplessness endure is indeed a sad story. But in Dr. Hamilton's Pills there is swift relief from this awful condition Thousands have proved the merit of this grand medicine, among them Mrs. G. T. Lyons, one of the best known residents of Geneva, who writes: "My health ran down and I was unable to sleep. I had headache and pains in different parts of my body. In the morning I was weary and exhausted—no rest or comfort came from the snatches of sleep I got.

"Dr. Hamilton's Pills braced me at once. After the first night I got refreshing sleep, that [illegible] weariness left me and I [illegible] very fast.

"No medicine [illegible] gave such telling results as [illegible]milton's Mandrake and Butternut Pills."

Don't let sleeplessness drive you away. take Dr. Hamilton's Pills and get well. You will increase in flesh your appetite will be vigorous, tones and energy will be instilled into your nervous system.

By nourishing and purifying the blood and by stimulating the action of the kidneys, liver and stomach. Dr. Hamilton's Pills accomplish wonders. Try a 25c. box, or five boxes for $1, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

Local Art Appreciated.

The Toronto Sunday World spoke in high terms of the exhibition of works of art shown by Peterboro ladies at the Toronto exhibition of the W.A. association. It said in part; "A Bit of Muskoka," by Miss M. F. Hatton, Peterboro, is a bit that one could live with, and that is a great test, and a study on a large scale of chrysanthemums, by Miss Bertram, Peterboro, is very good."

A Deserving Charity.

The attention of The Times has been called to what seems a most deserving case for charitable aid. A widow, English with six children is living in Peterboro. She recently lost a limb and is confined to her house. Her children are too young to be of any support. Her rent is paid by a society and she is assisted in other ways. The woman is, however, in need of a sewing machine, which can be procured for $18. Any charitably disposed person wishing to assist a woman who is trying to earn her own living under distressing circumstances may leave contributions at The Times office.

A Doggrel Anent the Fays.

Our Shakespearian Editor who not only contributed many hard-earned quarters to the wonderful Faye who held the opera house stage last week, and who wrote many questions, the answers to which, might, if correct, have repaid his expenditure many times over, but which were not answered has contributed the following:

"And now the Faye away have flitted,
I wonder who was benefitted!
Their answers covered many a field;
But did they ever ever yield,
Or did they ever ever claim
A cent excepting for the Fays?"

LOCAL CARS DID WELL

Peterboro Street Railway Carried 600,000 Passengers Last Year.

The management of the Peterboro Radial Railway Co., have every reason for congratulation. The reports for the year 1905, presented at the recent annual meeting of the company, were most encouraging. The returns showed that the railway carried 600,000 persons during the year.

A most satisfactory feature of the traffic returns is that during the past six months of the year fully 20 per cent. more people rode on the cars than during the previous six months. The returns for January of the present year show that the increase in passenger traffic is about forty per cent. ahead of January, 1905.

The directors elected, were as follows—Robert Stuart, H. P. Crowell, John Stuart and Robert Gordon, Chicago; T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P.; J. O Shook and J. H. Larmonth. The officers were;—

President—Robt. Stuart.
Vice-President—J. O. Shook.
Manager—J. H. Larmonth.

A NARROW ESCAPE

Messrs E. Doyell and P. Donaldson Had Close Call.

On Saturday afternoon, at the corner of Aylmer and Hunter streets, Messrs. Ernest Doyell and Percy Donaldson had an escape from injury, if from no more serious result, than they relished or hope to experience again.

It seems Mr. Doyell's horse took fright on Hunter street, going west, and tore up the street, turning north at the Aylmer street corner, and colliding with Mr. Donaldson, who was driving a team in a democrat. Both conveyances were smashed almost to matchwood, and Mr. Donaldson was thrown clear out of his rig by the shock of the collision. The spectators rushed to the assistance of the two men, expecting that a fatality had occurred, but were greatly surprised to find beyond a rather severe shock and fright, neither of them were injured. Their escape from serious injury was truly marvellous.

LAKEFIELD GETS IT

House of Refuge For the Preston Property.

The council council, on Saturday, at their afternoon session decided the question which has been occupying their attention for the past months. For some time the location has rested between Lakefield and Norwood, but it was not until Saturday that a settlement could be reached.

Those present at the afternoon's meeting were Warden Johnston, and Councillors Garbutt, Stinson, Maloney, Webster, Minogue, Carey, Shaw, Andrews and Buck.

At the beginning of the meeting it looked as if no decision would be reached. The councillors discussed the question in a general manner and showed no sign of bringing the matter to a head.

Councillors Buck and Andrews agreed that Norwood should be secured on the score of economy and water power.

Councillor Garbutt pointed out similar advantages that would be found in Lakefield.

The following sites were selected as the five most suitable;

At Lakefield—
Bradsen farms, 45 acres, $5000.
Strickland farm, 75 acres. $7500.
Preston property, 100 acres. $9500.

At Norwood—
Grover property, 100 acres. $5500.
Robb property, 45 acres. $3000.

After many amendments and suggestions had been thrashed on the final vote on the Preston property at Lakefield resulted as follows;

Yeas—Councillors, Garbutt, Stinson, Webster, Maloney, Menogue and Shaw.

Nays—Councillors Andrews, Buck, and Carey.

Trust to Nature.

A great many Americans, both men and women, are thin, pale and puny, with poor circulation, because they have ill-treated their stomachs by hasty eating or too much eating, by consuming alcoholic beverages, or by too close confinement to home, office or factory, and in consequence the stomach must be treated in a natural way before they can rectify their earlier mistakes. The muscles in many such people, in fact in every weary, thin and thin-blooded person, do their work with great difficulty. As a result fatigue comes early, is extreme and lasts long. The demand for nutritive aid is ahead of the supply. To insure perfect health every tissue, bone, nerve and muscle should take from the blood certain materials and return to it certain others. It is necessary to prepare the stomach for the work of taking up from the food what is necessary to make good, rich, red blood. We must go to Nature for the remedy. There were certain roots known to the Indians of this country before the advent of the whites which later came to the knowledge of the settlers and which are now growing rapidly in professional favor for the cure of obstinate stomach and liver troubles. These are found to be safe and yet certain in their cleansing and invigorating effect upon the stomach, liver and blood. These are: Golden Seal root, Queen's root, Stone root, Bloodroot, Mandrake root. Then there is Black Cherry bark. The medicinal principles residing in these native roots when extracted with glycerine as a solvent make the most reliable and efficient stomach tonic and liver invigorator, when combined in just the right proportions, as in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Where there is bankrupt vitality—such as nervous exhaustion, bad nutrition—and thin blood, the body acquires vigor and the nerves, blood and all the tissues feel the favorable effect of this sovereign remedy.

Although some physicians have been aware of the high medicinal value of the above mentioned plants, yet few have used pure glycerine as a solvent and usually the doctors' prescriptions called for the ingredients in varying amounts, with alcohol.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is a scientific preparation compounded of the glyceric extracts of the above mentioned vegetable ingredients and contains no alcohol or harmful habit-forming drugs.

FRIENDLY WARNING

No Need to be Alarmed About Stomach Troubles if you Use Mi-o-na.

The most frequent affection of the stomach is catarrh, as the delicate membrane which lines the stomach is easily irritated by harmful food or overeating. Keep a strict watch for the first symptoms of stomach trouble. Take this friendly warning in the spirit in which it is given and profit by it.

Shortness of breath, black specks before the eyes, furred tongue, dizziness, belching of gases or sour food, weakness and debility are all signs of catarrh of the stomach. There is no need to be unduly alarmed, for this disease can be cured by Mi-o-na. It is the only remedy that strikes at the root of the evil and actually cures disease.

It does not contain opium in any form, acids, alcohol, or any other harmful drug or chemical. It is a pure remedy that heals the irritated mucous membrane, stimulates the cellular pleurus, and aids digestion.

Mi-o-na costs but 50 cents a box.

If you cannot obtain Mi-o-na of your druggist, it will be sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of price. Write us for advice on your case from a leading stomach specialist which will be sent free. The R. T. Booth Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

ONE OF THE RICHEST PROSPECTS EVER DISCOVERED.

The Iron Spar Mining Co.

The Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., owning valuable property on the divide between the States of Idaho and Montana, a copper proposition of exceptional promise, a property that even a novice, by personal inspection, ought to discern merits in, so apparent are the indications which guide the prospector in the work of making great mineral discoveries. An immense copper bearing ledge traverses the ground from east to west and is so well defined and conspicuous in its surface outcrop that anyone however unfamiliar with outward appearances of mineralization, once shown the ledge, may follow it uninterruptedly for several thousand feet. The fact is that copper ores appear in the vein gangue even to the grass roots.

The vein is large, 15 to 25 feet wide, and horizontally continuous across the whole extent of the claims, a distance of 6,600 feet. Being a true fissure and cutting the country formation at a considerable angle, it is entirely consistent with geological laws to suppose that it has also great vertical dimension.

Everybody who has made any study of the profits derived from successful copper mining operations can not have failed to observe the splendid and continuous dividends paid to investors. Copper mining has been so dependable a source of revenue throughout the world that today many investors prefer it to the more fickle high grade gold propositions. Look at the enormous and steady profits paid investors in all the great copper fields of the world, as viz: The Lake Superior mines in Michigan, Butte mines in Montana, Bisbee and Tombstone in Arizona, the mines of Utah, the great Tintic mines in Spain, and the Mexican mines. The demand for copper increases with the advance of civilization and the immense demand created by the growing popularization of electrical power justifies the belief that the supply will hardly keep pace with the demand for years to come. Copper mining is safe and profitable, once you have found a good property. That is just what we are trying to introduce to you, and you have this in the Iron Spar.

The sum of 400,000 shares of the fully paid capital stock was set aside as a treasury fund to be devoted to the improvement, development and equipment of the property. Nearly the entire block remains in the treasury at the present date, only so much having been drawn out as was necessary to defray the expenses of operation since the formation of the Company. The miners have all taken stock as pay instead of cash.

The undersigned has a limited number of Shares for sale at TEN CENTS per share. All interested should call or write at once.

Board of Education Determined to Prevent Exorbitant Prices Blocking New Proposed School in South End of City.

Last night an adjourned meeting of the Board of Education was held in the Board room. There were present, Messrs. Ferguson, chairman, Pringle, Ackerman, Fair, Crane, Morrison and Dumble.

The minutes of last meeting were read by Secretary Morrow and confirmed.

Dr. Morrison, chairman of the committee appointed to report on the collegiate institute question made his report as follows;

To Chairman Board of Education:

Gentlemen,—Your Collegiate Institute Building Committee beg to report as follows,—

That we have submitted an offer to Mr. J. E. Belcher, C.E., for services in connection with plans, specifications, etc., for Collegiate Institute Building, said offer as incorporated in an agreement with him, hereto attached and that Mr. Belcher has signified his willingness to accept said offer. We therefore recommend that the Board ratify the agreement and authorize the chairman of the Board to have same properly signed and sealed.

(Sgd.) M. A. MORRISON
Chairman.

The agreement with Mr. John E Belcher was practically, that Mr. Belcher is to receive as professional fees, for preparing drawings, plans and specifications for a Collegiate Institute building, not to cost over $40,000 including all work usually done by architects, 5 per cent. on actual cost of said building. The architect is to receive $500, forthwith, on account of professional services, and work already done for the Board in connection with the said Collegiate Institute, on the understanding that such sum ($500) shall cover only all work already done on the Collegiate Institute building, plans, etc., up to this date.—Carried.

Mr. Morrison thought that the committee in charge of the proposed new school in the south part of the city shall be given more power, so that they could better approach the council, and if necessary take such steps as to expropriate such land as may be desired. The council, he added, will naturally ask pleasant questions as to what land at what price, the Board wants. It suggested having a valuator value the lands desired for purposes of building the proposed school. It was noted that a gentleman owning land which the Board had under consideration, refuses to sell, or to sell at such a price as the Board deems reasonable.

It was noted by several members of the Board that some of the city fathers, have expressed an intention of having George street opened up, in the south part of the city, in the near future, this will to a great extent remove all objections taken by certain members of the Board to one not under contemplation; in fact the Mayor himself is taking great interest in the matter of the opening to the south, in regard to the school question.

It was moved that the committee be authorized to expropriate such land as they may require, if not payable to be gotten at a reasonable price.

Mr. Pringle brought up the subject of how the proposed new school in the south end, was to be heated.

A considerable discussion was held regarding the best materials for using in the school, and also concerning the price per room that should be paid. A time photograph of a school recently built in Toronto, was produced by a member of the Board, and received favorable comment.

A communication from Architect Blackwell, was considered.

The Board then adjourned.

LIVING FIGURES

IN THE ANNUAL STATEMENT OF THE METROPOLITAN LIFE

A Summary of the Company's Business for the Year 1905--Astounding Figures--An Army of Nineteen Thousand Employees.

The yearly compilation of statistics published by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company is never dry reading. A summary of that Company's business for the year 1905, just issued, tabulates astounding figures in the concise manner approved by accountants, and following the custom of former years, supplements them with a clear and lucid analysis for the benefit of people who are not accountants.

Few persons are sufficiently familiar with great financial operations to grasp immediately the full significance of a balance sheet in which totals and grand totals are expressed in hundreds of millions, but the purpose of a Life Insurance statement is doubtless to inform and enlighten its multitude of policy-holders, and this purpose the Metropolitan management accomplishes with signal success. Following closely upon a period of agitation in the life insurance field such a statement is timely and specially interesting.

After placing before us a comprehensive statement of the Company's general condition, and presenting a series of comparative items, the Metropolitan reminds us again that the number of its policy-holders (now increased to more than eight and a half million) equals the combined population of our eight largest cities. In other words, if the Company's policies now in force were all placed in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, St. Louis, Cleveland, Cincinnati and Milwaukee, every man, woman, and child in these communities would possess one.

Men now living remember when the whole United States could hardly have supplied so vast a number of insurable persons. Even at this day there are twenty-four States and Territories whose combined population does not equal the number of people carrying insurance in this one great company.

We are informed that nineteen thousand persons were in the Company's service at the end of 1905. If one adult bread-winner represents five individuals in the total population, we must conclude that nearly a hundred thousand persons draw subsistence from this institution—not in insurance benefits, but in direct payment for service to the Company.

This army of nineteen thousand employees evidently includes no drones. During the year just closed it handled a daily average of one and a half million dollars in new business alone. The Company issued on the average nearly seven thousand new policies every business day during the same twelve months.

A single item which illustrates graphically the real meaning and purpose of all this tremendous business is that relating to insurance claims paid during the year. These amounted to more than $15,000,000. This means that some one received from the Metropolitan Life in benefits one hundred and six dollars every minute of every business day of eight hours throughout the year.

Again, the uncertainty of life and health, and the universal need of life insurance are most impressively emphasized in the statement that 15,143 policies paid within the year 1905 had been in force less than twelve months; and that 4,236 of these policies were paid in less than three months from the time they were issued.

The Metropolitan Life began the year 1905 with assets of more than one hundred and fifty million dollars, showing an increase of more than twenty-three million dollars over the preceding twelve months. This evidence of ample and increasing strength is a most satisfactory thing for policy-holders to contemplate, and it is a further cause for satisfaction that the largest year's business in the Company's history was transacted at a lower ratio of expense than has ever been reached in previous years.

The Company directs particular attention to the fact that it does not issue Tontine, or "deferred dividend" policies, nor any form of contract which fails to specify in exact terms what the insured is to pay in premiums and what he is to receive in benefits. That the simplicity of its contract-agreements is a popular feature will not be questioned in the light of facts above noted.

Many items in the Company's summary have not been touched upon for lack of space, but the document itself will be widely circulated, and one's time can hardly be utilized to better purpose than in the careful and reflective reading of its entire contents from beginning to end.

DR. WILLOUGHBY'S DEATH.

A Pastor With Many Friends Here Has Passed Away.

Referring to a former and greatly respected pastor, during the years 1875 to 1878 of the Methodists of Peterboro Rev. Dr. N. R. Willoughby, who died recently, aged about 70 years, the Blenheim Despatch says:

"Rev. Dr. Willoughby, Brantford, who had been assisting in special services in the Methodist church here every evening since last Wednesday, collapsed in the pulpit this morning at the conclusion of the service which he had conducted. A physician was immediately summoned but he was beyond human aid, and passed away in a few minutes. He was one of the best known ministers in the Methodist Church in Canada."

A CORRECTION

Local Lumber Co. Misrepresented in the Matter of Diphtheria Cases.

In our article of yesterday, headed, "Peterboro Embarrassed," an unjustifiable reflection was inadvertently cast on the sanitary conditions of a local lumber company's camp, and the inference conveyed that this company in question are unnecessarily and deliberately subjecting Peterboro to diphtheria contagion.

We regret that through an oversight this company should have been unintentionally misrepresented in our columns, and take pleasure in concurring in the generally known fact that their men could not be better treated, from every point of view, in any lumber camp in the country. The sanitary conditions of their camps receive special attention, and should any employe be stricken with disease, and disease is common to all mankind, the services of the company's physician is immediately called into requisition, if necessary, and the latest cent either home or to an hospital, as the circumstances at the company's expense, should such a course be deemed advisable. Such procedure is in the interest of the company themselves, for back-woodsmen are not liable to accept employment with a concern whose reputation for healthful camps, a concern in their employes' welfare, and duly sanitary precautions against an outbreak of contagious diseases, is at stake. And the fact that this company have never experienced the slightest difficulty in securing help is sufficient guarantee of their high standing in the labor market.

Regarding the two cases in question it was not known that the men were threatened with diphtheria; they were complaining of ill-health, but able to travel, and consequently sent to Peterboro in and near where they lived, in order that they might secure such medical treatment and nursing attention as is impossible in the woods, and which might preserve them from serious illness. The camp authorities acted in good faith to all concerned, and with the best intentions, and it cannot be expected that the qualifications of a camp foreman, include the practise or diagnosis. The last patient did not reach the city till two o'clock Sunday morning, and could not gain admission to the hospital without a medical certificate. The company's city management, immediately on hearing of this case, despatched their physician, Dr. Greer, yesterday, to the camp in question, to investigate matters and see that nothing is left undone to assure the welfare of the camp and secure a continuance to their men of that high standard of health and comfort for which their camps are noted. We are satisfied that the company have not and never will adopt any measure, which will unnecessarily endanger the public health, but have taken the best course open to them under the circumstances.

Of course if the Government Inspector of Hospitals, will not allow our hospitals to take in cases of infectious and contagious diseases, it is up to the city to provide isolation accommodation as the Government demands. Such cases must be looked after, whether they develop in the country or in the city.

CHINESE BECOME MILITANT

Are Sending Recruits to Join Armed Forces in the Celestial Empire.

Montreal, February 25. — Montreal's Chinamen are patriotic sons of the Oriental Empire. It was stated by one one of the well known members of Chinatown, that a large number of the younger members of the Chinese colony will shortly leave Canada to return to their native land in view of some political movements that are expected to materialise there. It was stated that fully two hundred men will join in this exodus. The Chinese belong in Montreal numbers in all about two thousand.

For the last few weeks a strange unrest has taken hold of the Chinese in the United States and Canada. Preparations have been going on on a large scale for returning thousands of the young men to China, every indication pointing to the fact that the yellow man have wind of some feature Chinese policy that is not yet known to the outside world. The movement is being conducted by the Chinese Empire Reform Association, which gives some clue at least to the nature of the expected move.

Montreal's contingent will represent only a drop in the bucket. Thousands of Chinamen are leaving from the western coast of Canada and the United States, where there numbers are larger. It is estimated that over ten thousand will sail from San Francisco before the 8th of March. It is evident a war, whether foreign or domestic, is being prepared for, and that the Reform Association is going to have a big interest at stake.

Representatives of the Chinese Empire Reform Association are touring the country, their object being probably to enlist the sympathies of the Chinese people in the cause. At present such delegations are visiting the local Chinatowns from Toronto and Ottawa.

A BITTER FIGHT ON EXCLUSION

South Joins the East in Favoring Admission of Coolies.

A LARGE TRADE IN CHINA

Labor Leaders Will Be on Hand—To Attempt a Flank Move.

Washington, February 26.—A long-drawn-out and bitter fight between the forces of commerce and labor will begin next Thursday in the house committee on foreign affairs. An attempt attempt will then be made to throw down the bars and admit Chinese coolies into the United States, and in the struggle that will follow there will be an entirely new alignment of commercial interests against organized labor.

For the first time since the exclusion of Chinese has been a burning issue in this country, the south and east are standing together against the demands of the laboring men. Heretofore the south has been with the west on the Chinese proposition, probably as a matter of sympathy, because of its own race question. Senators and representatives from that section always voted to exclude coolies whenever the question came up in congress. Now the south has a new interest in China which completely alters its view of the Chinese problem.

Southern cotton mill owners sell millions of dollars' worth of cotton cloths to China every year, and for fear of losing their trade their representatives in congress are now prepared to vote to repeal the exclusion law and admit Chinese without number to this country.

John Mitchell, Samuel Gompers and other labor leaders are expected here during the next few weeks to look the ground over and test the strength of their forces. They realize that with the south and east lined up together, and having the support of a substantial interest in the west, organized labor will have the fight of its life on hand again to stave off legislation favorable to the obnoxious coolie.

A flank move is to be made by the labor people next week. They will attempt to have the foreign affairs committee discharged from further consideration of the Foster bill and have it sent to the immigration committee. If they succeed in this it will be a good stroke, because the labor unions are fully protected in the immigration committee.

Prince Arthur's Visit.

Montreal, February 25.—Prince Arthur, of Connaught, is expected to arrive in Canada from Japan about the 1st of April, and the Canadian Pacific Railway have made elaborate arrangements for the transportation of His Royal Highness and his suite. A special train will convey them on their trip through Canada, a vestibuled train which will include the private car Cornwall and York, used by the Prince of Wales on his trip in 1901. The train will be lighted with electricity, and will be beautifully furnished throughout.

A CATHEDRAL WEDDING

Miss Mary Dwyer Becomes the Bride of Mr. Hugh Bailey.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday morning at eight o'clock, when Rev. Father McCoil united in marriage Miss Mary Dwyer, daughter of Mr. Richard Dwyer, of Douro, to Mr. Hugh Bailey of Peterboro. The bride was assisted by Miss Minnie Hogan, while Mr. Wm. J. McKee performed the duties of groomsman. The wedding breakfast was partaken of at the Albion Hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Bailey left on the 11.45 G.T.R. train for Toronto where they will reside.

CURES CATARRHAL DEAFNESS

One Week's Use of Hyomei Did More Than Six Months' Treatment By Specialists.

In the treatment of deafness which is often the result of catarrh, Hyomei acts almost immediately upon the inflamed membrane and the hearing begins to return at once.

Miss Meeks of Matherson, N. Y., says: "Hyomei is truly wonderful. I have used it but a short time and see a great change in my condition. My hearing is improving rapidly and I had no idea I would improve so rapidly in so short a time. My breath which was very offensive to myself and others, has lost its bad odor entirely. I have spent a great deal of money with catarrh specialists, and can truly say that six months of their treatment is not equal to one month of Hyomei.

A complete outfit costs but $1.00, and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket, a medicine dropper, and a bottle of Hyomei. The inhaler will last a lifetime and there is enough Hyomei for several weeks' treatment. Additional bottles of Hyomei can be procured for 50 cents. Compare this small expenditure with the fees charged by specialists.

If you cannot obtain Hyomei of your dealer, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write today for consultation blank that will entitle you to services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hyomei Building, Ithaca, N. Y.

DID HE PLAY HOG?

High County Constable Cochrane Accused of Taking too Much

Our readers will remember that after that "Chinese celebra," the Gow case was settled, and Gow very properly jailed, the two Dewart boys and one Murphy boy was brought before County Magistrate Edmison on a charge of disturbing the peace, by cheering on a public highway at night. The boys pleaded guilty and were allowed to go by paying the costs of the trial. The costs amounting to a considerable sum, were paid.

Since then the Murphys and the Dewarts have been informed that the costs were extraordinary. Believing that to be true, Mr. Murphy, father of young Murphy, and John Dewart a brother of the two that were in trouble, appeared before the council on Saturday afternoon, and asked that this amount be investigated. The papers connected with the case had been lost and it was impossible to discover at the time how the local amount was figured up.

The Warden requested that County Magistrate Edmison and High Constable Geo. Cochrane be asked to appear before the council. When Magistrate Edmison arrived he said he did not remember what the costs were. He promised, however, to have them made up again, and would submit a complete statement to the council after he had interviewed County Crown Attorney R. E. Wood.

FURTHER GRAB!

Constables Thos. Wilson and J. J. Crowe also appeared before the council and wanted to know how it was that all important cases, involving any costs of value were taken by Mr. Cochrane. Their grievance was specially made on account of the Gow case and the case against the boys afterwards. They claimed that the cases should have been sent to them to serve, so that they could get the costs as the case was in their territory. They also claimed that Constable Cochrane was taking all the important cases from them.

Constable Cochrane explained that he was not doing anything that was not within his rights. As far as the cases mentioned were concerned, he acted on the advice and instructions of the County Crown Attorney. And furthermore, the Crown Attorney deemed it advisable that the high constable should act in all criminal cases.

The Herring Were Lost.

On Saturday night last, as Mr. John Riley, of Emmsmore, was returning home from the city, fully prepared for the privations of East, he met with an accident that not only lost him his Lenten supplies, but might have resulted in losing his own life. Mr Riley instead of crossing Chemong Lake on the bridge, took the track across the ice. His horses fell into an air hole in the ice, and we understand that one of the horses was drowned. At all events Mr. Riley had a narrow escape from death, being thrown over the dashboard into the water. By good luck he saved his life, but the barrel of herrings has gone to feed the bass of Chemong lake.

POLICE COURT NEWS

A local citizen, was charged with having been drunk in a public place on Saturday. The defendant pleaded guilty, and was fined $2. which was paid forthwith.

Francisco Derancio, charged with having in 1904, taken, stolen and carried away the sum of $43. Mr. La Plante, who appeared for the prisoner, admitted that his client had perhaps taken the money, but not in the way as noted in the act. Mr. La Plante explained how the prisoner had got the money for the complainant, but that the complainant had left town and could not be found by the defendant. Prisoner was able at any time to procure the money for its owner, but did not know complainant was in town until after he had been arrested. Mr. La Plante claimed the clemency of the court for the prisoner, who was a young man with his future ahead of him, that might be marred or blighted by his treatment in this case. The prisoner's brother came here from Toronto and has paid the money.

Mr. Wood, being asked by the magistrate, what his thought of Mr. La Plante's request. As far as he had gathered from the witnesses he had spoken to, it was a bare-faced attempt to swindle a friend who had trusted him.

Mr. Dumble said Mr. La Plante's statements were practically an admission of guilt. The prisoner had kept the money and for two years had not repaid it. He thought if the prisoner would put in a plea of guilt, the money refunded and all costs paid he would let the prisoner go on suspended sentence. The Italian witnesses did not want witness fees. The costs, $12. were paid by prisoner's brother.

The magistrate said to the prisoner, you are guilty of stealing this money, you made no effort during two years to return the money, you had lots of Italian friends to whom you could have sent the money to have it returned. You are now discharged, but if ever you are brought to this court again, you will be punished for this offence.

Missionary Massacre By The Chinese

Two British Subjects and Six Jesuits Murdered by Chinese---Mission Station at Nanchang Attacked

Washington, Feb. 27.—Consul-General Rodgers at Shanghai cabled to the State Department under yesterday's date that the American mission stations at Hanchang and Kinkiang have been destroyed. The probable cause is local.

Telegrams received from those points state that the fourteen American missionaries at those places escaped but the Kingham family, English, two adults and two children, are reported to have been killed.

The American gunboat El Cano at Nanking has been ordered to proceed immediately to Kin Kiang, where she will probably arrive by Wednesday. The scene of the trouble is about 400 miles up the Yangtze river.

A still later despatch from Mr. Rodgers, received here today at the State Department, says that the inland British missions are reported to be safe.

A cablegram from Commander Fletcher, the senior officer of the Asiatic station at Shanghai, received at the Navy Department yesterday, confirms substantially Consul-General Rodgers's report.

JESUITS ARE BLAMED.

Washington, Feb. 27.—A late cablegram from Mr. Ridg ers says that the reports of the Nanchang trouble are conflicting. It is now reported to have originated in a dispute between the French Jesuits and Chinese officials. A Chinese magistrate was at first reported to have been stabbed by a Catholic missionary, but it is now claimed that the magistrate stabbed himself in the riot which occurred yesterday six Jesuits and two members of the Kingman family were killed. Chinese troops were protecting the missionaries. The refugees are going to Kukiang. The American mission building is understood to have been saved and order is now restored. Mr. Rodgers adds that all is quiet in Shanghai.

BERLIN WINS SENIOR O. H. A. CHAMPIONSHIP

Berlin, Feb. 27.—Before the largest crowd ever gathered together in the history of hockey in this town, the Berlin team last night defeated the Argonauts of Toronto, in the final O.H.A. senior championship match by a score of 4—3. The ice was in imperfect condition. The crowd was a record breaker, as excursions were run from different sections.

The rush for seats were fierce, and speculators got as high as $3 and $4 for good reserves.

$2,000 IN PRIZES

Peterboro Turf Club Arrange Good Series of Speeding Contests.

Yesterday evening the Peterboro Turf Club, held an important meeting in the Bank of Ontario Chambers, that was well attended.

The main business of the evening was the almost assured arrangements completed, whereby this city will see some of the best races ever held outside the largest cities of Canada or the United States.

Arrangements were concluded whereby two good races, one a green colts' race, and a 2.28 class race will be pulled off on May 24th.

Regarding the green race it is advisable that persons owning green colts, wishing to enter them for the 24th or May race, should communicate at once with Mr. A. Rountree, Secretary of the local Turf Club.

It is altogether likely that races, the classes not yet named, will be held in July.

The regular summer circuit races for this city will be held on 24th and 25th of July next for purses aggregating $2,000. It is of course premature to conjecture what classes will be run on at these latter races, but the race-meet lovers of Peterboro can depend upon having races that will result both in attendance by the highest grade stars of the turf and consequently the best meet this city has ever seen. The summer circuit races held here dovetail in well as they follow immediately on the splendid Hamilton meet.

DOCTOR SAYS

Finds Grape-Nuts Food Invaluable in His Practice.

A physician first tasted himself with food, then he tested others, and tells the story in a straightforward, business-like way.

"For a long time," he writes, "I was unable to assimilate comfortably any ordinary or prepared breakfast foods. Nearly everything disagreed with me, bringing on heavy headaches, a bad taste in the mouth, and a dullness of mind that was not only unpleasant but interfered with active professional work. Since beginning the use of Grape-Nuts food some months ago, however, these troubles have vanished and breakfast is relished and enjoyed as it ought to be.

"I find too, that a small quantity of Grape-Nuts and cream eaten just before starting out to visit patients at night prevents the feeling of depression that used to result from the extra exertion and loss of sleep.

"My wife suffered for several months from recurring attacks of indigestion with fermentation— she would be very miserable for days at a time and almost any kind of food added to the trouble. She found by experiment that by using Grape-Nuts relief would be obtained in a very short time, even when ordinary remedies for indigestion had failed to help her.

"Mrs. James S——, a patient of mine, suffered with sympathetic heart trouble and a stomach so deranged that it rejected all food. Her strength was rapidly failing from lack of nourishment. I recommended the use of Grape-Nuts with cream every 3 or 4 hours. The food proved at once acceptable to her stomach and her recovery to perfect health speedily followed.

"I have found Grape-Nuts an excellent food for patients convalescing from exhausting fevers, as typhoid and pneumonia, and always recommend its use by such. It is admirably suited to these cases, not only because it is easily digested, but because of the great amount of nourishment it contains. Its use rapidly restores vitality and strength."

PETERBORO WINS AGAIN

Defeated Parry Sound in Best Game of the Season, Last Night.

Last night a fairly large crowd witnessed one of the best hockey matches ever seen on the Brook street rink. The ice was in the very best condition and good fast hockey was played. Whitcroft was the star player on the ice, making some wonderful fast individual rushes.

At the start of the Parry Sound team started rushing things, but could not keep up the pace, and after about ten minutes play, Petersboro scored the first goal; in five minutes Peterboro scored another, then Parry Sound made a pretty rush scoring by a shot from the side, score 2—1. The ooals added two more before the Parry Sound aggregation scored another, then Petersboro scored again, just before half time, making the score 5—2 in favor of the locals.

In the second half both teams dug in hard and after about 6 minutes play, the locals scored, 10 minutes later Parry Sound notched two, one two minutes after the other, this made the score 5—4. After this the game got good and exciting, some fine rushes were made only to be broken by the strong defence, but Peterboro managed to shoot in a couple in the last minutes before full time, making the full time score 8—4 in favor of Peterboro.

The teams were very evenly matched, both doing very close checking. The Parry Sound goal keeper was kept busy, stopping the hot ones the locals sent in by the dozen, he made some pretty stops, and when there was a scrimmage he would either stand on the puck or sit on it, for the latter he was sent to the fence for two minutes in the first half. Morgan fell, and got the wind taken out of his sails, but was alright in a few minutes. In the second half the Parry Sound goal keeper in trying to sit on the puck fell off, Morgan going over the top of him, and Whitcroft in some way struck Jim over the head, this caused some delay. Shortly after in a mix-up between Wasson and the visitors' center, Wasson in trying to free himself, struck him in the face, causing the latter to retire from the game. Chris Graham going off to even up. Morgan got into a row with the referee, and was forced to retire from the game, and for the last fifteen minutes, Peterboro played with five men against six. The Peterboro line-up was as follows:

Goal—Wasson.
Point—Glover.
Cover-point—Crowley.
Center—Morgan.
Rover—Whitcroft.
Right Wing—Graham.
Left Wing—Cavanah.
Referee—Lou Bunn of Toronto.

THE NEW ORGANIST

Mr. R. J. Devey Takes Control of St. John's Church Organ.

On Sunday night the congregation of St. John's church, enjoyed a rare musical treat, when the new organist, recently engaged by that church for the first time took official control of both organ and choir.

The principal musical features of the morning service were a solo and chorus, entitled "Sweetly Sang the Angels," solo by Cyril Devey, son of the new officiant organist of St. John's church, Mr. R. J. Devey, whose sweet soprano voice reached through out every portion of the sacred edifice. The chorus, as well as the solo was rendered by boys only.

EVENING SERVICE.

The evensong was heartily rendered and the anthem "Conquering Kings," (Maunder) was heartily rendered. The solos were taken by Mrs. R. J. Devey and Mr. A. Sawyer's both being in fine voice. The final movement was taken up by the respective parts most effectively.

Mr. R. J. Devey presided at the organ, and the instrument was lent to great advantage, particularly in the accompanying of the chants, hymns and anthems. St. John's church in to be heartily congratulated on their new acquisition of the new organist and choirmaster.

Local Parliaments.

Ottawa, February 25.—The writ for a new election in North Cape Breton and Victoria to replace Mr. D. D. McKenzie, appointed to the bench, was issued yesterday. Nominations March 7th, polling March 14th.

(INCORPORATED BY THE STATE OF NEW YORK)

JOHN R. HEGEMAN, President — The Company OF the People, BY the People, FOR the People of its plans and of faith in its management may be fairly claimed in the number of Metropolitan policies in force. It is not only greater than that of any other company in America, but greater than that of all the other regular companies combined, less one. It exceeds by two millions the entire population of the Dominion of Canada. Nearly 300,000 Canadians, of all classes, are policy-holders in the Metropolitan. It has on deposit with the Government of the Dominion of Canada, in Canadian securities, dollar for dollar of its Canadian liabilities. In 1905 it here in Canada wrote as much new insurance as any two other Life Insurance Companies, Canadian, English or American.

A REASONABLE INDICATION OF THE DESERVED POPULARITY

SIGNIFICANT FACTS

The Company's policy claims paid in 1905 averaged in number one for each minute and a quarter of each business day of 8 hours, and in amount $105.83 a minute the year through.

The value and timeliness of these payments may be gleaned from the fact that of the claims paid during the year, 4,326 were under policies less than 3 months old, 8,391 were on policies which had run under 6 months and 15,148 were within the first year of insurance.

THE DAILY AVERAGE OF THE COMPANY'S BUSINESS DURING 1905 WAS:

395 per day in Number of Claims Paid.
6,972 per day in Number of Policies Issued.
$1,502,484.00 per day in New Insurance written.
$123,788.29 per day in Payments to Policy-holders and Addition to Reserve.
$77,275.94 per day in Increase of Assets.

Paid Policy-holders in 1905 for Death Claims, Endowments, Paid-up Policies, Dividends, etc., with amount set aside on their behalf as increased reserve—

$37,755,428.59

Paid Policy-holders since the organization of the Company, plus the amount invested and now on hand for their security—

$318,264,084.12

THE TWO DEPARTMENTS

In the Ordinary Department policies are issued for from $1,000 to $1,000,000 on individual lives, premiums payable annually, semi-annually, or quarterly. In its Industrial Department (which is family insurance) policies are issued on all the insurable members of the household with premiums payable weekly.

The Metropolitan gained in insurance in force on which premiums are still being paid MORE THAN ANY OTHER COMPANY IN THE WORLD.

The Metropolitan wrote more business in the Industrial Department in 1905 than ever before in any one year.

The Metropolitan wrote more business in the Ordinary Department in 1905 than ever before in any one year.

The Metropolitan wrote more business in 1905 than any other Company in the world. And this for the 12th consecutive year.

The Metropolitan has more premium paying business in force in the United States than any other company.

The Metropolitan has in force one-third of all the legal reserve policies in force in the United States. Its Industrial policies in force equal in number all the Industrial policies of all the other companies in the United States.

THE RATIO OF EXPENSE TO PREMIUM INCOME IN 1905 WAS THE LOWEST IN THE COMPANY'S HISTORY.

This Company issues no TONTINE or other forms of deferred dividend policies, in which the amount to be paid to the insured must largely be a matter of ESTIMATE at the inception of the contract, and of DISAPPOINTMENT at its maturity.

Its policies are plain business contracts which tell their whole story on their face; leave nothing to the imagination; borrow nothing from hope; require definite conditions; and make definite promises in dollars and cents.

Is not the fact that, notwithstanding the agitation in life insurance, the Metropolitan wrote more insurance in its Ordinary Department in 1905 than it ever wrote in any preceding year, proof that GUARANTEED BENEFITS for a fixed premium are what people want?

In its Industrial Department policies no obligation to pay dividends is either expressed or implied, the premiums being at stock rates, without the "loading" designed for dividends; nevertheless the Company for years past, as a pure act of grace, has returned a part of its surplus, annually, to the holders of its policies. The total amount so paid, including the amount set aside for 1906, is

OVER FIVE AND A HALF MILLIONS OF DOLLARS IN CASH

THE VOICE OF THE ALARMIST

President Schurman, of Cornell University, who is a Canadian, says, "the universal passion for money and whatever money buys is an alarming phenomenon." The unbridled passion for wealth is one of the most venerable of alarming phenomena. It provoked the denunciation of Hebrew prophets. It was described by Roman satirists. It saddened the souls of unworldly Christians in the middle ages and led them to preach the gospel of poverty and the simple life, and to practice what they preached. It was a Spartan king and not a modern American millionaire who said that "money is the man."

Ever since wealth came into existence there have been men who had a mad passion for it and were not particular as to the means they used to get it. If they were strong they took it by force. If violent methods were unsafe they exacted usurious interest of their debtors. They did not have the opportunity of modern financiers, for there were no stocks to water, but they robbed the widow and the orphan to the best of their ability. They embezzled trust funds when they had a chance. There were swindling army contractors during the wars between Rome and Carthage, as there were swindling contractors during the American civil war. It would be strange indeed if there were not in this country at this time many men who, in their eagerness to get money and the things it buys, are ready to go near the threshold of the penitentiary.

But is the "passion for money and whatever money buys" really universal in Canada and the United States? "Universal" is a broad word. It takes in men of all conditions in in life from the multimillionaire, of whose doings the public is kept advised, down to the day laborer, about whom the public hears little. President Schurman himself, it is said, has not been infected by the "passion for money." He must know many of his acquaintances who have escaped it, and there must be others among those who are not among his acquaintances. One meets every day men who are content with what they have, be it much or little, who do not speculate and who "keep their hands from picking and stealing." It is not certain that the "passion for money" is any more widely diffused than it was a century ago, when foreign observers said we in America cared for nothing but money and commented on their love of ostentatious display.

It is true that we ask for and, as a rule, obtain more of the things money buys than they did half a century ago. That is not an "alarming phenomenon." It is due to the fact that they can afford to live more comfortably. Salaries and wages are higher than they used to be. Many articles which were so costly once as to be looked on as luxuries are within reach of the man who has a small purse. The increasing deposits in the savings banks indicate that the workers of the country are not wasteful of their earnings.

President Schurman has drawn general conclusions from particular instances. The disclosures of the misdeeds of some once trusted men who managed certain insurance companies have horrified him, and he argues that most men are no better than the "get rich quick" financiers, and would act like them if put in their places. That is not a safe conclusion. There is still enough integrity left in this country to make it worth living in. There are rotten spots in the body politic, but as a whole it is sound. The "passion for money" has not become so universal and ungovernable as to make this generation what President Schurman says it is—one "which has no fear of God before its eyes."

WOMEN FOR HOUSE OF COMMONS

If Dilke's Bill Goes Through Fair Sex May Qualify to Sit in Parliament.

London, Feb. 26.—Sir Charles Dilke, member of parliament for the Forest of Dean Division of Gloucestershire has actively entered the lists as champion of the enfranchisement of women, and if his bill the text of which has been issued, is adopted, women may soon be sitting the house of commons and possessed be acting as hereditary legislatresses in the house of lords. The measure provides that every man and woman shall be qualified to vote at parliamentary and other elections, and that no person shall be disqualified by sex or marriage from being a member of either house of parliament. The bill also proposes to abolish university representatives in the house of commons.

FOUND DEAD BY NEIGHBORS

Aged Maiden Lady, Althe Well Off, Had Lived Alone.

Stratford, Feb. 23.—Miss Catharine McCosky, aged 60, who lived alone, was found dead in bed by her neighbors. She had been suffering from heart trouble for years. She was considered well off and gave liberally to all schemes at St. Joseph's Church and spent a great portion of her time in sewing for the city's poor. She was born in Gilles.

William Hepburn, chairman of the water commission, has resigned because his action on the board was criticised by members of council.

Stratford's separate school is very much crowded and two rooms will be added to the building.

Work has commenced on Stratford's fourth artesian well.

THE BACKBONE.

Its History Linked With a Theory of Animal Evolution.

The history of the backbone, like that of most life, is not altogether a majestic upward evolution. It has its tragedies and its setbacks, its hopes and failures. In the waters along our seashore are creatures, some sponge or lichen-like, others with strange bulblike bodies, growing on the end of long stalks. But they hold a secret from the crabs and snails which crawl about, and when the fishes brush against them with their poor, dull sense only knew it—they might claim a blood brotherhood. When they were young, for a little while a gristly cord was theirs also, but this, with all the hopes that such a beginning brings, of fish, of bird, of man even, soon melted away, and there they nod and sway in the watery currents, never to know of the opportunity which nature has snatched from them—why, who can tell?

In sharks the backbone has become jointed and flexible and a rude kind of skull is present, but still more important is the presence of four fins, which correspond to the four legs of lizards and to the wings and legs of birds. A curious basket-like skeleton protects the delicate gills, and it is probable that this existed long before the limbs appeared. All is still of gristly cartilage.

In the higher fishes bone replaces the cartilage, and when the lowly tadpole, fishlike at first, swimming about by means of the fin around his tail, pushes forth his legs and climbs upon the land our skeleton is well on its way backward. Reptiles of old took to trees. Their backbone grew less flexible so that they might safely sail through the air, feathers replaced scales, two fingers of each hand were lost and one from each foot, teeth disappeared, a beak of horn proved best, intelligence increased and the forehead rose high, and behold—a bird!—Outing Magazine.

BATTLE OF MARATHON.

The Most Decisive Day in the History of the World.

The single day in the world's history which was fraught with the most tremendous consequences to mankind was the day on which the battle of Marathon was fought. The handful of tiny states that inhabited Greece had developed faculties which indicated that man had advanced another stage toward the highest ideals.

Foremost among these little nations was Athens, which state, too, contained the germs of human freedom. It was the forerunner of the democracies of the world. But the very existence of Athens and Greece was threatened by the huge barbaric empire of Persia. Darius had sent out his hordes of warriors to add the Grecian states to his vast dominions. Face to face his forces met the Athenians on the plains of Marathon.

Hitherto invincible in the field, the Persians looked upon the little army opposed to them with contempt. The Greeks themselves hesitated to hazard a battle with the conquerors of the world. Their generals debated the question, and the decision to fight the Persians was caused by the eloquence of the immortal Miltiades. He led his 10,000 Greeks against the Persian host and gained a decisive victory. The glorious day of Marathon beat back the advancing tide of eastern despotism and barbarism and saved the freedom and civilization of the western world. —Pearson's Weekly.

A King's Ruse.

Alfonso, king of Aragon, was one day examining the different articles in his jeweler's shop in company with many ladies of his court. He had scarcely left the house when the jeweler missed a diamond of great value and ran after him, complaining of the theft. The king, not willing publicly to disgrace any of his attendants, commanded a large basin full of sand to be brought him, into which he directed each person to put in the hand cittached and to draw it out flat. By this means the diamond was left in the sand, unknown by whom.

Calcium.

Calcium was first made in minute quantities by Humphry Davy. In the new process chloride of calcium is placed in a receptacle and fused by electrolysis. An iron cathode forms a basin upon which the molten calcium deposits itself, and the once rare metal builds itself up into an irregular rod resembling a cabbage stalk. When the stalk has grown to the right length it is dipped off and dipped in paraffin wax to preserve it from the action of the air.

Three Strange and Remarkable Men.

Alexander Dumas, the grandfather, prided himself more upon his wonderful strength and skill in athletics than his generalship, as Dumas the second prided himself more upon his knowledge of cookery than the authorship of "The Three Musketeers," so Dumas the third prided himself more upon his knowledge of art than upon the writing of "La Dame aux Camelias." They were three strange and remarkable men.

At Their Own Expense.

"Do you joke writers ever make jokes at your own expense?"

"For the first few years all our jokes are made that way. After that, if we're lucky, we get paid for 'em."

The Exception.

"You ought to take this house," said the dealer. "She is a bargain."

"Well, then, I don't want him," said the customer. "I want something to drive, and I never could drive a bargain."

The most manifest sign of wisdom is a continual cheerfulness.—Montaigne.

The Arm.

The arm and its muscles form the most approved style of love.

WEARING HER WEDDING DRESS

Stabbed Her Aunt and Uncle Because Stories They Told Caused Husband to Desert Her.

New York, Feb. 25.—Josephine Pollari Terranova, the 17-year-old Italian matron, who it is alleged, stabbed Gaetano Riggo, and his wife, with whom she had made her home before her marriage two months ago was arrested yesterday. The charge against the young woman now is murder, as Riggio died in a hospital early yesterday from the wounds. Mrs. Riggo's condition is somewhat improved.

The stabbing took place last Thursday night at the Riggio home in the Bronx, a short time after Mrs. Terranova had been seen to enter the apartments, but when the neighbors reached there she had gone. Both the old people were found unconscious. Just before his death Riggio accused Mrs. Terranova of stabbing himself and wife, but he gave no reason for the act. This theory of the police has been that Mrs. Terranova was angry with the Riggios because she held them responsible for trouble which resulted in her separation from her husband.

After her arrest, Mrs. Terranova told the police that she stabbed both Riggio and his wife. She asserted that she was justified by the treatment which she claimed to have received at Riggio's hands since she was 13 years old. When she told her husband of Riggo's treatment he refused to live with her, the girl said, and for this reason she attacked both her uncle and his wife.

When the young woman was arrested yesterday she wore her wedding dress. On the front of the skirt was a large dark stain. She said it was made by Riggio's blood.

To the Canadian Investor

DORES-MONTGOMERY MINING COMPANY

OF BULLFROG, NEVADA

The undersigned is pleased to announce to the investors of Canada that he has been appointed Canadian Fiscal Agent of the above company, and is offering a limited amount of treasury stock at 25c. per share for development work. This property is just 1200 feet southwest of the famous Montgomery Shoshone mine and both have unquestionably the same vein. The group shows a well defined vein cropping out through, and it is a perfect fissure. A strong rich vein seam on the hanging wall gives high values. We have also several other ledges, and it is only a matter of development work to make this property equal to any producer in the section.

The management of the Montgomery Shoshone conservatively estimates that the winze has produced $200,000 worth of ore. If this is right, the ore from the winze has averaged about $975 a ton, or about $1130 for every foot of sinking, the winze being 4 x 7 in clear.

Ore from the winze running less than $250 is thrown over the dump as milling ore. No less than 150 tons of ore has been shipped from this mine, all of it coming from the winze. Another shipment of 50 tons or more will be made via Las Vegas in a few days.

The figures given above are startling in the extreme, but the measurements and ore values as quoted are official—direct from the management of the wonderful mine that is today astonishing the world.

This property is only 1200 feet from the Dores Montgomery Mine.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quarts.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15.0x1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder to be placed to the miner's credit. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

Placer mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases for dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

"Girl of the Streets."

Last night Messrs. Decker & Vernon's production of Miss Lilian Mortimer's most successful play, "A Girl of the Streets," was presented by a strong company at the Grand Opera house. This melodrama was well presented by a good cast, Miss Edith Gray taking the part of "Just Kit." The play was admirably rendered with suitable and effective scenic effects, and is one of the best of its kind, the theater-goers of this city have witnessed. The play was staged and produced under personal supervision of the talented authoress, Miss Mortimer.

WE SET EXAMPLE

Cobourg Takes Advice From Our Board of Education.

The Cobourg Sentinel-Star says;

We notice that the Peterboro people have suggested that as they are about to erect a new collegiate institute that one of the proposed new Normal schools should be erected there in connection with the institute, the site to be given free to the government. Cobourg has been in the throes of erecting a new central school building, and they are still worrying over the matter. We would make the suggestion and we think that Mr. F. M. Field might work on the idea, as well as our public school board. Why not offer a free site for the Normal school in Cobourg and have it erected on the George street lot in connection with the new central school building. There would be a saving for the government, and the two buildings would make a very imposing appearance on George and James streets. The teachers in training would have their practice ground in the same building and the staffs of the Normal and public schools could work in harmony together. This is something that is worth thinking over, and if feasible, the plan should be made known to the government, and the many beauties and advantages of Cobourg impressed upon them.

Tragic Scene at Grave.

Quebec, February 26.—A tragic scene was enacted at Belmont cemetery today. Joseph Dearland, of Marlea and Charland, traders, aged 28, was the chief mourner at his mother's funeral. Just as the coffin was lowered into the grave, he fell to the ground and almost into the grave, dead, and was taken home in the same hearse which had brought his mother's body for burial. He leaves a widow and nine children.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is a powerful, invigorating tonic, imparting health and strength in particular to the organs distinctly feminine. The local, womanly health is so intimately related to the general health that when diseases of the delicate womanly organs are cured the whole body gains in health and strength. For weak and sickly women who are "worn-out," "run-down" or debilitated, especially for women who work in store, office or schoolroom, who sit at the typewriter or sewing machine, or bear heavy household burdens, and for nursing mothers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has proven a priceless benefit because of its health-restoring and strength-giving powers.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous prostability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, chorea, or St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womanly organs. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Cures obstinate cases. "Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of "female weakness," painful periods, irregularities, prolapsus or falling of the pelvic organs, weak back, bearing-down pensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration.

Dr. Pierce's medicines are made from harmless but efficient medical roots found growing in our American forests. The Indians knew of the marvelous curative value of some of these roots and imparted that knowledge to some of the friendlier whites, and gradually some of the more progressive physicians came to learn and use them, and ever since they have grown in favor by reason of their superior curative virtues and their safe and harmless qualities.

Your druggists sell the "Favorite Prescription" and also that famous alterative, blood purifier and stomach tonic, the "Golden Medical Discovery." Write to Dr. Pierce about your case. He is an experienced physician and will treat your case as confidential and without charge for correspondence. Address him at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., all of which he has since established.

Weak Lungs

It is the old story of a weak throat, a tendency to weak lungs in the family. You no sooner get rid of your old cold than a new one takes its place. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral breaks up this taking-cold habit. It strengthens, heals. Ask your doctor, the very next time you see him, what he thinks of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for weak lungs.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.

ONE OF THE RICHEST PROSPECTS EVER DISCOVERED.

The Iron Spar Mining Co.

The Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., owning valuable property on the divide between the States of Idaho and Montana, a copper proposition of exceptional promise, a property that even a novice, by personal inspection, ought to discern merits in, so apparent are the indications which guide the prospector in the work of making great mineral discoveries. An immense copper bearing ledge traverses the ground from east to west and is so well defined and conspicuous in its surface outcrop that anyone however unfamiliar with outward appearances of mineralization, once shown the ledge, may follow it uninterruptedly for several thousand feet. The fact is that copper ores appear in the vein gangue even to the grass roots.

The vein is large, 15 to 20 feet wide, and horizontally continuous across the whole extent of the claims, a distance of 6,000 feet. Being a true fissure and cutting the country formation at a considerable angle, it is entirely consistent with geological laws to suppose that it has also great vertical dimension.

Everybody who has made any study of the profits derived from successful copper mining operations can not have failed to observe the splendid and continuous dividends paid to investors. Copper mining has been so dependable a source of revenue throughout the world that today many investors prefer it to the more fickle high grade gold propositions. Look at the enormous and steady profits paid investors in all the great copper fields of the world, as viz: The Lake Superior mines in Michigan, Butte mines in Montana, Bisbee and Tombstone in Arizona, the mines of Utah, the great Tintic mines in Spain, and the Mexican mines. The demand for copper increases with the advance of civilization and the immense demand created by the growing popularization of electrical power justifies the belief that the supply will hardly keep pace with the demand for years to come. Copper mining is safe and profitable, once you have found a good property. That is just what we are trying to introduce to you, and you have this in the Iron Spar.

The sum of 400,000 shares of the fully paid capital stock was set aside as a treasury fund to be devoted to the improvement, development and equipment of the property. Nearly the entire block remains in the treasury at the present date, only so much having been drawn out as was necessary to defray the expenses of operation since the formation of the Company. The miners have all taken stock as pay instead of cash.

The undersigned has a limited number of Shares for sale at TEN CENTS per share. All interested should call or write at once.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, marked on the envelope "Tenders for Construction," will be received at the office of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway at Ottawa, until twelve o'clock noon on Monday the 12th day of March, 1906, for the work required for the construction, in accordance with the plans, profiles and specifications of said Commissioners, for the following sections of the Transcontinental Railway, the said work to be completed on or before the first day of September, 1907, viz:—

(1) District "F." From a point designated on the plans of the said Commissioners at or near the City of Winnipeg, to a point known as Peninsula Crossing, near the junction point of the Fort William branch of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, a distance of about 245 miles.

(2) District "B." From a point designated on the plans of the said Commissioners, at the north end of the Quebec Bridge and Railway Company's bridge in the vicinity of the City of Quebec, to a point near La Tuque, a distance of about 150 miles.

(3) A steel viaduct about 3,000 feet long across the Cap Rouge Valley, in said District "B," in the vicinity of the City of Quebec, the work to be performed in accordance with the General Specifications of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway, and the General Specifications for steel bridges and viaducts of the Department of Railways and Canals of Canada, 1905.

Plans, profiles and specifications may be seen in the office of the Chief Engineer of the Commissioners at Ottawa, also in the office of the District Engineer at Kenora, Ontario, for the section of District "F," and for the section of District "B" in the office of the District Engineer at Quebec.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made in duplicate, and on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners.

Separate tenders must be submitted for the work in each District.

Tenderers shall not be in any way entitled to rely upon the classification or any other information given by any person on behalf of the Commissioners, and before submitting any tender, bidders should make a careful examination of the plans, profiles, drawings and specifications, and read the forms to be executed, and fully inform themselves as to the quantity and quality of materials and character of workmanship required; and are understood to accept and agree to be bound by the terms and conditions contained in the form of contract, specifications, &c., annexed to the form of tender.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank of the Dominion of Canada, payable to the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway for the sum of four hundred thousand dollars ($400,000), for District "F," and two hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars ($225,000), for District "B," and thirty-five thousand dollars ($35,000) for steel viaduct in said District "B." Any person whose tender is accepted shall within ten days after the acceptance thereof furnish the security required by the Commissioners for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms, sign the contract, specifications and other documents required to be signed by said Commissioners; and in any case of refusal or failure on the part of the party whose tender is accepted to complete and execute a contract with the said Commissioners and to furnish the approved security within ten days after the acceptance of the tender, the said cheque shall be forfeited to the Commissioners as liquidated damages for such refusal or failure, and all contract rights acquired by the acceptance of the tender shall be forfeited. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

Attention is called to the following clauses in the form of contract:—

"All mechanics, labourers or other persons who perform labour for the purpose of the construction of the works hereby contracted for shall be paid such wages as are generally accepted as current for competent workmen in the District in which the work is being performed, and, if there is no current rate in such District, then a fair and reasonable rate; and, in the event of a dispute arising as to what is the current or a fair and reasonable rate, it shall be determined by the Commissioners, whose decision shall be final."

"This agreement is subject to the regulations now in force, or which may at any time hereafter be in force during the construction of the works hereby contracted for, made under the authority of the Department of Labour, and which are or shall be applicable to such works."

"The contractor shall in connection with the whole of the said work, as far as practicable use only material, machinery, plant, supplies and rolling stock manufactured or produced in Canada, provided the same can be obtained as cheaply and upon as good terms in Canada as elsewhere, having regard to quality and price."

The contractor shall conform to the Fire Regulations adopted by the Commissioners, and also to the Laws and Regulations respecting fires in the different Provinces wherein the work is being performed.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

By order,
F. H. RYAN,
Secretary.

Proposed Agreement With Carpet Factory

Will Be Submitted to the Qualified Electors, Who Must Assume the Responsibility For Acceptance or Rejection.

The city fathers met in Committee of the Whole last night, every member were present, Mayor Henry Neal, presiding, and Aldermen McIntyre, McWilliams, Tovey, Duncan, Graham, Ball, Johnston, Adams and Mason.

The proposition in connection with the proposed location here of the Brinton carpet factory of England, was the object of the meeting. This company's representatives had investigated with favor, very desirable property in this city, for their manufacturing industry, and negotiations have been in progress between them and our Manufacturers' Committee for some time, resulting in several propositions being submitted by both parties. And last night Ald. McWilliams, chairman of the Manufacturers' Committee, informed the council that his committee were in receipt of an ultimatum proposition from the carpet company, agreeing to locate here if granted a free site of 15 acres of land and fixed assessment on the purchase price of said land, and buildings used for manufacturing purposes. In return for these inducements the company will bind themselves to erect and equip by Jan. 1st, 1907, substantial buildings, employing therein at least 60 hands; this capacity to increase to 125 employees by January 1st, 1908. (Ald. McWilliams pointed out that while this company are favorably impressed with the Sugar Co's property as a desirable site, the city has yet to purchase that property, by permission from the Ontario Legislature, and there are three or four other properties suitable for manufacturing purposes, which the corporation can acquire.

Continuing, he thought the inducements asked were about commensurate to those offered the Canadian Cordage Co., who started operations with 65 hands, and were given a site worth $4,500, and fixed assessment for 10 years on the purchase price of said land. It is estimated that the purchase price of the selected 15 acres on the Sugar Co's property, will cost $6,000, and this sum represents the straight bonus, if any, this city will pay for the location here of the Brinton carpet factory. (Of course 15 acres of land in some parts of the city would cost considerably more than $6,000.) Ald. McWilliams contended that through the defeat of the Chamberlain policy English manufacturers recognize that they must now locate in the colonies in order to secure colonial trade, as no preferential tariff in favor of British manufacturers can now be looked for. Consequently he hoped that an agreement may be reached with this carpet factory, a reliable and long established concern, whose locating here, might prove an incentive to other British companies to seek a foothold in Peterboro.

The Mayor thought 10 acres of land and 10 years' fixed assessment should be a good inducement. The Toronto carpet factory, employing 600 hands, only get two acres of land free, and a fixed assessment; the Guelph carpet concern, established 20 years ago and now employing 50 or 60 hands, only gets a fixed assessment; and the Sherbrook factory received but very small inducements to locate there.

Ald. Adams remarked that the council are holding office in the interests of the people, they have secured the best agreement possible, and now the people should be asked to assume responsibility, the responsibility of acceptance or rejection.

Here occurred a rather lengthy discussion, in which the Council agreed that this question would have to go to both the Legislature and the qualified voters, although confirmation by the Legislature might be sought first.

The Mayor—"I'll fix no document of this nature that does not provide for a vote of the people."

Ald. Ball.—"I'm opposed to all bonuses; but if the people vote for such a measure as this, well and good." Continuing, he did not think Peterboro need offer bonuses to induce manufacturers to locate here.

We have many advantages to offer, and manufacturers seeking sites will locate in localities best suited for their business.

The committee then passed the following resolution;

Ald. McWilliams moved, seconded by Ald. Adams,—That this committee recommend to the council that an agreement be entered into with Messrs. Brinton, Limited, of Kidderminster, England, for the establishment of a carpet factory here upon the following terms:—

The company shall before the first day of January, 1907, erect and equip buildings for the manufacture of carpets, to cost not less than $50,000, exclusive of machi... and shall employ therein by said ... not less than fifty hands, and also... employ therein by the first day of January, 1908, not less than 125 hands.

In consideration thereof, the corporation shall grant to the said company a free site of 15 acres of land, to be part of the Sugar Company property, if secured, or instead thereof, other equivalent property; a fixed assessment for a term of 21 years on the purchase price thereof, including buildings, used for manufacturing purposes; the right to connect with sewers free of charge; the right to connect with and the use of a railway siding; in event of the city undertaking the supply of electric power a supply of same at the same rates as other manufactories; the conveyance of said lands to be on terms similar to those of the lands granted to the Cordage company.

The above agreement to be subject to ratification or modification by the Legislature of Ontario, and to be submitted to a majority vote of the qualified electors.—Carried.

Ald. McWilliams moved, seconded by Ald. Adams,—That the solicitor be instructed to prepare a bylaw for submission to the people, embodying both the foregoing proposition, and that of Mr. Howard, providing for a grant of six acres of the Sugar Co. property, including the walls at present thereon, and a fixed assessment for ten years at the purchase price of said land and walls.

It will be noticed that the above resolutions do not clinch these matters, as they will have to be ratified or perhaps modified by the people themselves and the Legislature.

After the meeting Ald. McWilliams secured telephone connection with Mr. Press, a member of the English carpet company, and Mr. Robertson, their solicitor. These gentlemen will come to the city today, to arrange with City Solicitor E. H. D. Hall, and Ald. McWilliams, chairman of the Manufacturers Committee, all details connected with the proposition outlined above. Mr. Press will have charge of the construction of his company's buildings, and the management of the factory when in operation.

QUEEN'S UNIVERSITY DEFEATED AT OTTAWA

Ottawa, Feb. 28.—Queen's University hockey team was defeated here last night in the first game for the Stanley Cup, by a score of '6—7 by the Ottawa team. The local team had the visitors at their mercy at all stages of the game, and the result was never in doubt.

COMING TO CANADA.

London, Feb. 28.—Bruce Walker, the Canadian Government agent at Glasgow, addressed yesterday the corporation of the city of Edinburgh on the subject of emigration. The corporation have selected seventy young men of good character and physique, and if inquiries into their moral character prove satisfactory, the Distress Committee of the District will pay the passage of the party to Montreal.

Say Police Lured Man to His Doom.

New York, Feb. 28.—An unusual situation temporarily overshadowing the real issue in the case, confronted the court and jury when the trial of Bertie Claiche for the murder of Emil Gerdron was resumed in the criminal branch of the Supreme Court yesterday. This was the inquiry into the part which policemen are alleged to have had in Gerdon's death. Charges were made at the opening of the trial by Assistant District Attorney Ely that two members of the police force aided the girl in her deed and promised her immunity. The larger part of the opening day was spent investigating this phase of the case. Mr. Ely brought out evidence that a letter was sent to Gerdron before his death, and that after it $800 was reported to have been stolen from the body. Although he obtained no evidence to show who wrote the letter or took the money, the prosecutor charged that the policemen were responsible in both cases, and that by the letter Gerdron was lured to the place where he was shot while under arrest.

Bertie Claiche herself apparently had only a minor part in the proceedings up to today, except as a spectator. She frequently appeared to be greatly agitated, especially during the prosecutor's arraignment of the policemen.

LENIENCY FOR PRIVATE BILLS

Committee Extends the Time—House Committees Begin to Organize.

Toronto, Feb. 28.—The Standing Orders and Private Bills committees of the Legislature held their initial meetings yesterday. Mr. W. H. Hoyle, M.P.P., for North Ontario, was elected chairman of the first and Mr. Henry Carscallen, M.P.P., of Hamilton, was re-elected chairman of the second.

Both committees recommended the extension of the time for receiving bills for ten days. George S. May of Ottawa, in the Private Bills Committee, objected to any extension. He thought a rap on the knuckles for delinquent municipalities would bring them to time, but Mr. Carscallen thought that the committee should not be too arbitrary.

There are up to date 90 applications for private bills, a noticeable increase over the number in the last session.

TROOPS EXPECT OUTBREAK

Viceroy of Canton is Anti-Foreign and Anti-Dynastic.

Manila, Feb. 27.—A leading American firm in this city has received the following cable from Canton;

"The boycott has greatly encouraged the anti-foreign feeling. Teachers, reformers, agitators, and the native newspapers now have the power of that association behind them, causing a remarkable growth in the reform party and secret societies, while the anti-foreign, anti-dynastic viceroy of Canton by his autocratic ruling and his antagonistic attitude toward the foreign consuls, encourages the masses of the people in their anti-foreign feeling.

"In the prefecture of Chungchow, near Amoy, recent outrages against foreign church procedure, approved by Pekin, has strengthened revolutionary forces, who were eager to try conclusions with the Government.

"In a portion of China between the Yangtse Valley and the Hong Kong district a dangerous anti-foreign feeling exists, which is likely to break out at any moment."

The Federal troops here are preparing against the pending outbreak.

Death Prevents Union.

Montreal, February 27.—A strange instance of the irony of fate is the story of a young girl of Contrecoeur, Miss Ludivina Lorange. Twice betrothed during this year, death has twice intervened between herself and the fulfillment of her happiness. The 15th of May last was to have been her wedding day, when by a stroke of fate her fiance, Joseph Desjauriers, of Montreal, was stricken by the hand of death. Nine months from that date was again to have been her wedding day, but the second object of her affections, Mr. Adelard Giard, of Contrecoeur, was also snatched from her by death.

ITS STRENGTH ITS WEAKNESS

Outcome of Russian Revolution Was Favorable to the Government.

THE CZAR DOES STILL RULE

Witte Tells of the Campaign Against Him—He Accepts the Penalties.

St. Petersburg, February 27. — The special strength of the Russian revolution appears to have proved its special weakness. It was supposed that the great railroad strikes and other strikes in the manufacturing towns would afford the revolutionists a new and powerful weapon. In fact, the revolution gained immensely as regards the impression of those who watched its course because of the appearance of mystery with which it has been invested. By degrees it became evident, however, that the elements which were missing from the Russian revolution were such as could not safely be dispensed with. Radical as was the news that came in from all parts of the empire, nevertheless there appeared little or nothing in the way of real progress. It was difficult to say what the revolutionists were aiming at—whether they know themselves what they wanted. The people were puzzled with speculations as to whether it was a dynastic or a constitutional movement. Did its real strength lie in the towns or in the country? Was its object industrial or agrarian? Or was it simply a gathering of the forces of discontent formidable—most formidable—from the point of view of the prosperity and good administration of the empire, but not such a revolution as left the government no choice but that between conquering and being conquered? The outcome appears after all, no matter what the liberalizing tendencies may have been, to have been favorable to the government. In spite of all the Czar is still on his throne. Count Witte is still his first minister, and enough of the army is faithful to him to give him command of the situation at all events in St. Petersburg and in Moscow.

Things have so far solidified themselves that Sergius Yulevitch, Witte, the first minister of Russia, is even willing to comment upon the situation as it exists. In answer to questions recently he said:

"Probably no public servant known to Russian history has ever been so severely and unanimously blamed in his own country as myself, and this not only for acts which I did, but for others which I never even dreamed of doing, and not merely for words and motives which were truly mine, but also for their opposites which were gratuitously attributed to me. Again, every public man known to history, no matter what the color of his politics, has had a party following, numerous or small. Some section of society indorsed his principles, some fraction assisted his efforts, many rejoiced at his achievements. I am the sole exception. Every party, extreme or moderate, agrees in objecting to what it terms my policy, on grounds that contradict each other diametrically.

"As a Russian patriot my heart bleeds at a lack of industrious fellow laborers in the country's cause, of earnest workers who do not expect political or social regeneration from radical programs and speeches, but from steady, wise, patient labor, from reverence for the law, from reverence for duty and from the exercise of self control. With a fair contingent of such modest, conscientious toilers, Russia would soon rise to a very high place among the nations of the earth. I am hopeful that men of this sort will yet come forward. Meanwhile my motive in continuing to occupy a post which brings down such harsh judgment upon me is duty to the Czar and the fatherland; my guiding principle is to act according to my lights and my sole recompense is the approval of my conscience.

"On my return from the United States after the treaty of Portsmouth all that I craved for was rest for body and mind in the seclusion of private life, and it was all the more likely that my wish would be granted since there were doubtless others who placed in the position I now occupy, might have acquitted themselves of the task as well as myself, or better.

"Whatever the drawbacks or penalties attached to the performance of my duty I cheerfully accept them. But I certainly do not include among such penalties the constant disapproval of everything I do by certain political groups. On the contrary, clever men's criticism is always welcome, because it is wholesome and helpful, while to the strictures of the remainder one can easily shut one's second ear. Some nations judge their servants not only by what they have accomplished, but also by what they would fain have accomplished. I am ready to accept responsibility for what I have really said and done, but what I deprecate are the apocryphal utterances gratuitously attributed to me every day."

A SPLENDID CONCERT

Fine New Separate School Opened by Most Pleasing Entertainment

That most imposing structure in the west part of this city recently finished the separate school building, was on Monday night opened by a most interesting and patriotic concert held in the assembly hall. This room is very large and artistically finished and seats over five hundred people. The acoustic properties are perfect. Colored electric globes are used in the lighting which gives a very pretty effect. Some of the leading clergy in this district, among them being his lordship, Bishop O'Connor, Rev. Father Casey, of Lindsay, Rev Father Brethartom of Hastings, Rev. Father McGuire of Downeyville, Rev. Father Fitzpatrick of Douro, Rev. Father McColl, Rev. Dr. O'Brien, Rev. Father Galvin and Rev. Father Kelly were present.

A very pleasing feature of the entertainment was the opening chorous, by the boys of Murray street school, entitled "Long live the King." The boys wore a smart uniform and carried small "Union Jacks."

About 30 small girls took part in an operatta entitled "Humility," whose sweet voices, pretty dresses, emblematic of various flowers, made a most attractive taute en semble.

"The Boys of the Old Brigade," was very well rendered, in appropriate costume by the boys of the High school. Many of Peterboro's most accomplished musicians, elocutionists and vocalists of the young generation combined, by their individually well rendered parts, to complete an entertainment of rare excellence.

ALL THE DIFFERENCE

Conversation Between Two Times' New's Boys.

Yesterday as a bunch of the boys who daily gladden so many homes in this city by their early delivery of the g.f.j., whilst waiting for the paper were discussing the coming enjoyments of summer.

Among other subjects under discussion was that of the natatorial art. One of the youngsters was heard to remark;

"Say, Harry, w'at's de best way to teach a girl how to swim?"

"Come off, she's me sister."

"Aw, push her off de dock."

THE HOUSE OF REFUGE

Douro Ratepayer Objects to the Site Chosen at Lakefield.

(To the Editor of The Times).

Sir,—In the account of the proceedings of the county council in selecting a site for the house of refuge, Saturday evening's Examiner says; "At the beginning of the meeting, it looked as if no decision would be reached." Far better for the credit of the councillors, and far better for the interests of the county had this been the result; better no decision than a bad one. The warden usurped a position he had no right to assume; he ruled that the councillors must only make a motion that included both the locality and site, in consequence Messrs. Malone and Monogue, who advocated the site in Douro, were cut "Between the devil and the deep sea." They had rather to vote with the Norwood or Smith party or not vote at all; the latter I think would have been their wisest course, as they have now put themselves on record as voting with a councillor who has been working for selfish interests rather than the interests of the county or Lakefield, and I feel yet that a majority of the council when they realise what an error they have made in selecting the Pearson site will reconsider the matter, as I am sure they have been misled by one of their number who is interested. As to the nature and depth of the soil, the interested councillor says it is a rich loam, when he knows it is a sandy loam and very sandy at that. Do they, the council, know that the property is divided in two by a public road? Do they know that the portion east of the road runs into the Lakefield marshes? Do they know that the highest elevation would not be over 20 feet above said marshes? Do they know, if they don't, I do, that they only spent about twenty minutes walking over this property when the ground was frozen and that they took no steps to ascertain the depth of the soil, nor the truth of the other matters to which I refer. If they won't look into all these objections perhaps this Government will do so before they pay over the grant. In consolation as a large ratepayer in the county I enter my protest against the county's money being used in erecting a home for the aged and infirm, except said home is erected where there is good elevation, pure air and pleasant surroundings, and the land purchased for the home farm gives sure promise of yielding satisfactory returns.

Yours truly,
DOURO RATEPAYER.

BIG IRRIGATION PLANS

C. P. R. Expects to Irrigate 400,000 Acres This Year.

Montreal, February 27.—With the large force of men now at work in the Calgary and Lethbridge districts, and the scale of the equipment provided, the Canadian Pacific Railway expects to irrigate 400,000 acres of land this season. Already canals have been completed which are capable of furnishing water for irrigating 110,000 acres.

The Canadian Pacific Railway scheme for irrigation is on a scale almost unprecedented in America, for the block which it proposes to irrigate comprises 1,000,000 acres, and is the largest unoccupied block of good land in the West. Individual owners and ranch companies are beginning to imitate the railway company, and the result has been the reclamation of much country and the establishment of some important beet sugar factories.

The Calgary Irrigation Company has thirty-five miles of main ditch, and the Alberta Railway and Irrigation Company, with headquarters at Lethbridge, have 120 miles of ditch.

The Canadian Pacific Railway sells its irrigated land for $16 an acre and upwards.

Russia Strives to Avert Great War

Both For Her Own and France's Sake---Rouvier Asked Her to Exert Pressure, Fearing Germany Was Determined.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 27.—Russia is using all her influence at Berlin to prevent a rupture between France and Germany. Her action has been taken at the instance of Paris, where the Rouvier Government is apparently convinced that Germany proposes to pursue in her attitude even to the point of provoking war. On account of the close relations existing between the courts of Berlin and St. Petersburg it is believed in France that Russia will have more influence upon Emperor William than any other power. Earnest representations in favor of concessions to insure avoidance of an appeal to arms were accordingly being made, to which Germany replied that she had no desire to provoke war. Nevertheless she gave no indication that she proposed to modify her attitude, and Russian's latest advices from Algeciras indicate that practically all hope of an agreement has been abandoned. Although Count Cassini, head of the Russian mission, reports that the conference will be fruitless he expresses a decided opinion that hostilities will not result.

Russia is much concerned about the situation, as war between France and Germany would greatly embarrass her. Not only is the Russian Government so engrossed with the interior situation as not to be in a position to offer aid to her ally, but war would end the possibility of contracting another loan in Paris of which Russia is in urgent need.

UNDERSTANDING WITH ENGLAND.

Premier Witte has now become a distinct advocate of an Anglo-Russian understanding, and it is understood that negotiations have been or are about to be re-opened in London to determine the status of this agreement. If they are successful a new grouping of the powers will undoubtedly check Germany's ambitions. The main obstacle to an understanding is the dispute regarding the respective spheres of influence of Russia and Great Britain in Persia, as the Russians are loath to abandon their plans for reaching the Persian Gulf.

Count Witte has previously been credited with being almost violently anti-English. It has also been repeatedly stated that a practical rapprochement between Germany and Russia existed, it being fostered personally by the Kaiser and Czar.

TO PARTITION PERSIA.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 27.—A telegram from Teheran indicates that considerable interest is manifested in Persia at the possibility of an Anglo-Russian understanding. The Persian papers warn the Government that it would result in the partition of Persia, and as a means of combating such an outcome they urge the immediate introduction of State reforms modelled on the British constitution.

POLICE COURT NEWS

There was something doing at yesterday's police court. Two men, named Alex. Ross and Robt. Baker, were charged with trespassing on the property of Mrs. Louisa Howell, on McLeannel street. Both defendants pleaded not guilty, and as Mrs. Howell did not appear in court, the case was enlarged until this morning.

An elderly citizen, living on Water street, was charged with having created a disturbance on the same street at his residence. The defendant's son testified to his father being drunk on Monday evening, saying that he used very abusive language. The son said his father had talked so loud and violently it had attracted the attention of the police. The old man had said that his wife would have to get out of the house.

P. C. Miller next went into the box and corroborated what the last witness had said. The magistrate imposed a fine of $1 with $3.75 costs, to be paid forthwith or 10 days in jail.

It seemed as though the prisoner would have to seek the seclusion of Castle Nesbitt; however, during the morning, a local gentleman, for whom the prisoner occasionally works, came in and, playing the good Samaritan, put up the ducats.

A SPLENDID COMEDY

Large Audience Enjoy "It's Up To You, John Henry."

Last night the Grand opera house, was comfortably filled with an audience that contained a large majority of the elite of Peterboro.

The play, a thoroughly up to date comedy, a genuine, laughable hit at 20th century society's fads, follies and failings was well staged and presented by one of the best casts that a Peterboro audience has seen for years.

Mr. Grapowin as John Henry kept the audience convulsed with laughter, whilst Miss Anna Chance as Clara J. (Peaches) is a combination of no limited ability. The songs and music are bright, sparkling and full of catchy food for after reflection. The large company supporting the leading people, is composed of a class of fun-makers and singers not often seen in single combination.

A GROUCHY HUSBAND

Mrs. Mary E. Perry Trying to Raise Money For Her Support.

Toronto, Feb. 27.—That in fifteen years her husband has given her only $230 on which to support herself and eight children is the sad story told in the affidavits of Mrs. Mary E. Perry, of Peterboro, who is applying at Osgoode Hall for an order directing the sale of certain lands held by her husband.

Mrs. Perry sued her husband some time ago for alimony, and the judge at Peterboro granted her a temporary allowance of $5 per week.

The husband, Robert S. Perry, went away to Alberta, and did not pay the $5 per week. Now the woman wants to be allowed to sell the land he left behind, in order that she may realize the amount that is due to her.

The couple were married in 1888, and, she says, he deserted her in 1899.

TRUE BRITISH NOBLEMAN

REPAYS KINDNESS DONE WHEN "BROKE" IN THE UNITED STATES

Interesting Story of a Pair of Ohio Doctors---How They Were Entertained.

Cincinnati, Ohio, February 27. — Entertaining a Scotch nobleman in disguise, helping him out of a difficulty, and then being treated to a trip through Europe, was the pleasant fate that befel Drs. J. A. and D. D. McCallum, of Crestline, Ohio, former residents of this city.

Last summer a young gentleman got off a through train at Crestline, Ohio, and went to a certain lawyer to ask the loan of some money. He explained that his father in the old country was wealthy and that he himself was taking a trip through America. Some money which was coming to him from Scotland had been delayed, and he was, for the time being, broke.

The lawyer though the young man was trying to "work" him, especially as he would not tell his name.

The young fellow then went to the office of the Drs. McCallum, and they befriended him. They lent him money, put him up at the best hotel in town and took him riding in their automobile.

After a week had passed a substantial sum of money arrived from Scotland, and it became apparent that the young stranger was very rich. He repaid his two friends the money they had spent on him and went away.

Not long afterwards the doctors received a letter from Baron St. Oesill, of Scotland, thanking them for befriending his son and inviting them to visit him at his own expense. The doctors promptly accepted the invitation. They crossed the ocean on the steamer "Celtic," and were treated in a princely fashion by their hosts.

The doctors remained six weeks in the old land, and were taken on a tour of Ireland, England and France by the baron and his son.

They have just recently arrived home, and the interesting story has leaked out.

AN ANGRY BANKER

Mr. Hughes-Charles is Determined to Prevent Cruelty to Horses.

Yesterday morning, shortly after the police court had adjourned, Mr. D. Hughes-Charles, who, as is well-known is an enthusiastic and well posted horseman, with, to use a slang expression, "blood in his eye," and in plain English, thoroughly exasperated all through, came into the police station to lay a complaint.

Mr. Hughes-Charles, in language that, whilst not punctuated with expressions often used by angry man, showed plainly that he was both disgusted and determined to stop that which had annoyed him. "Look here," he said to Acting Chief Adams, "I want to lay a complaint. I'm going to have a stop put to this system of horses not fit to be placed between a pair of shafts, and not properly fed, being used in this city." He then laid a complaint against a young man, Reid, whom he said was yesterday driving "an old crow-bait that looked half starved and had broken knees. Mr. Charles then noted that he had seen Reid's horse fall down upon Hunter street, just in front of St. John's church, and that it took half an hour to get the animal upon his feet again. To a Times' representative present he said: "You can just say in your paper that I am not going to stop with this case, but every man I see driving a poor, half-starved horse, not fit for use, I am going to prosecute."

There is no doubt but what this gentleman will be as good as his word and will make it warm for every man he sees driving an animated boneyard, or a proper candidate for the glue pot.

All Thin, Pale Women

Can Learn the Cause of Their Nervous, Used-up Condition

With women, ill-health is usually traceable to nerve exhaustion. Feeling run-down and tired most of the time is nature's warning that more nerve-force is required.

You must build up, nourish the body, vitalize the nerves, get more flesh and blood.

It's the abundant nutriment and building material in Ferrozone that enables it to cure so many sick women. It increases the appetite, adds weight and strength, restores lost color and develops a surplus of energy and nerve force that defies sickness of any kind. There is living proof in Mrs. Daniel Ferguson, Jr., of Prescott, Ont. Read her statement:

"A year ago my health failed. I grew thin and exceedingly pale. At night it was difficult to obtain restful sleep. My appetite was variable and indigestion bothered me considerably. I became morose and suffered from heart palpitation. You could scarcely believe the benefit I derived in one week from Ferrozone. Color came back to my cheeks. My vitality and appetite increased, renewed nerve force and better spirits came also. Ferrozone did a world of good and made me well.

Remember this: No alcoholic stimulant can nourish and build up like Ferrozone. Fifty cents per box or six boxes for $2.50. At all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

WAR AND RACE DETERIORATION

Many nations have risen to power and grandeur only later to be leveled in the dust. Their fall has been attributed to political corruption. It has been charged to the growth of wealth and luxury and the consequent decay of moral virtues. It has been imputed to changes in the value of money. But the true cause of racial, and therefore of national, deterioration, according to President David Starr Jordan, of Leland Stanford University, is war. President Jordan has written a book, entitled "The Blood of Nations," in support of his thesis.

It might seem on first thought that President Jordan's theory is unscientific as running counter to the Darwinian theory of natural selection. But he finds in Darwinism the justification of his position. In the struggle for existence among plants and animals in a state of nature the unfit perish while the fit survive, propagate and transmit to their offspring their superior qualities. Thus the tendency of natural selection is constantly to improve the species. The tendency of war, President Jordan argues, is to deteriorate races because it reverses this process. The strongest and bravest men go or are sent to the front to be killed, while the weaklings and cowards are left at home. The result is the nation's numbers are kept up by the propagation of its unfit classes, and it tends, in consequence, to deteriorate to their level.

Greece fell because war had carried off the men who made her glory and left only stable boys, scullions, and slaves to perpetuate the Grecian name. "The Roman Empire," says Seeley, "perished for want of men," and the want of men, according to President Jordan, was due to centuries of war. France has confessed to a state of comparative decadence by naming a commission to investigate its causes. The Napoleonic wars, the author of "The Blood of Nations" believes, are a sufficient explanation of other French conditions besides the reduced French stature. Astonishment has been expressed that the Japanese should have made such good soldiers after six generations of peace. It was the long peace that made them good soldiers, says President Jordan. It is in time of peace that the beneficient process of human evolution goes on. It is then the virile and brave survive and hand down their virtues, while "the idle, weak, and dissipated go to the wall." Our American cousins would be a stronger and better people today if the carnage of the civil war could have been avoided.

President Jordan's theory is only partly true. War has not always tended toward man's deterioration. When in barbarous and semi-barbarous times the military force was the whole people in arms, the unfit usually did perish, the fit usually did survive, and war promoted human evolution. But where, as in civilized countries, armies are composed of but part of the men, and these largely the best men, the tendency of war to the deterioration and even destruction of the nations participating seems unquestionable. Leaving barbarous times and tribes out of the account President Jordan's theory stands pretty well the test of science and of his-tory. It constitutes a powerful argument against engaging in war except when honor and the most important national interests imperatively require it. The nation that will not go to war to defend its honor and maintain its rights is already degenerate.

MANCHURIA BELONGS TO JAPAN

The Manchuria Daily Report, the Japanese paper published in Newchwang, Manchuria, recently said editorially: "We repeat that every inch of Manchuria under Japanese occupation now has been bought for a dear price in blood money. Hence Japan is its legitimate owner. China has forfeited her suzerainty over it by once making, so to speak, a present of it to Russia." Nevertheless, Japan will do what the treaty of peace says, "restore Manchuria to China," but there is nothing to prevent her buying it back again at such nominal price as China chooses to accept.

Quick Diagnosis Found.

New York, February 25.—Research by the Department of Health has resulted in the discovery of a method by which the diagnosis for hydrophobia which has hitherto taken from three to four days, may be made in twenty minutes. Results will be obtained from these investigations which will prove of incalculable benefit, and will, it is believed, bring to light an entirely new theory as to the origin of the disease itself.

By this new method not only are pathologists enabled to tell with certainty whether or not the dog which has bitten a patient was rabid, but sufferers will be relieved from days of suspense. Its principle is based on the rapid detection of what appear to be minute organisms in the brain of rabid animals, known as Negri bodies.

"The Sun Do Nieve."

London, February 25.—"Lady Blount and Albert Smith" have begun a new campaign to prove that Newton's law of gravitation is useless, and above all, the earth is flat and not round.

The thirteenth pamphlet has just been turned out by "Lady Blount and Albert Smith," in support of these theories. Believers in the cult of the flat earth style themselves Zetetics.

"There is strong evidence, says this latest pamphlet, "to prove that the sun when directly overhead is only about 100 miles away instead of 93,000,000 miles; and that it is about thirty miles in diameter, instead of being large enough to hold the earth and all of the planets.

"In its daily circuit above the flat and stationary earth, it travels about 25,000 miles at the equator, and at the tropic less than one-half of the distance that the earth travels in one hour."

Foolish people who point to the curved shadow of the earth on the moon as proof of the earth's globular shape are taken to task by Lady Blount, who ridicules modern astronomy in pamphlet.

Nelson's Memorandum.

London, February 25. — The Daily Telegraph today makes the interesting announcement of the discovery of the original draft in Lord Nelson's handwriting of his historic "General Megar. The document, which was supposed to have been lost, was in the possession of a private family living near Merton Abbey, the home of Lady Hamilton.

Budapest in Turmoil.

Budapest, February 25.—The city is in a condition of ominous quiet. Three Hungarian army officers of high rank incensed at Austrian methods are arranging to leave the service. A number of students clashed with a crowd of socialists today and a fierce fight followed. Many of the combatants were so badly injured that they had to be taken to the hospital.

The coalition is planning to hold two hundred meetings next Sunday to protest against the summary dissolution of Parliament by the King.

Local Parliaments.

Toronto, February 25.—The right to call the Legislative Body of Ontario a Parliament having been impugned by the Ottawa authorities, the matter is a subject of discussion at the buildings in Queen's Park. It is pointed out by Colonel Clarke, clerk of the House, that there are four terms in use interchangeably to describe elected bodies, namely, House of Assembly, Legislature and House of Commons. In a letter to Lord Dufferin, in 1877, Earl narron speaks of the Legislature of Canada, while other official letters from England refer to the "Provincial Parliaments."

At the opening of the Ontario Assembly, in 1867, Hon. Mathew Crooks Cameron, then provincial secretary, stated that His Excellency the Lieutenant-Governor, did not explain why he saw fit to assemble "this, the first Parliament of the Province of Ontario."

OF CALUMET, MICHIGAN,

offers a limited amount of its Treasury Stock at ONE DOLLAR per share, full paid and non-assessable. Properties consisting of four groups of lode claims and equal to claim area of 27 full lode claims, or about 570 acres, with two valuable water rights and a water reservoir—a lake of about 20 acres surface area.

Development is equal to 1700 lineal feet, at a cost of $15 per lineal foot—tunnels, drifts, cross-cute, winze and surface cuts and trenches, and one ten gravity stamp concentrating mill. Three groups, water rights, mill and tunnel sites, etc., are fully paid; one group, held on title bond, is partly paid for. Good Grade of Profitable Milling are blocked out, in sight, to last for a sixty ton mill for over two years time. Safe and conservative estimate for mining the ore, delivering and milling it, at a cost of about $4.83 per ton. Three separate mill runs, for testing purposes, have returned from $3.40 to $14.20 per ton of rock, principally in gold.

This is a Bonanza for Intelligent Investors

In order to make operations absolutely up-to-date, perfect, both the mining and the reduction of ores, the Board of Directors have placed a limited amount of Treasury Stock at par value $1.00 per share on the market. SELECTIONS

A BALL OF FIRE.

Pranks of a Thunderbolt in a House in Paris.

Camille Flammarion in his book "Thunder and Lightning" describes some of the phenomena of electrical storms. Of the actions of a ball of fire in Paris he says: "It was in the Rue St. Jacques, near the Val de Grace. The fire ball burst into the room from the chimney, knocking over the paper guard in front of the fireplace. In appearance it suggested a young cat gathered up in a ball, as it were, and moving along without using its paws. It approached the tailor's legs as if to play with them. The tailor moved them away to avoid the contact, of which he naturally was in terror.

"After some seconds the globe of fire rose vertically to the height of the man's face as he sat, and he to save himself leaned quickly back and fell over. The fire ball continued to rise and made its way toward a hole which had been made at the top of the chimney for the insertion of a stovepipe in the winter, but which, as the tailor put it afterward, 'the fire ball couldn't see,' because it was closed up with paper.

"The ball stripped off the paper neatly, entered the chimney quite quietly and, having risen to the summit, produced a tremendous explosion, which sent the chimney pot flying and scattered it in bits all over the neighboring courtyard and surrounding roofs."

LIFE'S LITTLE THINGS.

They Go a Very Long Way Toward Making the World Happy.

A wild bird's song is a little thing—lost in the deeps of a frowning sky.

And yet as it falls on a listening ear and leaves its message of melody earth's green seems brighter and life is sweeter all through an autumn day.

The coo of a babe is a little thing—meaningless sound from a vacant mind.

But 'tis the only sound that all nations heed—the one clear language that all races know.

A mother's love is a little thing—too soon, alas, forget!

But it typifies to blind humankind the love and trust and hope divine that bear with patience calm and sweet the willful wrongs in these lives of ours.

A passing smile is a little thing—lost in a world of toil and care.

And yet the soul with gloom oppressed and the life grown wearied with burdens hard will happier be in the afterglow of a smile that is warmly kind.

A kindly word is a little thing—a breath that goes and a sound that dies.

But the heart that gives and the heart that hears may know that it sings and sings and sings till at last it blends with the wild bird's song and the coo of babes in what men call the celestial choir.

Lessons For Schoolboys.

There is no question that our forefathers supposed that benefit might be derived from causing schoolboys to be spectators of the hangings of criminals. Sir Walter Scott has borne testimony to this custom being not unknown in Scotland. In "The Heart of Midlothian" Mr. Saddletree is represented as saying:

I promised to ask a half play day to the schools so that the bairns might gang and see the hanging, which canna but have a pleasing effect on their young minds, seeing there is no knowing whether they may come to themselves.—Chapter 3.

Sir Walter would not, we may assume, have written the above had he not known that such things had actually taken place.—London Notes and Queries.

The Sea Otter.

The sea otter is nearly twice the size of the common river otter, and the fur, without finishing or preparation of any kind, is more beautiful as it is stripped from the animal than the richest sable skin, which has to be scraped, plucked of the long upper hairs and then dyed before it could be recognized as the beautiful object which the finished fur undoubtedly is. In the sea otter's fur the soft undercoat, the true fur, is as thick as that of the seal and nearly twice as long, while the long outer hairs are as soft as a rabbit's tail and often a pale gray, which gives to the whole coat an appearance as of dark fur slightly frosted over.

Bird Confidence.

Mr. Bolt's aviary presented a pretty evidence of mutual confidence among birds. A pair of Java sparrows lived in a compartment with a "bleeding heart" pigeon. The latter fell in love with them and at night always cuddled a sparrow under each wing. When seen by the light of a lantern the pigeon seemed to be cuddling two babies, one under each wing, from which the cheerful countenance of the little sparrows looked with blinking eyes.—London Spectator.

His Definition.

A teacher in a certain school asked for the definition of a farrier. A hand was raised. "Well, John, you tell us what a farrier is." "A man who deals in furs," correctly replied the pupil. Then, turning to another scholar, the teacher asked for the definition of a carrier. "A man who deals in cows," was the unexpected reply of the eager boy.

All In the Still.

"I'm afraid," said the junior member of the law firm, "that we are causing our client unnecessary trouble."

"Oh, that's all right," rejoined the senior member. "We'll charge him for it."

Dog Watch.

"The dog watch," a term used by sailors, was once the dodge watch, a short watch being introduced between those longer in duration in order that no grant an amount of work should not be put upon the same men in the course of the day.

WEARING HER WEDDING DRESS

Stabbed Her Aunt and Uncle Because Stories They Told Caused Husband to Desert Her.

New York, Feb. 25.—Josephine Pollari Terranova, the 17-year-old Italian matron, who it is alleged, stabbed Gaetano Riggo, and his wife, with whom she had made her home before her marriage two months ago was arrested yesterday. The charge against the young woman now is murder, as Riaggio died in a hospital early yesterday from his wounds. Mrs. Riggo's condition is somewhat improved.

The stabbing took place last Thursday night at the Riggio home in the Bronx, a short time after Mrs. Terranova had been seen to enter the apartments, but when the neighbors reached there she had gone. Both the old people were found unconscious. Just before his death Riggio accused Mrs. Terranova of stabbing himself and wife, but he gave no reason for the act. The theory of the police has been that Mrs. Terranova was angry with the Riggios because she held them responsible for trouble which resulted in her separation from her husband.

After her arrest, Mrs. Terranova told the police that she stabbed both Riggio and his wife. She asserted that she was justified by the treatment which she claimed to have received at Riggio's hands since she was 13 years old. When she told her husband of Riggo's treatment he refused to live with her, the girl said, and for this reason she attacked both her uncle and his wife.

When the young woman was arrested yesterday she wore her wedding dress. On the front of the skirt was a large dark stain. She said it was made by Riggio's blood.

To the Canadian Investor

DORES-MONTGOMERY MINING COMPANY
OF BULLFROG, NEVADA

The undersigned is pleased to announce to the investors of Canada that he has been appointed Canadian Fiscal Agent of the above company, and is offering a limited amount of treasury stock at 35c. per share for development work. This property is just 1500 feet southwest of the famous Montgomery Shoshone mine and both have unquestionably the same vein. The group shows a well defined vein cropping out through, and it is a perfect figure. A six inch talc seam on the hanging wall gives high values. We have also several other ledges, and it is only a matter of development work to make this property equal to any producer in the section.

The management of the Montgomery Shoshone conservatively estimates that the mine has produced $300,000 worth of ore. If this is right, the ore from the mine has averaged about $975 a ton, or about $1.50 for every foot of sinking, the mine being 4 x 7 in clear.

Ore from the mines running less than $250 is thrown over the dump as milling ore. No less than 150 tons of ore has been shipped from this mine, all of it coming from the mine. Another shipment of 50 tons or more will be made via Las Vegas in a few days.

The figures given above are startling in the extreme, but the measurements and ore values as quoted are official—direct from the management of the wonderful mine that is today astonishing the world.

This property is only 1500 feet from the Dores Montgomery Mine.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15 by 1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty on the sale of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

Dr. Hamilton Cures Rheumatism

You Use His Mandrake and Butter milk Pills—He Guarantees Lasting Cure.

Rheumatism begins and ends in the blood which at no time is ever free from poison. But if the kidneys are healthy, they will filter out the wastes and poisons.

In case of rheumatism, the kidneys are not doing their work. As a result poisons crystalise around the joints and cause pain almost akin to torture.

There can be no cure, no permanent relief until the kidneys are stimulated. First get them into working order. For this purpose Dr. Hamilton's Pills excel all other remedies: they heal and strengthen the kidneys as no other poisons depart from the blood and all medicine can do. Once the kidneys are renewed by Dr. Hamilton's Pills the trace of rheumatism disappears.

Mr. Geo. N. Sunbury, of Portland, Tells of the Marvellous Influence of Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

"I spent nearly three years experimenting with rheumatic remedies," writes Geo. N. Sunbury, of Portland. "I had almost given up hope, when I tried Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they completely cured me. No remedy could be better."

You will never regret using Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Get a supply today from your druggist, 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1. By mail to any address if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

Enjoyable Afternoon Tea.

The last important social event before the Lenten season, was the very interesting and largely attended "at-home" at the residence of Mrs. R. M. Denniston, Water street, held yesterday afternoon.

At this afternoon tea, Mrs. Denniston, the hostess, charmingly gowned in a rose-pink costume, received her guests in the spacious drawing room. Tea was daintily dispensed by several of her friends, in the dining room. The pleasure of the guests was greatly enhanced by the sweet strains of a violin and piano, admirably played. Among those who assisted were; the Misses A. Hall, O. Bradburn, M. Davidson, F. Belcher, Clements, and K. Wallis.

—The "John Henry Co." registered at the Oriental.

—The Albany Club held its annual meeting last night.

—All Saints' Young Men's Guild held a pancake social yesterday evening.

—St. Luke's church Mothers' Guild held a pancake social yesterday evening.

—F. Donnet, Toronto, has been fined for spitting in a street car in the Queen City. It cost him $1.

—It is now said that the Ontario Government is considering the raising of liquor license fees in large cities.

—It is now up to you to consider what you can really get along without during Lent, and bravely deny yourself.

—The next rehearsal of the Peterboro Choral Society will be held on Tuesday March 6th. There will be no rehearsal this week.

—Yesterday was the 25th anniversary of the marriage of Emperor William of Germany. Shake, Bill, and accept our congratulations.

—Mr. Alex. Maxim, late of the Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Co's employ, left yesterday for Hamilton, where he will remain for some time before going south.

—A special meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of George street Methodist church will be held this evening at the close of the weekly prayer meeting.

—Yesterday morning P. M. Edmison heard the trial of a man charged with a serious offence. Several witnesses were examined, and the man was fined $10 and costs.

—Messrs. Duncan & Doupe are repainting and kalsomining the interior of St. Andrew's church. The services next Sunday will be held in the Sunday school building.

—"Ye Olde Time" social in St. John's church Sunday school, held under auspices of the Girls' Guild on Monday night, was well attended, and proved a great success.

—Don't fail to take advantage of the bargains at surplus stock sale now going on at Times Bookstore. One dollar jardiniers for only 60 cents. See them in south window.

—The Bell Telephone Co., have decided to increase their capital from $10,000,000 to $50,000,000. If necessary Parliament will be asked to authorize this. Three more directors will be added to their board.

LO! THE POOR INDIAN

Four of Our National Wards Convicted of Using Liquor.

The Red Brother, it seems does like that forbidden fruit, the extract of corn and rye in liquid form. Although history and tradition all show that whiskey, during many decades in Canada's history has caused him to get up and whoop and after proclaiming "Big Injun me," go on the war-path after scalps. Our paternal government recognising that in such sections of the country as contain Indians in large proportions, and having decided that scalps are better attached to the heads they grew on than on the wampum belts of people not even introduced to their original owners, has passed laws forbidding this tonic that leads to scalp raising being sold to any Indian.

In this fully civilised part of the country our Indian wards seeing their white brothers imbibing the seductive tangle leg, and smashing obnoxious tables crockery, wives and "such like," seem to think they are imposed upon and, (some of them) procure sundry bottles, marked "old rye," but of doubtful ancestry and age, when ever opportunity offers.

Police Magistrate Emerson this week had a number of the Indian village settlement residents before his eagle eye, charged with having got drunk and been disorderly.

Samuel Beaver of Alderville, seems to have been the "Main push," both getting and circulating the "booze-ette," and a warrant is now out against him. George Taylor, Alfred Coppaway, Jonas Jacobs and James Taylor, were all convicted of having taken firewater internally. His Worship reserved judgment until May 26th.

BIG BUSINESS DEAL

Vast English Concern to Handle Canada Flakes and Other P. C. Co's Products.

Yesterday arrangements were concluded between the Petreboro Cereal Co., and Messrs. Sutcliffe & Bingham, manufacturers of jelly and custard powders Manchester, England, makers of the celebrated Kovah brands.

By this agreement the English company have taken charge of the Cereal Company's business in Great Britain and will handle the sale of Canada Flakes in the Old Country. This will give the Cereal Company an outlet for their products. The agreement also makes provision for the Peterboro Cereal Company, taking charge of the sale of the English firm's products in Ontario.

Mr. Arthur Sutcliffe, the head of the great English firm, was in the city yesterday and completed the contract.

A Sad Sight.

Yesterday a scene was in evidence, about noon at the corner of Charlotte and George streets, that should have disgusted all on lookers. A boy not more than thirteen years old, was lying stretched on the sidewalk, dead drunk and surrounded by a couple of dozen young men and boys, who seemed to think the matter funny. It is said that a number of boys frequent a shanty near the river bank and that there liquor is consumed and other vicious practices are not unknown. This boy's parents should apply the strap and justice should wield and apply "without mercy," the cat on the back of any man selling liquor to a lad this age.

Charity Board Elects Officers.

The Central Charity Board has elected its officers for the ensuing year as follows;

Chairman—H. Rush, sr.
Vice-Chairman—Wm. Fowler.
Treasurer—Wm. Yelland.
Secretary—S. R. Armstrong.

Those present at the meeting were Messrs. H. Rush, chairman; Rev. J. G. Levis, Wm. Fowler, Wm. Yelland, R. C. Brasnel, Wm. Kemp, J. D. Collins, and F. W. Miller.

Caught a Damsel.

On Sunday night a certain civic employe whom for want of his true name we will call "Mr. Deacon," was out on George street, admiring the fair sex. A local lady of naughty mien and wonderous raiment went by. The local employe remarked to a friend, "I am going to catch that damsel." Shortly afterwards his friend asked, "Did you catch your damsel?" "Yes, I caught it in the mask, it was in fact, a ——cab."

The Best Guaranty of Merit Is Open Publicity.

Every bottle of Dr. Pierce's world-famed medicines having the great laboratory at Buffalo, N. Y., has printed upon its wrapper all the ingredients entering into its composition. This fact alone places Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines in a class all by themselves. They cannot be classed with patent or secret medicines because they are neither. This is why so many unprejudiced physicians prescribe them and recommend them to their patients. They know what they are composed of, and that the ingredients are those endorsed by the most eminent medical authorities.

The further fact that neither Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the great stomach tonic, liver invigorator, heart regulator and blood purifier, nor his "Favorite Prescription" for weak, overworked, broken-down, nervous women, contains any alcohol, also entitles them to a place all by themselves.

Many years ago, Dr. Pierce discovered that chemically pure glycerine, of proper strength, is a better solvent and preservative of the medicinal principles residing in our indigenous, or native, medicinal plants than is alcohol; and, furthermore, that it possesses valuable medicinal properties of its own, being demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic, and a most efficient antiferment.

Neither of the above medicines contains alcohol, or any harmful, habit-forming drug, as will be seen from a glance at the formula printed on each bottle wrapper. They are safe to use and potent to cure.

Not only do physicians prescribe the above, non-secret medicines largely, but the most intelligent people employ them —people who would not think of using the ordinary patent, or secret medicines. Every ingredient entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines has the strongest kind of an endorsement from leading medical writers of the several schools of practice. No other medicines put up for like purposes has any such professional endorsement.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Druggists sell them, and nothing is "just as good." Easy to take as candy.

ONE OF THE RICHEST PROSPECTS EVER DISCOVERED.

The Iron Spar Mining Co.

The Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., owning valuable property on the divide between the States of Idaho and Montana, a copper proposition of exceptional promise, a property that even a novice, by personal inspection, ought to discern merits in, so apparent are the indications which guide the prospector in the work of making great mineral discoveries. An immense copper bearing ledge traverses the ground from east to west and is so well defined and conspicuous in its surface outcrop that anyone however unfamiliar with outward appearances of mineralisation, once shown the ledge, may follow it uninterruptedly for several thousand feet. The fact is that copper ores appear in the vein gangue even to the grass roots.

The vein is large, 15 to 20 feet wide, and horizontally continuous across the whole extent of the claims, a distance of 6,600 feet. Being a true fissure and cutting the country formation at a considerable angle, it is entirely consistent with geological laws to suppose that it has also great vertical dimension.

Everybody who has made any study of the profits derived from successful copper mining operations can not have failed to observe the splendid and continuous dividends paid to investors. Copper mining has been so dependable a source of revenue throughout the world that today many investors prefer it to the more fickle high grade gold propositions. Look at the enormous and steady profits paid investors in all the great copper fields of the world, as viz: The Lake Superior mines in Michigan, Butte mines in Montana, Bisbee and Tombstone in Arizona, the mines of Utah, the great Tintic mines in Spain, and the Mexican mines. The demand for copper increases with the advance of civilization and the immense demand created by the growing popularization of electrical power justifies the belief that the supply will hardly keep pace with the demand for years to come. Copper mining is safe and profitable, once you have found a good property. That is just what we are trying to introduce to you, and you have this in the Iron Spar.

The sum of 400,000 shares of the fully paid capital stock was set aside as a treasury fund to be devoted to the improvement, development and equipment of the property. Nearly the entire block remains in the treasury at the present date, only so much having been drawn out as was necessary to defray the expenses of operation since the formation of the Company. The miners have all taken stock as pay instead of cash.

The undersigned has a limited number of Shares for sale at TEN CENTS per share. All interested should call or write at once.

Committee to Visit Hamilton on Business

Four of Our City Fathers to Personally Inspect Stone Crushers Previous to Purchasing For the City--City to Pay Expenses.

Last night the Board of Works held a meeting that was mainly devoted to consideration of the large mass of correspondence, the principal business being their decision to purchase a new stone crusher, and which, with true patriotic spirit the Board decided to buy from Canadian manufacturers.

Those present were: Mayor Best, Aldermen Hicks, chairman; Johnston, Graham, Adams and McIntyre.

It was moved by Mayor Best, that Mr. Evans, street commissioner, get the city watering carts re-painted and fixed up—Carried.

Ald. Hicks suggested that as, if one of the carts was, at any time put out of business by breakage or other wise, it would be better to have a spare cart to meet emergencies. A discussion then arose about the advisability of procuring a steel cart.

Ald Johnston thought it would be wise to have a reserve cart for emergencies.

It was noted that the street commissioner wanted to get a scavenger cart for cleaning out sewers and such purposes.

Ald. Johnston moved that the chairman be authorized to buy another watering cart and a scavenger cart.

The Mayor said he had thought for a long time that a scavenger cart should be had by the city. He recommended that enquiries should be made regarding the cost of such carts, which are made in Toronto, and cost about $75.

The matter of second-hand stone crushers was then taken up. Ald. Graham said he did not approve of old machines.

Ald. Hicks thought that as the city had so much use for a stone crusher, it would not pay to get an old one.

The Mayor said in getting an old machine, some one would have to overlook it.

Ald. Graham moved that a committee composed of Mayor Best, Engineer Hay and Chairman Hicks be appointed to purchase a new stone crusher. It was thought however that the whole Board of Works committee should be included.

Mayor Best thought it best for a committee to go to Hamilton to see the crushers made there, in actual operation.

The matter of the personel of this committee was then discussed; Ald. Hicks thought the Mayor should go, owing to his experience, and also that he, the Mayor, should share the responsibility.

Ald. Johnston moved that the Mayor, Street Commissioner Evans, and Chairman Hicks be a committee to go to Hamilton, and purchase a machine (including revolving screen—Carried.

The Mayor admitted that he did not know much about the practical working of a stone crusher, and thought that Chairman Hicks and the street commissioner would be enough and he would back up their decision.

It was the general opinion that a Canadian machine should be purchased.

Mr. Walter Stoober presented a application for a pipe on Homewood avenue to be inserted—Carried.

Rev. J. C. Davidson presented an application for a sewer to be laid along Hunter street from Water St. to the river. Mr. Hays said he had explained that this could not be done at the present time. The application was received.

Ald. Johnston moved, seconded by Ald. Graham, That the application of the C.P.R. regarding the junction of their roads at the corner of Romaine street and boundary line, be granted provided the work be done at their (the C.P.R's) expense, and that they the railroad provide for a water course.

A letter from the city solicitor regarding the claims of Messrs. Coleman, Blewitt and Edmonds, was received. Mr. Blewitt's letter said he sustained damages to his horse at the corner of King and Stewart streets, while driving by. The solicitor noted that, in his opinion, the city was not liable in either case, this was based upon the city engineer's report. No action was taken on motion of Ald. McIntyre.

An account of $6.50 from Mr. Robson, for injury to his horse on Dalhousie street bridge last October, was received. No action was taken further than referring it to the solicitor on motion of Ald. McIntyre.

Mr. Smyth asked permission to place an illuminated sign in front of his Water street billiard parlors. Ald. Johnston moved that this be granted —Carried.

Mr. Alex. Fitzgerald, street inspector, who was on duty on January last, for one and one-half days in connection with the flood, put in an account for this time.—Granted.

Mr. John Redmond's letter, relative to prices quoted for stone for city purposes at $3 per cord, was received.

City Engineer Hay had received two letters from the Canada Sewer Pipe Co., relative to prices and discounts on sewer pipes.

The matter was left in abeyance.

The matter of the Water street sewer between Smith and Hilliard sts, was discussed. Engineer Hays said he had found that the sewer was placed at irregular intervals from the side of the street, and there are gas pipes in the locality that interfere. The difficulty of placing the sewer in the center of the street was the involved interference with the street railway tracks. The sewer is 12 feet deep at Smith street, running to nine feet further north.

Ald. McIntyre moved that the engineer investigate the matter and report later.

The matter of the east ward sewer being constructed by contractor Jas. Bogue was then taken up. Mr. Hay explained that about 600 feet still remained to be completed, and that the outlet pipe had not yet been inspected.

Ald. Graham moved that the city solicitor be consulted before Mr. Bogue's claim for 95 per cent. of the work be paid.

Ald. McIntyre thought that 95 per cent. of the work should not be paid for until all the work be completed. Ald. Graham's motion was carried.

A PROSPEROUS COMPANY

British American Assurance Co. Has Had Successful Year.

As is well known among business and financial circles, the British American Assurance Co., is not only one of the oldest but one of the strongest and most prosperous companies carrying Canadian insurance.

The seventy-second annual meeting of the shareholders of this strong concern was held on December 31st ult.

The report of the directors showed that last year the company's business showed a material increase, their already immense assets being materially strengthened; the assets are of a most conservative nature and must reassure all connected with the company, either shareholder or policy owner.

The company declared a most substantial dividend, payable Jan. 5th, amounting to $25,274.88.

One feature in connection with this company that appeals especially to Peterboro's citizens, is that its president, Hon. Geo. A. Cox, and Mr. E. W. Cox one of its leading directors, are Peterboro men, and also that the local representatives, Messrs. Davis, Thompson Co., one of the largest handlers of insurance in this district, write a great amount of work in this city and county for the British America Assurance Co.

THAT HORSE CASE

A Correspondent Thinks the Owner Should be Released From Suspended Sentence.

(To the Editor of The Times).

Dear Sir,—I was present yesterday morning at the police court when a young man, driving a express cart, was charged by Mr. Hughes Charles, manager of the Bank of Commerce, with cruelty to animals. As was shown in the evidence, this case was brought before the magistrate because a poor half starved animal had been used in the customary way, between the shafts of an express cart.

Now Sir, I do not for one moment intend to find fault with Mr. Charles for taking this action. This gentleman is both a humanitarian and a skilled judge of horseflesh, and his action in bringing to justice people who wantonly abuse the poor dumb creatures in their possession is worthy of every commendation.

In the particular case in question however, I think that Mr. Charles' action whilst undoubtedly from the basis of protection of animals, was proven by the evidence brought forward to have been, in this event, astray.

It was clearly proven, by the evidence of the prisoner and his brother, that the cause of his horse's weakness and ill health, was due not to any shortcomings or neglect on the part of the defendant, who had only owned the horse about a week, but rather due to its lack of care and proper feeding by its former owner, who, as is well known to most of those present in the court, has been a heavy drinker for many months. Now the defendant, corroborated by his brother, swore that all his horses, including the one in question, have been receiving as good feed as any horses in the city.

It is well known to anyone posted on horse flesh, that a half starved and weak horse, like a man in a similar condition cannot regain robustness and flesh in one week.

It seems further to me, that the defendant should not be held responsible for the misdeeds of the horse's former owner. I think Sir, in view of all facts, that the "suspended sentence" now hanging over the defendant's head might gracefully be withdrawn.

Yours truly,
HUMANITY.

THEY PLEAD GUILTY

Bigamists Get off Very Easily by Appealing to the Court.

The Belleville Intelligencer says: "David Keller and his bigamous wife, of Desaronto, who were arrested and had a preliminary enquete on the charge of illegally marrying, were this morning brought up before Judge Fralick for election.

"Mr. Amos Deroche, who appeared for the accused stated that they desired to be tried by his honor and would plead guilty and throw themselves upon the mercy of the court. Mrs. Keller appeared in court with an infant in her arms.

When asked if he had anything to say why sentence should not be passed upon him, Keller answered in the negative.

His Honor stated that he knew the circumstances of the case. The woman was married to a man named Morley Thompson, who shortly after left her and for upwards of four years did not put in an appearance, neither did he provide for her maintenance. She and Keller then got married and had for some time lived comfortably together. The case did not, in his opinion, partake of the more serious side of bigamy and he would deal leniently. The woman was given a suspended sentence and Keller was given one month in jail. Mr. Anderson represented the Crown.

THE FAYS IN TROUBLE

John Burnand Objects to Statements Made in Russell Theatre.

That the Fays who played here last week are clever, is undeniable, but that they are not infallible is proven by the fact that Mr. John Burnand, secretary to J. T. Bethune & Co., financial agents, Ottawa, has taken objection to certain statements made about him in the Russell Theatre last night by Mrs. Fay, and has placed the matter in the hands of his solicitor, Mr. A. E. Fripp, says the Ottawa Journal, to take such action as may be deemed best.

It appears that Mr. Burnand was not in the theatre at all, yet Mrs. Fay enlisted out his name as the asker of a question, and incidentally made some comments which by Mr. Burnand were considered objectionable. A question was possibly asked by Mr. Burnand's name by some one in the audience.

Mr. Fripp has demanded from Mr. Fay the name of the informant, and has likewise asked for a public apology for some of the remarks made.

Mr. Fay, it is understood, will try to find the informant, and is willing that an apology be given.

Lord Elgin on the Transvaal.

London, March 1.—In advocating self-government for the Transvaal, Lord Elgin said: "As between responsible government and representative government, I had no hesitation in choosing in favor of responsible government. Seventy years ago a similar question arose, when the principles of responsible government were advocated and put in force by my grandfather and my father. It is an encouragement to me, taking the view which I have ventured to express, that I am following the principles which they thus professed, and which have resulted in a prosperous and loyal Dominion of Canada."

Coming to Montreal.

London, March 1.—Mr. Bruce Walker, the Canadian Government agent at Glasgow, addressed yesterday the Corporation of the City of Edinburgh on the subject of emigration. The Corporation have selected seventy young men of good character and physique, and if the enquiries into their moral character prove satisfactory, the distress committee of the district will pay the passage of the party to Montreal.

Typhoid at Port Arthur.

Winnipeg, March 1.—The municipal authorities of Port Arthur telegraphed here yesterday for nurses to assist in hospital work there, which, owing to the prevalence of typhoid, has overtaxed the present nursing staff. Three young ladies from St. Boniface Hospital left for Port Arthur on the evening train.

NATIVES STARVING IN THE NORTH

Indian Dogs Killing and Devouring Women and Children.

INSANITY ADDS TO HORRORS

Unless Aid Reaches the Native Tribes Hundreds Will Perish Before the End of Zero Weather.

Seattle, Wash., March 1. — "Natives starving to death in Kuskokwim district of Alaska; dying by the score as a result of an epidemic of diphtheria. Malamutes, or native dogs, maddened by starvation, attacking and devouring Indian women and children. Insanity is rife among half a dozen tribes."

Such is the message of death and desolation sent to the outside world, from the snowbound interior of Alaska's desolate wastes today.

Frenzied by pangs of starvation, a herde of malamute dogs, owned by the Indian village at the mouth of the Muskokwim River, attacked and devoured one native woman.

The Indians then tied the dogs to trees in the forests and left them to die of starvation.

Diphtheria is also scourging the native camps, and men, women and children are dying by scores.

Insanity has also added its horrors. Unless aid is soon sent it is predicted that hundreds will either die from disease or be killed by Indians insane from suffering. Zero weather, shortage of food and lack of fuel increase the agony of those who have absolutely no hope until spring, and warm weather allow relief expeditions to enter the country.

NO CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

Will be Accepted by Local Hospitals After This.

The Mother Superior of St. Joseph's Hospital has notified the council that after consultation with Dr. R. Bruce, inspector of hospitals, it has been decided that in future no more contagious disease patients would be accepted at that hospital.

It is understood that, while the council has received an official notice of such intention, the Nicholls Hospital Board has decided upon the same course of action.

It will be remembered that some time ago the hospitals took similar action, but afterwards an arrangement was made by which the Nicholls Hospital would accept scarlet fever patients upon payment of $1 a day for each patient, and the St. Joseph's Hospital would accept diphtheria patients at the same rate.

It appears that the inspector has notified the two hospitals that they must not accept any more contagious cases, and one hospital has advised the council to this effect.

It has been pointed out that the law has given the Board of Health the power to demand of the council enough money to erect an isolation hospital, should they decide that one was necessary.

NO GAME AT PARRY SOUND

Parry Sound, March 1.—It was a very disappointed crowd that left the rink here last night on the announcement that the game between Peterboro and the local team in the intermediate O.H.A. finals was called off on account of the late arrival of the train having on board the Peterboro team. It is expected that the Peterboro team will stay here until tonight, when the game will be played.

PORT HOPE WINS JUNIOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Last night in the Mutual street rink, Toronto, the Port Hope team easily defeated the Woodstock team by a score of 6—1, thereby winning the O.H.A. junior championship. The game was fast and clean, and was witnessed by a large crowd, who had accompanied their respective teams.

Brick Manufacturers Combine.

Pittsburg, March 1.—Steps were taken at a meeting of the independent fire brick manufacturers yesterday toward forming a combination with a capital of $15,000,000.

STRENGTH OF THE UNITED MINE WORKERS OF AMERICA.

The following figures show the strength of the United Mine Workers of America, and also show an estimate of the men who may be expected to strike with the others should an order be given. During the year 1905 the United Mine Workers paid an average per capita tax to the American Federation of Labor on 361,900 members, but as there are always a number of members whose dues are not paid at the end of the month when the per capital tax is estimated, and also a large number on strike who are exempt from dues, this estimate, furnished by a national officer, is probably about correct:

POLICE COURT NEWS

Yesterday the "Take it Easy Club" were out in full force at the Police Court, mainly to hear a case against two young men charged with having trespassed upon the premises of Mrs. Louisa Howell, McDonnell street.

The first witness called was P. C. McGinty, who testified to having found, at Mrs. Howell's house, the two prisoners, Baker and Ross. They were in a drunken sleep in bed with boots and clothes on. He woke them up, when they told him they had come to the place with Mrs. Howell. He then brought them to the station. Mrs. Howell was drunk herself.

The prisoners being asked whether they wished to ask witness any questions, said: "No, what he says is right."

Then young Baker went into the witness box. Said he found Mrs. Howell on Water street. She was pretty near in "the blues," drunk. "How drunk were you?" asked the Magistrate. "Not so very drunk," said Baker. They took her home, as she was drunk and incapable. Mrs. Howell told the men there were lots of beds upstairs and they went up and went to sleep. The other prisoner was too drunk to give evidence. He tried several times to butt in on the evidence Baker was giving. The Magistrate asked him, "How did you get drunk so early in the morning? Had you not better be locked up till you sober up?" "No, Mr. Dumble, I have got a job on the crane and I want to go to work," replied Ross. "Well, you are in fine shape to work!" answered His Worship. A lawyer present, in sotto voce, said, "I guess it's unloading schooners, not working on the crane, he is after."

The Magistrate seemed somewhat disgusted with the whole case and discharged the prisoners.

The next case was that of a local expressman charged with ill-treating a horse and using it when it was lame. Mr. McWilliams appeared for the defendant and Mr. Kerr for the complainant.

Mr. Hughes Charles testified that, on Tuesday morning, he saw a crowd gathered on Hunter street. Ten or twelve men had worked for about half an hour trying to lift up a horse that had fallen. Some were trying to lift it by the ears and some by the tail. He told the young man he should be ashamed of working a horse so weak and half starved. The horse could hardly walk along, it was stiff all over its knees were broken and it was lame all over. He considers it cruelty to work a horse in such condition. He was very sorry to lay the information, but there was too much of this sort of thing going on in the city. The horse was in a state of exhaustion and unfit to work. It could hardly crawl along; he was sure it was half starved.

To Mr. McWilliams, he did not see the horse struck. Does not know anything about the horse, nor how long the young man had owned it. A horse in such condition should be put into a loose box or lot and take no exercise. The horse fell from downright weakness.

The Magistrate said he had seen the horse all summer and it certainly was a fit subject for a decent burial.

Mr. Charles said the horse had a waist so thin that many a girl might envy it.

Mr. Kerr remarked that probably the horse had led too "fast" a life.

Dr. Poole testified to being called to see the horse when it fell; he concluded that the horse was completely played out. It took himself and the bystanders half an hour to get the animal up. The horse, when raised, simply laid back in the blanket. Although employed by the defendant he was here to tell the truth, the horse was exhausted from lack of nourishment.

Mr. Redmond, who works at the Munro House, agreed with all that the previous witness had said.

The defendant then went into the box. His father had been keeping the horse before he got it at the Flynn House. The horse was blind and six years old. Was well fed during the six days he had owned the horse; he had only worked it about eight hours a week. He knew that the horse was weak, and thus he did not work him much.

A brother of the defendant next went into the box, and said he and his brother have the horses. The horse has had good treatment, and well fed.

The Magistrate did not think that actual cruelty, as outlined in the act, was proven, although the horse should not have been driven in such condition. He found defendant guilty, but allowed him to go on suspended sentence, with a warning.

Story of the Chase of St. George Banwell

Prisoner Travelled Over 7,000 Miles and Detective Black Over 5,000---Circulars Were Sent to all the Big Cities of the World.

Toronto, March 1.—When Detective Black arrives with E. St. George Banwell this morning, the detective will have travelled nearly 5,000 miles and the prisoner over 7,000.

That Detective Black's visit to New York near the end of December, was not his first visit is known to but few. Although the bank was robbed on Saturday, Dec. 9, it was not until the Tuesday morning following that the local detective department received an official notice of any information from the bank authorities, and the afternoon of the day before warrant for Banwell's arrest (at first for stealing $1,500), was issued. Almost immediately Detective Black was sent to New York.

But on the morning of the day on which he took the train for that city, Banwell and his wife had left and nothing was known of their whereabouts. Detective Black remained in the American metropolis until Saturday, when no further word being received of the missing teller, and his brother's death ensuing, the Toronto detective returned to this city, and remained here for ten days.

It was intended at first that the Pinkerton men, who gave valuable assistance throughout, and the police of the locality should take charge of the arrest if it could be effected, and for several days both these were in communication with the Toronto authorities. The discovery was made that St. Louis was Banwell's hiding place, but when his capture seemed certain he made his escape and the detectives were thrown off the scent. Memphis, Tennessee, was the next point the two visited, but this also was known too late. From there they went to New Orleans, and the Pinkertons discovered this. At once a telegram was sent to the police authorities there, but no answer came back to Toronto. Another was sent, and a third, and no reply. When this showed that the police of that city could not be depended on to arrest Banwell if he was found, and he while escaped again, it was decided to send Detective Black once more. Through two sources it was earned in Toronto that the fugitives had been to Jacksonville, Florida, and that Cuba or Jamaica was their destination. Hence Detective Black went directly there from New York and on to Jamaica.

ELABORATE PREPARATIONS.

The general preparations for the capture of the defaulting teller were the most elaborate ever made in Toronto. On the first word from the bank the Canadian ocean ports, Montreal, Quebec, Halifax, Vancouver, etc., were telegraphed to, as also those in the United States. A cordon was thus established along the borders.

Then as soon as the postal service could do it, circulars were sent to every city in the United States of over 10,000 inhabitants, and to the cities all over the world of 200,000 or more. Just as soon as word was received of the successful ending of Detective Black's long chase, circulars were again sent out to all these cities with the announcement. A number of replies have been received from various European cities, some of which had probably never heard of Toronto before. One city, Frankfort, Germany, took advantage of the opening made to request a subscription for the official police paper, published in that city.

So well was the secret of the absence of Detective Black preserved, that not only during his first visit, but not until word came from Jamaica, did the majority of the police force themselves know that he was working on this case.

MRS. SARAH BROWN DEAD

The Aged Picton Lady Shot by Frank Nelson Succumbs to Her Injuries.

Picton, Ont., March 1.—The shooting affair here on Saturday afternoon last had a fatal termination yesterday evening, when Mrs. Sarah Brown, the aged victim, succumbed to her injuries.

Frank Nelson, the 17-year-old lad, arrested in connection with the affair will come before the Magistrate on Monday next.

At the time of the shooting Mrs. Brown was out driving with her husband, and Nelson, who was shooting in the woods nearby, seeing the rig passing along the road, remarked, it is alleged to his companions, "Watch how close I can come to brown's horse." Taking quick aim he fired, but the bullet sped wide of its mark, striking Mrs. Brown, passing through her lungs, inflicting the injuries from which she has just died.

SHOT HUSBAND THEN HIMSELF

Murder and Suicide at New York the Result of a Fatal Operation on Wife.

New York, March 1.—Thomas Dettman yesterday shot and killed Thos. Fennen and then killed himself during a quarrel over the death of Fennen's young wife, Dettman's sister, whose body at the time of the shooting lay awaiting burial in an adjoining room in the same house. The tragedy occurred in Fennen's room at 156 west 9th street, Brooklyn, a short time before the hour set for Mrs. Fennen's funeral. Dettman had come to attend the ceremony, and quarrelled with his brother-in-law over a surgical operation which had resulted in Mrs. Fennen's death. Relatives of the dead woman refused to state the nature of the operation.

Fennen had been married less than a year, and was 28 years old. Dettman was 45, and up to about three months ago had made his home with the young couple. Following a dispute between the two men at that time Dettman left the house and had kept away from the Fennen home until yesterday.

Mrs. Louise Loewer, Mrs. Fennen's sister, was in the house when the shooting occurred. The two men were at breakfast, when she saw Fennen spring from his chair and run toward the door in the dining room. Before he could pass out, Mrs. Loewer said, he was shot three times by Dettman, who then pointed the revolver at his own head, ending his life with one shot.

HIS WIFE ELOPED.

Ottawa, March 1.—Barnhard Petersen, an engineer at the Davis planing mills, was found dead this morning, and a half-emptied bottle of carbolic acid told the tale of suicide. He left a note to his brother. He was despondent over his wife's recent elopement with a bartender. Petersen's father ended his life about a year ago by the same method.

THE G. T. P. TERMINUS

How Kaien Island Was Secured By Third Parties at a Profit of $30,000.

Victoria, B.C., March 1.—After two weeks of probing Mr. J. A. Macdonald, the leader of the Opposition, who is conducting an investigation into the circumstances attending the transfer of Kaien Island to Messrs. Godwell, Larsen and Anderson, the first named acting on behalf of the Grand Trunk Pacific, extracted from Mr. Anderson an admission that he and Larsen, who were partners, had an agreement with the Grand Trunk Pacific whereby they were to receive $40,000 for Kaien Island, provided the Grand Trunk Pacific went there for its terminus. Messrs. Anderson and Larsen obtained it from the Government for $10,000, or a dollar an acre. Chief Commissioner Green and all the Ministers on the stand contended that this was a good price, as that more could not have been obtained. Mr. Anderson said that he made arrangements in Montreal, Mr. Morse staging for the Grand Trunk Pacific, and he signing for himself, and Larsen, whose proxy he held. Later he took a copy of the agreement to Spokane, where he submitted it to Larsen, but the latter changed his mind and decided to ask nothing but his expenses from the Grand Trunk Pacific, as he was looking for a big contract for construction. Mr. Morse wired the committee which is investigating the matter, and said he was unable to come to Victoria to give evidence in absence of Mr. Hays and the sickness of Mr. Wainwright.

KING EDWARD'S HEALTH.

Vienna, March 1.—Dr. Ott, King Edward's Marienbad physician, had taken the occasion of his return from his visit to England to publicly deny the rumors of his Majesty's ill-health. These, Dr. Ott declares, are malicious inventions, possibly traceable to political motives. He says King Edward was never in better health than at present.

EXCITING RACE

Alleged Chicken Thief Chased Nine Miles by Auto Car and Caught Just in Time.

St. Catharines, March 1.—Chief of Police Parnell of this city and High Constable Boyle raced with Garnet Dawson to the bridge over the Niagara River at Queenston yesterday afternoon. Dawson was charged with stealing chickens, and, learning that a warrant had been issued for his arrest, he hired a livery and started for Queenston, nine miles from here. Joseph Maloney driving him. His object was to get out of the country. Chief Parnell got a powerful touring car from the local automobile works, and, with Frank Hebert in charge, he and the High constable set out after Dawson. Hebert put on full power, and Dawson was sighted at St. David's, which is about a mile from Queenston. Dawson saw the auto, and evidently recognized the men in it, for he whipped the whip and lashed the horse with it, and there was about as pretty a race as one could wish to see for a mile or so. The auto kept kept gaining gradually, and within sight of the bridge caught the buggy. Dawson jumped out and made a dash on foot for the bridge, but he was no match for Chief Parnell, who put after him on foot also. He was captured just before he reached the bridge which would have carried him to safety. Maloney was also arrested, and will be charged with aiding one who is accused of a crime to escape.

When Run-down "Draggy," Used-up

You Lack the Vigor, Cou age and Staying Power that "Ferrozone" Can Supply

Night comes and it's hard to sleep. Morning dawns and the anxious, tired feeling is still there. Don't neglect this gradual decline; it can't cure itself. But by forming rich pure blood, Ferrozone will quickly supply the nutriment and building material your system craves.

Instantly you are aware that some powerful force is building up your depleted energies. Dt once you feel braced, toned, strengthened. Search the world over and you won't find anything to tone up a weak system like Ferrozone. Physicians claim it is the most strengthening, uplifting medicine ever discovered.

No more spells of tiredness, but bounding, joyful health when you take Ferrozone, of which Mrs. H. S. Gold, of Bowerman, Man., speaks in the following words of praise:

"I state my case because I think it may assist other women to health. A year ago I was almost a wreck. I was pale and emaciated, suffering from nervousness, and hysteria. Little things going wrong in the house bothered me. The doctor advised different treatments but they didn't help. He said my low condition was due to weakness that might never be cured. Ferrozone had a peculiar grateful effect and built me up quickly. The ills I suffered from are cured. I am now strong and vigorous and was made so by Ferrozone."

Why not cast aside the claims of sickness and enter the bright, happy life of robust health. Let Ferrozone help you—let it cure you once and forever. Price 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

A WORLD LANGUAGE.

Another attempt is being made to introduce a "universal language." The idea is old and more than one serious effort has been made to carry it into effect.

The purpose is to provide a language of few and simple principles for use in international affairs. Nearly all modern languages have peculiarities which make them difficult to master, adding to the expense and difficulties of foreign commerce. Every designer of a "universal language" has aimed to have it so simple and rational that it would not be difficult to acquire and remember.

A long and persistent effort has been made to introduce Volupuk for this purpose. But it has not been successful. Now come the advocates of "Esperanto," which, they claim, is a better universal language than Volupuk. It is composed of basic words from Latin, German and English, with uniform prefixes and suffixes not difficult to master.

There is little likelihood that this or any other artificial language will be adopted for universal use. The mere fact that foreign languages, as they now exist, are hard to learn has a discouraging effect. Busy men are not inclined to take up such a task. To bring a universal business and diplomatic language into use, it must be taught to young men in their student days. Such teaching would necessarily need to embrace, in the course of time, the youth destined for foreign commerce in enough of the great selling and buying nations to compel its adoption by the others. That would require a degree of co-operation almost impossible to attain.

But all great things have their beginnings. If the advocates of a "universal language" persevere and raise up disciples to follow them, the day may come when something of the kind will be accepted.

FRENCH AND GERMAN NAVIES

In view of the tense situation that exists between France and Germany, and will continue to exist until the final adjustment of the Moroccan question, there has been a good deal of national stock-taking on both sides of the Rhine. While the French have reassured themselves on the relative strength of their military forces, there is a decided tone of pessimism as regards their navy. In point of the number of war vessels available, France stands forth easily as the superior power. But when the fighting capabilities of the two fleets come to be analyzed, the case begins to wear a somewhat different aspect.

Both nations have twenty-one battleships, but fourteen of the French battleships were built prior to 1892, while no fewer than sixteen of the German craft are of later construction. Thus, although France enjoys a slight advantage on the score of tonnage displacement, this is more than counterbalanced by the superior speed, armament, and homogeneity of Germany's more modern vessels.

Coming to armored cruisers, we find France in a decided position of superiority — nineteen ships as against seven. But the results of the recent war between Russia and Japan go to discount the fighting value of this style of craft: when ranged against the big battleships, the less heavily armed and armored boats are liable to be knocked out of action by their formidable antagonists. Moreover, on the score of swiftness and gun-power the German cruisers, ship for ship, excel the French cruisers. They are also a much more homogeneous fleet, which counts for much in actual combat, where combined maneuvering is essential.

In the category of destroyers, torpedo boats, and submarines, France has a vast preponderance. But once again the test of actual war showed no very startling results from these classes of ships, and in any case their range of usefulness is almost entirely restricted to home waters.

So altogether the French naval stock-taking has not been too reassuring, and cold study of the facts has more and more driven the press of the country to emphasize the vital importance of maintaining the cordial understanding with Great Britain. The Moroccan question will soon now enter upon its acute phase, and a significant note is sounded by the announcement that a fleet of sixty British war vessels will assemble off the coast of Spain—"for maneuvering purposes," as the language of diplomacy phrases it.

Arrested for Aiding Prisoners to Break Jail.

New York, Feb. 28.—Mrs. May Coyle Howard, 18 years old, who is accused of aiding in the recent escape of three prisoners from the Suffolk county jail, in Boston, was arrested here today. The girl went to the jail in Boston and married Charles Howard while he was a prisoner there, leaving him a wedding cake as she departed after the ceremony. That night Howard and two others sawed their way through the bars of their cells and escaped. The police charge that the saws with which the work was done were concealed in the wedding cake. Two of the men were recaptured. Howard being taken after he had come to New York. The third man is still at liberty. For several days the police have been watching a house in Hamilton street, where it was believed Mrs. Howard lived, and today about daybreak they saw her entering the house. She will be held awaiting extradition.

Can't Drink Pure Water.

Arabs in the desert have contracted a strange prejudice against running water, and they will only drink what they find in some stagnant pool. So much has this become matter of habit with them that, while the most poisonous looking water agrees with them admirably, pure running water will make them violently sick.

A Brown Study.

"To be in a brown study" is a corruption of brow study, a study requiring much thought and contraction of the brows.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, marked on the envelope "Tenders for Construction," will be received at the office of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway at Ottawa, until twelve o'clock noon on Monday the 12th day of March, 1906, for the work required for the construction, in accordance with the plans, profiles and specifications of said Commissioners, for the following sections of the Transcontinental Railway, the said work to be completed on or before the first day of September, 1907, viz.:—

(1) District "F." From a point designated on the plans of the said Commissioners at or near the City of Winnipeg, to a point known as Peninsula Crossing, near the junction point of the Fort William branch of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, a distance of about 245 miles.

(2) District "B." From a point designated on the plans of the said Commissioners, at the north end of the Quebec Bridge and Railway Company's bridge in the vicinity of the City of Quebec, to a point near La Tuque, a distance of about 150 miles.

(3) A steel viaduct about 3,600 feet long across the Cap Rouge Valley, in said District "B," in the vicinity of the City of Quebec, the work to be performed in accordance with the General Specifications of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway, and the General Specifications for steel bridges and viaducts of the Department of Railways and Canals of Canada, 1905.

Plans, profiles and specifications may be seen in the office of the Chief Engineer of the Commissioners at Ottawa, also in the office of the District Engineer at Kenora, Ontario, for the section of District "F," and for the section of District "B" in the office of the District Engineer at Quebec.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made in duplicate, and on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners.

Separate tenders must be submitted for the work in each District.

Tenderers shall not be in any way entitled to rely upon the classification or any other information given by any person on behalf of the Commissioners, and before submitting any tender, bidders should make a careful examination of the plans, profiles, drawings and specifications, and read the forms to be executed, and fully inform themselves as to the quantity and quality of materials and character of workmanship required; and are understood to accept and agree to be bound by the terms and conditions contained in the forms of contract, specifications, &c., annexed to the form of tender.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank of the Dominion of Canada, payable to the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway for the sum of four hundred thousand dollars ($400,000), for District "F," and two hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars ($225,000), for District "B," and thirty-five thousand dollars ($35,000) for steel viaduct in said District "B." Any person whose tender is accepted shall within ten days after the acceptance thereof furnish the security required by the Commissioners for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms, sign the contract, specifications and other documents required to be signed by said Commissioners; and in any case of refusal or failure on the part of the party whose tender is accepted to complete and execute a contract with the said Commissioners and to furnish the approved security within ten days after the acceptance of the tender, the said cheque shall be forfeited to the Commissioners as liquidated damages for such refusal or failure, and all contract rights acquired by the acceptance of the tender shall be forfeited. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

Attention is called to the following clauses in the form of contract:—

"All mechanics, labourers or other persons who perform labour for the purposes of the construction of the works hereby contracted for shall be paid such wages as are generally accepted as current for competent workmen in the District in which the work is being performed, and, if there is no current rate in such District, then a fair and reasonable rate; and, in the event of a dispute arising as to what is the current or a fair and reasonable rate, it shall be determined by the Commissioners, whose decision shall be final."

"This agreement is subject to the regulations now in force, or which may at any time hereafter be in force during the construction of the works hereby contracted for, made under the authority of the Department of Labour, and which are or shall be applicable to such works."

"The contractor shall in connection with the whole of the said work, as far as practicable use only material, machinery, plant, supplies and rolling stock manufactured or produced in Canada, provided the same can be obtained on cheaply and upon as good terms in Canada as elsewhere, having regard to quality and price."

The contractor shall conform to the Fire Regulations adopted by the Commissioners, and also to the Laws and Regulations respecting fires in the different Provinces wherein the work is being performed.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

By order,
P. B. RYAN,
Secretary.

Gold-Silver Company
CAPITAL STOCK, $15,000,000
W. C. GREENE, President. B. J. GATES, Treasurer.
I am authorized by the Company to offer, subject to prior sale, 100,000 shares of the treasury stock of this Company at par.
TEN DOLLARS PER SHARE
Eighteen months ago a limited issue of the stock of the Greene Consolidated Copper Company was placed upon the market at $10 per share. It is now selling at $24.00 per share and in the meantime has paid 20 per cent. in dividends.
Col. W. C. Greene, who is President of both Companies, expects the stock of the Greene-Gold-Silver Company to exceed even this flattering record made by the Greene Consolidated Copper Company.
Full information, maps, prospectus, reports, etc., will be furnished upon application. Make all checks for subscriptions payable to the order of Calumet-Tellurid Golde Mining Co.

OF CALUMET, MICHIGAN,
offers a limited amount of its Treasury Stock at ONE DOLLAR per share, full paid and non-assessable. Properties consisting of four groups of lode claims and equal to claim area of 27 full lode claims, or about 270 acres, with two valuable water rights and a water reservoir—a lake of about 20 acres surface area.
Development is equal to 1700 lineal feet, at a cost of $15 per lineal foot—tunnels, drifts, cross-cuts, winzes and surface cuts and trenches, and one ten gravity stamp concentrating mill. Three groups, water rights, mill and tunnel sites, etc., are fully paid; one group, held on title bond, is partly paid for. Good Grade of Profitable Milling are blocked out, in sight, to last for a sixty ton mill for over two years time. Safe and conservative estimate for mining the ore, delivering and milling it, at a cost of about $4.50 per ton. Three separate mill runs, for testing purposes, have returned from $4.40 to $14.20 per ton of rock, principally in gold.
This is a Bonanza for Intelligent Investors
In order to make operations absolutely up-to-date, perfect, both the mining and the reduction of ores, the Board of Directors have placed a limited amount of Treasury Stock at par value $1.00 per share on the market. Six reports of nine well known mining men. Properties situated in San Juan Gold Belt, San Miguel County, Southwestern Colorado.
ECONOMY, HONESTY and CONSERVATISM
Capitalization 500,000, par value $1.00, and non-assessable. Two years development, properties paid—as above stated, and we have in our treasury remaining 325,000 shares. Show us something better.

VARICOCELE & STRICTURE

No other disease is so prevalent among men as Varicocele. As it interferes with the nutrition of the sexual organs it produces weakness, loss of manhood through the wilful decay of the organs, pains in the loins, aching in the back, nervousness, despondency, bashfulness, palpitation of the heart, constipation, and a combination of these results in complete LOSS OF MANHOOD. Thousands of young and middle-aged men are troubled with STRICTURE. If you have reason to believe you are afflicted with it, don't neglect it. It will ruin you. Don't let doctors experiment on you by cutting, stretching or tearing it. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT dissolves the stricture tissue, hence it disappears and can never return. We cure Varicocele and Stricture without operation or loss of time. The treatment may be taken at home privately. Send for our Free Illustrated Book on VARICOCELE and STRICTURE. WE GUARANTEE TO CURE OR NO PAY.

Kidneys & Bladder

All sexual complaints affect these organs, hence the kidneys are a great source of disease. Have you aching or weakness over the small of the back, tendency to urinate frequently, deposit in urine, coldness of hands or feet, a drowsy feeling in the morning. Don't neglect your kidneys. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT is guaranteed to cure any disease of these organs or no pay.

No Names Used Without Written Consent.

Before Treatment.

C. W. Rowe, of Jackson, Mich., says: "I had varicocele in the secondary stage and two strictures of 8 years' standing. I was operated on twice, undergoing great suffering, but only got temporary relief. I was finally advised to try the NEW METHOD TREATMENT of Drs. K. & K. The enlarged veins disappeared in six weeks, the stricture tissue was removed in eight weeks and my sexual energy and vitality returned so I was a man in every respect. I recommend you doctors with my whole heart."

After Treatment.

CURES GUARANTEED. NO CURE NO PAY.

We treat and cure Nervous Debility, Lost Manhood, Varicocele, Stricture, Blood Diseases, Kidney and Urinary Complaints. Consultation Free. Books Free. Write for Question List for Home Treatment.

HUMOR

SHE COULDN'T TELL.

They Asked Her, but She Only Blushed and Shook Her Head.

They were talking about proposals, as will sometimes happen when three girls get together; not the proposals they had had, of course—that would be too shockingly indelicate—but the proposals other people had had—that is, proposals in general.

"A proposal, anyway, is no such definite event as people seem to think," said the tall girl, speaking with the conviction of one who knows.

"Well, I don't think there ought to be anything indefinite about it," said the red haired girl severely.

"What Mary means," put in the short girl, "is that a man doesn't pop in on you suddenly and say, 'Will you marry me?' in so many words."

"Certainly he does not," said Mary. "A proposal is generally an indefinite thing running through weeks and even months. The man puts out silent, subtle feelers all this time. He isn't going to plunge blindly into a humiliating rejection. If he has an ounce of discernment he can tell pretty well how the land lies, and once he knows that he doesn't need a 'Lover's Guidebook' to teach him what to say."

"What does he say," asked the red haired girl meaningly.

"Wait," calmly advised the tall girl. "You'll know in good time."

"I always thought," mused the littlest girl, leaning her chin on her hand, "that it would be interesting to know how a woman answers. You seldom hear that side of the question discussed."

"Hear! Hear!" cried the red haired girl. "Dolly's seeking pointers."

"No, I'm not," answered Dolly composedly. "What I say will depend on what I think of him, and I shan't need anybody to teach me that."

"Well, my dears," remarked the tall girl, with a furtive glance at the sparkling diamond on her third finger, "sometimes she says something and then again she may say nothing at all. I have an idea it all depends on the circumstances. But of one thing you may be sure, she does not say this." The tall girl arose and took a little old copy of "Jane Eyre" from her book shelf. Finding the place, she read aloud:

"'Mr. Rochester, if ever I did a good deed in my life—if ever I thought a good thought—if ever I prayed a sincere and blameless prayer—if ever I wished a righteous wish—I am rewarded now. To be your wife is for me to be as happy as I can be on earth.' That's the way a classic heroine accepted her proposal, girls. But I don't think"—and the tall girl smilingly laid the book aside—"that it's the modern way."

"What is the modern way, Mary?" slyly besought both girls. "Tell us what you said."

But Mary blushed and shook her head.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

But He Didn't Ask.

Willie was paying a visit, and he found the intervals between meals longer than usual.

"I ain't going to ask for any cake," he remarked at last blindly.

"That's very nice of you, Willie," said his hostess.

"Because," he went on loudly, ignoring her remark, "in houses where ladies is polite to little boys I don't have to."

Willie got his cake.—Woman's Home Companion.

String to His Generosity.

Edwin and Lisa are two little cousins of three who are almost inseparable and divide most of their goodies. One day Edwin had a whole cracker, unbuttered, and half a one which was buttered. He gave the former to Lisa, and his mother commended him for giving away the larger piece.

Little Lisa looked up acutely. "Yes," said she, "he gave me the biggest, but he kept the butteriest." — New York Press.

The Real Triumph.

"I suppose you feel better since you have delivered your speech," said the encouraging friend.

"It isn't so much to deliver a speech," replied the immature but sagacious statesman. "The real triumph consists in getting it listened to."—Brooklyn Life.

No Lighthouse Job.

"Have you ever done light house work?"

"Not me! I wouldn't go near the water.—New York World.

Bobby Sneered.

"What, Bobby, in trousers!" exclaimed the visitor. "How long have you been wearing them?"

"Not very long," replied Bobby. "Only down to my knees."—San Francisco Call.

BIG IRRIGATION PLANS

C. P. R. Expects to Irrigate 400,000 Acres This Year.

Montreal, February 27.—With the large force of men now at work in the Calgary and Lethbridge districts, and the scale of the equipment provided, the Canadian Pacific Railway expects to irrigate 400,000 acres of land this season. Already canals have been completed which are capable of furnishing water for irrigating 110,000 acres.

The Canadian Pacific Railway scheme for irrigation is on a scale almost unprecedented in America, for the block which it proposes to irrigate comprises 3,000,000 acres, and is the largest unoccupied block of good land in the West. Individual owners and ranch companies are beginning to imitate the railway company, and the result has been the reclamation of much country and the establishment of some important beet sugar factories.

The Calgary Irrigation Company has thirty-five miles of main ditch, and the Alberta Railway and Irrigation Company, with headquarters at Lethbridge, have 190 miles of ditch.

The Canadian Pacific Railway sells its irrigated land for $15 an acre and upwards.

Quick Diagnosis Found.

New York, February 25.—Research by the Department of Health has resulted in the discovery of a method by which the diagnosis for hydrophobia which has hitherto taken from three to four days, may be made in twenty minutes. Results will be obtained from these investigations which will prove of incalculable benefit, and will, it is believed, bring to light an entirely new theory as to the origin of the disease itself.

By this new method not only are pathologists enabled to tell with certainty whether or not the dog which has bitten a patient was rabid, but sufferers will be relieved from days of suspense. Its principle is based on the rapid detection of what appear to be minute organisms in the brain of rabid animals, known as Negri bodies.

To the Canadian Investor

DORES-MONTGOMERY MINING COMPANY

OF BULLFROG, NEVADA

The undersigned is pleased to announce to the investors of Canada that he has been appointed Canadian Fiscal Agent of the above company, and is offering a limited amount of treasury stock at 8c. per share for development work. This property is just 1200 feet southwest of the famous Montgomery Shoshone mine and both have unquestionably the same vein. The group shows a well defined vein cropping out through, and it is a perfect fissure. A six inch talc seam on the hanging wall gives high values. We have also several other ledges, and it is only a matter of development work to make this property equal to any producer in the section.

The management of the Montgomery Shoshone conservatively estimates that the mine has produced $300,000 worth of ore. If this is right, the ore from the mine has averaged about $375 a ton, or about $120 for every foot of sinking, the mine being 4 x 7 in clear.

Ore from the mine running less than $150 is thrown over the dump as milling ore. No less than 150 tons of ore has been shipped from this mine, all of it coming from the mine. Another shipment of 50 tons or more will be made via Las Vegas in a few days.

The figures given above are startling in the extreme, but the measurements and ore values as quoted are official—direct from the management of the wonderful mine that is today astonishing the world.

This property is only 1200 feet from the Dores Montgomery Mine.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $25 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15 or 1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

Placer mineral claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

Diseases of Women

OFTEN DUE TO

Deranged Kidneys

When the Kidneys Are Weak It is Impossible for Any Women to be Happy or Healthy.

If the girls and women who are silently suffering with what they suppose is "female trouble," would look to their kidneys they would soon find the source of their ill-health.

The kidneys are very closely allied with the female organs and if the vitality of the kidneys is in any way impaired, great suffering is sure to occur.

No better medicine is known for the kidneys than Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Buttermilk; they stimulate and strengthen the kidneys and thereby assist the other organs to do nature's work. Instant benefit and certain cure are guaranteed in every case.

Sufferer, don't wait, begin treatment with Dr. Hamilton's Pills at once; they will cure you as they did Mrs. A. B. Coburn, a well-known resident of the town of Portland. Read her experience;

"For two years past I have been sickly and weak. My color was dull and sallow, and I felt exhausted and weary, as if all my strength were being eaten up with some hidden trouble. I heard of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and decided to use them. The change in a few days was surprising. They regulated my kidneys and bowels and cured all my suffering; to-day I am perfectly well."

Every woman can take Dr. Hamilton's Pills with safety and benefit. Their occasional use keeps the system in healthy, well regulated order. No medicine more gentle or more prompt in results. Now is the time to get Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c. per box or five boxes for $1, at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A. and Kingston, Ont.

TO VISIT BRANTFORD

Our Gallant 57th Regt. May Go to the Telephone City.

There is good reason for supposing that our local crack corps, the 57th Regiment, will visit Brantford on their annual trip during the coming summer. A meeting of the military men of Brantford, was held Tuesday night when one of the things to be considered was the extending of an invitation to the Peterboro regiment to visit the Telephone city. A Brantford paper commenting on the proposition says that the Peterboro Rangers, is a crack regiment and would prove an excellent drawing card if that city. It is likely that a big military tournament will be held in Hamilton on July 1.

LENT HAS BEGUN

Yesterday, Ash Wednesday, the first day of Lent, was celebrated by services in St. Peter's Cathedral at 8 a.m., and 10 a.m., when the ceremonies in connection with the blessing and distribution of the ashes took place. There was a large number present at both services.

Services will be held Wednesday and Friday evenings during Lent. On Wednesday evening there will be the celebration of the Rosary, short instruction and benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

On Friday evening there will be the stations of the cross and the benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

PROF. MILNER'S RECITAL

Splendid Program Rendered in George Street Methodist Church.

Professor Charles Milner, associate of the Royal College of Organists, London, scored a decided triumph and earned enthusiastic applause by the admirable and finished manner in which he contributed several different selections in George street on Tuesday evening. A very large and well pleased audience was present.

Prof. Milner was assisted in the program by Mrs. Duncan MacGregor, Miss Gertrude Kennedy and Miss Clara Hedley-bem, and the choir, all of whom in the honors of the evening, of whom shared in the honors of the evening. The program proved to be an exceedingly enjoyable one.

Prof. Milner in his interpretation of the different numbers, proved that he is a past master of the organ.

Prof. Milner was heard in fifteen numbers and in every case he elicited much applause from the large assembly.

Local experts in music stated openly that Mr. Milner is one of the most accomplished organists Peterboro has ever heard, and the George street church is to be congratulated on securing his services.

SIGN OF THE CROSS

A Crowded House Greets This Historic Play.

Last night the Grand Opera house was filled to its utmost capacity by a very representative gathering, largely, composed of Peterboro's elite.

The play, most admirably staged and written by the pen of a man well versed in ancient Roman history, was presented by a well chosen cast.

Mr. Frank Smith as Marcus Superbus, prefect of Rome, took the part of the domineering, haughty potentate of the old Roman Empire, as though one of those who used to cheer the successful returning legions of that once imperial city. Miss May Radcliffe as Poppaea, empress of Rome, was also seemingly in her true element as the aristocratic dame who ruled the then known world. The whole cast was strong, and all sustained their parts most admirably.

Boswell Passes Thro' Peterboro.

E. St George Boswell, the defaulting bank teller of Toronto, and his wife, whose flittings have been eagerly noted by the press of Canada, during several months past, were on board the early C.P.R. train that passed through Peterboro this morning. This newly married couple were arrested in Kingston, Ontario, and were in charge of Inspector Stark and Detective Black of Toronto. The young couple are looking well and did not seem to fully realize their position.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

—Mr. E. A. Holmes, Livingston, Ky., was a guest of the Oriental yesterday.

ATTEMPTED ROBBERY

An Abortive Attempt to Rob the Grand Opera House.

Yesterday morning when the caretaker of the Grand Opera House, opened up the building he found the door of the box office open, the desk in the office open, and other traces that someone had been there, intent on robbery.

Investigation showed that one of the fire escapes was open, and that the would-be burglar had entered by this means, came down the stairs and out through the cloak rooms, the door of which was open.

As all the money had been placed in safe keeping, the would-be thief failed to secure anything of value.

Only one solitary nickle was in the till and this the midnight marauder kindly left for the management.

A U.S. Senator in Town.

Senator J. M. Kennedy, of Butte City, Montana, accompanied by Mrs. Kennedy, is the guest of the latter's brother, Mr. Dan Sullivan, corner of George and Edinburgh streets. Senator Kennedy is a Canadian boy and was formerly a member of the 4th estate in this country. Senator Kennedy is closely connected in business life with F. Augustus Heinze. Mr. Heinze recently sold certain mining property which was in litigation for $25,000,000. Mrs. Kennedy is a former Peterboro girl, her maiden name being Jewell Sullivan, and she is a sister of Mr. Dan Sullivan, of Peterboro, and of Mrs. Wm. Leahy, of Lakefield.

Good Program at Birthday Party

A very pleasing event was the birthday celebration at the home of Mrs. Robert Wright, Albert street, of the Dorcas Society of the Park St., Baptist church. A very large number of friends were present. About 10 o'clock the pastor, breaking in upon the social chat among those present, produced a program and introduced the regular proceedings of the evening, by calling upon Wilton Tranter for a solo. This was followed by phonograph selections by Mr. Jewett, Miss L. Smith contributed a pleasing recitation. Mr. and Mrs. John Rowe followed with a duet. The pastor gave a short address, congratulating the Dorcas Society on their past record and heartily commended the object now in hand—furnishing the new church.

They Stand Alone.

Standing out in bold relief, all alone, and as a conspicuous example of open, frank and honest dealing with the sick and afflicted, are Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak, over-worked, debilitated, nervous, "run-down," pain-racked women, and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the famous remedy for weak stomach, indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver, or biliousness, all catarrhal affections whether of the stomach, bowels, kidneys, bladder, nasal passages, throat, bronchia, or other mucous passages, also as an effective remedy for all diseases arising from thin, watery or impure blood, as scrofulous and skin affections.

Each bottle of the above medicines bears upon its wrapper a badge of honesty in the full list of ingredients composing it—printed in plain English. This frank and open publicity places these medicines in a class all by themselves, and is the best guaranty of their merits. They cannot be classed as patent nor secret medicines for they are neither—being of known composition.

Dr. Pierce feels that he can afford to take the afflicted into his full confidence and lay all the ingredients of his medicines freely before them because these ingredients are such as are endorsed and most strongly praised by scores of the most eminent medical writers as cures for the diseases for which these medicines are recommended. Therefore, the afflicted do not have to rely alone upon Dr. Pierce's recommendation as to the curative value of his medicines for certain easily recognized diseases.

A glance at the printed formula on each bottle will show that no alcohol and no harmful or habit-forming drugs enter into Dr. Pierce's medicines, they being wholly compounded of glyceric extracts of the roots of native, American forest plants. These are best and safest for the cure of most lingering, chronic diseases. Dr. R. V. Pierce can be consulted free, by addressing him at Buffalo, N. Y., and all communications are regarded as sacredly confidential.

It is as easy to be well as ill—and much more comfortable. Constipation is the cause of many forms of illness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, two a mild cathartic. All dealers in medicines sell them.

Mrs. Gobeon and Mr. Jas. Tranter each sang a solo in good form, after which refreshments were served, and "The Glory Song," was well rendered.

Ash Wednesday Celebrated.

Yesterday being Ash Wednesday special services were held in the Anglican churches of the city. Holy Communion was celebrated in the different Anglican churches during the morning. Evening prayer was well attended, and special Lenten addresses given in all the Anglican churches last night.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of small and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they do is ten fold to all the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

DOURO MAN GONE

Mr. John E. Conroy a Well Known Lumberman Passes Away.

Mr. John E. Conroy, one of the best known, and most generally respected residents of the township of Douro, passed away yesterday morning, at his home in the ninth concession, about five miles out of the city. Mr. Conroy had only been ill a short time, and was fifty-one years of age. About six weeks ago he went north with a lumbering party out contracted a severe cold, and was compelled to return home. He never recovered but gradually sank, until death came yesterday.

Mr. Conroy is survived by a wife and six children. His mother, Mrs. Ed. Conroy, of fifth ward, also survives him; also four brothers, Messrs. David, Michael and Patrick of Peterboro, and Edward of Muskoka, and three sisters, Mrs. Robert Horan and Mrs. Dennis Mallon of Minnesota, and Mrs. C Quinlan of fifth ward, Peterboro.

The funeral will take place at 8.30 o'clock on Friday morning from his late residence to St. Peter's cathedral and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery.

ONE OF THE RICHEST PROSPECTS EVER DISCOVERED.

The Iron Spar Mining Co.

The Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., owning valuable property on the divide between the States of Idaho and Montana, a copper proposition of exceptional promise, a property that even a novice, by personal inspection, ought to discern merits in, so apparent are the indications which guide the prospector in the work of making great mineral discoveries. An immense copper bearing ledge traverses the ground from east to west and is so well defined and conspicuous in its surface outcrop that anyone however unfamiliar with outward appearances of mineralization, once shown the ledge, may follow it uninterruptedly for several thousand feet. The fact is that copper ores appear in the vein gangue even to the grass roots.

The vein is large, 15 to 20 feet wide, and horizontally continuous across the whole extent of the claims, a distance of 6,000 feet. Being a true fissure and cutting the country formation at a considerable angle, it is entirely consistent with geological laws to suppose that it has also great vertical dimension.

Everybody who has made any study of the profits derived from successful copper mining operations can not have failed to observe the splendid and continuous dividends paid to investors. Copper mining has been so dependable a source of revenue throughout the world that today many investors prefer it to the more fickle high grade gold propositions. Look at the enormous and steady profits paid investors in all the great copper fields of the world, as viz: The Lake Superior mines in Michigan, Butte mines in Montana, Bisbee and Tombstone in Arizona, the mines of Utah, the great Tintic mines in Spain, and the Mexican mines. The demand for copper increases with the advance of civilization and the immense demand created by the growing popularization of electrical power justifies the belief that the supply will hardly keep pace with the demand for years to come. Copper mining is safe and profitable, once you have found a good property. That is just what we are trying to introduce to you, and you have this in the Iron Spar.

The sum of 400,000 shares of the fully paid capital stock was set aside as a treasury fund to be devoted to the improvement, development and equipment of the property. Nearly the entire block remains in the treasury at the present date, only so much having been drawn out as was necessary to defray the expenses of operation since the formation of the Company. The miners have all taken stock as pay instead of cash.

The undersigned has a limited number of Shares for sale at TEN CENTS per share. All interested should call or write at once.

United States Steel Balks Coal Strike

Big Corporation Tells the Bituminous Operators That It Must and Will Have Fuel--Operators Obey Mandate.

Pittsburg, March 2.—"The United States Steel Corporation will not stand for any strike at present in the bituminous coal regions, at least not in that portion from which we draw our coal. We have a twenty-five year contract with the Pittsburg Coal Company, which must be taken care of or given up. Give these miners their advance and keep them working for the United States Steel Corporation will grant the advance themselves where it will do good. We have a year's solid work ahead and cannot afford to have our mills shut down even for a day for lack of coal."

In so many words spoken to President Frank Robbins, of the Pittsburg Coal Company, W. Ellis Corey, president of the United States Steel Corporation, has killed all prospects of a strike among the miners of the Pittsburg district.

SUING FOR PEACE.

At the same time George J. Gould, representing interests in the west and southwest, has declared himself to the leading bituminous operators there, and as a result it was positively announced in Pittsburg last night that there will be no strike of the bituminous miners. They will get an advance. How great that advance will be is yet to be determined.

The bituminous operators now find themselves in the position of those suing for peace. Until the arrival of suing for peace. Until the arrival from New York of President Robbins the operators had been on the defensive, but as soon as Robbins reached Pittsburg he got into long distance telephone communication with Chairman Winder of the Ohio operators, Chairman Coulson of the Indiana operators, and Chairman Smith of the Illinois operators.

To each he repeated what had been told him in New York. There must be no strike. And to Robbins Western chairmen told what had been said to them by the Gould and other powerful interests. The result was that a meeting was called for Pittsburg. Each operator will bring with him the scale committee of his district, and the operators will agree on what they will offer the miners.

INSIST ON FULL ADVANCE.

While the telegram to President Roosevelt by President Robbins would indicate that the meeting had been called at the President's suggestion, the fact remains that it was the ultimatums of President Corey and George J. Gould that forced the call.

It is admitted by one very close to the Pittsburg Coal Company that if the miners now insist they may get the 12 1-2 per cent. advance, but the operators hope to settle with them at a lower rate. At any rate, the order "no strike" will be obeyed.

The miners, it is now believed, will insist on the full advance, but a long contract at a lower rate than the 12 1-2 per cent. advance asked will be offered. It will be in excess also of the 5.50 per cent. advance which has been talked of.

OUT OF DEBT

Charlotte Street Church in Good Financial Standing.

The financial statement and reports, which were presented last night at the annual meeting of Charlotte street Methodist church, held last night, and at which Rev. W. J. Jolliffe, in the esteemed and energetic pastor, were highly satisfactory and showed that excellent progress has been made in all departments.

The church which has not one dollar of liabilities, owns property, valued at $19,000, and the cash on hand at the end of December, 1905, was $296.05, making the total assets, $19,296.05.

Mr. J. C. Elliott presented the following on the financial system of the church;—

The revenue of the church is derived from pew rents, weekly offerings and loose collections, together with some yearly and half yearly donations.

The pew rents are used to defray choir expenses, pay insurances, repairs, etc.

All expenses of church management, including pastor's salary, sexton, light, coal, etc., are paid from weekly offerings, loose and special collections.

The Trustee Board reported;

GENERAL SUMMARY.

The auditors Messrs. A. B. Cunningham and James McCleary, presented the following encouraging figures,—

Trustee Board, receipts, 1905...$1468.15
Quarterly Board, receipts for Q 1905	1972.98
Missionary, regular fund	459.76
Missionary, Women's Auxiliary	86.15
Missionary, Olive Mission Band, Epworth League and Ladies' Aid Society, all of which were shown to be a healthy and flourishing condition. The Sunday school statement was also highly satisfactory and showed a comfortable balance.	92.49
Educational and Superannuation Coll	131.86
Ladies' Aid	$75.91
Y.M. Guild	57.96
Epworth League	58.78
Sunday School, regular receipts	652.00
Sunday School Building Fund	1005.00
Total	$4117.00

Total receipts from all sources are over $300 in advance of any previous year, and over $900 in advance of yearly income at commencement of present pastorate.

Satisfactory reports were also rendered by the Women's Missionary Society, Young Men's Guild, Olive Mission Band, Epworth League and Ladies' Aid Society, all of which were shown to be a healthy and flourishing condition. The Sunday school statement was also highly satisfactory and showed a comfortable balance.

The meeting was very largely attended and enthusiasm prevailed among those present. This is one of the most thriving places of worship in this city, and its pastor and his aids should receive heartfelt congratulations.

A SPLENDID RECORD

Canada's Leading Accident Insurance Co., Has Successful Year.

The shareholders, and equally as well, the policy owners of the Ontario Accident Insurance Company, of Toronto, have good reasons for feeling proud over the encouraging report presented by the company's directors at their tenth annual meeting held in their head office, 61—65 East Adelaide street on February 19th.

The company's business was shown to have had a steadily increased advance, as there were substantial gains in income, revenue and reserve funds.

The company's net income after deducting $6,457.80 for reinsurance, for 1905, amounted to the handsome sum of $244,963.88, with an additional sum of $2,170 for investments.

During the past year the Ontario Accident Insurance Co., paid 2,165 claims, amounting to $115,290.70. After deducting all expenses of management and other incidentals, the company's revenue account showed a balance of $30,193.59, out of which $5,500 was devoted to reserve fund, $20,000 to contingency account, $3,568.47 to payment of dividend No. 8, leaving $1,125.12 for future disposal.

The assets of this company are all of a conservative and most reassuring character including bonds of various leading Canadian cities, amounting to $49,324.45, and $31,491 deposited in bank; the total assets amounting to $137,546.68.

The next increase in premiums for 1905, as compared with the preceding year amounted to $25,555, showing the steadily increasing business done by this well managed and strong financial institution.

As a sample of the protection this company gives its policy holders, it might be noted that five years ago their reserve fund amounted to $21,000 whilst last year it had reached $61,000, and this rapid advance has come solely from actual earnings, none of it being taken from premiums on stock, etc.

It might be noted that this company has now obtained a larger field for their enterprise, the Dominion Government having given them power to furnish contracts of indemnity covering a wide scope of every day hazards, including insurance against property; this will doubtless result in greatly increased business during the coming an proceeding years.

Mr. Arthur L. Eastmure was elected president, and Mr. W. H. Pearson, vice president of the company, both of these gentlemen being skilled financiers and thoroughly capable insurance men.

The local representative of the Ontario Accident Insurance Co., is Mr. W. H. Hill, who is too well and favorably known in Peterboro insurance circles to need any further eulogy on our part.

A FATAL ACCIDENT

Guy Grant Dies From Clot of Blood Entering His Heart.

The following despatch was received yesterday from Port Hope;

Port Hope, March 1.—Guy Grant, about 16 years old, accidentally cut himself in the right thigh yesterday afternoon, while in the act of killing a calf for a farmer near Port Britain. The sharp blade entered the network of arteries about the boy's knee. Dr G. A. Dickenson, assisted by other local surgeons, performed successfully, the operation of binding the arteries, but the young man died about 5 o'clock this morning from a clot of blood entering the heart.

The Monthly Story Magazine, published in New York city, devotes a whole page, including two photographic scenes from the new successful play of "The Vanderbilt Cup," in which Miss Janis appears in company with Mr. Aubrey Somerset, a son of the world-wide known Dion Boucicault, the playwright and author.

MRS. TERRY'S DEMISE

Death of a Lady Who Has Lived Here For a Short Time.

Yesterday morning there passed away a lady Mrs. Eliza Terry, who although only having been a resident of the city for about a year and a half, has made many friends here. The deceased, Mrs. Eliza Terry, passed away at the residence of her nephew, Mr. C. Clements, No. 7 Walton street, after a short illness from pearlsy. She came from Mount Albert near Toronto, to reside with her nephew. Mrs. Terry leaves behind her four brothers, Messrs. Thomas Richard, Joseph and James Gough, living in different parts of the United States. The remains will be removed from the late residence of deceased tomorrow morning, and interment will take place in Mount Albert on Sunday.

CHEAPER WATER

Local Water Commissioners Will Probably Reduce Prices.

There is good reason for supposing that the Peterboro Water Commissioners will, before long, announce a discount of 30 per cent. off the water rates for prompt payment. The present rate of discount is 25 per cent, but the increased earnings of the waterworks and the good prospects for the future have, it is understood, influenced the commissioners in their decision, to give the consumers the benefit by decreasing the prices.

Now that the drinking water of Peterboro has been shown to be unusually good in quality, the further good news of cheaper service will result in general thanksgiving to our commissioners.

A NARROW ESCAPE

Aubrey Darcy, Young's Point Nearly Finds a Watery Grave.

Yesterday a gentleman from Young's Point, when giving The Times a friendly call, reported an accident which took place at that village last Saturday, and which nearly resulted in a sad fatality.

It seems that a party of boys and girls were playing on the ice covering the bay there, which is used in winter as a skating rink. Suddenly Master Aubrey Darcy, the nine-year-old son of Mr. Fred Darcy, proprietor of the Temperance House there, disappeared through the ice. Some of the boys at once ran to common assistance, but a ten-year-old boy, Master Oswald Brooks, a son of Mr. W. E. Brooks, proprietor of the South Beach Hotel, by his prompt, plucky and intelligent action undoubtedly saved young Darcy from being drowned.

He rushed to the shore for a pole, and then with great courage, crept as far as necessary to the hole, Darcy had fallen through, and reaching the pole to the rapidly chilling boy, pulled him out.

Had it not been for Young Brooks' rare presence of mind, i.e., rare in one so young, little Darcy would most certainly have sunk beneath the ice.

This action should be commended to the Humane Society and their medal would, in all probability be conferred on this plucky lad-saver.

Law Offices Remodelled.

Messrs Hall, Madd and Davidson's law offices over the Bank of Commerce have just been thoroughly overhauled and remodelled. Some time ago Messrs. Hall, Madd and Davidson, who had the two offices now occupied by the Great West Life Insurance Company, exchanged offices with that company, and have had their entire premises changed, enlarged and greatly improved. This enterprising firm now has one of the best suites of offices in the city.

A NECESSARY EVIL

Experience of a Minister who Tried to Think That of Coffee.

"A descendant of three Danes, a nation of coffee drinkers, I used coffee freely till I was 20 years old," writes a clergyman from Iowa, "At that time I was a student at a Bible Institute, and suddenly became aware of the fact that my nerves had become demoralized, my brain dull and sluggish and that insomnia was fastening its hold upon me.

"I was loath to believe that these things came from the coffee I was drinking, but at last was forced to that conclusion, and quit it.

"I was so accustomed to a hot table beverage and felt the need of it so much, that after abstaining from coffee for a time and recovering my health, I went back to it. I did this several times, but always with disastrous results. I had about made up mind that coffee was a necessary evil.

"About this time a friend told me that I would find Postum Food Coffee very fine and in many respects away ahead of coffee. So I bought some and, making it very carefully according to the directions, we were delighted to find that he had not exaggerated in the least. From that day to this we have liked it better than the old kind of coffee or anything else in the way of a table drink.

"In one week, in a very short time, an increase in strength, clearness of brain and steadiness of nerves, and sleep, restful and restoring came back to me.

"I am thankful that we heard of Postum, and shall be glad to testify at any time to the good it has done me."

POLICE COURT NEWS

Yesterday, William Kelly, of the east ward became a temporary and involuntary boarder at the "large stone" hostelry maintained by this county so airily situated midst the ozone laden scenery of Court House Hill.

Mr. Kelly's trip to Castle Nesbitt's welcoming walls, is a result of too much fire-water than his system could successfully absorb without the fumes rising to his thinking machinery William got tuft.

For this little indiscretion the stern and unsympathetic minions of the law gathered him in, and the magistrate, with equal lack of sympathy, next morning imposed a fine of $2 with the alternative of certain joyous days in the confines of the castle on the hill. William was allowed a certain number of days to pay up the amount. However with the forgetfulness inherent in human nature, William, instead of saving up his ducats and squaring the fine, took to the woods for a job.

Yesterday P. C. Stewart's eagle eye recognized Mr. Kelly, and the blue coat promptly ran him in.

Just before taking him from the station the policeman asked William if he would go up quietly, this being a delicately veiled way of asking whether the prisoner would go without the handcuffs being applied. He promised to be good, but was bad. As the cop and his captive started from the station to the jail, William "Lit into" Constable Stewart, and started a scrap.

In the twinkling of an eye, P.C. Stewart was wiping up the accumulated dust and pipe shakings from the police station floor, with his prisoner, the latter's coat back acting as a broom.

After locking him in a cell, the officer got the darbies, and quickly ornamented William's wrists with them. Then a party of two started on their journey to the hill. Here William will "do the time," the default of paying his fine calls for.

HOCKEY.

In our issue of yesterday, we noted that the Parry Sound game had been postponed from Wednesday evening until last night owing to lateness of the train containing our local champions. This was incorrect, but was given in good faith of a special despatch received late that night, and a despatch from Midland was later on received, confirming the first incorrect report. In fact other places in the city received, ate on Wednesday night, practically the same news. Many citizens who stayed out late, in the lobbies of various hotels to learn the news, went home convinced the report was correct.

However, the game was played and our boys won out, as per the following despatch received from Parry Sound yesterday, which said;

Parry Sound, March 1.—In the fastest game of hockey seen yet in Parry Sound the local septette were defeated by Peterboro in the O.H.A. semi-finals last night by a score of 9 goals to 8.

The game was as close as the score would indicate, and the second half developed brilliant hockey indeed. The half-time score was 5—3 in favor of Peterboro, but Parry Sound then woke up and scored 5 to the visitors' 4. The checking was close and Referee Waghorne had his hands full, seventeen penalties in all being handed out. Merrick and Preeble played the star game for the locals, and for Peterboro Graham played his usual clean and carnival game.

The line-up was as follows;—

Peterboro.		Parry Sound
Wasso.	Goal.	Patterson
Glover	Point.	Mason
Morgan	Cover-Point.	Peart
Whiteroft	Rover.	Merrick
Moore	Center	Thomas
Graham	Right Wing.	Preble

Timekeepers—J. Campbell, Parry Sound, and E. Ford, Peterboro.

Penalty timekeeper, S. C. Stark.

Referee—Waghorne.

Peterboro then wins the round by a total score of 17 to 12.

The boys got home last night, and say the game was fast and furious.

EXAMINER WINS.

Last night in the Brock street rink between 8 and 9 o'clock, the Examiner team defeated the Review by a score of 9—2. The game was fast and furious, but the Reviews never had a look in, and when nine goals were notched, the score card disappeared.

The line-up was as follows;—

Review		Examiner
Wilson	Goal.	Craig
Metheral	Point.	Hutchinson
Smith	Cover-Point.	Reid
Cranswell	Rover.	Gilmas
Burder	Center	Yokoms

POLICE COURT NEWS

Surprise By Banwell Pleads Not Guilty

Mrs. Banwell is Charged Jointly With Husband and Gets Bail--They Will Go to a Jury For Trial.

Toronto, March 2.—With a surprise up his sleeve for the police authorities, around which the authorities expected would gather at the Union, arrangements were made for he Banwells to disembark at the Don station, and they were driven thence in a cab to police headquarters in the city hall.

MET BY RELATIVES.

There Mrs. Banwell was met by her father and brother, and Banwell by his brother. Banwell hold his nerve, but Mrs. Banwell for the first time since the officers have had them in charge broke down. Even then, she did not melt until her father, who was speechless with grief, sobbed, and she burst into tears. Breakfast was brought to them in Sergeant Duncan's room, and then Banwell was turned over to the attention of a barber who clipped his auburn hair close, and shaved him.

Mrs Banwell was left in charge of Mrs Whiddon, the police matron, and at nine o'clock Mrs. Mary Harris of St. George street, her aunt, and several family friends from Erindale, arrived, and she was allowed to see them. Her mother was too ill to come to the city.

MOTHER SEES HIM.

Banwell's mother and sister, too, came in, and he was not prevented from seeing them. Mr. E. E. A. DuVerret, who had been retained to defend Banwell, saw him in the cells, and Banwell was brought up in court in the usual way.

There was a great rush to get into police court to see the Banwells, but the officers on the outer doors held up everybody who had no particular business there, and kept them out. Even at that, the court room was crowded. Those who could not get inside the police department crowded the city hall windows until Inspector Davis and a squad of men turned them out of doors.

IN THE COURT.

Banwell sat in the dock for ten minutes before his case was called. Few recognized him before he was called. He is a slim youth, with no particular claim to distinction, either in build or face. He was clad in a blue suit, and looked not unlike a couple of other young men who were up on charges of theft. In fact, he was more nonchalant than some who were up on less serious charges.

"Edwin St. George Banwell" and Nora Hector, alias Banwell," called Magistrate Denison.

A buzz ran through the crowd, and Banwell rose and leaned over the dock. On his arm he carried his light coat, and a new grey fedora hat was crushed in his hand.

"Where is Nora Hector?" enquired his Worship.

"Nora Hector! Nora Hector!" called the dock policeman, and all eyes were centered in the doorway, but Mrs. Banwell did not appear.

"Is that woman a prisoner?" enquired the magistrate as Mrs. Banwell appeared.

"Yes," said Mr. Curry.

"Then put her into the dock," he directed, and into the dock she went with her husband.

"How will you be tried?" asked His Worship.

"By a jury," returned Mr. DuVernet.

"Do you plead guilty or not guilty?"

"Not guilty," was the unexpected reply and a murmur of surprise ran through the crowd. Even the police officers stared. They had expected an instant plea of guilty.

"Are you ready to go on with the investigation?"

"We are," replied Mr. DuVernet.

"Monday," said Mr. Curry.

"Mr. Curry has consented to bail for Mrs. Banwell," said Mr. DuVernet.

"Yes," said Mr. Curry, presenting the bonds.

WANTS A JURY TRIAL.

The surprise came when Banwell pleaded not guilty and asked for a trial by jury. Mrs. Banwell, too, pleaded not guilty, but her denial of guilt was suppressed.

The Banwell arrived on the Canadian Pacific express, due at the

CHARLOTTE ST. WINS.

Last night the Charlotte street Guild hockey team won the city league honors, and carried off the Stratton Cup before a large crowd in the Brock street rink in a very exciting game, defeating the Suburbs of Lakefield, by a score of 3—0. Mr. Fred Clarke refereed the first half on account of Mr. Waghorne being delayed. Mr. Waghorne refereed in the last half to the satisfaction of both teams.

The line-up was as follows;—

Charlotte street		Suburbs
Lang	Goal.	Moore
Reddy	Point.	Hurl
Moore	Cover-Point.	Bloomfield
Nichols	Rover.	Quinn
Miller	Center	Simpson
Dusty	Left Wing.	Quigley
Gross	Right Wing.	Morrin

Mr. Fred A. Clarke received a telegram from Secretary W. A. Hewitt, of the O.H.A. yesterday, stating that Goderich will be here tonight, to play Peterboro the first of the home and home games for the intermediate championship.

The game will be the best game that will be seen here this season. Goderich has a great team; they have defeated all the western teams and are said to equal many of the senior aggregations in Ontario. There should be a large audience in Brock street rink tonight. It is likely that Mr. F. C. Waghorne will referee this game.

READ AND YOU WILL LEARN

That the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice endorse and recommend, in the strongest terms possible, each and every ingredient entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the cure of weak stomach, dyspepsia, catarrh of stomach, "liver complaint," torpid liver, or biliousness, chronic bowel affections, and all catarrhal diseases of whatever region, name or nature. It is also a specific remedy for all such chronic or long standing cases of catarrhal affections and their resultants, as bronchial, throat and lung diseases (except consumption) accompanied with severe coughs. It is not so good for acute colds and coughs, but for lingering, or chronic cases it is especially efficacious in producing perfect cures. It contains Black Cherry bark, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot, Stone root, Mandrake root and Queen's root—all of which are highly praised as remedies for all the above mentioned affections by such eminent medical writers and teachers as Prof. Bartholow, of Jefferson Med. College; Prof. Hare, of the Univ. of Pa.; Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago; Prof. John King, M. D., late of Cincinnati; Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., late of Cincinnati; Prof. Edwin M. Hale, M. D., of Hahnemann Med. College, Chicago, and scores of others equally eminent in their several schools of practice.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is the only medicine put up for sale through druggists for like purposes, that has any such professional endorsement—world more than any number of ordinary testimonials. Open publicity of its formula on the bottle wrapper is the best possible guaranty of its merits. A glance at the published formula will show that "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no poisonous or harmful agents and no alcohol—chemically pure, triple-redined glycerine being used instead. Glycerine is entirely unobjectionable and because it is most useful remedy in the cure of all stomach as well as bronchial, throat and lung affections. There is the highest medical authority for its use in all such cases. The "Discovery" is a concentrated glyceric extract of native, medicinal roots and is safe and reliable.

A booklet of extracts from eminent medical authorities, endorsing its ingredients mailed free on request. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

THEY ARE INVITED

37th Regiment Will Visit Brantford on 1st July.

As noted in a former issue of The Times, it has been expected that our local greek regiment would be asked to pay a visit to Brantford this summer.

That they will go is now "as fait accompli," as Lt.-Col. Miller has received a communication from Lieut.-Col. Cameron, officer commanding 38th Dufferin Rifles, inviting the local corps to visit Brantford on July 1st next, and take part in a big military commement (in that city). The invitation will be considered at the next meeting of the officers of the 57th Regiment, which will be held in a few days.

Improvements at C.P.R. Station.

Both the C.P.R. freight shed and station here are being improved. The freight shed has been freshly painted, and the waiting room of the station is being attended to. The woodwork is being retouched and the ceilings and walls kalsomined. Mr. Purvis of Brockville, master painter, is doing the work.

Who Lost a Horse?

Last night Mr. John Dunsford, a local carter, brought a horse into the Cavanagh stables, that is found straying on the streets. The horse is a young one, color black, with white on head and fore legs, also a white star on forehead. The owner may have same by applying at the Cavanagh House.

WHY SO WEARY ?

Always Restless and Weak Isn't Natural—But It's Dangerous

You have to work hard. This uses up lots of nerve force and tears down the body faster than it can build up.

The result is a half-dead feeling you can't shake off. Somehow you must get more vitality. The water in your blood must be turned into nutriment and building material.

This is just what happens in using Ferrozone, which renews the blood and nerves, and makes each organ do the work that nature expects of it.

Ferrozone quickly increases your weight, brings appetite and healthy color, instills a reserve of vigor into the system that defies weariness, exhaustion, debility, or sickness of any kind.

The enormous strengthening power of Ferrozone is proved in the case of Mrs. Edward Hill, of Orr Lake, Ont., who says:

"Two years ago I had a nervous breakdown. At night I tossed restlessly in bed, unable to get any rest from sleep. In the morning I suffered from over-powering weakness. My appetite was poor. I grew pale, thin and despondent. A slight hacking cough also added to my burden.

"My doctor said to try Ferrozone, and it did me good in a few days. I increased in strength, the nervous sensations disappeared, and with my appetite came back my color and good spirits. I have gained over ten pounds in weight, and as my age is 56, I consider Ferrozone is a marvel." (Signed) Mrs. Edward Hill.

REMEMBER THIS: Ferrozone is a true tonic—not an alcoholic stimulant. Fifty chocolate-coated tablets in a box for fifty cents, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

President of the Sons of Rest Elected—Enthusiastic Meeting.

As Tuesday night was the date appointed to elect a president for the Sons of Rest, the Hall of Wisdom was crowded to the doors with anxious and excited members. At five minutes to eight o'clock the two candidates arrived fully equipped in their Sunday go-to-meeting suits, each wearing a silk hat and sporting a gold headed cane. Minney Wale, the past president, took the chair and opened the meeting. He then informed the brethren that, as this was election night, the first order of business was to distribute the ballots, he, therefore, would appoint Howden Doris to distribute and collect the ballots, and he appointed Buckraw Carter to count the ballots. After Howden had all the ballots collected, Buckraw Carter counted them, and reported as follows: Minney Wale, 999; Fighting Archy, 18. Minney Wale was declared elected by the sweeping majority of 981. Minney Wale rose to his feet with tears flowing freely from his eyes, and endeavored to give expression to his feelings of gratitude for the generous support which he received from the brethren, but he was so overcome with joy that he had to postpone his speech until next Tuesday evening. Fighting Archy then rose and informed the brethren that they would spell repentance for the mean way in which they used him, and picked up his cane and hat and walked out without even bidding the brethren good-night. Skunk-hunter Rennie then rose and laid a charge against Bob-tail Pue. He said Bob-tail on several occasions travelled on our streets in search of a needle pusher without a lantern. The president at once fined Bob-tail $87. Bobtail paid his fine and then laid a charge against Skunk-hunter for interfering with his private affairs. The president fined Skunk-hunter $69, to be paid at once, or 10 days in jail. Fatty Drummond rose to his feet, brushed back his hair, rolled up his sleeves and pulled down his vest, and spoke as follows: Mr. president, I think you are rather with your fines. If I think it is proper for me to mail a young lady a few candies, whose personal business is it: yours or mine? Answer that question, will you? Yes, Fatty, I will answer it double quick. It is my business, and for your impertinence to your superior I will impose a fine of $15, to be paid inside of 10 minutes. Fatty borrowed the money from Banker Escombe and gave him a mortgage on the candies which he sent to the young lady. After Fatty paid his fine the president ordered him to sit in the corner for ten minutes until he cooled off. Banker Landy rose and moved that an oyster supper and dance be held in the Hall of Wisdom on the second Friday night in April. Penny Moore seconded the motion. The motion was carried unanimously. Minney Wale appointed Bob-tail Pue, Skunk-hunter Rennie, Penny Mac and Sandy Patterson as a committee to buy and cook, but not to eat, the oysters. He then appointed Hosier Rock, Barber Quinn and Tea-merchant Keesaley as table waiters. The president then rose and informed the brethren that he was threatened with an attack of nervous prostration, and in justice to himself would have to go over the meeting. He then intimated that it was customary for new members to sing the closing ode, and he, therefore, would ask Bob-tail Pe and Skunk-hunter Rennie to render the ode and, gee whittaker! they did render it in right good style. The meeting was then closed until Tuesday night.

"God Save The King."

MORE THAN THEY INTENDED

Instead of Ten May Bring Fifteen or Twenty Thousand Settlers.

Ottawa, March 1.—Commissioner Coombs of the Salvation Army, in company with Brigadier Howell, who has charge of the Army's immigration work in Canada, met the Premier and Minister of the Interior today regarding the adjustment of their claim for Government bonus on the settlers that they brought to Canada last season. They want also a definite understanding as to the settlers they are bring out this year, so that no question will be raised concerning the payment of the $3 per capita bonus on every domestic servant and on every man, whatever his employment may have been in the Old Country, that they induce to take up farming in Canada. The original purpose of the Salvation Army was to bring out 10,000 selected settlers this season, but by reason of the large number anxious to come under their auspices it is quite possible that the number will be increased to 15,000 or 20,000.

SHOT HUSBAND THEN HIMSELF

Murder and Suicide at New York the Result of a Fatal Operation on Wife.

New York, March 1.—Thomas Dettman yesterday shot and killed Thos. Fennen and then killed himself during a quarrel over the death of Fennen's young wife, Dettman's sister, whose body at the time of the shooting lay awaiting burial in an adjoining room in the same house. The tragedy occurred in Fennen's room at 156 west 9th street, Brooklyn, a short time before the hour set for Mrs. Fennen's funeral. Dettman had come to attend the ceremony, and quarrelled with his brother-in-law over a surgical operation which had resulted in Mrs. Fennen's death. Relatives of the dead woman refused to state the nature of the operation.

Fennen had been married less than a year, and was 28 years old. Dettman was 45, and up to about three months ago had made his home with the young couple. Following a dispute between the two men at that time Dettman left the house and had kept away from the Fennen home until yesterday.

Mrs. Louise Loewer, Mrs. Fennen's sister, was in the house when the shooting occurred. The two men were at breakfast, when she saw Fennen spring from his chair and run toward the door in the dining room. Before he could pass out, Mrs. Loewer said, he was shot three times by Dettman, who then pointed the revolver at his own head, ending his life with one shot.

HIS WIFE ELOPED.

Ottawa, March 1.—Barnhard Petersen, an engineer at the Davis planing mills, was found dead this morning, and a half-emptied bottle of carbolic acid told the tale of suicide. He left a note to his brother. He was despondent over his wife's recent elopement with a bartender. Petersen's father ended his life about a year ago by the same method.

Calumet-Tellurid Golde Mining Co.
OF CALUMET, MICHIGAN,
offers a limited amount of its Treasury Stock at ONE DOLLAR per share, full paid and non-assessable. Properties consisting of four groups of lode claims and equal to claim area of 37 full lode claims, or about 370 acres, with two valuable water rights and a water reservoir—a lake of about 20 acres surface area.
Development is equal to 1700 lineal feet, at a cost of $15 per lineal foot—tunnels, drifts, cross-cuts, winzes and surface cuts and trenches, and one ten gravity stamp concentrating mill. These groups, water rights, mill and tunnel sites, etc., are fully paid; one group, held on title bond, is partly paid for. Good Grade of Profitable Milling are blocked out, in sight, to last for a sixty ton mill for over two years time. Safe and conservative estimate for mining the ore, delivering and milling it, at a cost of about $4.60 per ton. Three separate mill runs, for testing purposes, have returned from $8.40 to $14.70 per ton of rock, principally in gold.
This is a Bonanza for Intelligent Investors
In order to make operations absolutely up-to-date, perfect, both the mining and the reduction of ores, the Board of Directors have placed a limited amount of Treasury Stock at par value $1.00 per share on the market. Six reports of mine well known mining men. Properties situated in San Juan Gold Belt, San Miguel County, Southwestern Colorado.
ECONOMY, HONESTY and CONSERVATISM
Capitalization $60,000, par value $1.00, and non-assessable. Two years development, properties paid—as above stated, and we have in our treasury remaining 995,000 shares. Show us something better.

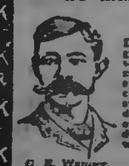
STRICTURE AND KIDNEY DISEASE CURED.



G. E. WRIGHT.

"I had stricture for eleven years. It finally brought on Bright's Disease of the Kidneys. I had an uncomfortable shooting pain in the groin and feeling as though something was in the urethra. My back was weak and I could scarcely sleep ever. Urine was full of sediment. Had a desire to urinate frequently. Family doctors, so-called specialists, patent medicines, electric belts, all failed. I was discouraged. I had spent hundreds of dollars in vain. Finally I consulted Drs. Kennedy & Kergan as the last resort. I had heard a great deal about them and concluded from the fact that they had been established over 25 years that they understood their business. I am delighted with the results. In one week I felt better and in a few weeks was entirely cured. Have gained sixteen pounds in weight."

SELECTIONS

Hobbes and Geometry.

Hobbes was not yet fifteen when he went to Oxford. He did not much care for logic, yet he learned it and thought himself a good disputant. There is no reason to think he learned anything else at Oxford save a strong dislike of academic institutions and methods. He turned from the official studies to amuse himself with geography and voyages. As to mathematics, there was no official recognition of them at all while Hobbes was at the university, so there is nothing improbable in the statement that Hobbes had never opened a copy of Euclid until he was near middle age. The story is best told in Aubrey's own words:

"He was forty years old when he looked on geometry, which happened accidentally. Being in a gentleman's library, 'Euclid's Elements' lay open, and it was the forty-seventh proposition Lib. I, so he read the proposition. 'By Georges,' says he, 'this is impossible!' So he read the demonstration of it, which referred him back to another, which he also read, 'et sic deinceps,' that at last he was demonstratively convinced of that truth. This made him in love with geometry."

The Oldest Tale of a Tub.

The cynics, so called from the Greek word for a dog, were a rude, snarling sect of so called philosophers, who despised riches, the arts and all culture. Among these Diogenes was conspicuous. He was born in 412 B. C., and when a man he dressed in a coarse robe, which covered him day and night, and carried a wooden bowl and a bag for his alms and his food. His home was a large tub discarded from the temple of Cybele, a huge earthen jar, that had held wine or oil for the services and sacrifices of the temple. Though cracked and patched, it was large enough to hold him lying at full length. The story goes that Alexander the Great came up to him one day and asked what he could do for him. "Don't stand between me and the sun," was the curt reply, upon which the emperor is said to have exclaimed, "If I were not Alexander I would be Diogenes!"

Lightning as a Rock Driller.

"Lightning when in the mood has an ugly habit of drilling," writes an English observer. "It will drill the hardest rock, rock which would turn cold steel, and not only drill but vitrify it. They have found in Cumberland channels from thirty feet deep and from two to four inches in circumference. The interior was hard and glazed where the solid substance had been melted by the stabbing flashes. Artificial experiment has shown that a powerful shock from a battery will vitrify finely powdered glass, but not fuse spar or quartz. The lightning, however, does it in the manner described—not in one place, but in many, showing that before striking the ground it divided into several branches, each strong enough to penetrate and liquefy the solid rock."

In a Man's Pockets.

A fairly well equipped gentleman true to his calling and to his friends carries quite a kit of tools. There are a jackknife, a match box, a cigar cutter, a nail file, a corkscrew, a finger nail tool and possibly a cigar holder and some good five centers to give away. And yet women wonder what he finds to put in his pockets. To facilitate further the business of just hanging around he must have a little money, a handkerchief, bunch of keys, fountain pen, some lead pencils and sharpener, eyeglasses, notebook, watch, old letters, papers of more or less supposed value and a cardcase. Not one pocket could be spared unless it is the one on his nightshirt, and that looks so sweet.

Told by the Watch.

To tell the points of the compass by a watch point the hour hand at the sun; then south is halfway between the hour hand and the figure 12 of the dial. To measure an angle by a watch lay two straight edged pieces of paper on the angle, crossing at the apex. Holding them where they overlap, lay them on the face of the watch, with the apex at the center. Read the angle by the minutes of the dial, each minute being six degrees of arc. It is easy to measure within two or three degrees in this way.

Why His Head Didn't Ring.

Two Scotsmen turning a corner came into collision. The shock stunned one of them. He pulled off his hat and, laying his hand on his brow, said: "Sic a blow. My heid's fair ringing again."

"Nae wonder," said his companion. "Your heid was aye empty—that makes it ring. My heid disna ring a bit."

"How could it ring," said the other, "seein' it was aye crackit?"

Long Words.

The longest words in English are short by comparison with certain monstrosities in other languages. It is common in German to use compounds which, although not involved or cumbersome in meaning, look alarmingly long, and it is said that one Sanskrit word has no less than 159 syllables.

The Wise Wife.

Mrs. Tom—I wouldn't let my husband have his own way as yours does, Mrs. Dick—Does he? Mrs. Tom—I heard him say so today. Mrs. Dick (softly)—I'm glad he thinks so. I've been a long time teaching him that.

Quite Solid.

"Let me see a plain wedding ring."

"Solid?"

"Yes but I'm solid. We've been engaged more'n a month."

Excessive anger against human stupidity is itself one of the most provoking of all forms of stupidity.—Von Radowitz.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, marked on the envelope "Tenders for Construction," will be received at the office of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway at Ottawa, until twelve o'clock noon on Monday the 18th day of March, 1906, for the work required for the construction, in accordance with the plans, profiles and specifications of said Commissioners, for the following sections of the Transcontinental Railway, the said work to be completed on or before the first day of September, 1907, viz:—

(1) District "F." From a point designated on the plans of the said Commissioners at or near the City of Winnipeg, to a point known as Peninsula Crossing, near the junction point of the Fort William branch of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, a distance of about 245 miles.

(2) District "B." From a point designated on the plans of the said Commissioners, at the north end of the Quebec Bridge and Railway Company's bridge in the vicinity of the City of Quebec, to a point near La Tuque, a distance of about 150 miles.

(3) A steel viaduct about 2,600 feet long across the Cap Rouge Valley, in said District "B," in the vicinity of the City of Quebec, the work to be performed in accordance with the General Specifications of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway, and the General Specifications for steel bridges and viaducts of the Department of Railways and Canals of Canada, 1905.

Plans, profiles and specifications may be seen in the office of the Chief Engineer of the Commissioners at Ottawa, also in the office of the District Engineer at Kenora, Ontario, for the section of District "F," and for the section of District "B" in the office of the District Engineer at Quebec.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made in duplicate, and on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners.

Separate tenders must be submitted for the work in each District.

Tenderers shall not be in any way entitled to rely upon the classification or any other information given by any person on behalf of the Commissioners, and before submitting any tender, bidders should make a careful examination of the plans, profiles, drawings and specifications, and read the forms to be executed, and fully inform themselves as to the quantity and quality of materials and character of workmanship required; and are understood to accept and agree to be bound by the terms and conditions contained in the form of contract, specifications, &c., annexed to the form of tender.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank of the Dominion of Canada, payable to the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway for the sum of four hundred thousand dollars ($400,000), for District "F," and two hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars ($225,000), for District "B," and thirty-five thousand dollars ($35,000) for steel viaduct in said District "B." Any person whose tender is accepted shall within ten days after the acceptance thereof furnish the security required by the Commissioners for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms, sign the contract, specifications and other documents required to be signed by said Commissioners; and in any case of refusal or failure on the part of the party whose tender is accepted to complete and execute a contract with the said Commissioners and to furnish the approved security within ten days after the acceptance of the tender, the said cheque shall be forfeited to the Commissioners as liquidated damages for such refusal or failure, and all contract rights acquired by the acceptance of the tender shall be forfeited. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

Attention is called to the following clauses in the form of contract:—

"All mechanics, labourers or other persons who perform labour for the purposes of the construction of the works hereby contracted for shall be paid such wages as are generally accepted as current for competent workmen in the District in which the work is being performed, and, if there is no current rate in each District, then a fair and reasonable rate; and, in the event of a dispute arising as to what is the current or a fair and reasonable rate, it shall be determined by the Commissioners, whose decision shall be final."

"This agreement is subject to the regulations now in force, or which may at any time hereafter be in force during the construction of the works hereby contracted for, made under the authority of the Department of Labour, and which are or shall be applicable to such works."

"The contractor shall in connection with the whole of the said work, as far as practicable use only material, machinery, plant, supplies and rolling stock manufactured or produced in Canada, provided the same can be obtained as cheaply and upon as good terms in Canada as elsewhere, having regard to quality and price."

The contractor shall conform to the Fire Regulations adopted by the Commissioners, and also to the Laws and Regulations respecting fires in the different Provinces wherein the work is being performed.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

By order,

P. B. RYAN,
Secretary.

The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North west Provinces (exceptions 8 and 26, not reserved), may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $20 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15 by 1,320 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent. collected on the output after 100,000 has been taken out.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

Diseases of Women

OFTEN DUE TO

Deranged Kidneys

When the Kidneys Are Weak It is Impossible for Any Woman to be Happy or Healthy

If the girls and women who are silently suffering with what they suppose is "female trouble," would look to their kidneys they would soon find the source of their ill-health.

The kidneys are very closely allied with the female organs and if the vitality of the kidneys is in any way impaired, great suffering is sure to occur.

No better medicine is known for the kidneys than Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Buttermilk; they stimulate and strengthen the kidneys and thereby assist the other organs to do nature's work. Instant benefit and certain cure are guaranteed in every case.

Sufferer, don't wait, begin treatment with Dr. Hamilton's Pills at once; they will cure you as they did Mrs. A. B. Coburn, a well-known resident of the town of Portland. Read her experience;

"For two years past I have been sickly and weak. My color was dull and sallow, and I felt exhausted and weary, as if all my strength were being eaten up with some hidden trouble. I heard of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and decided to use them. The change in a few days was surprising. They regulated my kidneys and bowels and cured all my suffering; to-day I am perfectly well."

Every woman can take Dr. Hamilton's Pills with safety and benefit. Their occasional use keeps the system in healthy, well regulated order. No medicine more gentle or more prompt in results. Now is the time to get Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c. per box or five boxes for $1, at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn. U.S.A. and Kingston, Ont.

TENTH ANNUAL REPORT

Submitted to the Shareholders at the Annual General Meeting, held at the Company's offices, 61-65 East Adelaide street, Toronto, on Monday, the 19th day of February, 1906, at 12 o'clock noon.

The Directors, in presenting their report for the year ending December 31st, 1905, together with the accompanying Balance Sheet and Revenue Account, have pleasure in directing attention to the continued increase in the Company's transactions and resources. The results show substantial gains in Premium Income, Revenue and Reserve Funds.

The net income from Premiums, after deducting $5,457.89 for reinsurance, was $246,963.28.

The interest upon investments amounted to $2,278.80.

During the year the Company paid under its policies 2,165 claims; the total, after deducting $3,249.50 received from reinsuring companies, amounted to $115,290.67.

The Revenue Account submitted herewith, after debiting all charges and expenses, shows a balance of $20,263.54. This has been applied as follows: $5,500.00 to Reserve Fund; $20,000.00 to Contingency Account, $1,562.47 in payment of dividend No. 8, leaving $1,125.12 unappropriated.

The Reserve Fund has been increased to $61,000.00, and the Contingency Fund to $20,000.00.

The Premium Income shows an increase over that of 1904 of $36,556.00.

On September 18th, 1905, there passed away, deeply regretted, Larratt W. Smith, K.C., D.C.L. Dr. Smith was in his eighty-fifth year, and for ten years had been the Company's esteemed President. The vacancy on the board thereby created was filled by the appointment of Mr. W. R. Brock.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

A. L. EASTMURE, President.

CLARKSON & CROSS, Auditors.

Proceedings of the Tenth Annual General Meeting.

The Tenth Annual General Meeting of the Shareholders was held at the Company's offices, No. 61-65 East Adelaide street, Toronto, on Monday, the 19th of February, 1906, at 12 o'clock noon.

The following Shareholders were present: W. H. Pearson, W. H. Cross, A. W. Thomas, A. L. Eastmure, G. H. Munts, G. W. Monk, E. T. Lightbourn, J. F. Smith, F. J. Lightbourn, G. L. Smith, J. F. Steedman (Hamilton), Dr. W. H. Oldright, and 48 Shareholders represented by proxy.

The chair was occupied by the President, Mr. Arthur L. Eastmure, and Mr. F. J. Lightbourn, the Secretary, acted as secretray of the meeting.

The notice calling the meeting having been read by the Secretary, the President submitted the report, together with the financial statements, and said:

PRESIDENT'S REMARKS.

Gentlemen,—In submitting for your approval the statements just read, I have pleasure in pointing out that the results for 1905 are well up to the standard of former years, and make a very satisfactory showing. The Company has completed its first decade; we are ten years old, and it will be appreciated, I feel sure, from the figures presented today, that the time has not been wasted.

As against an income from premiums in 1904 of $223,527.57, the new business and renewals reached the considerable sum of $252,726.57, in round figures a quarter of a million dollars. During the year 2,165 persons received benefits under the Company's policies, the payments aggregating $115,739.67, and it may be noted that the claims exceeded six daily for every working day of the year. All were satisfactorily adjusted and promptly paid.

The business written shows a corresponding advance. During 1905 we issued or renewed 9,273 policies, the aggregate insurance totaling $16,743,241.00, as against 8,223 in 1904 for $15,214,900.00, and 6,560 in 1903 for $13,900,000.00.

The Company's assets, which amounted at December 31st, 1904, to $110,802.81—an increase of $16,468.20 over 1903—have advanced to $137,654.02, a further gain of $17,654.67. Attention may also be directed to the continued growth of our Reserve Fund. Five years ago this had reached the sum of $21,000.00. It is now $61,000.00, and is set apart entirely from actual earnings, none of it being derived from premiums on stock or other sources.

Another gratifying feature is the substantial addition to the Contingency Fund. Created in 1902 and amounting at that time to $4,569.00, this fund stood at December 31st, 1904, at $10,000.00. It is now $20,000.00.

The Company's income from premiums up to December 31st, 1905, reached in the aggregate a total of $1,122,724.72, and in all 10,738 persons have received benefits under its policies, the total claims payments amounting to $630,655.57.

It will be seen from the foregoing that gains in premium income, revenue, reserve and contingency funds, together with a continually enlarging list of beneficiaries, are features becoming year by year more marked in our annual stocktakings.

The benefits anticipated at our last annual meeting as likely to accrue from the formation of the Accident Underwriters' Association of Canada have been partially realized, particularly as effecting liability lines, regarding which much valuable data has been collated, and rates are now appreciable with greater accuracy. It is understood that similar work in relation to insurance against disability occasioned by illness, will also engage the attention of the Association during the present year, and doubtless good results will follow.

Two years ago I directed attention to the industrial development taking place throughout the Province of British Columbia, and to the arrangements then in hand for extending the Company's business in that important field. Our expectations are, I am glad to state, being fully realized, as with an active and influential field staff, together with a practical equipment, good results are already in evidence.

Your Directors have for some time had under consideration the establishing of branches throughout the United Kingdom, and arrangements with that object in view are pending.

The enlarged powers obtained from the Dominion Government, authorizing the Company to effect insurance upon personal property, mentioned at our last annual meeting, have been exercised, and a substantial business will, it is expected, result from the operation of that branch. Under the special authority provided by the Act, we are enabled to furnish contracts of indemnity, embracing an almost infinite variety of everyday hazards, and there is believed to be ample room for the venture. Insurance against property damage is a new idea; such risks—except in certain limited directions—have never been insurable before, and the protection afforded has a substantial commercial value, for which there is likely to be a considerable demand.

In recent years many new companies have entered the casualty field, and competition has prompted the introduction of a number of so-called "liberal-allsed policies," some of the features of which are believed by conservative underwriters to be wrong in principle and unsound. In face of the fact that nearly every leading company on the continent is upon record as condemning such innovations as Beneficiaries Insurance, the Accumulative feature an unlimited prolongation of the period for which weekly indemnity may be payable, and large discounts to associations, your Directors have not thought it wise to adopt any of these obviously "canvassing aids," preferring to believe that one Insurance Company cannot provide reliable insurance more cheaply than another, and that, in the end, this fact will demonstrate itself.

As in former years, I have pleasure in testifying to the energy, zeal and efficiency displayed by the Company's General, District and Resident Agents, wherever stationed; and to the painstaking and capable manner in which our Head and Branch Office Staffs have performed their respective duties. In both Office and Field, the service rendered has been loyal, intelligent and exceptionally active.

In the formal pages of an Annual Report expressions of personal feeling are necessarily curtailed, but I cannot close my remarks without a further short reference to the loss we, in common with all who knew him, sustained in the death of our late President.

Dr. Larratt W. Smith has been associated with us in various ways for many years, and with this Company since its incorporation in 1896, and was respected and esteemed by all. The regret and sympathy of the Board was, by resolution, duly recorded in our official minutes and also forwarded to his family. Dr. Smith's biography is a matter of public record, and reference to original reference books, the press, and biographical literature, as well as in mercantile undertakings, his career was a long and honorable one.

I beg to move, seconded by the Vice-President:

"That the Tenth Annual Report, now submitted, be adopted, and that the same, together with the Financial Statements read therewith, be printed, and a copy thereof forwarded to each of the Shareholders."

But before the motion is voted upon, I shall be happy to give any information or answer any questions relating to the Company's affairs.

The Report was adopted unanimously, after which it was moved by Dr. W. H. Oldright, seconded by Mr. A. W. Thomas, and carried:

"That the thanks of the Shareholders are justly due to the Company's General and District Agents in the several provinces for the zeal and efficiency displayed by them in their several departments during the year."

On motion, Messrs. Clarkson & Cross were reappointed auditors for the ensuing year.

Mr. A. W. Thomas and Mr. E. T. Lightbourn, having been appointed scrutineers, reported the following gentlemen elected as Directors: A. L. Eastmure, W. H. Pearson, J. Herbert Mason, J. N. Shenstone, W. R. Brock, F. J. Lightbourn, Thomas Fyshe (Montreal) J. F. Smith, K.C., and G. W. Monk.

After the customary votes of thanks to the President, Vice-President, Secretary and officials in the office, the meeting adjourned.

At a meeting of the Directors, held immediately after the Annual Meeting, Mr. Arthur L. Eastmure was elected President, and Mr. W. H. Pearson, Vice-President of the Company.

Executive Committee—Messrs. A. L. Eastmure, W. H. Pearson and J. F. Smith, K. C.

ONE OF THE RICHEST PROSPECTS EVER DISCOVERED.

The Iron Spar Mining Co.

The Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., owning valuable property on the divide between the States of Idaho and Montana, a copper proposition of exceptional promise, a property that even a novice, by personal inspection, ought to discern merits in, so apparent are the indications which guide the prospector in the work of making great mineral discoveries. An immense copper bearing ledge traverses the ground from east to west and is so well defined and conspicuous in its surface outcrop that anyone however unfamiliar with outward appearances of mineralization, once shown the ledge, may follow it uninterruptedly for several thousand feet. The fact is that copper ores appear in the vein gangue even to the grass roots.

The vein is large, 15 to 20 feet wide, and horizontally continuous across the whole extent of the claims, a distance of 6,000 feet. Being a true fissure and cutting the country formation at a considerable angle, it is entirely consistent with geological laws to suppose that it has also great vertical dimension.

Everybody who has made any study of the profits derived from successful copper mining operations can not have failed to observe the splendid and continuous dividends paid to investors. Copper mining has been so dependable a source of revenue throughout the world that today many investors prefer it to the more fickle high grade gold propositions. Look at the enormous and steady profits paid investors in all the great copper fields of the world, as viz: The Lake Superior mines in Michigan, Butte mines in Montana, Bisbee and Tombstone in Arizona, the mines of Utah, the great Tintic mines in Spain, and the Mexican mines. The demand for copper increases with the advance of civilization and the immense demand created by the growing popularization of electrical power justifies the belief that the supply will hardly keep pace with the demand for years to come. Copper mining is safe and profitable, once you have found a good property. That is just what we are trying to introduce to you, and you have this in the Iron Spar.

The sum of 400,000 shares of the fully paid capital stock was set aside as a treasury fund to be devoted to the improvement, development and equipment of the property. Nearly the entire block remains in the treasury at the present date, only so much having been drawn out as was necessary to defray the expenses of operation since the formation of the Company. The miners have all taken stock as pay instead of cash.

The undersigned has a limited number of Shares for sale at TEN CENTS per share. All interested should call or write at once.

Countess of Aberdeen.

IRELAND'S NEW VICEROY, HIS WIFE AND SOME NOTED BEAUTIES WHO WILL FREQUENT THE VICE-REGAL COURT.

Lord Aberdeen, the newly appointed Viceroy of Ireland, made his state entrance into Dublin last week under the most brilliant auspices. The scenes of enthusiasm with which the entry of the new Lord Lieutenant into the city was accompanied were all the more remarkable because of their spontaneity, for no "lead" had been given by the Unionist or Nationalist press. Evidently in their brief stay in Ireland in 1886 the Lord Lieutenant and the Countess endeared themselves to the people. Some such cordial welcome were needed to make their Excellencies and suite forget the terrors of the voyage. The channel was crossed during a gale, and most of those on board suffered from sickness. Their experience that day, Lord Aberdeen laughingly told the Kingstown Urban Council, which presented an address to him when he landed, established strong reasons why they should all remain in Ireland for a considerable time. In Dublin there were immense masses of people behind the soldiers and police who lined the route. The roar of cheering as the procession passed was continuous, bands played at different points and handkerchiefs were waved from crowded windows.

DETECTIVES TO TRACK AMERICAN SHARPERS

Elaborate Arrangements Are Being Made to Protect Tourists on Ocean Steamers.

BIG FIELD FOR ROGUES

London, March 2.—Elaborate arrangements have been made by Scotland Yard, acting in conjunction with the American Detective Department, ot cope with the American "sharp," who annually journeys to England on the occasion of visits being paid to our shores by our American cousins.

For many years past these gentlemen have caused the steamship companies, who have the carrying of the thousands of American trippers to this country, the greatest annoyance. They travel by the boats, and succeed by their polished manners in ingratiating themselves with millionaires for the purpose of fleecing them.

The usual method has been to propose cards, and the high playing that takes place generally results in the loss of thousands of pounds to the victim. Warnings have been given to passengers to avoid strangers who with plausible stales of badly wanting to find something tot do suggests cards, but this has always had to be done in a most cautious manner, as the American millionaire on a holiday trip is inclined to resent any suggestion that he is not capable of managing his own affairs.

In one case last year no less than $65,000 was lost by a passenger on the trip from New York to Liverpool.

It is estimated that 400 of America's finest confidence tricksters, card-sharps, forgers and blackmailers come over during the season, and when in England pursue their nefarious schemes with the greatest audacity.

An entire reorganization of the system of watching these gentlemen is now to take place, as the American police have arranged with Scotland Yard. Many trained detectives will travel backward and forward to America, shadowing all the well-known characters, whom they will hand over to the charge of the detective force of Scotland Yard on arrival in this country.

The importance of the scheme can be easily realised when it is pointed out that at least 50,000 wealthy Americans yearly pay us a visit.

On inquiry at the offices of the companies it was ascertained yesterday that the bookings this year have been enormous, and there is hardly any room on any boat for America for weeks ahead.

SLANDER DRIVES BRIDEGROOM TO DEATH

Mother-in Law Writes Incessant Letters Reflecting on Daughter's Character.

Berlin, March 2.—A man named Luppin has committed suicide through grief at the receipt of anonymous letters containing slanders on his young bride, whom he had only recently married.

The bride's mother had strongly objected to the wedding, but was persuaded to be present at the ceremony. Immediately afterward the letters began to arrive at the rate of several a day, each containing the form accusations against the bride. They are believed to have been written by Luppin's mother-in-law, who, it is said, had expected to be in her daughter's place at the wedding.

Luppin became morose and depressed by the continual slanders on his wife, and shot himself, leaving a letters explaining the reason of his suicide.

MUMMY IN A PARIS STREET

Paris, March 2.—A mummy was discovered lying in the Rue Jouffroy last night, and taken to the police station.

It was sent from Abyssinia by a M. Lobey, an explorer and archaeologist, as a present to his uncle.

But this gentleman, who has little sympathy with his nephew's tastes, declined to allow the mummy to be kept in his house, and when the perplexed concierge asked what he should do with it the fiery, old gentleman ordered him to throw it into the street.

BULL IN A CHEMIST'S SHOP.

Belfast, March 2.—A bull ran amuck last night in Ann Street, a crowded busiest thoroughfare, and dashed into a chemist's shop, creating havoc among the bottles in the show cases and on the counter. Then it backed out, and entered into a fruit shop, scattering oranges and bananas in every direction.

SEASICKNESS BANNED BY SPRINGING SEAT

Timid Passengers May Now Laugh to Scorn One Discomfort of Ocean.

SENSATION PLEASING

(Special Cable.)

Liverpool, March 2.—If Dr. Brendel's "trembling chair" fulfils the expectations aroused, the term "pleasure trips," as applied to sea voyages, will soon be used without the ironic emphasis given to it at present by poor sailors.

In appearance the chair is not unlike a weighing machine, with a small electric motor fixed between the legs, which causes the seat to vibrate rapidly up and down, giving to the sitter much the same sensation as experienced by the motorist.

It can easily be set in operation by simply connecting it with any of the ordinary electric lights always to be found on a passenger steamer.

Its purpose is prevention rather than cure, and any one who feels the premonitory symptoms of seasickness should at once make a dash for the nearest "trembling chair."

"The idea of the chair is really rather an adoptation than an invention," said a member of the firm which has put this blessing upon the market. "Some time ago an electric vibrator for local application was found to be an excellent preventative. But the chair method of application is a great advance. It affects the whole body; that is why it is such a success."

STRANGLED WOMAN FOR WEDDING DOWRY

Two Sisters Commit Horrible Crime That One May Marry Opera Singer.

(Special Cable.)

Vienna, March 2.—The sensational murder of a cook in a lonely wood has just been brought home to two young waitresses. One of them, Marie Zeller, has made a full confession, and stated that the crime was committed to provide her sister with a dowry.

The cook, whose name was Maier, inherited a legacy of $3,250. The sister Zeller made her acquaintance at a cafe, and invited her to accompany them on a trip to Murzzuschlag.

The trio stayed at a hotel under false names, and next day the Zellers persuaded Maier to accompany them on a walk in the woods. In a secluded spot they strangled her with a cord.

They then returned to Vienna, and Marie registered herself under the victim's name. In this way she managed to get the latter's luggage from her lodgings.

They found the savings bank books representing the legacy, and had already taken out some of the money when they were arrested.

Marie stated that her sister was engaged to an opera singer, and had promised to bring him a considerable dowry. They committed the crime in order to get this money.

The victim's body was found by the police, and was not identified for ten days.

ANOTHER "CURE" FOR CONSUMPTION FOUND

Italian Physician Discovers an Anti-Tuberculous Serum Which Stands a Test.

(Special Cable.)

Paris, March 1.—Professor Bouchard has informed a correspondent of the Matin that a new method of treating consumption has been discovered and tested with some measure of success by Dr. Marignano, of Genoa.

The doctor has produced a tuberculine extracted from tuberculosis bacilli. An organism into which this tuberculine is injected has its powers of resistance increased, and will withstand a second larger injection of the same poison which would kill an organism that had not been inoculated.

Dr. Marigliano, in fact, claims to have discovered an anti-tuberculous serum, which he has used on men with satisfactory results. Professor Bouchard himself has experimented with the serum. His first subject was completely cured by it, but later tests were less conclusive.

MAGNATES OF RAND ROUNDLY DENOUNCED

Accused of Trying to Get Transvaal Government Into Their Own Hands.

Johannesburg, March 3.—The political agitation here has been enlivened by a slashing attack which has been made upon the mining magnates by Mr. Hull, a well known solicitor and member of the Legislative Council.

He declared that there was a section which was determined to get the government of the country into its own hands by fair means or foul. These were the very men, who, speaking with a foreign accent, used to lecture the people upon their duties. He appealed to the people not to be led by the nose by this section any longer, and predicted that the Responsibles, or democratic British party, would wipe the floor of the Progressives—the mining magnates' party—at the elections.

He accused the mine owners of marking down and, when possible, hunting down those who criticised them or disagreed with them.

Meantime, the Progressive campaign is being vigorously pushed, and its general aim is that the Resolutions adopted by the party shall be sent direct to the King, ignoring the home government. A large part of the public, however, believes that the present agitation is useless and harmful to the best interests of the colony.

MURDERER REVELS IN PRACTICAL JOKES

Employer Who Discharged and Woman Who Jilted Him Made Miserable.

Paris, March 3.—A handsome young widow named Willisech, who kept a stationer's shop in the Rue Lancry, was brutally murdered outside her shop yesterday morning by a man named Hubert.

Mme. Willisech had been employed at the Brasserie Mollard as cashier, and Hubert, who was then a bottle-washer, ventured to make love to her, and was dismissed by the proprietor.

Hubert then entered on a series of practical jokes against M. Mollard, sending him coffins, cartloads of grease and vans of furniture, and telling undertakers, doctors and nurses to call on his victim.

M. Mollard at length induced the police to arrest Hubert, who was sentenced to two months' imprisonment, but was released under the First Offenders' act. He transferred his attention to Mme. Willisech, on whom he played all the tricks he had used against M. Mollard.

Finally Hubert was again arrested on Mme. Willisech's complaint and sentenced to six months' imprisonment. He appealed, was allowed out on bail, went straight to Mme. Willisech's shop and committed the murder. He has been arrested.

TITLED GAMBLERS IN POLICE DRAGNET

Peers, Generals, Lawyers and Ecclesiastics Captured in Raid on Fashionable Den.

Lisbon, March 3.—The police descended on a fashionable gaming house here yesterday, with orders to show no favors, and made over fifty arrests.

Among those captured were two peers of the realm, a well known marquis and beatdes several other titled personages, two generals, lawyers, and even ecclesiastics.

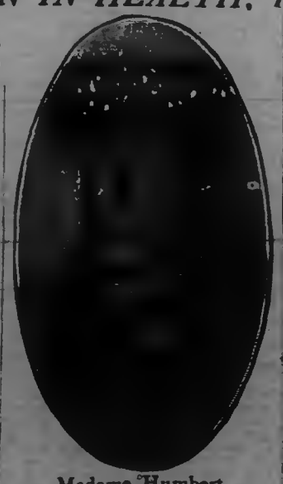
Several amusing incidents took place. Three members of the nobility jumped through a back window, and, entering the American legation through the kitchen, made their way to the front door and escaped.

Another, who is a lawyer of renown, dropped from the roof into the railway station, and, entering a convenient train, spent the rest of the night at Cintra. Yet another, in his fright, hid himself in the tunnel just outside the railway station, and narrowly escaped being killed by a passing train. His arrival later at his club, where he appeared hatless and with a torn coat, was enthusiastically acclaimed by his friends.

MADAME HUMBERT, NOTED SWINDLER, BROKEN IN HEALTH, TO QUIT PRISON

Release Comes to Her After a Little Over Two of the Five Years to Which She Was Sentenced.

The Fact Recalls One of the Most Extraordinary Cases in Whole Range of Criminal History.



Madame Humbert

Some of the Keenest Financiers and Most Brilliant Lights of Paris Fooled for Years by Simple Woman.

Story of the Crawford Millions and the Safe of Mythical Securities Stranger Than Dreams of Fiction.

Paris, March 3.—Mme. Humbert who was sentenced to five years' imprisonment in August, 1903, is about to be leased from the prison infirmary at Rennes with shattered health.

The Humbert case was, perhaps, the most remarkable instance in all criminal history of a great financial swindle engineered by a woman.

Mme. Humbert was a plain, commonplace middle-aged woman when she first appeared on the horizon of Parisian society. Her story was romantic. She had some few years ago, she said met Robert Crawford, an American multi-millionaire, and nursed him through a serious illness. He had returned to his native land, had died there, and had left to his benefactress a colossal fortune, counted in tens of millions of francs.

Unfortunately he had left two nephews also, and they had contested the will and thrown the huge fortune into chancery.

That simple little story, unsupported by any evidence of any sort, was the instrument of the fortune of Mme. Humbert, her husband, and her family, the D'Aurignacs. She raised millions of francs on her "expectations;" she lived in a palace in the Avenue de Grande Armee, where she received and royally entertained the celebrities and nobility of Europe.

She was followed in the street as if she had been an empress, she was mobbed in the shops, she was stared at at the theatre and the opera to the neglect of the actors and the stage.

From time to time she showed to particularly favored individuals a huge safe containing the securities of her vast fortune. At last she promised that the safe should be opened on a certain date. That date arrived, but madame, her husband and her family had vanished. The safe was opened. It contained a roll of paper, absolutely worthless, a button and one sou. The bubble was burst. There were no millions.

After a long hunt the party were discovered in Madrid. Their trial was the sensation of the day. Their proved defalcation amounted to over a million pounds. They were sentenced to comparatively light penalties, ranging from five years in the case of madame herself to two.

BLOWN INTO SPACE IN ALPINE STORM

German Climber and His Two Guides Have Terrible Experience on Mountain.

LIFE SAVED BY ROPE

Geneva, March 3.—Dr. Geehrs, of Mulhouse, Germany, a well-known climber, has just had a terrible Alpine experience.

Accompanied by the guides Bener and Max Augdenblatten, he left Zermatt in cold but beautiful weather to make the first ascent of the Stahlhorn a difficult peak, 12,400 feet high in the Mischabel range. The party reached the summit in safety, and after a short rest commenced the descent.

About a quarter of an hour from the top a terrific hurricane was encountered. The guides dug their piolets into the ice and held on.

Dr. Geehrs was blown off the slope into space time after time, but was dragged back by the guides to firm ground in each case and only with the greatest efforts.

If the rope had broken the doctor would have been hurled 4,000 feet below, on to the glacier, of which he caught several glimpses while helpless in the air.

After half an hour the hurricane abated somewhat, and the three climbers, crawling on their hands and knees and moving only one at a time, reached a sheltered spot, where they rested, and later made their way down to Zermatt.

Everything they had with them (even their clothing) was frozen hard as wood. The terrible strain of clinging on to the exposed slope had kept their bodies warm and saved them from being frozen to death in the glacial hurricane. When they arrived at Zermatt they could hardly walk or speak.

KAISER ASKS FARMER TO SILVER WEDDING

German-American, Who Saved His Life, Will be Guest at Coming Celebration.

Berlin, March 3.—The picturesque side of the Kaiser's character, which now and then asserts itself in one of his famous acts of dramatic chivalry, is aptly shown by his invitation to an American farmer to attend the Imperial silver wedding celebrations, which took place on February 27.

This man — an old soldier named Hesse, who has been farming in Kansas for some time—arrived in Berlin yesterday. Twenty-six years ago, when a sergeant in the Kaiser's regiment he saved His Majesty's life.

The Kaiser's horse bolted one day at manoeuvres and was dashing straight for a high stone wall, when Hesse sprang at the animal, and by sheer strength, stopped its course, and gave the Kaiser an opportunity to regain his seat.

When asked what favor he would like to mark his master's gratitude, he said: "I should like to come to your Highness' wedding."

Hesse was an honored guest at the wedding. Since then the Kaiser has never lost sight of him and, hearing that he had taken to farming in America, he sent him a personal invitation to his silver wedding, and inclosed the money for his passage.

SLANDER, LAW-SUIT, LOVE AND MARRIAGE

Strange Result of Young Man Calling Telephone Girl an Impudent Slut.

Kiel, March 3.—Furious at receiving no answer while calling up the telephone exchange here, a young hotel proprietor began to ring with great energy.

The telephone girl at last replied and made some remark about the continual ringing. A dispute arose, and the young man called the girl "an impudent slut."

A slander action followed, and the young man was ordered to pay a fine.

An unlooked for result of their meeting, however, was that they fell in love with each other. The young man proposed, was accepted and they were married to-day.

LABOR M.P.'S WIFE AT THE WASHING TUB

Election of Her Husband to Parliament Makes No Difference to Mrs. Thorne.

LEADS A SIMPLE LIFE

London, March 3.—Whether her husband is in the House of Commons or not, Mrs. Will Thorne, wife of the well known Labor M.P. for Southwest Ham, spends a busy day.

"So would any woman who has five little children to look after, like I have," she said yesterday, "and only one pair of hands to do everything."

Thornegrove road, where Mrs. Thorne and her husband reside, is a pleasant thoroughfare of Upton Park. "It is very close to the District Railway, and will be very handy for my husband, now that he is in Parliament," said Mrs. Thorne, who, womanlike would talk more about her better half than herself.

"How do I spend my day? Well, every moment is very fully occupied, but"—with a smile—"I can't see that my doings will interest any one outside my family."

Induced at last to believe that a Labor member's wife was really a person of some importance, Mrs. Thorne, who is of medium height and has pretty eyes and a bright, pleasant face, consented to talk about her little domestic world.

"I usually get up about 7.30 a.m." she said. "Then there is breakfast to prepare and three of the children to get off to school. I have three little girls and two little boys. The youngest is seven months old and the eldest eleven years.

A sweet little maid of three came into Mrs. Thorne's drawing room at this juncture. Clusters of fair curls circled the pretty baby forehead, and a pair of pleading brown eyes trustfully asked that "Daddy's pit'sher," an election button bearing her father's portrait which she wore pinned to her dress, should be admired.

"After the children have gone off to school at 8.45," Mrs. Thorne continued, "I have all my housework to get through and dinner to prepare by one o'clock. The children return to school in time to be there at 1.45. Everything has to be set straight after that, and three o'clock comes before you know where you are.

"From three to five I can find plenty to do sewing and mending, while on Mondays and Tuesdays there is the washing to be done. Tea has to be got ready between five and six, and then soon after it has been cleared away I have to think about the children's bedtime."

JILTED WOMAN STABS BRIDEGROOM AT CHURCH

Wedding Takes Place at Hospital Bedside, He Kisses Bride and Dies.

Rome, March 3.—As a bridal party were going into the parish church at Sassari yesterday a woman ran out from among the spectators and stabbed the bridegroom, Vinvengo Ruin, in the back.

When seized, she declared that she had formerly been loved by Ruin, and would not see him married to any other woman.

The unfortunate man was taken to the hospital dying, and the bridal party, including the bride-elect, followed.

After a short time Ruin recovered consciousness, and the girl asked him if he would marry her before he died. He assented eagerly, and the wedding ceremony was performed at the bedside.

After it was over, Ruin, just had strength enough to kiss his wife before he died.

SHAKESPEARE IN GERMAN.

Berlin, March 3.—No fewer than five of Shakespeare's plays are being given in different Berlin theatres this week.

They are "King Henry IV." (Part I), "Richard II," "The Winter's Tale," "King Lear," and "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

In addition to these the opera, "The Merry Wives of Windsor" is being given, and "The Mikado," and "The Geisha" also figure in the week's programmes.

Such a large number of English plays has not been seen in one week in Berlin for a long time, and it is largely due to the improved relations between the countries.

322 VOYAGES.

Berlin, March 3.—An engineer named Baum, employed by the North German Lloyd Company, has just retired after completing 322 journeys in the company's vessels and covering 1,600,000 sea miles.

MANY MILLIONS MORE CAPITAL FOR THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY WILL BE ASKED

From Ten to Fifty Millions and Additions to the Directorate are in Order. Funds are Required for Expansion. —H. D. Warren of Toronto Added to the Board.

The Bell Telephone Company of Canada, at its annual meeting held today, announced a policy of expansion larger and more comprehensive than anything heretofore undertaken.

Mr. C. F. Sise, the president, stated that the needs of the present and future were such that a resolution would be put before the stockholders asking that the capital of the company be increased from ten to fifty millions.

Another resolution bearing on the broadening out process was that which increases the board of directors by one member, and which will later make two farther increases to the board, giving a directorate of eleven in place of eight.

The first new director added is Mr. H. D. Warren, of Toronto, and later on two others will find seats on the board. One of the last named will represent Western Ontario and the other Manitoba.

Respecting the increases in capital from ten to fifty millions, permission for the same to be made at the coming session of Parliament, President Sise stated that they had been seriously hampered in their work for lack of ready capital to keep pace with the requirements of the business. Of course, this additional capitalization would not come all at once, but stock would be issued as the increase of business made necessary new plants, new lines and all that went to make up a telephone service in a country which was growing as fast as Canada is.

In respect to the additions to the directorate Mr. Sise stated that the time had gone by for confining the interests to a city like Montreal. In the old days, when the Canadian Bell Company was not nearly so large, an all-Montreal directorate had been found sufficient, but now that their interests lay in all parts of the country, it was thought wise to include in the directorate men who would represent these different sections.

REVIEW OF THE YEAR.

Referring to the year 1905 Mr. Sise reviewed briefly the Parliamentary investigation. He said that 43 meetings had been held, and that no less than 3,000 pages of evidence had been written. He was glad to say that from the beginning to the end there had not been one single item which reflected the slightest discredit to the company. In one way and another the investigation had cost a great deal, in legal and other expenses.

This matter had scarcely been adjusted when Manitoba began to talk of municipalization of telephone system and Government ownership. Mr. Sise announced that the Bell Company proposed to go on doing business in Manitoba in spite of all that has been said and written on the subject. Of the total sum of $3,000,000 spent on new work during the year 1905, Manitoba had received as her share some $600,000, on which the return had not been relatively as large as in other sections of Canada.

The annual statement presented to the meeting and read by Mr. Charles F. Sclater, secretary treasurer, was in part as follows:—13,975 subscribers have been added during the year, the total number of sets of instruments now earning rental being 78,195. The Company now owns and operates 136 exchanges and 809 agencies. 4,871 miles of wire have been added to the Long Distance System in 1905. The Long Distance lines now owned and operated by the company comprise 27,082 miles of wire on 8,045 miles of poles. $925,000 of 5 per cent. bonds were sold during the year, the net premium on which $16,350 has been carried to the contingent account.

10,000 shares of new stock were offered to the shareholders at 25 per cent. premium, to be paid for in five quarterly instalments. Three of these instalments are included in this statement bringing the paid up capital to $8,004,840, and premium on stock to the amount of $157,742.50 has also been carried to the contingent account. From the balance of revenue account, amounting to $296,201.13, $45,293.97 have been carried to insurance reserve account, $56,191.23 to accident reserve account and $150,000 to the contingent account, leaving a balance of revenue account to be carried to 1906 of $44,713.93.

One ballot was sufficient to elect the directorate which with the exception of Mr. H. D. Warren have served before:—C. F. Sise, Hon. Robert Mackay, F. D. Fish, Robert Archer, Wm. R Driver, Hugh Paton, Charles Cassils, Thos. Sherwin and H. D. Warren.

Mr. B. A. Enos just previous to the close of the meeting arose and stated that he believed a vote of thanks was due President Sise. He considered that the Bell Telephone Company was about the most ably managed corporation in Canada, and the thanks of the stockholders was due personally to the able president who gave the work his entire time and attention.

Mr. Sise in reply paid a high tribute to his staff.

IS KING HOPELESSLY LAME

New York Cable Says King Edward Will Never Walk Without a Cane

New York, Feb. 25.—According to the London correspondent of the World, King Edward can never walk again without the aid of a cane. The King's fall while shooting in Windsor forest last November resulted in breaking a tendon Achilles.

The World correspondent states this on indisputable authority. It was announced at first that the King had sprained his ankle.

The King is 65 years old, and nature, even with surgical assistance, cannot completely repair the broken tendon Achilles of a man of that age, the correspondent says. Leaning on a stick, King Edward walks very slowly, and with a pronounced limp.

His Majesty learned heavily on a crutch-handled stout Malacca cane when he opened parliament. He could not arise from the throne until the cane was handed to him. He wears an orthopedic instrument inside his boot to support his ankle.

Otherwise the King looks to be in good health, but is planning for a quiet, restful stay at Biarritz before his Mediterranean cruise.

JAPS WILL BE BIGGER MEN

Philadelphia, Feb. 25.—That he will increase the size of the Japanese race to the normal stature of the Caucasian race by teaching them how and what to eat, was the declaration made by Surgeon-General Takaki of Japan in a lecture delivered in the medical lecture room of the University of Pennsylvania yesterday afternoon. The surgeon-general quoted statistics about the men of the army and navy to prove that by giving them the proper diet he has brought them nearer the standard of the weight of the men of the English and American navies. Surgeon-general Takaki declared that many diseases common in Japan have been almost wiped out by the same method. He has made it his life work to find a method by which the size of the Japanese race be made normal.

"Within a few generations I am sure that the Japanese race will be of normal size," he added. "It is one of the greatest humiliations of our life that we are so small. The Caucasian race is normal in size and that is what we want to be. That is what we will be within a short time if the people of my race follow my directions. The emperor has promised to join hands and help the work along. Learned men must now agree that the Japanese only need proper food and plenty of it. Give them nourishing food and all of it they can eat."

C. G. E. BENEFIT SOCIETY

Encouraging Reports For Local Mutual Benefit Society.

There was a large attendance and great enthusiasm prevailed at the semi-annual meeting of the Canadian General Electric Company Employees' Mutual Benefit Society, held Friday evening at the Y.M.C.A. The president, Mr. R. E. Harding, was in the chair, and the report presented by the secretary, Mr. F. A. Shannon, was of a most encouraging nature.

The receipts for the six months now the ending Dec. 30th, 1905, amounted to $1,083.77.

A committee was appointed to arrange for a social evening for the members of the club and their wives and friends will be held some time during March. The Foresters' Hall will likely be engaged for the purpose.

The society has now over 600 members, and is in a flourishing condition.

WORKS FOR THE POINT

Dominion Gov't to Spend $25,000 at Young's Point.

Last week Mr. J. H. McClellan, superintendent of the canal; Mr. D. Eason, C.E.; Mr. Clem. Gordon, of Peterboro, and Mr. W. Murphy, of Montreal, were at Young's Point, registered at the Lake View House, and it is stated that their visit was connected with the proposed extensive work to be done this coming summer in that village. There is reason for believing that the Department of Railways and Canals, will spend in the neighborhood of $15,000 there, and the works which will be constructed will be a new steel bridge over the canal and a new culvert also.

KILLED ON STREET.

Warsaw, Feb. 25.—Privy Councillor Iwanoff, director-general of the Vistula Railroad, was shot and killed on Bredzin street yesterday by an unknown assassin. M. Iwanoff was engaged in suppressing the recent railroad strike, and dismissing many employes for participating in it.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE

Offer of Public Speaker is Declined With Thanks.

At a meeting of the Farmers' Institute held Saturday afternoon in the Munro House, with President Hunter in the chair, the secretary explained that Mr. George A. Putman, Toronto, superintendent of Farmers' Institutes, had offered to send a speaker to the annual meeting. This was discussed, and it was moved and seconded by Messrs. Stothart and Mhalett, that the speaker be dispensed with, and that the meeting be adjourned until the annual meeting on Saturday, June 16th next, at the city council chamber at one o'clock.

There were also present Messrs. William Collins, secretary; Mann, Stothard, Collins, Chambers and Minthalett.

WEARING HER WEDDING DRESS

Stabbed Her Aunt and Uncle Because Stories They Told Caused Husband to Desert Her.

New York, Feb. 25.—Josephine Polari Terranova, the 17-year-old Italian matron, who it is alleged, stabbed Gaetano Riggio, and his wife, with whom she had made her home before her marriage two months ago was arrested yesterday. The charge against the young woman now is murder, as Riaggio died in a hospital early yesterday from his wounds. Mrs. Riggio's condition is somewhat improved.

The stabbing took place last Thursday night at the Riggio home in the Bronx, a short time after Mrs. Terranova had been seen to enter the apartments, but when the neighbors reached there she had gone. Both the old people were found unconscious. Just before his death Riggio accused Mrs. Terranova of stabbing himself and wife, but he gave no reason for the act. The theory of the police has been that Mrs. Terranova was angry with the Riggios because she held them responsible for trouble which resulted in her separation from her husband.

After her arrest, Mrs. Terranova told the police that she stabbed both Riggio and his wife. She asserted that she was justified by this treatment which she claimed to have received at Riggio's hands since she was 12 years old. When she told her husband of Riggio's treatment he refused to live with her, these girl said, and for this reason she attacked both her uncle and his wife.

When the young woman was arrested yesterday she wore her wedding dress. On the front of the skirt was a large dark stain. She said it was made by Riggio's blood.

A Painter's Hard Luck.

Some time ago a well-known Peterboro man stopped a painter on the street and asked him to go up and look his house over and tell him what he would charge for painting it. The painter said it wasn't necessary, as he knew the house well, and agreed to do the work for $65. The contract was let and nothing more was thought about it by the owner of the house until the painter came in for his money. The owner of the house was angry to think the painter should ask for his money in advance and told him so, when the painter said he had painted the house. Investigation showed that the painter had painted a neighbor's house, and when he tried to collect for it the neighbor told him he would not pay him a cent, but was going to sue him for damages.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions upon which alone a title can be obtained under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of 10 cents per ton shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 1500x1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year, or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the holder may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER MINING claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5; renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases for dredging, for a period of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

Pitiable Story of a Widow in Windsor

Windsor, Feb. 25.—Three boys, aged four, eight, and five, for adoption. Apply 112 Albert street.

In this little "want ad" in the Record, a pitiable story is revealed. Mrs. Wm. Moore, a young widow, with four children, who is unable to support them after a year's trial by taking in boarders has lost an unequal battle with the world, and now, broken in health from overwork, she has decided to part with her three boys if good homes can be secured for them. The eldest child, a girl, named Myrtle, will be raised by her grandmother, Mrs. Wm. Clarke, 112 Albert street, where Mrs. Moore is living at present.

Besides the little girl, who is 12 years old, there are the three boys, Henry, aged 10, Armand, aged 8, and Stanley, aged 5. Several applications have been made for the eldest boy, but he was taken ill a few days ago, and until he recovers he will be kept at Mrs. Clarke's home.

WOULD NOT HELP.

Mr. Clarke is a laborer and not in circumstances in which he could support his daughter and her children. In Sandwich West, on the Huron line, lives the father of Mrs. Moore's late husband. Wm. Moore, who is a wealthy farmer, but who refuses to take any of the children for adoption, and advises the plan of sending them out among strangers. The Children's Aid Society communicated with Mr. Moore, but he could not be persuaded to render relief.

It was about eighteen months ago that Wm. Moore, jr., was killed in Walkerville by being crushed between a wall and a heavy wagon, the horses of which became frightened by a passing train. There was no insurance, and the little money that was saved by the couple went to defray burial expenses.

KEPT BOARDING HOUSE.

Then at the corner of Sandwich and Marentette streets the widow started a boarding place, and worked hard to keep up this place and support herself and children. Her health was never good, and this great strain caused the attending physician to order the frail woman to take a rest. Since then she has been living with her parents, who intend keeping her and the eldest child, Myrtle, but whose circumstances will not permit of the keeping of the three little boys. Mrs. Moore is worrying greatly over parting with her children, and it is feared that the shock of actually parting with them will seriously affect her.

STARVING IN PETERBOROUGH

Men and Women who are in Need—Liberal Offer.

There are scores of people in Peterboro and vicinity who are starving in the midst of plenty. This is not because they are in need of food, but because they cannot digest the food they eat.

To help these unfortunates our leading druggists have recently received a large supply of Mi-o-na, the most recent discovery for the cure of stomach troubles.

Mi-o-na is an unusual combination of remedies for the stomach and digestive organs that headaches have been made happy in this country. It soothes and heals the irritated mucous membrane of the stomach, stimulates the solar plexus, and strengthens the nervous system.

One little tablet out of a 50 cent box of Mi-o-na before meals, and you can eat what you like and when you like. You will have no more head-aches, heart-burn, or indigestion. Mi-o-na will give you perfect health and strength.

If you cannot obtain Mi-o-na of your druggist, it will be sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of price. Write us for advice on your case from a leading stomach specialist which will be sent free. The R. T. Booth Company, Ithaca, N. Y.

Proposed Agreement With Carpet Factory

Will Be Submitted to the Qualified Electors, Who Must Assume the Responsibility For Acceptance or Rejection.

The city fathers met in Committee of the Whole, last night, when there were present, Mayor Henry Best, presiding, and Aldermen McIntyre, McWilliams, Tovey, Dunsea, Graham, Ball, Johnston, Adams and Mason.

The proposition in connection with the proposed location here of the Brinton carpet factory of England, was the object of the meeting. This company's representatives had investigated with favor, very desirable property in this city, for their manufacturing industry, and negotiations have been in progress between them and our Manufacturers' Committee for some time, resulting in several propositions being submitted by both parties. And last night Ald. McWilliams, chairman of the Manufacturers' Committee, informed the council that his committee were in receipt of an ultimatum proposition from the carpet company, agreeing to locate here if granted a free site of 15 acres of land and fixed assessment on the purchase price of said land, and buildings used for manufacturing purposes. In return for these inducements the company will bind themselves to erect and equip by Jan. 1st, 1907, substantial buildings, employing therein at least 50 hands; this capacity to increase to 125 employes by January 1st, 1908. Ald. McWilliams pointed out that while this company are favorably impressed with the Sugar Co's property as a desirable site, the city thus yet to purchase that property, by permission from the Ontario Legislature, and there are three or four other properties suitable for manufacturing purposes, which the corporation can acquire.

Continuing, he thought the inducements asked were about commensurate to those offered the Canadian Cordage Co., who started operations with 65 hands, and were given a site worth $4,500, and fixed assessment for 10 years on the purchase price of said land. It is estimated that the purchase price of the selected 15 acres on the Sugar Co's property, will cost $6,000, and this sum represents the strength bonus, if any, this city will pay for the location here of the Brinton carpet factory. (Of course 15 acres of land in some parts of the city would cost considerably more than $6,000.) Ald. McWilliams contended that through the defeat of the Chamberlain policy English manufacturers recognize that they must now locate in the colonies in order to secure colonial trade, as no preferential tariff in favor of British manufacturers can now be looked for. Consequently he hoped that an agreement may be reached with this carpet factory, a reliable and long established concern, whose locating here, might prove an incentive to other British companies to seek a foothold in Peterboro.

The Mayor thought 10 acres of land and 10 years' fixed assessment should be a good inducement. The Toronto carpet factory, employing 500 hands, only got two acres of land free, and a fixed assessment; the Guelph carpet concern, established 80 years ago and now employing 65 or 70 hands, only gets a fixed assessment; and the Sherbrook factory received but very small inducements to locate there.

Ald. Adams remarked that the council are holding office in the interests of the people, they have secured the best agreement possible, and now the people should be asked to assume, by ballot, the responsibility of acceptance or rejection.

Here occurred a rather lengthy discussion, in which the Council agreed that this question would have to go to both the Legislature and the qualified voters, although confirmation by the Legislature might be sought first.

The Mayor—"I'll fix no document of this nature that does not provide for a vote of the people."

Ald. Bald.—"I'm opposed to all bonuses; but if the people vote for such a measure as this, well and good." Continuing, he did not think Peterboro need offer bonuses to induce manufacturers to locate here.

We have many advantages to offer, and manufacturers seeking sites will locate to localities best suited for their business.

The committee then passed the following resolution:

Ald. McWilliams moved, seconded by Ald. Adams,—That this committee recommend to the council that an agreement be entered into with Messrs. Brinton, Limited, of Kidderminster, England, for the establishment of a carpet factory here upon the following terms:—

The company shall before the first day of January, 1907, erect and equip buildings for the manufacture of carpets, to cost not less than $50,000, exclusive of machinery, and shall employ therein by said date not less than fifty hands, and shall employ therein by the first day of January, 1908, not less than 125 hands.

In consideration thereof, the corporation shall grant to the said company a free site of 15 acres of land, to be part of the Sugar Company property, if assented to, failing thereof, other equivalent property; a fixed assessment for a term of 21 years on the purchase price thereof, including buildings used for manufacturing purposes; the right to connect with sewers free of charge; the right to connect with and the use of a railway siding; in event of the city undertaking the supply of electric power, a supply of same at the same rates as other manufacturers; the conveyance of said lands to be on terms similar to those of the lands granted to the Cordage company.

The above agreement to be subject to ratification or modification by the Legislature of Ontario, and to be submitted to a majority vote of the qualified electors.—Carried.

Ald. McWilliams moved, seconded by Ald. Adams,—That the solicitor be instructed to prepare a bylaw for submission to the people, embodying both the foregoing proposition, and that of Mr. Howard, providing for a subdivision of six acres of The Sugar Co. property, including the walls at present thereon, and a fixed assessment for ten years at the purchase price of said land and walls.

It will be noticed that the above resolutions do not dispose these matters, as they will have to be ratified or perhaps modified by the people themselves and the Legislature.

After the meeting Ald. McWilliams secured telephone connection with Mr. Press, a member of the English carpet company, and Mr. Robertson, their solicitor. These gentlemen will come to the city today, to arrange with City Solicitor E. H. D. Hall, and Ald. McWilliams, chairman of the Manufacturers Committee, all details connected with the proposition outlined above. Mr. Press will have charge of the construction of his company's buildings, and the management of the factory when in operation.

THE HOUSE OF REFUGE

Douro Ratepayer Objects to the Site Chosen at Lakefield.

(To the Editor of The Times).

Sir,—In the account of the proceedings of the county council in selecting a site for the house of refuge, Saturday evening's Examiner says: "At the beginning of the meeting, it looked as if no decision would be reached." Far better for the credit of the councillors, and far better for the interests of the county had this been the result; better no decision than a bad one. The warden usurped a position he had no right to assume; he ruled that the councillors must only make a motion that included both the locality and site, in consequence Messrs. Malone and Monague, who advocated the site in Douro, were left "Between the devil and the deep sea." They had either to vote with the Norwood or Smith party or not vote at all; the latter I think would have been their wiser course, as they have now put themselves on record as voting with a councillor who has been working for selfish interests rather than the interests of the county or Lakefield, and I feel yet that a majority of the council when they realize what an error they have made in selecting the Pearson site will reconsider the matter, as I am sure they have been misled by one of their number who is interested. As to the nature and depth of the soil, the interested councillor says it is a rich loam, when he knows it is a sandy loam and very sandy at that. Do they, the council, know that the property is divided in two by a public road? Do they know that the portion east of the road runs into the Lakefield marshes? Do they know that the highest elevation would not be over 20 feet above said marshes? Do they know, if they don't, I do, that they only spent about twenty minutes walking over this property where the ground was frozen and that they took no steps to ascertain the depth of the soil, nor the truth of the other matters to which I refer. If they won't look into all these objections perhaps the Government will do so before they pay over the grant. In conclusion as a large ratepayer in the county I enter my protest against the county's money being used in erecting a home for the aged and infirm, except said home is erected where there is good elevation, pure air and pleasant surroundings, and the land purchased for the home farm gives sure promise of yielding satisfactory returns.

Yours truly,
DOURO RATEPAYER.

A SPLENDID CONCERT

Fine New Separate School Opened by Most Pleasing Entertainment

That most imposing structure in the west part of the city recently finished the separate school building, was on Monday night opened by a most interesting and patriotic concert held in the assembly hall. This room is very large and artistically finished and seats over five hundred people. The accoustic properties are perfect. Colored electric globes are used in the lighting which gives a very pretty effect. Some of the leading clergy in the district, among them being his lordship, Bishop O'Connor, Rev. Father Casey, of Lindsay, Rev Fathers Brethartom of Hastings, Rev. Father Mathieu of Bewsaville Rev. Father Fitzpatrick of Downe Rev. Father McDoll, Rev. Dr. O'Brien Rev. Father Galvin and Rev. Father Kelly were present.

A very pleasing feature of the entertainment was the opening chorus, by the boys of Murray street school, entitled "Long Live the King." The boys wore a smart uniform and carried small "Union Jacks."

About 30 small girls took part in an operetta entitled "Timidity," whose sweet voices, pretty dresses, combination of various flowers, made a most attractive tableau on stage.

"The Boys of the Old Brigade," was very well rendered, as appropriate costumes by the boys of Lake street school. Many of Peterboro's most accomplished musicians, absentminds and vocalists of the young generation contributed, by their individually well rendered parts, to complete an entertainment of rare excellence.

Budapest in Turmoil.

Budapest, February 26.—The city is in a condition of continuous quiet. Three Hungarian army officers of high rank incensed at Austrian methods are arranging to leave the service. A number of students clashed with a crowd of socialists today and a fierce fight followed. Many of the combatants were so badly injured that they had to be taken to the hospital.

The coalition is planning to hold two hundred meetings next Sunday to protest against the summary dissolution of Parliament by the King.

ITS STRENGTH ITS WEAKNESS

Outcome of Russian Revolution Was Favorable to the Government.

THE CZAR DOES STILL RULE

Witte Tells of the Campaign Against Him—He Accepts the Penalties.

St. Petersburg, February 27. — The special strength of the Russian revolution appears to have proved its special weakness. It was supposed that the great railroad strikes and other strikes in the manufacturing towns would afford the revolutionists a new and powerful weapon. In fact the revolution gained immensely as regards the impression of those who watched its course because of the appearance of mystery with which it has been invested. By degrees it became evident, however, that the elements which were missing from the Russian revolution were such as could not safely be dispensed with. Radical as was the news that came in from all parts of the empire, nevertheless there appeared little or nothing in the way of real progress. It was difficult to say what the revolutionists were aiming at—whether they knew themselves what they wanted. The people were puzzled with speculations as to whether it was a dynastic or a constitutional movement. Did its real strength lie in the towns or in the country? Was its object industrial or agrarian? Or was it simply a gathering of the forces of discontent formidable—most formidable—from the point of view of the prosperity and good administration of the empire, but not such a revolution as left the government no choice but that between conquering and being conquered? The outcome appears after all, no matter what the liberalizing tendencies may have been, to have been favorable to the government. In spite of all the Czar is still on his throne. Count Witte is still his first minister, and enough of the army is faithful to him to give him command of the situation at all events in St. Petersburg and in Moscow.

Things have so far solidified themselves that Sergius Yulevitch, Witte, the first minister of Russia, is even willing to comment upon the situation as it exists. In answer to questions recently he said:

"Probably no public servant known to Russian history has ever been so severely and unanimously blamed in his own country as myself, and this not only for acts which I did, but for others which I never even dreamed of doing, and not merely for words and motives which were truly mine, but also for their opposites which were gratuitously attributed to me. Again, every public man known to history, no matter what the color of his politics, has had a party following, numerous or small. Some section of society indorsed his principles, some fraction assisted his efforts, many rejoiced at his achievements. I am the sole exception. Every party, extreme or moderate, agrees in objecting to what it terms my policy, on grounds that contradict each other diametrically.

"As a Russian patriot my heart bleeds at a lack of industrious fellow laborers in the country's cause, of earnest workers who do not expect political or social regeneration from radical programs and speeches, but from steady, wise, patient labor, from respect for the law, from reverence for duty and from the exercise of self control. With a fair contingent of such modest, conscientious toilers, Russia would soon rise to a very high place among the nations of the earth. I am hopeful that men of this sort will yet come forward. Meanwhile my motive in continuing to occupy a post which brings down such harsh judgment upon me is duty to the Czar and the fatherland; my guiding principle is to act according to my lights and my sole recompense is the approval of my conscience.

"On my return from the United States after the treaty of Portsmouth all that I craved for was rest for body and mind in the seclusion of private life, and it was all the more likely that my wish would be granted since there were doubtless others who placed in the position I now occupy, might have acquitted themselves of the task as well as myself, or better.

"Whatever the drawbacks or penalties attached to the performance of my duty I cheerfully accept them. But I certainly do not include among such penalties the constant disapproval of everything I do by certain political groups. On the contrary, clever men's criticism is always welcome, because it is wholesome and helpful, while to the strictures of the remainder one can easily shut one's second ear. Some nations lodge their servants not only by what they have accomplished, but also by what they would fain have accomplished. I am ready to accept responsibility for what I have really said and done, but what I deprecate are the apocryphal utterances gratuitously attributed to me every day."

Quick Diagnosis Found.

New York, February 26.—Research by the Department of Health has resulted in the discovery of a method by which the diagnosis for hydrophobia which has hitherto taken from three to four days, may be made in twenty minutes. Results will be obtained from these investigations which will prove of incalculable benefit, and will, it is believed, bring to light an entirely new theory as to the origin of the disease itself.

By this new method not only are pathologists enabled to tell with certainty whether or not the dog which has bitten a patient was rabid, but sufferers will be relieved from days of suspense. Its principle is based on the rapid detection of what appear to be minute organisms in the brain of rabid animals, known as Negri bodies.

TRUE BRITISH NOBLEMAN

REPAYS KINDNESS DONE WHEN "BROKE" IN THE UNITED STATES

Interesting Story of a Pair of Ohio Doctors—How They Were Entertained.

Cincinnati, Ohio, February 27. — Entertaining a Scotch nobleman in disguise, helping him out of a difficulty, and then being treated to a trip through Europe, was the pleasant fate that befel Drs. J. A. and D. D. McCallum, of Crestline, Ohio, former residents of this city.

Last summer a young gentleman got off a through train at Crestline, Ohio, and went to a certain lawyer to ask the loan of some money. He explained that his father in the old country was wealthy and that he himself was taking a trip through America. Some money which was coming to him from Scotland had been delayed, and he was, for the time being, broke.

The lawyer though the young man was trying to "work" him, especially as he would not tell his name.

The young fellow then went to the office of the Drs. McCallum, and they befriended him. They lent him money, put him up at the best hotel in town and took him riding in their automobile.

After a week had passed a substantial sum of money arrived from Scotland, and it became apparent that the young stranger was very rich. He repaid his two friends the money they had spent on him and went away.

Not long afterwards the doctors received a letter from Baron St. Osaill, of Scotland, thanking them for befriending his son and inviting them to visit him at his own expense. The doctors promptly accepted the invitation. They crossed the ocean on the steamer "Celtic," and were treated in a princely fashion by their hosts.

The doctors remained six weeks in the old land, and were taken on a tour of Ireland, England and France by the baron and his son.

They have just recently arrived home, and the interesting story has leaked out.

BIG IRRIGATION PLANS

C. P. R. Expects to Irrigate 400,000 Acres This Year.

Montreal, February 27.—With the large force of men now at work in the Calgary and Lethbridge districts, and the scale of the equipment provided, the Canadian Pacific Railway expects to irrigate 400,000 acres of land this season. Already canals have been completed which are capable of furnishing water for irrigating 150,000 acres.

The Canadian Pacific Railway scheme for irrigation is on a scale almost unprecedented in America, for the block which it proposes to irrigate comprises 1,000,000 acres, and is the largest unoccupied block of good land in the West. Individual owners and ranch companies are beginning to imitate the railway company, and the result has been the reclamation of much country and the establishment of some important beet sugar factories.

The Calgary Irrigation Company has thirty-five miles of main ditch, and the Alberta Railway and Irrigation Company, with headquarters at Lethbridge, have 120 miles of ditch.

The Canadian Pacific Railway sells its irrigated land for $15 an acre and upwards.

LENIENCY FOR PRIVATE BILLS

Committee Extends the Time—House Committees Begin to Organize.

Toronto, Feb. 28.—The Standing Orders and Private Bills committees of the Legislature held their initial meetings yesterday. Mr. W. H. Hoyle, M.P.P., for North Ontario, was elected chairman of the first and Mr. Henry Carscallen, M.P.P., of Hamilton, was re-elected chairman of the second.

Both committees recommended the extension of the time for receiving bills for ten days. George S. May of Ottawa, in the Private Bills Committee, objected to any extension. He thought a rap on the knuckles for delinquent municipalities would bring them to time, but Mr. Carscallen thought that the committee should not be too arbitrary.

There are up to date 90 applications for private bills, a noticeable increase over the number in the last session.

TROOPS EXPECT OUTBREAK

Viceroy of Canton is Anti-Foreign and Anti-Dynastic.

Manila, Feb. 27.—A leading American firm in this city has received the following cable from Canton:

"The bogeyist has greatly encouraged the anti-foreign feeling. Teachers, reformers, agitators, and the native newspapers now have the power of that association behind them, causing a remarkable growth in the reform party and general agitation, while the anti-foreign, anti-dynastic viceroy of Canton, by his autocratic ruling and his antagonistic attitude toward the foreign consuls, encourages the masses of the people in their anti-foreign feeling.

"In the prefecture of Changchow, near Amoy, fiercest outrages against foreign chinese proceedure, approved by Pekin, has strengthened revolutionary forces, who were eager to try conclusions with the Government.

"In a portion of China between the Yangtze Valley and the Hong Kong district a dangerous anti-foreign feeling exists, which is likely to break out at any moment."

The Federal troops here are prepared against the pending outbreak.

You Lack the Vigor, Courage and Staying Power that "Ferrozone" Can Supply

Night comes and it's hard to sleep. Morning dawns and the anxious, tired feeling is still there. Don't neglect this gradual decline; it can't cure itself. But by forming rich pure blood, Ferrozone will quickly supply the nutriment and building material your system craves.

Instantly you are aware that some powerful force is building up your depleted energies. Ut, once you feel braced, toned, strengthened. Search the world over and you won't find anything to tone up a weak system like Ferrozone. Physicians claim it is the most strengthening, uplifting medicine ever discovered.

No more spells of tiredness, but bounding, joyful health when you take Ferrozone, of which Mrs. H. S. Gold, of Bowmanan, Man., speaks in the following words of praise:

"I state my case because I think it may assist other women to health. A year ago I was almost a wreck. I was pale and emaciated, suffering from nervousness, and hysteria. Little things going wrong in the house bothered me. The doctor advised different treatments but they didn't help. He said my low condition was due to weakness that might never be cured. Ferrozone had a peculiar grateful effect and built me up quickly. The ills I suffered from are cured. I am now strong and vigorous and was made so by Ferrozone."

Why not cast aside the claims of sickness and enter the bright, happy life of robust health. Let Ferrozone help you—let it cure you once and forever. Price 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

A WORLD LANGUAGE.

Another attempt is being made to introduce a "universal language." The idea is old and more than one serious effort has been made to carry it into effect.

The purpose is to provide a language of few and simple principles for use in international affairs. Nearly all modern languages have peculiarities which make them difficult to master, adding to the expense and difficulties of foreign commerce. Every designer of a "universal language" has aimed to have it so simple and rational that it would not be difficult to acquire and remember.

A long and persistent effort has been made to introduce Volupuk for this purpose. But it has not been successful. Now come the advocates of "Esperanto," which, they claim, is a better universal language than Volupuk. It is composed of basic words from Latin, German and English, with uniform prefixes and suffixes not difficult to master.

There is little likelihood that this or any other artificial language will be adopted for universal use. The mere fact that foreign languages, as they now exist, are hard to learn has a discouraging effect. Busy men are not inclined to take up such a task. To bring a universal business and diplomatic language into use, it must be taught to young men in their student days. Such teaching would necessarily need to embrace, in the course of time, the youth destined for foreign commerce in enough of the great selling and buying nations to compel its adoption by the others. That would require a degree of co-operation almost impossible to attain.

But all great things have their beginnings. If the advocates of a "universal language" persevere and raise up disciples to follow them, the day may come when something of the kind will be accepted.

FRENCH AND GERMAN NAVIES

In view of the tense situation that exists between France and Germany, and will continue to exist until the final adjustment of the Moroccan question, there has been a good deal of national stock-taking on both sides of the Rhine. While the French have reassured themselves on the relative strength of their military forces, there is a decided tone of pessimism as regards their navy. In point of the number of war vessels available, France stands forth easily as the superior power. But when the fighting capabilities of the two fleets come to be analyzed, the case begins to wear a somewhat different aspect.

Both nations have twenty-one battleships, but fourteen of the French battleships were built prior to 1890, while no fewer than sixteen of the German craft are of later construction. Thus, although France enjoys a slight advantage on the score of tonnage displacement, this is more than counterbalanced by the superior speed, armament, and homogeneity of Germany's more modern vessels.

Coming to armored cruisers, we find France in a decided position of superiority — nineteen ships as against seven. But the results of the recent war between Russia and Japan go to discount the fighting value of this style of craft; when ranged against the big battleships, the less heavily armed and armored boats are liable to be knocked out of action by their formidable antagonists. Moreover, on the score of swiftness and gun-power the German cruisers, ship for ship, excel the French cruisers. They are also a much more homogeneous fleet, which counts for much in actual combat, where combined maneuvering is essential.

In the category of destroyers, torpedo boats, and submarines, France has a vast preponderance. But once again the test of actual war showed no very startling results from these classes of ships, and in any case their range of usefulness is almost entirely restricted to home waters.

So altogether the French naval stock-taking has not been too reassuring, and cold study of the facts has more and more driven the press of the country to emphasize the vital importance of maintaining the cordial understanding with Great Britain. The Moroccan question will soon now enter upon its acute phase, and a significant note is sounded by the announcement that a fleet of sixty British war vessels will assemble off the coast of Spain—"for maneuvering purposes," as the language of diplomacy phrases it.

MANCHURIA BELONGS TO JAPAN

The Manchuria Daily Report, the Japanese paper published in Newchwang, Manchuria, recently said editorially: "We repeat that every inch of Manchuria under Japanese occupation now has been bought for a dear price in blood money. Hence Japan is its legitimate owner. China has forfeited her suzerainty over it by once making, so to speak, a present of it to Russia." Nevertheless, Japan will do what the treaty of peace says, "restore Manchuria to China," but there is nothing to prevent her buying it back again at such nominal price as China chooses to accept.

WAR AND RACE DETERIORATION

Many nations have risen to power and grandeur only later to be leveled in the dust. Their fall has been attributed to political corruption. It has been charged to the growth of wealth and luxury and the consequent decay of moral virtues. It has been imputed to changes in the value of money. But the true cause of racial, and therefore of national, deterioration, according to President David Starr Jordan, of Leland Stanford University, is war. President Jordan has written a book, entitled "The Blood of Nations," in support of his thesis.

It might seem on first thought that President Jordan's theory is unscientific as running counter to the Darwinian theory of natural selection. But he finds in Darwinism the justification of his position. In the struggle for existence among plants and animals in a state of nature the unfit perish while the fit survive, propagate and transmit to their offspring their superior qualities. Thus the tendency of natural selection is constantly to improve the species. The tendency of war, President Jordan argues, is to deteriorate races because it reverses this process. The strongest and bravest men go or are sent to the front to be killed, while the weaklings and cowards are left at home. The result is the nation's numbers are kept up by the propagation of its unfit classes, and it tends, in consequence, to deteriorate to their level.

Greece fell because war had carried off the men who made her glory and left only stable boys, scullions, and slaves to perpetuate the Grecian name. "The Roman Empire," says Seeley, "perished for want of men," and the want of men, according to President Jordan, was due to centuries of war. France has confessed to a state of comparative decadence by naming a commission to investigate its causes. The Napoleonic wars, the author of "The Blood of Nations" believes, are a sufficient explanation of other French conditions besides the reduced French stature. "Astonishment has been expressed that the Japanese should have made such good soldiers after six generations of peace. It was the long peace that made them good soldiers, says President Jordan. It is in time of peace that the beneficent process of human evolution goes on. It is then the virile and brave survive and hand down their virtues, while the idle, weak, and dissipated go to the wall." Our American cousins would be a stronger and better people today if the carnage of the civil war could have been avoided.

President Jordan's theory is only partly true. War has not always tended toward man's deterioration. When in barbarous and semi-barbarous times the military forces was the whole people in arms, the unfit usually did perish, the fit usually did survive, and war promoted human evolution. But where, as in civilized countries, armies are composed of but part of the men, and those largely the best men, the tendency of war to the deterioration and even destruction of the nations participating seems unquestionable. Leaving barbarous times and tribes out of the account President Jordan's theory stands pretty well the test of science and of history. It constitutes a powerful argument against engaging in war except when honor and the most important national interests imperatively require it. The nation that will not go to war to defend its honor and maintain its rights is already degenerate.

IF THERE IS WAR.

The issues at stake at Algeciras are of great importance to the people of the British Empire, for if there be war between France and Germany over this dispute, it is too much to hope that Britain will not be involved. Who else may be involved, it is hard to say; but it is quite as difficult to say who may not. Italy will be in the delicate position of being an ally of Germany, and a party to an agreement with France that she should have a free hand in Morocco. Austria will have no interest except to support Germany; but will Austria be anxious at this time to help make the House of Hohenzollern supreme on the Continent of Europe? Russia, on the other hand, is the ally of France; but can she afford to quarrel under the present circumstances with the power which can keep Poland quiet?

A war between Britain and France on the one side and Germany on the other, would be for all the parties "a leap into the dark." The London Times' correspondent has been telling us of late that the French army is in far better fighting condition than it has been for many decades; and that the French defences along the German frontier are said to be impregnable. Thus it might be entirely possible for the French to remain on the defensive and roll back the tides of German invasion, while the French and British fleets swept the seas of German shipping and hermetically sealed German ports. How long Germany could stand a siege of this nature, it is impossible to predict; but it must not be forgotten that she would be wide open toward Russia and Austria, and so would have considerable access to the outside world. The closing of German ports would be a minor calamity when compared with the closing of either British or French ports.

Would the German army of invasion be as effective as in 1870? Figures cannot give us the answer to this question. The spirit of the German people would offer a better clue. In 1870 they were quite conscious that they were fighting for the future life of the German nation, which was just then about to be born. But today is there not a feeling in Germany that its industrial and trade progress should not be checked for any question of Morocco, or even any advantage to be gained by teaching France to look to Berlin for orders? If Germany were a constitutionally governed country, would there now be danger of war at all? That is the real question; for if Germany is not as a whole full of enthusiasm for the war, the army of invasion will betray this lack.

But surely the great financiers of Berlin, Paris and London should be able to command peace today in the very centre of civilization!

PROF. MILNER'S RECITAL

Splendid Program Rendered in George Street Methodist Church.

Professor Charles Milner, associate of the Royal College of Organists, London, scored a decided triumph and earned enthusiastic applause by the admirable and finished manner in which he contributed several difficult selections in George street on Tuesday evening. A very large and well pleased audience was present.

Prof. Milner was assisted in the program by Mrs Duncan MacGregor, Miss Gertrude Kennedy and Miss Clara Hellegbern, and the choir, all of whom in the honors of the evening, of whom shared in the honors of the evening. The program proved to be an exceedingly enjoyable one.

Prof Milner in his interpretation of the different numbers, proved that he is a past master of the organ.

Prof. Milner was heard in fifteen numbers and in every one he elicited much applause from the large assembly.

Local experts in music stated openly that Mr. Milner is one of the most accomplished organists Peterboro has ever heard, and the George street church is to be congratulated on securing his services.

TO VISIT BRANTFORD

Our Gallant 57th Regt. May Go to the Telephone City.

There is good reason for supposing that our local crack corps, the 57th Regiment, will visit Brantford on their annual trip during the coming summer. A meeting of the military men of Brantford, was held Tuesday night when one of the things to be considered was the extending of an invitation to the Peterboro regiment to visit the Telephone city. A Brantford paper commenting on the proposition says that the Peterboro Rangers, is a crack regiment and would prove an excellent drawing card in that city. It is likely that a big military tournament will be held in Hamilton on July 1.

DOURO MAN GONE

Mr. John E. Conroy a Well Known Lumberman Passes Away.

Mr. John E. Conroy, one of the best known and most generally respected residents of the township of Douro, passed away yesterday morning, at his home in the eighth concession, about five miles east of the city. Mr. Conroy had only been ill a short time, and was fifty-one years of age. About six weeks ago he went north with a lumbering party but contracted a severe cold, and was compelled to return home. He never recovered but gradually sank, until death came yesterday.

Mr. Conroy is survived by a wife and six children. His mother, Mrs. Ed. Conroy, of fifth ward, also survives him; also four brothers, Messrs. David, Michael and Patrick of Peterboro, and Edward of Muskoka, and three sisters, Mrs. Robert Horan and Mrs. Dennis Mellon of Minnesota, and Mrs. C Quinlan of fifth ward, Peterboro.

The funeral will take place at 9.30 o'clock on Friday morning from his late residence to St. Peter's cathedral and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery.

A U.S. Senator in Town.

Senator J. M. Kennedy, of Butte City, Montana, accompanied by Mrs. Kennedy, is the guest of the latter's brother, Mr. Dan Sullivan, corner of George and Edinburgh streets. Senator Kennedy is a Canadian boy and was formerly a member of the 4th estate in this country. Senator Kennedy is closely connected in business life with F. Augustus Heinze. Mr. Heinze recently sold certain mining property which was in litigation, for $25,000,000. Mrs. Kennedy is a former Peterboro girl, her maiden name being Jewell Sullivan, and she is a sister of Mr. Dan Sullivan, of Peterboro, and of Mrs. Wm. Leahy, of Lakefield.

—The Times had a pleasant call yesterday from Mr. H. Sherin, of New York, who has been a guest of his sister, Mrs. Dawson Kennedy, Water street. Mr. Sherin is an old Peterboro boy, who has made his mark in the business life of the great American metropolis. Mr. Sherin left yesterday for Toronto, on his way home.

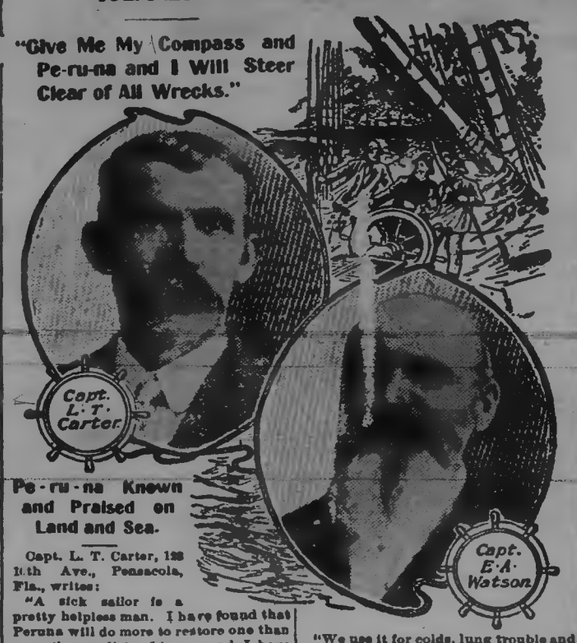
"Give Me My Compass and Pe-ru-na and I Will Steer Clear of All Wrecks."



Pe-ru-na Known and Praised on Land and Sea.

Capt. L. T. Carter, 128 16th Ave., Pensacola, Fla., writes:

"A sick sailor is a pretty helpless man. I have found that Peruna will do more to restore one than any other medicine I know, and I have carried a couple of bottles on board for many seasons.

"Seven years ago Peruna cured me of bronchial trouble in a few weeks and gave me such new life and nerve force that I certainly believe in telling you of it.

"Give me my compass and Peruna and I will steer clear of wrecks of all kinds and land in port safe and well with vessel and men."—L. T. Carter.

Capt. E. A. Watson, M. E., 46 Elizabeth street, Ottawa, Ont., writes:

"Peruna has my heartiest endorsement. If there is any place that you are helpless when ill, it is on board a steamer, at sea, miles away from any assistance.

"Sometimes two or three of my men would be sick at one time and seriously cripple the force, but since we have learned of the value of Peruna, by taking a few doses they recuperate very quickly.

"We use it for colds, lung trouble and kidney diseases, and have also found it very fine for la grippe.

"Peruna is always one of the most important supplies of my steamer."—E. A. Watson.

With a bottle of Peruna on board sailors have a remedy on which they can rely.

LAKEFIELD GETS IT

House of Refuge For the Preston Property.

The council council, on Saturday, at their afternoon session decided the question which has been occupying their attention for the past months. For some time the location has rested between Lakefield and Norwood, but it was not until Saturday that a settlement could be reached.

Those present at the afternoon's meeting were Warden Johnston, and Councillors Garbutt, Stinson, Moloney, Webster, Monaghan, Carey, Shaw, Andrews and Bunk.

At the beginning of the meeting it looked as if no decision would be reached. The councillors discussed the question in a general manner and showed no sign of bringing the matter to a head.

Councillors Bunk and Andrews agreed that Norwood should be secured on the score of economy and water power.

Councillor Garbutt pointed out similar advantages that would be found in Lakefield.

The following sites were selected as the five most suitable:

At Lakefield—
Bradee farm, 45 acres, $6000.
Strickland farm, 75 acres, $7500.
Preston property, 100 acres, $9000.
At Norwood—
Grover property, 100 acres, $6500.
Robb property, 45 acres, $3600.

After many amendments and suggestions had been thrashed on the final vote on the Preston property at Lakefield resulted as follows:

Yeas—Councillors, Garbutt, Stinson, Webster, Moloney, Monaghan and Shaw.

Nays—Councillors Andrews, Bunk, and Carey.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Peterboro Cheese Board Nominates Executives For Coming Year.

The annual meeting of the Peterboro Cheese Board was held Saturday afternoon last.

Among those present were noted Messrs. D. A. Oakley, Norwood; G. Ramer, Indian River; R. Pickle, Greystock, E. Hawthorne, Warsaw; E. Dayell, Otonabee Union; W. A. Anderson, Keene; J. W. Smith, Perrytown; W. J. Bullock, Pine Grove; A. Fairbairn, Lakefield; Wm. Hannah and G. A. Reanick, Fleetwood; S. Edwards, Lakefield; Wm. Sharp, Cedardale; H. Crowe, Bunkhorn; S. R. Payne, Warsaw; A. L. Andrews and J. P. Andrews, Beamfort; R. Bullock, Warmington; J. W. Fotheringhame, A. Woods, Cavanville and many others.

The treasurer's report was satisfactory showing a substantial balance on hand; The election of officers resulted as follows;

Mr. Young, the president, was induced to hold office for another year. No one opposed him for the office, and Mr. Young thanked them present for their kindness.

Vice President—Mr. Tudhope, of Westwood, elected by acclamation.

Secretary—Mr. J. Riddle, Beamfort, by acclamation.

Treasurer — Mr. E. Hawthorne, elected by a close vote.

Arbitrator — Mr. Ryan, acclamation.

Auditors — Mr. A. Fairbairn and Mr. W. J. Bullock.

The first cheese sale will be held on May 23.

Mr. Bannah moved, seconded by Mr. Dayell, that an application for instructor for 1906 be sent in, terms to be same as in 1905, and application to be made as soon as possible. After discussion this was carried.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, marked on the envelope "Tenders for Construction," will be received at the office of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway at Ottawa, until twelve o'clock noon on Monday the 12th day of March, 1906, for the work required for the construction, in accordance with the plans, profiles and specifications of said Commissioners, for the following sections of the Transcontinental Railway, the said work to be completed on or before the first day of September, 1907, viz:—

(1) District "F." From a point designated on the plans of the said Commissioners at or near the City of Winnipeg, to a point known as Peninsula Crossing, near the junction point of the Port William branch of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, a distance of about 245 miles.

(2) District "B." From a point designated on the plans of the said Commissioners, at the north end of the Quebec Bridge and Railway Company's bridge in the vicinity of the City of Quebec, to a point near La Tuque, a distance of about 150 miles.

(3) A steel viaduct about 3,600 feet long across the Cap Rouge Valley, in said District "B," in the vicinity of the City of Quebec, the work to be performed in accordance with the General Specifications of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway, and the General Specifications for steel bridges and viaducts of the Department of Railways and Canals of Canada, 1905.

Plans, profiles and specifications may be seen in the office of the Chief Engineer of the Commissioners at Ottawa, also in the office of the District Engineer at Kenora, Ontario, for the section of District "F," and for the section of District "B" in the office of the District Engineer at Quebec.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made in duplicate, and on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners.

Separate tenders must be submitted for the work in each District.

Tenderers shall not be in any way entitled to rely upon the classification or any other information given by any person on behalf of the Commissioners, and before submitting any tender, bidders should make a careful examination of the plans, profiles, drawings and specifications, and read the forms to be executed, and fully inform themselves as to the quantity and quality of materials and character of workmanship required; and are understood to accept and agree to be bound by the terms and conditions contained in the form of contract, specifications, &c., annexed to the form of tender.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank of the Dominion of Canada, payable to the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway for the sum of four hundred thousand dollars ($400,000), for District "F," and two hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars ($225,000), for District "B," and thirty-five thousand dollars ($35,000) for steel viaduct in said District "B." Any person whose tender is accepted shall within ten days after the acceptance thereof furnish the security required by the Commissioners for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms, sign the contract, specifications and other documents required to be signed by said Commissioners; and in any case of refusal or failure on the part of the party whose tender is accepted to complete and execute a contract with the said Commissioners and to furnish the approved security within ten days after the acceptance of the tender, the said cheque shall be forfeited to the Commissioners as liquidated damages for such refusal or failure, and all contract rights acquired by the acceptance of the tender shall be forfeited. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

Attention is called to the following clauses in the form of contract:—

"All mechanics, labourers or other persons who perform labour for the purposes of the construction of the works hereby contracted for shall be paid such wages as are generally accepted as current for competent workmen in the District in which the work is being performed, and, if there is no current rate in such District, then a fair and reasonable rate; and, in the event of a dispute arising as to what is the current or a fair and reasonable rate, it shall be determined by the Commissioners, whose decision shall be final."

"This agreement is subject to the regulations now in force, or which may at any time hereafter be in force during the construction of the works hereby contracted for, made under the authority of the Department of Labour, and which are or shall be applicable to such works."

"The contractor shall in connection with the whole of the said work, as far as practicable use only material, machinery, plant, supplies and rolling stock manufactured or produced in Canada, provided the same can be obtained as cheaply and upon as good terms in Canada as elsewhere, having regard to quality and price."

The contractor shall conform to the Fire Regulations adopted by the Commissioners, and also to the Laws and Regulations respecting fires in the different Provinces wherein the work is being performed.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

By order,
P. B. RYAN,
Secretary.

The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway,
Ottawa, 8th February, 1906.

Story of the Chase of St. George Banwell

Prisoner Travelled Over 7,000 Miles and Detective Black Over 5,000---Circulars Were Sent to all the Big Cities of the World.

Toronto, March 1.—When Detective Black arrives with E. St. George Banwell this morning, the detective will have travelled nearly 5,000 miles, and the prisoner over 7,000.

That Detective Black's visit to New York near the end of December, was not his first visit is known to but few. Although the bank was robbed on Saturday, Dec. 9, it was not until the Tuesday morning following that the local detective department received an official notice of any information from the bank authorities, and the afternoon of the day before, warrant for Banwell's arrest (at first for stealing $1,500), was issued. Almost immediately Detective Black was sent to New York.

But on the morning of the day on which he took the train for that city, Banwell and his wife had left and nothing was known of their whereabouts. Detective Black remained in the American metropolis until Saturday, when no further word being received of the missing teller, and his brother's death ensuing, the Toronto detective returned to this city, and remained here for ten days.

It was intended at first that the Pinkerton men, who gave valuable assistance throughout, and the police of the locality should take charge of the arrest if it could be effected, and for several days both these were in communication with the Toronto authorities. The discovery was made that St. Louis was Banwell's hiding place, but when his capture seemed certain he made his escape and the detectives were thrown off the scent. Memphis, Tennessee, was the next point the two visited, but this also was known too late. From there they went to New Orleans, and the Pinkertons discovered this. At once a telegram was sent to the police authorities there, but no answer came back to Toronto. Another was sent, and a third, and no reply. When this indicated that the police of that city could not be depended on to assist, and Banwell had in the meanwhile escaped again, it was decided to send Detective Black once more. Through two sources it was learned in Toronto that the fugitives had been to Jacksonville, Florida, and that Cuba or Jamaica was their destination. Hence Detective Black went directly there from New York and on to Jamaica.

ELABORATE PREPARATIONS.

The general preparations for the capture of the defaulting teller were the most elaborate ev- made in Toronto. On the first wa from the bank the Canadian ocean p s Montreal, Quebec, Halifax, Vancouver, etc., were telegraphed to, as also those in the United States. A cordon was thus established along the borders.

These as soon as the postal service could do it, circulars were sent to every city in the United States of over 10,000 inhabitants, and to the cities all over the world of 200,000 or more. Just as soon as word was received of the successful ending of Detective Black's long chase, circulars were again sent out to all these cities with the announcement. A number of replies have been received from various European cities, some of which had probably never heard of Toronto before. One city, Frankfort, Germany, took advantage of the opening made to request a subscription for the official police paper, published in that city.

The well was the secret of the absence of Detective Black preserved, that not only during his first visit, but not until word came from Jamaica, did the majority of the police force themselves know that he was working on this case.

POLICE COURT NEWS

Yesterday the "Take it Easy Club" were out in full force at the Police Court, mainly to hear a case against two young men charged with having trespassed upon the premises of Mrs. Louisa Howell, McDonnell street.

The first witness called was P. C. McGinty, who testified to having found, at Mrs. Howell's house, the two prisoners, Baker and Ross. They were in a drunken sleep in bed with boots and clothes on. He woke them up, when they told him they had come to the place with Mrs. Howell. He then brought them to the station. Mrs. Howell was drunk herself.

The prisoners being asked whether they wished to ask witness any questions, said: "No, what he says is right."

Then young Baker went into the witness box. Said he found Mrs. Howell on Water street. She was pretty near in "the blues," drunk. "How drunk were you?" asked the Magistrate. "Not so very drunk," said Baker. They took her home, as she was drunk and incapable. Mrs Howell told the men there were lots of beds upstairs and they went up and went to sleep. The other prisoner was too drunk to give evidence. He tried several times to butt in on the evidence Baker was giving. The Magistrate asked him, "How did you get drunk so early in the morning? Had you not better be locked up till you sober up?" "No, Mr. Dumble, I have got a job on the crane and I want to go to work," replied Ross. "Well, you are in fine shape to work!" answered His Worship. A lawyer present, in sotto voco, said, "I guess it's unloading schooners, not working on the crane, he is after."

THEY PLEAD GUILTY

Bigamists Get off Very Easily by Appealing to the Court.

The Belleville Intelligencer says: "David Keller and his bigamous wife, of Deseronto, who were arrested and had a preliminary enquete on the charge of illegally marrying, were this morning brought up before Judge Fralick for election.

"Mr. Anson Deroche, who appeared for the accused stated that they desired to be tried by his honor and would plead guilty and throw themselves upon the mercy of the court, Mrs. Keller appeared in court with an infant in her arms.

When asked if he had anything to say why sentence should not be passed upon him, Keller answered in the negative.

His Honor stated that he knew the circumstances of the case. The woman was married to a man named Morley Thompson, who shortly after left her and for upwards of four years did not put in an appearance, neither did he provide for her maintenance. She and Keller then got married and had for some time lived comfortably together. The case did not, in his opinion, partake of the more serious side of bigamy and he would deal leniently. The woman was given a suspended sentence and Keller was given one month in jail. Mr. Anderson represented the Crown.

Typhoid at Port Arthur.

Winnipeg, March 1.—hTe municipal authorities of Port Arthur telegraphed here yesterday for nurses to assist in hospital work there, which, owing to the prevalence of typhoid, has overtaxed the present nursing staff. Three young ladies from St. Boniface Hostal left for Port Arthur on the evening train.

STRENGTH OF THE UNITED MINE WORKERS OF AMERICA.

The following figures show the strength of the United Mine Workers of America, and also show an estimate of the men who may be expected to strike with the others should an order be given. During the year 1905 the United Mine Workers paid an average per capita tax to the American Federation of Labor on 361,990 members, but as there are always a number of members whose dues are not paid at the end of the month when the per capital tax is estimated, and also a large number on strike who are exempt from dues, this estimate, furnished by a national officer, is probably about correct:

NATIVES STARVING IN THE NORTH

Indian Dogs Killing and Devouring Women and Children.

INSANITY ADDS TO HORRORS

Unless Aid Reaches the Native Tribes Hundreds Will Perish Before the End of Zero Weather.

Seattle, Wash., March 1. — "Natives starving to death in Kuskokwim district of Alaska; dying by the score as a result of an epidemic of diphtheria. Malamutes, or native dogs, maddened by starvation, attacking and devouring Indian women and children. Insanity is rife among half a dozen tribes."

Such is the message of death and desolation sent to the outside world from the snowbound interior of Alaska's desolate wastes today.

Frenzied by pangs of starvation, a horde of malamute dogs, owned by the Indian village at the mouth of the Muskokwim River, attacked and devoured one native woman.

The Indians then tied the dogs to trees in the forests and left them to die of starvation.

Diphtheria is also scourging the native camps, and men, women and children are dying by scores.

Insanity has also added its horrors.

Unless aid is soon sent it is predicted that hundreds will either die from disease or be killed by Indians insane from suffering. Zero weather, shortage of food and lack of fuel increase the agony of those who have absolutely no hope until spring, and warm weather allow relief expeditions to enter the country.

NO CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

Will be Accepted by Local Hospitals After This.

The Mother Superior of St. Joseph's Hospital, has notified the council that after consultation with Dr. R. Bruce, inspector of hospitals, it has been decided that in future no more contagious disease patients would be accepted at that hospital.

It is understood that, while the council has received no official notice of such intention, the Nicholls Hospital Board has decided upon the same course of action.

It will be remembered that some time ago the Hospitals took similar action, but afterwards an arrangement was made by which the Nicholls Hospital would accept scarlet fever patients upon payment of $1 a day for each patient, and the St. Joseph's Hospital would accept diphtheria patients at the same rate.

It appears that the inspector has notified the two hospitals that they must not accept any more contagious disease cases, and one hospital has advised the council to this effect.

It has been pointed out that the law has given the Board of Health the power to demand of the council enough money to erect an isolation hospital, should they decide that one was necessary.

KING EDWARD'S HEALTH.

Vienna, March 1.—Dr. Ott, King Edward's Marienbad physician, had taken the occasion of his return from his visit to England to publicly deny the rumors of his Majesty's ill-health. Thus, Dr. Ott declares, are malicious inventions, possibly traceable to political motives. He says King Edward was never in better health than at present.

THE G. T. P. TERMINUS

How Kaien Island Was Secured By Third Parties at a Profit of $30,000.

Victoria, B.C., March 1.—After two weeks of probing Mr. J. A. Macdonald, the leader of the Opposition, who is conducting an investigation into the circumstances attending the transfer of Kaien Island to Messrs. Godwell, Larsen and Anderson, the first named acting on behalf of the Grand Trunk Pacific, extracted from Mr. Anderson an admission that he and Larsen, who were partners, had an agreement with the Grand Trunk Pacific whereby they were to receive $40,000 for Kaien Island, provided the Grand Trunk Pacific went there for the terminus. Messrs. Anderson and Larsen obtained it from the Government for $10,000, or a dollar an acre. Chief Commissioner Green and all the Ministers on the stand contended that this was a good price and that more could not have been obtained. Mr. Anderson said that he made arrangements in Montreal, Mr. Morse singing for the Grand Trunk Pacific, and he signing for himself, and Larsen, whose proxy he held. Later he took a copy of the agreement to Spokane, where he submitted it to Larsen, but the latter changed his mind and decided to ask nothing but his expenses from the Grand Trunk Pacific, as he was looking for a big contract for construction. Mr. Morse wired the committee which is investigating the matter, and said he was unable to come to Victoria to give evidence in absence of Mr. Hays and the sickness of Mr. Wainwright.

EXCITING RACE

St. Catharines, March 1.—Chief of Police Parnell of this city and High Constable Boyle raced with Garnet Dawson to the bridge over the Niagara River at Queenston yesterday afternoon. Dawson was charged with stealing chickens, and, learning that a warrant had been issued for his arrest, he hired a livery and started for Queenston, nine miles from here. Joseph Maloney driving him. His object was to get out of the country. Chief Parnell got a powerful touring car from the local automobile works, and, with Frank Hebert in charge, he and the high constable set out after Dawson. Hebert put on full power, and Dawson was sighted at St. David's, which is about a mile from Queenston. Dawson saw the auto, and evidently recognized the men in it, for he seized the whip and lashed the horse with it, and there was about as pretty a race as one could wish to see for a mile or so. The auto kept kept gaining gradually, and within sight of the bridge caught the buggy. Dawson jumped out and made a dash on foot for the bridge, but he was no match for Chief Parnell, who put after him on foot also. He was captured just before he reached the bridge which would have carried him to safety. Maloney was also arrested, and will be charged with aiding one who is accused of a crime to escape.

Lord Elgin on the Transvaal.

London, March 1.—In advocating self-government for the Transvaal, Lord Elgin said: "As between responsible government and representative government, I had no hesitation in choosing in favor of responsible government. Seventy years ago a similar question arose, when the principles of responsible government were advocated and put in force by my grandfather and my father. It is an encouragement to me, taking the view which I have ventured to express, that I am following the principles which they thus professed, and which have resulted in a prosperous and loyal Dominion of Canada."

The Magistrate seemed somewhat disgusted with the whole case and discharged the prisoners.

The next case was that of a local expressman charged with ill-treating a horse and using it when it was lame. Mr. McWilliams appeared for the defendant and Mr. Kerr for the complainant.

Mr. Hughes Charles testified that, on Tuesday morning, he saw a crowd gathered on Hunter street. Ten or twelve men had worked for about half an hour trying to lift up a horse that had fallen. Some were trying to lift it by the ears and some by the tail. He told the young man he should be ashamed of working a horse so weak and half starved. The horse could hardly walk along, it was stiff all over its knees were broken and it was lame all over. He considers it cruelty to work a horse in such condition. He was very sorry to lay the information, but there was too much of this sort of thing going on in the city. The horse was in a state of exhaustion and unfit to work. It could hardly crawl along; he was sure it was half starved.

To Mr. McWilliams, he did not see the horse struck. Does not know anything about the horse, nor how long the young man had owned it. A horse in such condition should be put into a loose box or lot and take no exercise. The horse fell from downright weakness.

The Magistrate said he had seen the horse all summer and it certainly was a fit subject for a decent burial.

Mr. Charles said the horse had a waist so thin that many a girl might envy it.

Mr. Kerr remarked that probably the horse had led too "fast" a life.

Dr. Poole testified to being called to see the horse when it fell; he concluded that the horse was completely played out. It took himself and the bystanders half an hour to get the animal up. The horse, when raised, simply laid back in the blanket. Although employed by the defendant he was here to tell the truth, the horse was exhausted from lack of nourishment.

Mr. Redmond, was works at the Munro House, agreed with all that the previous witness had said.

The defendant then went into the box. His father had been keeping the horse before he got it at the Flynn House. The horse was blind and six years old. Was well fed during the six days he had owned the horse; he had only worked it about eight hours a week. He knew that the horse was weak, and thus he did not work him much.

A brother of the defendant next went into the box, and said he and his brother have the horses. The horse has had good treatment, and well fed.

The Magistrate did not think that actual cruelty, as outlined in the act, was proven, although the horse should not have been driven in such condition. He found defendant guilty, but allowed him to go on suspended sentence, with a warning.

Coming to Montreal.

London, March 1.—Mr. Bruce Walker, the Canadian Government agent at Glasgow, addressed yesterday the Corporation of the City of Edinburgh on the subject of emigration. The Corporation have selected seventy young men of good character and physique, and if the enquiries into their moral character prove satisfactory, the distress committee of the district will pay the passage of the party to Montreal.

A PROSPEROUS COMPANY

British American Assurance Co. Has Had Successful Year.

As is well known among business and financial circles, the British America Assurance Co., is not only one of the oldest but one of the strongest and most prosperous companies carrying Canadian insurance.

The seventy-second annual meeting of the shareholders of this strong concern was held on December 31st ult.

The report of the directors showed that last year the company's business showed a material increase, their already immense assets being materially strengthened; the assets are of a most conservative nature and must reassure all connected with the company, either shareholder or policy owner.

The company declared a most substantial dividend, payable Jan. 8th, amounting to $28,274.80.

One feature in connection with this company that appeals especially to Peterboro's citizens, is that its president, Hon. Geo. A. Cox, and Mr. E. W. Cox one of its leading directors, are Peterboro men, and also that the local representatives, Messrs. Davis, Thompson Co., one of the largest handlers of insurance in this district, write a great amount of work in this city and county for the British America Assurance Co.

THE FAYS IN TROUBLE

John Burnand Objects to Statements Made in Russell Theatre.

That the Fays who played here last week are clever, is undeniable, but that they are not infallible is proven by the fact that Mr. John Burnand, secretary to J. T. Bethune & Co., financial agents, Ottawa, has taken objection to certain statements made about him in the Russell Theatre last night by Mrs. Fay, and has placed the matter in the hands of his solicitor, Mr. A. E. Fripp, says the Ottawa Journal, to take such action as may be deemed best.

It appears that Mr. Burnand was not in the theatre at all, yet Mrs. Fay called out his name as the asker of a question, and incidentally made some comments which by Mr. Burnand were considered objectionable. A question was possibly asked by Mr. Burnand's name by some one in the audience.

Mr. Fripp has demanded from Mr. Fay the name of the informant, and has likewise asked for a public apology for some of the remarks made.

Mr. Fay, it is understood, will try to find the informant, and is willing that an apology be given.

Brick Manufacturers Combine.

Pittsburg, March 1.—Steps were taken at a meeting of the independent fire brick manufacturers yesterday toward forming a combination with a capital of $12,000,000.

DID HE PLAY HOG?

High County Constable Cochrane Accused of Taking too Much

Our readers will remember that after that "Cause celebra," the Cow case was settled, and Cow very properly jailed, the two Dewart boys and one Murphy boy was brought before County Magistrate Edmison on a charge of disturbing the peace, by cheering on a public highway at night. The boys pleaded guilty and were allowed to go by paying the costs of the trial. The costs amounting to a considerable sum, were paid.

Since then the Murphys and the Dewarts have been informed that the costs were extraordinary. Believing that to be true, Mr. Murphy, father of young Murphy, and John Dewart a brother of the two that were in trouble, appeared before the council on Saturday afternoon, and asked that the amount be investigated. The papers connected with the case had been lost and it was impossible to discover at the time how the total amount was figured up.

The Warden requested that County Magistrate Edmison and High Constable Geo. Cochrane be asked to appear before the council. When Magistrate Edmison arrived he said he did not remember what the costs were. He promised, however, to have them made up again, and would submit a complete statement to the council after he had interviewed County Crown Attorney R. E. Wood.

FURTHER GRAB!

Constables Thos. Wilson and J. J. Crowe also appeared before the council and wanted to know how it was that all important cases, involving any costs of value were taken by Mr. Cochrane. Their grievance was specially made on account of the Gow case and the case against the boys afterwards. They claimed that the cases should have been sent to them to serve, so that they could get the costs as the case was in their territory. They also claimed that Constable Cochrane was taking all the important cases from them.

Constable Cochrane explained that he was not doing anything that was not within his rights. As far as the cases mentioned were concerned, he acted on the advice and instructions of the County Crown Attorney. And furthermore, the Crown Attorney deemed it advisable that the high constable should act in all criminal cases.

Arrested for Aiding Prisoners to Break Jail.

New York, Feb. 28.—Mrs. May Coyle Howard 18 years old, who is accused of aiding in the recent escape of three prisoners from the Suffolk county jail, in Boston, was arrested here today. The girl went to the jail in Boston and married Charles Howard while he was a prisoner there, leaving him a wedding cake as she departed after the ceremony. That night Howard and two others sawed their way through the bars of their cells and escaped. The police charge that the saws with which the work was done were concealed in the wedding cake. Two of the men were recaptured. Howard being taken after he had come to New York. The third man is still at liberty. For several days the police have been watching a house in Hamilton street, where it was believed Mrs. Howard lived, and today about daybreak they saw her entering the house. She will be held awaiting extradition.

PORT HOPE WINS JUNIOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Last night in the Mutual street rink, Toronto, the Port Hope team easily defeated the Woodstock team by a score of 8—1, thereby winning the O.H.A. junior championship. The game was fast and clean, and was witnessed by a large crowd, who had accompanied their respective teams.

MRS. SARAH BROWN DEAD

The Aged Picton Lady Shot by Frank Nelson Succumbs to Her Injuries.

Picton, Ont., March 1.—The shooting affair here on Saturday afternoon last had a fatal termination yesterday evening, when Mrs. Sarah Brown, the aged victim, succumbed to her injuries.

Frank Nelson, the 17-year-old lad, arrested in connection with the affair will come before the Magistrate on Monday next.

At the time of the shooting Mrs. Brown was out driving with her husband, and Nelson, who was shooting in the woods nearby, seeing the rig passing along the road, remarked, it is alleged to his companions, "Watch how close I can come to Brown's horse." Taking quick aim he fired, but the bullet sped wide of its mark, striking Mrs. Brown, passing through her lungs, inflicting the injuries from which she has just died.

—The hat supposed to have been worn by the victim of the Barton murder has been found by an engineer of the Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Railway, in Hamilton.

SELECTIONS

RUSSIAN TERRORISM.

The House to Which Trepoff Is Compelled to Resort.

I was chatting the other evening with a Parisian who had just returned from Russia and who told me that in western Europe we had as yet no real idea of the state of affairs there.

"Trepoff, for instance, who has the position once occupied by Plehve, knows that any moment he may be blown to pieces, as Plehve himself was, although he spent £20,000 a year to assure his personal safety. Do you know," my friend added, "how Trepoff goes out? A landau leaves the palace surrounded by a squad of Cossacks. A man is in it, but the man is not Trepoff. Trepoff drives in an ambulance wagon, with the red cross of Geneva floating from the driver's seat, and as he passes people cross themselves and murmur, 'Another one of Trepoff's victims.'

"I went to interview Trepoff a few days before I left St. Petersburg," he added. "I had received a letter promising me an audience. At the palace I was passed on to a secretary, who took me through three empty salons to a small private office, where he left me. A few minutes later he returned and pointed to a telephone upon the table. 'His excellency is waiting for you,' he said quietly. 'Waiting?' 'Yes, at the other end of the wire. He sees nobody.' 'But I am a personal friend of his excellency's,' I explained. 'And that is why you are allowed in the palace,' was the answer.

"And so I said goodby by telephone to Trepoff. I could not bring the words 'Au revoir' across my lips somehow, for who knows where Trepoff will be when I am next in Russia?"—Paris Letter to London Express.

A Wild Twelve Hours.

More intoxicants are drunk between 9 o'clock p. m. Dec. 31 and 6 o'clock a. m. Jan. 1 than during any other twelve hours in the year, declares a writer in What to Eat. "Women who never taste liquor on any other day now often make it a practice to indulge freely on the event of watching the old year out and the new year in. The cafés in the great restaurants in New York and Chicago are engaged two months in advance for the occasion, and on the night of the revel the orgies, in which women at other times recognized in church and high social circles participate, "continue till daylight." The scene in one restaurant is described as follows:

"Women rose to the floor and, brandishing their spilling glasses, proposed toasts in the house. Some made speeches. Men tied about their heads wreaths of wineglasses, knives and forks and leaves of bread all bound together by napkins, and rose to make speeches, and respectable women laughed at them as if it were a very funny sight to see."

Your Fortunes, $2,000,000,000.

Today it is computed that there are in the United States no fewer than seventy estates that average in value $25,000,000 each. There are ten private fortunes aggregating $2,000,000,000—those, namely, of John D. Rockefeller, Andrew Carnegie, Marshall Field, W. K. Vanderbilt, John Jacob Astor, J. P. Morgan, Russell Sage, J. J. Hill, Senator W. A. Clark and William Rockefeller. There are 400 fortunes aggregating $3,000,000,000 and 4,500 aggregating $10,000,000,000. Five thousand men in this country, whose aggregate wealth is estimated at $15,000,000,000, actually own, to say nothing of how much they control, nearly one-sixth of our entire national wealth in money, land, mines, buildings, industries, franchises and everything else of value, which sixth, if put into gold, would give them all of the yellow metal above ground in the world and leave more than $9,000,000,000 still owing them.—Harper's Weekly.

Schoolbooks and Contagion.

A discussion of far reaching interest has taken place in the French Academy of Medicine on the subject of class books as disseminators of contagion in schools, especially in the case of such diseases as scarlet fever, measles and diphtheria. Paper has long been recognized as a dangerous agent of infection, even in tuberculosis, owing to the habit among children of turning over leaves with fingers wetted with saliva. Dr. Lop in order to test the extent of danger in schoolbooks made long experiments to establish the duration of infective power in various bacilli, finding it to range from forty-eight hours for some to fifty days for the Ebertie and 308 days for the Koch bacillus. General agreement was expressed as to the importance of thorough disinfection of school materials.

Interviewing the Turk.

An interview with the sultan of Turkey has its amusing side. That monarch is not supposed officially to know any language but his own. An interpreter thunders his majesty's questions at the visitor, then cringes with awe as he listens to the words of his royal master. The contrast is close to the ridiculous. At the conclusion of the interview the sultan rises and says quietly in the visitor's language or in French, "Now that our business is over, will you join me in my study and have a cup of coffee?"

A Chivalrous Message.

Let us defend woman! In these days feminism is one of the battle standards of all reformers. Whatever may be said of the rehabilitation of woman under Christianity, her lot—at least among us—is far from enviable.—President of Ecuador in His Message.

Charcoal.

Charcoal is one of the greatest purifiers of water that we have. Water or any substance allowed to percolate through it will be freed of all animal organisms or foreign particles. It is one of the best sweeteners of the breath. After a hearty meal it is a splendid thing for the stomach if added to it is a little ginger. It is excellent with which to cleanse the teeth, for it removes fungous growth that many tooth powders fail to touch. It relieves pain caused by a burn.

A trip around the world in 60 minutes at a mere trifle.

Scores upon scores of people are daily taking advantage of our very liberal and decidedly interesting offer.

Magnificently finished and exquisitely photo-color views in place of the oldtime and antiquated views of the past. A most pleasant and interesting hour to spend journeying around the globe viewing the places of greatest interest, most beautiful scenery, etc., at a mere trifle of cost through our liberal plan. These views illustrate some of the most noted places in the world—mountain scenery both in America and Europe—waterfalls and other famous natural phenomena, some of the world's most famous buildings, places of historical interest and places famous for beautiful architecture or beautiful natural scenery. This set is of the greatest educational value, presenting, as it does, such realistic likenesses of scenes and places that we all should know about. We want every household in this city to have one of these sets. Imagine yourself taken through the Orient, on a trip to California, through the world's Fair to see the splendid scenes as though you were right there on the spot. By a special process, a combination of lithographing and half-tone work, we are able to offer a collection of colored views from every part of the world in the most beautiful, natural and startling life-like color effects, which must be seen to be appreciated. It is impossible to describe the grandeur and beauty of these views. Come and see them. We want each and every household in this city to have a set of these.

The most beautiful scenes from every land, among which are the following:

Yellow Stone Park, U. S. A.; The Swiss Alps; On board a Russian Man-of-War; Scene from a Klondyke Camp; The Famous Ferry Depot, San Francisco; Cathedral from the Grand Canal, Rotterdam; Moulin Rouge, Paris; Street Scene, Mexico City; Emperor Wm. II Inspecting a Regiment; Chickamauga Park; Cotton Plantation Scene; On the Pike at the World's Fair, St. Louis; Holiday Street Scene Parade in Havana, Cuba; Scene Showing a Public Well, Pekin, China; Lookout Mountain; Steamboat Scene on the Mississippi; Garden of Gethsemane, Palestine; Scene Showing the Famous Southern Trestle; Hauling Trains Through Mountains in the South; The National Capitol at Washington, D. C.; The Pantheon at Rome; Victory Monument; Leipsic; Luna Island at Niagara Falls; David's Judgment Seat, Jerusalem; Interior View of President Diaz' Palace, Mexico; Ostrich Farm, Egypt; Royal Gardens, Dresden, Germany; (very beautiful), Palm Garden, Frankfort, Germany; Morro Castle, Havana; Plaza, World's Fair, St. Louis; Bird's Eye View of St. Louis Exposition; The Tomb of Gen. Grant, N. Y., Street Scene of Cairo, Egypt; Street Scene in Venice, Italy; Japanese Royal Garden Scene; Zoological Garden at Berlin, Germany; Ice Cave at Niagara Falls, N. Y., etc., etc., besides dozens of comic, sentimental and interesting views of every nature. These pictures are the genuine Oleo Stereoscopic Views, made especially for this purpose and are executed in a most artistic manner, being a combination process of lithographing and half-tone work enabling a magnificent depth of detail and splendid color reproduction true to life. You cannot enjoy an hour more delightfully than by viewing a set of these beautiful and decidedly interesting pictures.

It wasn't so very long ago that hundreds of thousands of people spent many pleasant hours with the stereoscope, but heretofore they were compelled to pay enormous prices for views, think of it, as high as 50c each for colored pictures. We sold thousands upon thousands of stereoscopic views, in colors, at 50c each in those days, but imagine each and every view had to be colored by hand. In the past few months we have had repeated demands for these, and being able to secure the latest and most beautiful colored views to furnish to the public at a ridiculously low price, we entered into the stereoscope plan on quite a large scale, and have taken immediate advantage of the international Art Association, who have spent an enormous amount of money to get out special color plates and have finally completed their end, namely: To place on the market thousands of magnificent stereoscopic views, the most beautiful, interesting and exciting scenes from every land, in the grandest and most exquisite natural colors.

Now we come to our great special offer. Read our plan carefully as it describes the stereoscope and tells how to secure the scope and views at almost no cost to you.

First the stereoscope. The Stereoscope is our world-famous "Aluminum Crystal Lens" Stereoscope. Genuine aluminum hood, bound with dark rich red velvet. Frame is of fine finished cherry wood with patent folding handle, folding underneath frame, and sliding bar. The lenses are extra fine quality, selected for clearness and brilliancy, 1½ inches in diameter, ground from best quality glass and carefully adjusted. This Crystal Lens Aluminum "Scope" has won universal praise from lovers of the beautiful, and as a means of entertainment stands second to nothing.

Funeral Plants.

The olive, oak, laurel, myrtle, rosemary, cypress, amaranth and parsley are all funeral plants among the Greeks and Romans. "To be in need of parsley" was a Greek euphemism indicating the death of the person so described. An Athenian army once marching against the Lacedaemonians was stampeded on its way out of the city by meeting two mules laden with parsley, the omen being that the whole army would soon be in need of that article.

The Spring Trap.

The spring trap is constructed on the principle of the jaws of a shark or dolphin.

The Heliotrope.

The heliotrope takes its name from two Greek words signifying "to turn toward the sun." There are several flowers of this family which during the day turn their faces to follow the course of the sun.

A Simple Experiment in Freezing.

Pour a little water on a board under a hot stove, then mix in a tiny cup a quantity of ice and salt, stir it thoroughly and place it on the board in the water. The freezing process will very shortly begin. The theory is the rapid evaporation caused by the heat.

Chinese and Paper.

The Chinese are believed to be the second people to manufacture paper from vegetable fiber. The Chinese annals place the invention at a date probably about 1,500 years before Christ.

Adobe Houses.

The first adobe houses were built by the swallows.

Carthamine Flowers.

The carthamine flower has for thousands of years been used to dye fabrics of a yellow color. The mummy cloths found in Egyptian coffins are dyed yellow with this flower.

Germs Made Sea Water.

Disease germs on the deck of a ship soon die. This fact has been scientifically demonstrated by an Italian physician. He found by bacteriological investigation that even the most lively germs were removed and destroyed by simply washing the decks with sea water.

The White Anemone.

According to Ovid, the white anemone sprang from the tears of Venus shed for Adonis.

The Prolific Turbot.

One of the most prolific of fishes is the turbot. The number of eggs in five specimens examined by a scientist recently varied from over 5,000,000 to more than 10,000,000. The heaviest of these specimens weighed only twenty-one pounds, and the belief is expressed that large specimens are still more fertile.

The German Heath.

The German heath, according to the popular legend of that country, was dyed red by the blood of unbelievers shed during Charlemagne's violent efforts to convert the whole German nation at once.

A Digging Fish.

The digging fish is a native of the lakes and rivers of central Africa. When the dry season approaches it burrows in the mud at the bottom of its residence to the depth of two or three feet, goes to sleep and awaits the return of the wet season.

Blotting Paper.

Blotting paper is wholly unsized, the lack of sizing enabling it to take up and retain the ink of the writing on which it is laid.

Gnat Eggs.

The eggs of the gnat are arranged by the parent insect in the form of a raft which floats with its concave side uppermost. If upset it speedily readjusts itself and cannot be kept under the water. At the proper time a valve in the lower part of each egg opens and the insect escapes into the water beneath.

A Steel Graver.

The iron pen mentioned by Job in the book of that name in the Bible is supposed to have been a steel graver used for cutting inscriptions on stone.

Turning Back the Hands.

Captain Barnett was the first man officially to lengthen time by turning back the hands of the senate clock in Washington. He did it for the first time March 4, 1844, by direction of Senator Wiley P. Mangum of North Carolina, then president of the senate pro tempore. This is history.

The Cydippe.

The cydippe, a peculiar water insect, propels itself with a pair of paddles which both in shape and general appearance closely resemble those in use by oarsmen.

The Stylus.

The Roman pen, or stylus, was an iron implement, sharp at one end like an awl and flat at the other like a paper cutter. It was used for writing on tablets of wood or ivory covered with wax. The sharp end was employed for writing and the flat for erasing or correcting what was written.

The Grapple Plant.

The drag used for recovering bodies from the bottoms of ponds or streams is modeled after the well known grapple plant, a thorny bush common in South America and Africa.

Modern Inks.

Modern inks date from 1798, at which time researches of Dr. Lewris and Richencourt in the chemistry of ink began.

Castellane Affair Scare to Society

General Revelations Apprehended if Case Had Gone to Courts---Count Has Lost His Position.

Paris, Feb. 25.—Paris society breathes considerably easier since it has become convinced that the Castellane affair will not result in a great scandal, which would reveal the general rottenness of Faubourg St. Germain.

The countess' desire to avoid a scandal as far as possible has given her the sympathy of all and allayed the fears of the many high-born ladies who had expensive combined use, and now abandoned to think that the hour of retribution has come.

Count Boni, who has never been particularly popular outside a certain set, has been dropped entirely since it is evident that he will have no longer the money to squander, which alone gave him entrance to many aristocratic circles.

The more decent element is rather disappointed, because they had hoped that Countess Anna, with typical American energy, would have exposed the people in society, which society itself is anxious to get rid of, but cannot drop because of lack of proof.

The countess' failure to do so is taken by many to mean that she still loves her husband, and that a reconciliation at some future time may still be possible.

WANT GAYER TIME.

The latest grudge against the government of the people who love to be in opposition at all times, is that it has been decided to adopt the Greenwich time as standard in France.

At present the official time there is based on the Paris meridian, which means that Paris time is about nine minutes ahead of London.

It might have been expected the Left-Centre-gauche, allied by the old firebrand, Henri Rochefort, is very strong in its denunciation of the lack of patriotism which it sees in adopting the standard of another country, no matter how friendly our present relations are.

That the English may in turn very soon adopt our metrical system, makes no difference to these people, who think it particularly proper that France should set the fashion in everything.

PRINCE NAPOLEON'S BOOK.

Prince Victor Napoleon, who, for years, has been a resident of Brussels, has just finished his book on "Napoleon at St. Helena," on which he has been working for years.

The work, which is exceedingly interesting, is based largely on unpublished family documents in the possession of the prince, and a number of autograph letters from Napoleon to King Jerome and Princess Borghese, his brother and sister, throw new enlightenment on the character of the great emperor.

On many points Prince Napoleon's work differs very much from that of Lord Rosebery and other English books on the same subject.

MARTIAL SPIRIT.

The anti-militarists are rapidly losing ground in Switzerland, even among the most radical Socialists, who are becoming less cosmopolitan and more patriotic and national in their ideas.

Several Socialistic papers at Grutli and at Winterthur openly advocate the strengthening of the defenses of the country, even at considerable expense.

It is to be hoped that our French Socialists will follow their example.

BELGIUM'S FEARS.

Belgium continues to live in fear of a new Franco-Prussian war, which it considers imminent, and for which it is by no means prepared.

There is little doubt that in case of a new Franco-Prussian war, the latter would not for a moment think of respecting the neutrality of that diminutive country, but will unhesitatingly try to march through it to attack France's weakest line of defence.

Belgium knows that she has herself to blame for her dangerous position. She has neglected to keep her defences in good shape; the forts along the Meuse are not able to withstand even the first attacks of an enemy, but hurried orders have been issued to stock them with powder, shells and military stores, and the garrisons are being reinforced.

The Belgians know William the Second, and are convinced that if he is defeated at Algeciras he will not be slow in seeking revenge.

A MIXED ACCOUNT

The Sporting Editor Writes up a Wedding Ceremony.

The Uxbridge Journal gets off the following:

In answer to the Journal's call a few weeks ago for something new in the line of wedding reports, I submit the following, written by a football enthusiast who had a habit of writing rapidly and carelessly and trusting to the editor to revise. In this instance the editor was away, or too busy to get over the copy, and it appeared in print as follows:—"Yesterday afternoon at the campus of Mr. Hiram Billings, a great crowd of the best sporting blood in the countryside assembled to witness the long-advertised match between his eldest daughter, Samantha, and Mr. Cyrus Gobel, of Crump's Corners. The opposing teams arrived on the spot sharp at three, and no time was wasted on superfluous preliminaries. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Hooker. The bride was given away, together with a cheque for $1,-00 by the promoter of the game, her father. If the bride didn't look handsome it was not the fault of the regalia she had on, which consisted—among other things that baffle adequate description—of a crepe machine over a priming coat of pou-de-sole. The French knots showed up in great form and profusion. A full veil, carrying a basket of maiden's hair and forget-me-nots, caught with safety pins, completed the bewildering dream of dry goods. The bridesmaid, a sister of the bride, was finished in orange-grey shallac—we mean, she was dressed in taffeta over a gown of pale blue, and looked fetching. The groom's brother officiated as referee, and under his scientific rulings the game was pulled off without a hitch. The little sister of the bride made a capital flower girl, and was a tower of strength on the hope team. After the game, the spectators to a man sat down to a dainty dejeuner. The gate receipts were costly in the extreme, and testified to the great popularity of the bride with all true lovers of the sport. The spliced team, Mr. and Mrs. Gobel, left for their future residence at Crump's Corners on the five o'clock train this morning. A send-off party accompanied them to the depot and discharged a few rounds of raw rice and old slippers, but no one was seriously hurt. We extend our heartiest congratulations to the bride's parents. —A Reader."

A NARROW ESCAPE

Messrs E. Doyell and P. Donaldson Had Close Call.

On Saturday afternoon, at the corner of Aylmer and Hunter streets, Messrs. Ernest Doyell and Percy Donaldson had an episode from Injury, if from no more serious result, than they relished or hope to experience again.

To impress Mr. Doyell's horse took fright on Hunter street, going west, and tore up the street, turning north at the Aylmer street corner, and collided with Mr. Donaldson, who was driving a team in a democrat. Both conveyances were smashed almost to matchwood, and Mr. Donaldson was thrown clear out of his rig by the shock of the collision. The spectators rushed to the assistance of the two men, expecting that a fatality had occurred, but were quickly surprised to find beyond a relative severe shock and fright, neither of them were injured. Their escape during serious injury was truly astonishing.

THE FINEST AUTO

Mr. Perkins Pays $23,000 For Most Complete Cling-Clang in the World.

New York, February 24.—The finest automobile in the world has just been purchased by George W. Perkins, former vice-president of the New York Life Insurance Co., and partner of J. Pierpont Morgan. It cost $23,000.

It has a limousine body, containing revolving chairs, a wash stand, toilet cases, mirrors, electric lights, patent heaters, hat cords, parcel nets, leather pocket filled with various articles, a writing desk, and a cabinet containing smokers' articles.

It has also a telephone and an annunciator leading to the chauffeur's seat, so the occupant of the car can be in touch with the driver at all times.

At the rear of the dashboard in front of the chauffeur are several small electric lights. Over each is a silver mounted label, bearing instructions of various kinds, such as "more speed," "slower," etc. By pressing a button in the interior of the car the lights are illuminated to signify the directions to be carried out.

If some special order is to be given the telephone is used, and receiver of which is shaped like a horn, ear is situated close to the right ear of the driver.

To Purchase 40,000 Acres.

Ottawa, February 24.—The Department of Indian Affairs has been informed that the Grand Trunk Pacific is actually negotiating for the purchase of 40,000 acres of land in the Indian Reserve, situated on the shore of Kaien Island, British Columbia. The company has placed before the department a plan indicating the position of the lands which they intend to acquire, they being in the immediate neighborhood of the railway terminus.

The department has had no official news since concerning this negotiation, but has been led to suppose that it is being put through directly with the Indians.

CURES CATARRHAL DEAFNESS

One Week's Use of Hyomei Did More Than Six Months' Treatment By Specialists.

In the treatment of deafness which is often the result of catarrh, Hyomei acts almost immediately upon the inflamed membrane and the hearing begins to return at once.

Miss Manks of Mathyran, N. Y., says: "Hyomei is truly wonderful. I have used it but a short time and can see a great change in my condition. My hearing is improving rapidly and I had no idea I would improve so rapidly in so short a time. My breath which was very offensive to myself and others, has lost its bad odor entirely. I have spent a great deal of money with catarrh specialists, and can truly say that six months of their treatment is not equal to one month of Hyomei.

A complete outfit costs but $1.00, and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket, a medicine dropper, and a bottle of Hyomei. The inhaler will last a lifetime and there is enough Hyomei for several weeks' treatment. Additional bottles of Hyomei can be procured for 50 cents. Complete this small expenditure with the firm charged by spectacles.

If you cannot obtain Hyomei of your dealer, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write today for accumulative blank that will entitle you to services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hyomei Building, Ithaca, N. Y.

ANOTHER PHYSICIAN

Kindly Words For Peterboro's Latest Disciple of Esculapius.

The Campbellford Herald says: Dr. Ernest Frederick, son of our townsman, Mr. J. A. Frederick, has commenced the practise of medicine in the city of Peterboro. Dr. Frederick, after graduating with honors at the University of Toronto, spent a year in the leading hospitals of England, returning last autumn and accepting a position on the staff of a medical college in Albany, N.Y., Some weeks ago he resigned his position on the college staff, and is now establishing a practise of his own in Peterboro. The Herald and his many friends here, join in wishing him success.

OLDEST SUBJECT OF THE KING

He Lives in London and is Returned Emigrant to the United States.

London, February 24. — "Grandfather" McNally, King Edward's oldest subject, who lives at the Home for the Aged, maintained by the Little Sisters of the Poor, has entered his 116th year.

For fourteen years the Sisters whose only funds are the alms they beg from door to door, have cared for the old man. It is twenty-eight years since he returned from the United States, and while he was there he buried his wife, whom he married in Ireland when she was a girl and he was a lad of eighteen.

"It is thirty years since she died, and she was eighty then.

"Yes, I have lived a very long while," he said to a visitor. "It is because I have always led a steady life. I was never the worse for drink in my life. I never ate too much. I never believed in ruining my stomach with too much drink or food. Aye, I am happy. I sleep well and enjoy my victtles."

—Saturday afternoon the annual meeting of the Peterboro Cheese Makers' Association and the Peterboro Cheese Board, held in the city council chamber. The reports of both organizations were presented and officers elected.

GERMAN INTRIGUES IN MEDITERRANEAN

Seeking a New Naval Base on Island of Thasos

Will Oppose the Concession Granted by Sultan of Turkey in Return for Germany's Support.

London, February 24.—Germany is on the point of obtaining great industrial concessions and a coaling station on the island of Thasos, off the Macedonian port of Kavala, on the Aegean Sea. Last September, the Sultan of Turkey, to whom Thasos politically belongs, issued an irade granting a concession to a number of gold mines on the island to German subjects. Austria and France immediately protested on the grounds that the same mines had already been conceded to Austrian and French subjects. Britain also protested, declaring that the first Khedive of Egypt hailed from Thasos, that the island belonged to the jurisdiction of Egypt, and hence could not be summarily disposed of by the Sultan. The Sultan practically ignored this claim but agreed to indemnify the Austrian and French subjects whose concession had been seized.

Then the German Government promising the Sultan financial and diplomatic support in several stipulated contingencies, asked for the concession of a coaling station. It is reported that this either has been, or is about to be granted.

The British Government is thoroughly aroused, Sir Nicholas O'Connor, British ambassador to Turkey, is using all his power to defeat Germany's purpose.

Thasos would give Germany a fine naval position in the eastern part of the Mediterranean for general reasons, and for the particular reason that it is opposite the northern terminus of the Bagdad railway, and offers the Kaiser a seabase for all his great enterprises in Asia Minor. Moreover, it would give Germany a new approach to the Balkans and add a fresh incentive to persevere in her purposes relative to Trieste.

—It is expected that there will be a thorough overhauling to the tinbery regulations during the prelent session of the Ontario Legislature.

THE BREAKFAST FOOD FAMILY

(Written for The Times.)

Jack Spratt could eat no fat
At home or up the lakes,
He thrived and fattened all the time
On Canada's dear old Flakes.
(Made by Meldrum).

But Mrs. Spratt will none of that;
Foodine she cannot eat.
Her special wish is for a dish
Of Exgurgated Wheat.

To William Spratt that food is flat
On which his mater doles,
His favorite feed—his special need—
Is good old Quaker Oats.

But sister Lil can't see how Will
Can touch such tasteless food.
At breakfast fare it can't compare,
She says, with Shredded Wood.

THE SCHEME OFF

All Attempts to Form Local Poultry Association Fail Through.

As noted in previous issues of The Times, Mr. William Collins has tried hard to get local poultry fanciers and breeders to organize an association for mutual benefit. Mr. Collins both personally, and through the medium of the local press, endeavored to interest those who should find it to their advantage to form such an association.

Mr. Collins states that he received only two replies, and as so little concern has been manifested in the effort to organize a club, no meeting will be held, and the movement is therefore off so far as he is concerned. If a poultry show is to be held next winter as proposed, now is the time for the local fanciers to get together, but it is apparently not the intention to hold such an exhibit, judging by the little interest displayed in the move to organize a club.

Protestants Send Petition to the King

Formal Potestant in Behalf of 57th Organizations Against the Marriage of Princess Ena to Alfonso of Spain.

London, Feb. 25.—The Council of the Imperial Protestant Federation has addressed the following petition to his Majesty the King;

"To the King's Most Excellent Majesty.

"May it please your majesty;

"The Council of the Imperial Protestant Federation, comprising fifty-seven united Protestant organizations in England, Scotland, Ireland, America, Australia, Canada, Ceylon, Tasmania and New Zealand, and thus representing many millions of your majesty's most loyal and devoted subjects scattered throughout your empire, humbly approaches your majesty with reference to the rumors of a proposed marriage between Her Royal Highness Princess Ena of Battenberg and his majesty the King of Spain. The council begs to humbly state to your majesty that the announcement of this proposed marriage which has appeared in all the leading British newspapers, has caused the deepest sorrow and distress to those whom the Imperial Protestant Federation represents; more especially as it is believed that an essential condition of such a marriage taking place will be the previous reception of the Princess Ena into the Church of Rome. Had her royal highness become a member of that communion a few years ago, the marriage in question would not have excited so much surprise; but that so momentous a change should now take place, merely as a condition of a marriage, has greatly shocked the feelings of those of your majesty's loyal and devoted subjects who are in membership with the Imperial Protestant Federation. There is, however, another condition essential before this marriage can take place, and that is that your majesty's consent must first be given both to this marriage as well as to the previous reception of your royal niece into the Church of Rome.

"This being the case, the Council of the Imperial Protestant Federation earnestly appeals to your majesty to withhold your consent to the proposed marriage. By granting this humble petition, your majesty will remove many grave anxieties, and gladden the hearts of an exceedingly large number of your majesty's devoted and loyal subjects.

"Signed on behalf of the council,
"James W. Walsh,
"Organizing secretary of the Imperial Protestant Federation.
"Dudley House, 36-38 Southampton street, Strand, London, W.C.
"Feb. 16, 1906."

THE MONEY PAID

Brother of Deraszio, Pays Over $43 the Italian is Alleged to Have Stolen.

Our readers will remember that F. Deraszio, an Italian, was charged at Friday morning's police court, with having stolen $43 from another Italian, De Negri by name. Deraszio's brother paid over the money to the complainant at the police station on Saturday and endeavored to have the charge withdrawn. Acting Chief Adams, whom he first committed, advised him to see Mr Worship P. M. Dunbie, who, in turn, told him to interview County Crown Attorney Wood on the subject. Mr. Wood informed him that the charge would have to be dealt with at the morning session of the police court, over which the case of Deraszio comes up for hearing.

SOLVED THE BARTON MURDER?

Detective Wells Says He Has Received What He Considers Positive Information.

Toronto, Feb. 24.—The Barton murder mystery has been solved, but until an arrest has been made the names of the victim and murderer will not be disclosed.

This is what Detective W. J. Wells, of the Provincial Detective Force, said this morning when asked by a press representative if it were true that the murderer had been located and the victim identified.

"I consider that I have positive information in letters which reached me this morning from across the border, which, to my mind, solves the mystery of the Barton murder beyond a doubt," said Mr. Wells.

"Is that due to the clue given by the boots?"

"The tracing of the brand — Our Foot Queen—has brought complete and decisive information."

"Is the murderer a Toronto man?"

"My information does not and never did connect any Toronto man, or any man who ever worked for a Toronto firm with the murder. But information which I already had from the town where the Foot Queen brand is sold, indicated that it is more than probable that the murderer and his victim were here a few days before the murder."

THE INTERCOLONIAL

Minister of Railways says Profits will Soon Run into Millions.

Ottawa, February 24.—The Minister of Railways said today: "I expect that the Government system of railways will come out on an even balance on the 30th of June of this year and I venture to predict that within three years the annual surplus of the Intercolonial Railway will run into the million column. That is a good deal to say, but it can be done, and without in any way impairing the service.

"Our proposed retrenchments are not simply effervescent; they are not for this year alone. They would not be worth troubling about if that were all. What we are aiming at is to put them on a permanent basis."

Mr. Emmerson intimated that experts were now in Moncton changing the entire system of book-keeping, by which this would be modernised as well as economized. The Minister also intimated that the amended passenger rates will go into effect on the first of next month.

TEACHERS ENCOURAGED

Ontario Department of Education Offers 14 Scholarships.

A circular letter issued by the Education Department announces 14 scholarships of the value of $75 for male and $60 for female teachers holding second-class certificates. They are for nature study courses at the Macdonald Institute, commencing April 5th, and lasting three months. It is the desire of the authorities that every part of the province should be represented, and travelling expenses will be paid. Teachers who desire to compete should apply to the Education Department before March 10th. It is to be hoped that some of the Peterboro teachers will avail themselves of the scheme.

—A certain plumber in town lost an article a few weeks ago. After a fruitless search he gave up all hope of finding it. Last night, however, he had a dream, which revealed the hiding place of the missing article. This morning he went to the place of his dream and found the object of his search—Campbellford Despatch.

BLOOD DISEASES

If you inherited or contracted any Blood Disease you are never safe unless the virus or poison has been eradicated from the system. At times you see alarming symptoms, but live in hopes no serious results will follow. Have you any of the following symptoms? Sore throat, ulcers on the tongue or in the mouth, hair falling out, aching pains, itchiness of the skin, sores or blotches on the body, eyes red and smart, dyspeptic stomach, mental weakness—enlarged glands. Don't trust to luck. Don't ruin your system with the old fogy treatment—mercury, potash and patent medicines, which suppress the symptoms for a time only to break out again when happy in domestic life. Don't let quacks experiment on you. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT is guaranteed to cure you. OUR GUARANTEE'S ARE BACKED BY BANK BONDS that the Blood or Skin disease will never return. Thousands of patients have been already cured by our NEW METHOD TREATMENT for over 20 years, and no return of the disease. No experiment, no fizz—not a "patch up," but a positive cure. The worst cases solicited.

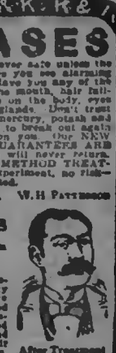
HAD BLOOD POISON 12 YEARS

The New Method Treatment Cured Him after Drugs, Mercury, Hot Springs, &c. all failed.



Wm. H. Patterson, of Saginaw, Mich., relates his experience: "I do not like notoriety and especially of this kind, but I feel I owe this much to Drs. K. & K. for the great good they have done me. I had a serious blood disease when 25 years of age. The skin and blood symptoms gradually developed. Pimples and ulcers formed, running sores broke out, hair became loose, pains in the bones and joints, dyspeptic stomach, foul breath, itchy skin, etc. It is needless for me to say I tried doctors. I grew to hate the looks of one. I visited Hot Springs twice for four months each time. It helped me temporarily, but in six months after returning home I was as bad as ever. Finally a Doctor friend of mine Adviced me to see Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. He had been under the care of these doctors for over 25 years, and as they made a specialty of these diseases and treated the worst cases by the hundred they ought to be expert in curing them. I was afraid of advertising doctors, but I took his advice. They agreed to treat me under a guarantee or no pay. I investigated their financial standing and found they were perfectly responsible, so I commenced the new method Treatment. The eruptions disappeared in two weeks, the bone pains in four weeks and in four months I was entirely cured. Yes, sir, I can recommend the New Method Treatment for Blood and Skin Diseases."

To the Canadian Investor

DORES-MONTGOMERY MINING COMPANY OF BULLFROG, NEVADA

The undersigned is pleased to announce to the investors of Canada that he has been appointed Canadian Fiscal Agent of the above company, and is offering a limited amount of treasury stock at 50c. per share for development work. This property is just 1800 feet southwest of the famous Montgomery Shoshone mine and both have unquestionably the same vein. The group shows a well defined vein cropping out through, and it is a perfect fissure. A six inch tale seam on the hanging wall gives high values. We have also several other ledges, and it is only a matter of development work to make this property equal to any producer in the section.

The management of the Montgomery Shoshone conservatively estimates that the mines has produced $300,000 worth of ore. If this is right, the ore from the mines has averaged about $875 a ton, or about $1.25 for every foot of sinking, the mines being 4 x 7 in clear.

Ore from the mine running less than $250 is thrown over the dump as milling ore. No less than 150 tons of ore has been shipped from this mine, all of it coming from the mines. Another shipment of 60 tons or more will be made via Las Vegas in a few days.

The figures given above are startling in the extreme, but the measurements and ore values as quoted are official—direct from the management of the wonderful mine that is today astonishing the world.

This property is only 1800 feet from the Dores Montgomery Mine.

Diseases of Women

OFTEN DUE TO

Deranged Kidneys

When the Kidneys Are Weak It is Impossible for Any Women to be Happy or Healthy

If the girls and women who are silently suffering with what they suppose is "female trouble," would look to their kidneys they would soon find the source of their ill-health.

The kidneys are very closely allied with the female organs and if the vitality of the kidneys is in any way impaired, great suffering is sure to occur.

No better medicine is known for the kidneys than Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Buttermilk; they stimulate and strengthen the kidneys and thereby assist the other organs to do nature's work. Instant benefit and certain cure are guaranteed in every case.

Sufferer, don't wait, begin treatment with Dr. Hamilton's Pills at once; they will cure you as they did Mrs. A. B. Coburn, a well-known resident of the town of Portland. Read her experience;

"For two years past I have been sickly and weak. My color was dull and sallow, and I felt exhausted and weary, as if all my strength were being eaten up with some hidden trouble. I heard of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and decided to use them. The change in a few days was surprising. They regulated my kidneys and bowels and cured all my suffering; to-day I am perfectly well."

Every woman can take Dr. Hamilton's Pills with safety and benefit. Their occasional use keeps the system in healthy, well regulated order. No medicine more gentle or more prompt in results. Now is the time to get Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c. per box or five boxes for $1, at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., and Kingston, Ont.

President of the Sons of Rest Elected—Enthusiastic Meeting.

As Tuesday night was the date appointed to elect a president for the Sons of Rest, the Hall of Wisdom was crowded to the doors with anxious and excited members. At five minutes to eight o'clock the two candidates arrived fully equipped in their Sunday go-to-meeting suits, each wearing a silk hat and sporting a gold headed cane. Minney Wale, the past president, took the chair and opened the meeting. He then informed the brethren that, as this was election night, the first order of business was to distribute the ballots, he, therefore, would appoint Howden Doris to distribute and collect the ballots, and he appointed Buckaw Carter to count the ballots. After Howden had all the ballots collected, Buckaw Carter counted them, and reported as follows: Minney Wale, 900; Fighting Archy, 16. Minney Wale was declared elected by the sweeping majority of 900. Minney Wale rose to his feet with tears flowing freely from his eyes, and endeavored to give expression to his feelings of gratitude for the generous support which he received from the brethren, but he was so overcome with joy that he had to postpone his speech until next Tuesday evening. Fighting Archy then rose and informed the brethren that they would spell repentance for the mean way in which they used him, and picked up his cane and hat and walked out without even bidding the brethren good-night. Skunk-hunter Rennie then rose and laid a charge against Bob-tail Pue. He said Bob-tail on several occasions travelled on our streets in search of a needle pusher without a lantern. The president at once fined Bob-tail $87. Bob-tail paid his fine and then laid a charge against Skunk-hunter for interfering with his private affairs. The president fined Skunk-hunter $60, to be paid at once, or 10 days in jail. Patty Drumamond rose to his feet, brushed back his hair, rolled up his sleeves and pulled down his vest, and spoke as follows: Mr. president, I think you are rather previous with your fines. If I think it is proper for me to mail a young lady a few candies, whose personal business is it: yours or mine? Answer that question, will you? Yes, Patty, I will answer it double quick. It is my business, and for your impertinence to your superior I will impose a fine of $15, to be paid inside of 10 minutes. Patty borrowed the money from Banker Sucombe and gave him a mortgage on the candies which he sent to the young lady. After Patty paid his fine the president ordered him to sit in the corner for ten minutes until he cooled off. Banker Lundy rose and moved that an oyster supper and dance be held in the Hall of Wisdom on the second Friday night in April. Posey Moore seconded the motion. The motion was carried unanimously. Minney Wale appointed Bob-tail Pue, Skunk-hunter Rennie, Penty Mac and Sandy Patterson as a committee to buy and cook, but not to eat, the oysters. He then appointed Hoeder Hoch, Barber Quinn and Tea-merchant Kennedy as table waiters. The president then rose and informed the brethren that he was threatened with an attack of nervous prostration, and in justice to himself would have to now close the meeting. He then intimated that it was customary for new members to sing the closing ode, and he, therefore, would ask Bob-tail Pe and Skunk-hunter Rennie to render the ode and, gee whitacher! they did render it in right good style. The meeting was then closed until Tuesday night.

Woman's Trials.

The bitter trail in a woman's life is to be childless. Who can tell how hard the struggle may have been ere she learnt to resign herself to her lonely lot? The absence of this link to bind marital life together, the absence of that rare pledge of mutual affection is a common disappointment. Many understands couples become estranged thereby. Even if they do not drift apart, one may read the whole extent of the disappointment in the eyes of such a childless couple when they rest on the children of others. To them, the largest family does not seem too numerous.

In many cases of barrenness or childlessness the obstacle to child-bearing is easily removed by the cure of weakness on the part of the woman. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been the means of restoring health and fruitfulness to many a barren woman, to the great joy of the household. In other, but rare cases, the obstruction to the bearing of children has been found to be of a surgical character, but easily removable by painless operative treatment at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., over which Dr. Pierce of the "Favorite Prescription" fame presides. In all cases where children are desired and are absent, an effort should be made to find out the real cause, since it is generally so easily removed by proper treatment.

In all the various weaknesses, displacements, prolapsus, inflammation and debilitating, catarrhal drains and in all cases of nervousness and debility, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the most efficient remedy that can possibly be used. It has to its credit hundreds of thousands of cures—more in fact than any other remedy put up for sale through druggists, especially for women's ills. The ingredients of which the "Favorite Prescription" is composed have received the most positive endorsement from the leading medical writers on Materia Medica of all the several schools of practice. All the ingredients are printed in plain English on the wrapper enclosing the bottle, so that any woman making use of this famous medicine may know exactly what she is taking. Dr. Pierce takes his patients into his full confidence, which he can afford to do as the formula after which the "Favorite Prescription" is made will bear the most careful examination.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the best and safest laxative for women.

DOURO

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sheehan, of Douro, entertained a number of their friends and neighbors by a pleasant dance on Friday night last. The social was to have been held on the 20th, but a number of the teachers could not attend, and therefore it was held on Friday night. The forepart of the evening was spent in songs and recitations. Miss Ward and Miss Nathan, charmingly sang together a very popular song, entitled, "Don't forget the Old Love, While Courting With the New." Miss Agnes Mosher, of Lakefield, gave a recitation entitled, "My Home in Old Kentucky." Luncheon was partaken of at midnight in the beautiful dining hall, which was adorned with lanterns and evergreens. The instrumental portion of the evening's program, was supplied by Messrs. Robt. Barry and Michael Hynes, violinists, accompanied by the organ were Miss Sullivan and Miss Foley of Douro. Mr. Edward Leahy, Arthur Carveth and Mr. James Mosher acted as floor managers in a very efficient manner. Those who came from a distance were; Mr. James Mosher and sister Agnes, of Lakefield, Miss A. Nathan, Campbellford; Miss Ward, Peterboro; Miss Margine Norwood; Miss Hynes, Lakefield. The company dispersed during the early morning, everybody satisfied with their evenings pleasure and all join in thanking Mr. and Mrs. Sheehan for the pleasant evening and the kind way in which they entertained the guests.

Mrs. Dennis O'Toole, of Otonabee, is in visiting her mother Mrs. William O'Connor, Douro.

Mrs. Blackburn of Peterboro is visiting her parents for a few days.

Mr. Philip O'Brien's sale of horses and cattle is to be held on March 8th.

Miss Maggie O'Sullivan, organist, Douro, is taking part in the concert held in Peterboro on the 17th of March.

Mr. John O'Brien arrived home from the shanty on last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Torpey, of Otonabee, were visiting friends in Douro on Sunday last.

A FATAL ACCIDENT

Guy Grant Dies From Clot of Blood Entering His Heart.

The following despatch was received yesterday from Port Hope;

Port Hope, March 1.—Guy Grant, about 16 years old, accidentally cut himself in the right thigh yesterday afternoon, while in the act of killing a calf for a farmer near Port Britain. The sharp blade entered the network of arteries about the boy's knee. Dr G. A. Dickinson, assisted by other local surgeons, performed amputation, the operation of binding the arteries, but the young man died about 5 o'clock this morning from a clot of blood entering the heart.

THEY ARE INVITED

57th Regiment Will Visit Brantford on 1st July.

As noted in a former issue of The Times, it has been expected that our local crack regiment would be asked to pay a visit to Brantford this summer.

That they will be now can fairly accomplish, as Lt.-Col. Miller has received a communication from Lieut.-Col. Cameron, officer commanding 38th Dufferin Rifles, inviting the local corps to visit Brantford on July 1st next, and take part in a big military tournament in that city. The invitation will be considered at the next meeting of the officers of the 57th Regiment, which will be held in a few days.

CHARLOTTE ST. WINS.

Last night the Charlotte street Guild hockey team won the city league honors, and carried off the Stratton Cup, before a large crowd in the Brock street rink in a very exciting game, defeating the Suburbs of Lakefield, by a score of 9—8. TENTH ANNUAL REPORT

Submitted to the Shareholders at the Annual General Meeting, held at the Company's offices, 41-45 East Adelaide street, Toronto, on Monday, the 19th day of February, 1906, at 12 o'clock noon.

The Directors, in presenting their report for the year ending December 31st, 1905, together with the accompanying Balance Sheet and Revenue Account, have pleasure in directing attention to the continued increase in the Company's transactions and resources. The results show substantial gains in Premium Income, Revenue and Reserve Funds.

The net income from Premiums, after deducting $5,467.98 for reinsurance, was $246,961.96.

The interest upon investments amounted to $3,178.80.

During the year the Company paid under its policies 2,165 claims; the total, after deducting $9,249.56 received from reinsuring companies, amounted to $115,288.07.

The Revenue Account submitted herewith, after debiting all charges and expenses, shows a balance of $20,193.59. This has been applied as follows: $9,562.47 to Reserve Fund, $9,000.00 to Contingency Account, $1,000.47 for payment of dividend No. 8, leaving $1,125.12 unappropriated.

The Reserve Fund has been increased to $61,000.00, and the Contingency Fund to $30,000.00.

The Premium Income shows an increase over that of 1904 of $28,555.00.

On September 18th, 1905, there passed away, deeply regretted, Larratt W. Smith, K.C., D.C.L. Dr. Smith was in his eighty-fifth year, and for ten years had been the Company's esteemed President. The vacancy on the board thereby created was filled by the appointment of Mr. W. R. Brock.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

A. L. EASTMURE, President.

CLARKSON & CROSS, Auditors.

Proceedings of the Tenth Annual General Meeting.

The Tenth Annual General Meeting of the Shareholders was held at the Company's offices, No. 41-45 East Adelaide street, Toronto, on Monday, the 19th of February, 1906, at 12 o'clock noon.

The following Shareholders were present: W. H. Pearson, W. H. Cross, A. W. Thomas, A. L. Eastmure, G. E. Mantz, G. W. Monk, E. T. Lightbourn, J. F. Smith, F. J. Lightbourn, C. L. Smith, J. P. Steedman (Hamilton), Dr. W. H. Oldright, and 48 Shareholders represented by proxy.

The chair was occupied by the President, Mr. Arthur L. Eastmure, and Mr. F. J. Lightbourn, the Secretary, acted as secretary of the meeting.

The notice calling the meeting having been read by the Secretary, the President submitted the report, together with the financial statements, and said:

PRESIDENT'S REMARKS.

Gentlemen,—In submitting for your approval the statements just read, I have pleasure in pointing out that the results for 1905 are well up to the standard of former years, and make a very satisfactory showing. The Company has completed its first decade; we are ten years old, and it will be appreciated, I feel sure, from the figures presented today, that the time has not been wasted.

As against an income from premiums in 1904 of $323,837.57, the new business and renewals reached the considerable sum of $353,350.57, in round figures a quarter of a million dollars. During the year 2,165 persons received benefits under the Company's policies, the payments aggregating $115,729.57, and it may be noted that the claims exceeded six daily for every working day of the year. All were satisfactorily adjusted and promptly paid.

The business written shows a corresponding advance. During 1905 we issued or renewed 9,273 policies, the aggregate insurance totaling $16,743,241.00, as against 8,151, in 1904 for $15,614,000.00, and 6,000 in 1903 for $13,000,000.00.

The Company's assets, which amounted at December 31st, 1904, to $119,998.81—an increase of $16,468.79 over 1903—have advanced to $137,854.68, a further gain of $17,854.87. Attention may also be directed to the continued growth of our Reserve Fund. Five years ago this had reached the sum of $21,000.00. It is now $61,000.00, and is set apart entirely from actual earnings, none of it being derived from premiums on stock or other sources.

Another gratifying feature is the substantial addition to the Contingency Fund. Created in 1903 and amounting at that time to $4,500.00, this fund stood at December 31st, 1904, at $10,000.00. It is now $30,000.00.

The Company's income from premiums up to December 31st, 1905, reached in the aggregate a total of $1,103,736.72, and in all 10,723 persons have received benefits under its policies, the total claims payments amounting to $630,435.57.

It will be seen from the foregoing that gains in premium income, reserves, reserve and contingency funds, together with a continually enlarging list of beneficiaries, are features becoming year by year more marked in our annual statements.

The benefits anticipated at our last annual meeting as likely to accrue from the formation of the Accident Underwriters' Association of Canada have been partially realized, particularly as affecting liability lines, regarding which much valuable data has been collated, and rates are now approximable with greater accuracy. It is understood that similar work in relation to insurance against disability occasioned by illness, will also engage the attention of the Association during the present year, and doubtless good results will follow.

Two years ago I directed attention to the industrial development taking place throughout the Province of British Columbia, and to the arrangements then in hand for extending the Company's business in that important field. Our expectations are, I am glad to state, being fully realized, as with an active and influential field staff, together with a practical equipment, good results are already in evidence.

Your Directors have for some time had under consideration the establishing of branches throughout the United Kingdom, and arrangements with that object in view are pending.

The enlarged powers obtained from the Dominion Government, authorizing the Company to effect insurances upon personal property, sanctioned at our last annual meeting, have been exercised, and a substantial business will, it is expected, result from the operation of that branch. Under the special authority provided by the Act, we are enabled to furnish contracts of indemnity, embracing an almost infinite variety of everyday hazards, and there is believed to be ample room for the venture. Insurance against property damage is a new idea; such risks—except in certain limited directions—have never been insurable before, and the protection afforded has a substantial commercial value, for which there is likely to be a considerable demand.

In recent years many new companies have entered the casualty field, and competition has prompted the introduction of a number of so-called "liberalized policies," some of the features of which are believed by conservative underwriters to be wrong in principle and unsound. In face of the fact that nearly every leading company on the continent is upon record as condemning such innovations as Beneficiaries Insurance, the Accumulative feature an unlimited prolongation of the period for which weekly indemnity may be payable, and large discounts to associations, your Directors have not thought it wise to adopt any of these obviously "canvassing aids," preferring to believe that one Insurance Company cannot provide reliable insurance more cheaply than another, and that, in the end, this fact will demonstrate itself.

As in former years, I have pleasure in testifying to the energy, zeal and efficiency displayed by the Company's General, District and Resident Agents, wherever stationed; and to the painstaking and capable manner in which our Head and Branch Office Staffs have performed their respective duties. In both Office and Field, the service rendered has been loyal, intelligent and exceptionally active.

In the formal pages of an Annual Report expressions of personal feeling are necessarily curtailed, but I cannot close my remarks without a further short reference to the loss we, in common with all who knew him, sustained in the death of our late President.

Dr. Larratt W. Smith has been associated with us in various ways for many years, and with this Company since its incorporation in 1886, and was respected and esteemed by all. The regret and sympathy of the Board was, by resolution, duly recorded in our official minutes and also forwarded to his family. Dr. Smith's biography is a matter of public record, and requires no extended reference here. In law, and incidentally in science and literature, as well as in mercantile undertakings, his career was a long and honorable one.

I beg to move, seconded by the Vice-President:

"That the Tenth Annual Report, now submitted, be adopted, and that the same, together with the Financial Statements read therewith, be printed, and a copy thereof forwarded to each of the Shareholders."

But before the motion is voted upon, I shall be happy to give any information or answer any questions relating to the Company's affairs.

The Report was adopted unanimously, after which it was moved by Dr. W. H. Oldright, seconded by Mr. A. W. Thomas, and carried:

"That the thanks of the Shareholders are justly due to the Company's General and District Agents in the several provinces for the zeal and efficiency displayed by them in their several departments during the year."

On motion, Messrs. Clarkson & Cross were reappointed auditors for the ensuing year.

Mr. A. W. Thomas and Mr. E. T. Lightbourn, having been appointed scrutineers, reported the following gentlemen elected as Directors: A. L. Eastmure, W. H. Pearson, J. Herbert Mason, J. N. Shenstone, W. R. Brock, F. J. Lightbourn, Thomas Fyshe (Montreal) J. F. Smith, K.C., and G. W. Monk.

After the customary votes of thanks to the President, Vice-President, Secretary and officials in the office, the meeting adjourned.

At a meeting of the Directors, held immediately after the Annual Meeting, Mr. Arthur L. Eastmure was elected President, and Mr. W. H. Pearson, Vice-President of the Company.

Executive Committee—Messrs. A. L. Eastmure, W. H. Pearson and J. F. Smith, K. C.

ONE OF THE RICHEST PROSPECTS EVER DISCOVERED.

The Iron Spar Mining Co.

The Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., owning valuable property on the divide between the States of Idaho and Montana, a copper proposition of exceptional promise, a property that even a novice, by personal inspection, ought to discern merits in, so apparent are the indications which guide the prospector in the work of making great mineral discoveries. An immense copper bearing ledge traverses the ground from east to west and is so well defined and conspicuous in its surface outcrop that anyone however unfamiliar with outward appearance of mineralization, once shown the ledge, may follow it uninterruptedly for several thousand feet. The fact is that copper ores appear in the vein gangue even to the grass roots.

The vein is large, 15 to 20 feet wide, and horizontally continuous across the whole extent of the claims, a distance of 6,000 feet. Being a true fissure and cutting the country formation at a considerable angle, it is entirely consistent with geological laws to suppose that it has also great vertical dimension.

Everybody who has made any study of the profits derived from successful copper mining operations can not have failed to observe the splendid and continuous dividends paid to investors. Copper mining has been so dependable a source of revenue throughout the world that today many investors prefer it to the more fickle high grade gold propositions. Look at the enormous and steady profits paid investors in all the great copper fields of the world, as viz.: The Lake Superior mines in Michigan, Butte mines in Montana, Bisbee and Tombstone in Arizona, the mines of Utah, the great Tintic mines in Spain, and the Mexican mines. The demand for copper increases with the advance of civilization and the immense demand created by the growing popularization of electrical power justifies the belief that the supply will hardly keep pace with the demand for years to come. Copper mining is safe and profitable, once you have found a good property. That is just what we are trying to introduce to you, and you have this in the Iron Spar.

The sum of 400,000 shares of the fully paid capital stock was set aside as a treasury fund to be devoted to the improvement, development and equipment of the property. Nearly the entire block remains in the treasury at the present date, only so much having been drawn out as was necessary to defray the expenses of operation since the formation of the Company. The miners have all taken stock as pay instead of cash.

The undersigned has a limited number of Shares for sale at TEN CENTS per share. All interested should call or write at once.

VOL XXXIV. NO 58 PETERBORO, ONTARIO, MONDAY, MARCH 5, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS

GERMANY WILL FORCE WAR FRANCE READY FOR FRAY

Believed Conflict is Inevitable and May Come Now When Both are Prepared.

Washington, March 5.—It is stated on the best of authority that the American Government takes a very serious and gloomy view of the situation at Algeciras, and would not be surprised to see the Moroccan conference end in a rupture within a short time.

Furthermore, it can be stated on the same authority that if the conference does not break up there will be grave danger of war.

If the apprehended break-up of the conference occurs it will be due, in the opinion of the State Department, to the obstinate tenacity of Germany in clinging to her demands and rejecting French concessions. The fear of a European war as a result of the failure of the conference is based not so much upon the importance of the subjects discussed at Algeciras as upon the consideration of the general political situation in Europe, and the opinion that Germany believes this a desirable time for war if a war is to come.

London, March 5.—The Morning Post's Paris special says that France is ready for the conflict, should war come. Her army is quietly being placed on war footing and every available means taken to strengthen the defenses. The navy, of which France preponderates, will take an active part, and, it is expected, Germany will not be able to hold her own at sea.

TO EXCHANGE PARISHES

Rev. Messrs Jolliffe of This City and Manning of Clinton to Exchange.

The Charlotte street Methodist church, at their Quarterly Board meeting extended a unanimous invitation to Rev. H. M. Manning, of Wesley church, Clinton, to become their pastor at the next conference. Mr. Manning is a member of the London Conference. The invitation has been forwarded. Rev. Mr. Manning was stationed at Trenton some years ago and is a popular and talented clergyman.

Rev Mr. Jolliffe, pastor of Charlotte street church, has received a unanimous invitation to become the pastor of Wesley church, Clinton, at the next conference.

The transfer will likely take place at the end of next June.

PROTECT THE TIMBER

Ontario Government is About to Pass Important Legislation.

Toronto, March 5.—It is expected that a government bill, adding an important provision to the act for the preservation of forests from destruction by fire, will be introduced in the Legislature shortly. In effect the new clauses, it is reported, will enact that when railways are being built through timbered crown lands or timbered lands under settlement, the Government shall appoint rangers to guard against the destruction of the trees by fire from the sparks of construction trains, camp fires, etc., the cost of the rangers to be borne by the railways.

For some time it has been felt that a measure of this nature is necessary in order to properly safeguard the forest wealth of the province, particularly in the northern districts now being or to be opened up by new railways. The present act, while making provision for precautions to be taken by the railways to prevent forest fires being started by sparks from locomotives, gives no such authority as that contained in the proposed bill.

TO HELP DAIRYMEN

Ontario Government Will Furnish Instructors to Factories.

The Ontario Government has just issued a circular letter notifying those interested that they are again co-operating in furnishing instructors to visit factories and dreameries periodically throughout the season from May till October inclusive, for the purpose of assisting makers in improving their methods, giving advice as to equipment, drainage, ventilation, etc. The Department requires that each factory receiving instruction pay $15 for the season.

The instructors will give advice to farmers as to the best method of cooling and taking care of their milk. Each instructor will be supplied with leaflets giving the most approved methods of caring for milk, and will have pleasure in leaving one with each producer as visited.

Those desiring instruction should make application to G. G. Publow, chief instructor for Eastern Ontario, Kingston.

The Ontario Department of Agriculture, is sending a somewhat similar circular letter to the proprietors of cheese factories, notifying them of this intention.

COMBINE KINDER

Locals Bakers Will Reduce Prices To-day.

As our readers are aware, for months past The Times has, in no uncertain terms, in the interest of Peterboro's poor as well as rich, objected strenuously against the arbitrary action of our local bakers in taking the last possible cent, the public could or would stand, for the main article in the poor family's diet.

The bakers claim that the price of flour has declined, and that they "Wish to give the public the benefit."

They will, today reduce the price of bread. Hitherto the prices have been 10 cents for the three-pound and 13 cents for four-pound loaves, but commencing today the prices will be reduced one cent each, making them 9 and 12 cents.

As is generally known, flour has decreased in price some weeks, if not months ago. The local bakers however seem to have not noticed this until Saturday; it would be a graceful act on their part, as they are giving the public a benefit, to subscribe the difference between today's prices, and those they would have charged, had they known of the fall in price, to the Children's Aid or some other charity.

Mr. Gardiner Held Good Sale.

Mr. J. H. Gardiner, Peterboro's popular auctioneer, has added still another to his long list of important stock and farm sales. On March 1st, Mr. Gardiner held a sale at the residence of Mr. John Riddell, Baillieboro, that was successful from start to finish.

Grade cows brought as high as $65, sheep $22 per pair, and other stock proportionately good prices. Mr. Gardiner this season has met with high prices at all of the numerous sales he has conducted.

PLOTTED DEATH TO OPERATORS

The San Francisco Mystery Cleared up by Orchard's Confession.

WAS NOT A GAS EXPLOSION

San Francisco, March 5.—It developed last night that a San Francisco mystery of two years ago has been touched upon in the confession made by Harry Orchard, now imprisoned at Boise, Idaho, on the charge of having murdered former Governor Steunenberg.

According to Orchard's confession, as received here, the "inner circle" of the Western Federation of Miners plotted the assassination of every prominent man connected with the employers' side of the famous Coeur d'Alene strike, and one of the attempts to commit murder took place in this city.

In 1904 Frederick W. Bradley, superintendent of the Bunker Hill and Sullivan mines, was living here. On the morning of November 17th Bradley opened his front door to step into the street on the way to his office. As he was opening the door he ignited a match to light a cigar. Instantly a terrific explosion followed. Bradley was hurled into the street, badly bruised and burned. He was so severely hurt that for a time it was feared he would die. A gas grate had been leaking in his flat, and the only plausible theory advanced at the time was that the explosion was due to the accumulation of gas, which became ignited by the lighted match.

Orchard, however, in his confession, says that Bradley was the victim of a bomb outrage.

POLICE COURT NEWS

At Saturday morning's court, Jas. Wilson, a poor, broken-down wreck, who some time ago sustained serious injuries by a fall in the woods, and who now walks with a stick, lame from the effects of rheumatism, was charged with having been drunk and disorderly.

James pleaded guilty, whereupon the Magistrate, possibly to ensure the prisoner going to Castle Nesbitt to recuperate, imposed a fine of $5, with $4.75 costs, to be paid forthwith, the option being 30 days in the stone building surmounting Court House Hill.

James pleaded to be sent to the hospital, but was sent to jail.

Shortly after the court had adjourned, P. C. Stewart arrested a young Scotchman, named Robert Henderson, who hails from the classic constituency of the late Right Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Midlothian.

Henderson, who had evidently been making a practical comparison of the relative merits of the peat flavored nectar distilled in the Highlands and plain 5 cent Canadian tangle-leg. His condition demonstrated that whilst not so fiery as the "Dew of the Heather," the corn extract of Canada gets there just the same. The charge was that of indecent exposure.

A special session of the police court to dispose of the young Scotsman's case. As the young man had been "non compos" from the results of his tests of the natural beverages, the magistrate allowed him to go with a reprimand.

During Saturday afternoon a young man named Kennedy laid a information against another citizen charging him with assault. However, although the police made a vigorious and prompt search the man had seemingly got out of the city in time.

A SEARCHING INQUIRY

License Inspector to Report Fully to Ontario Government.

Today Mr. George Cochrane, local license inspector will, under instructions from his Department, begin a thorough inspection of all the hotels of this city. He has been supplied with blank forms, containing questions that will have to be answered by every license holder.

This will be a most thorough and searching enquiry, as the Ontario Government, is determined that those wishing to get or renew their licenses must "keep dates." The questions and answers, which as soon as completed, will be forwarded to Toronto by the inspector, include the following:

HIS MAJESTY AT CHERBOURG

Edward's Visit to French Capital Regarded as Likely to Influence the Proceedings at Algeciras.

Cherbourg, France, March 4.—The British Royal Yacht Victoria and Albert, having on board King Edward, was sighted at noon to-day. The harbor is elaborately decorated in honor of his Majesty. The King will be received with military honors, and take the royal train for Paris.

AT PARIS

Paris March 4. — The arrival of King Edward in Paris this evening for a three days' visit attracts comment in connection with the Algeciras conference as being a timely reaffirmation of the Anglo-French agreement. Premier Rouvier will meet the King at the depot. While here his Majesty will be the guest of the British embassy, maintaining his incognito as Duke of Lancaster.

President Fallieres and King Edward will exchange visits tomorrow, and there will be a gala dinner at the embassy on Sunday at which the King, the president and the premier will be guests, and also Baron de Courcel, recently head of the French mission at the funeral of King Christian.

"MY DEAR WILHELM."

New York, March 4.—A Berlin despatch to the Herald says that satisfaction reigns in high circles there because King Edward has written a most gratifying letter to the emperor on the occasion of his silver wedding. King Edward addresses his nephew as "My Dear Wilhelm," wishes him and the empress every happiness and hopes they may live to celebrate their golden wedding. He also announces that he has sent the emperor a silver punch bowl of the Georgian period, so much prized by collectors.

200 FISHING BOATS MISSING

Terrible Disaster to Norwegian Fleet Many Wrecked Boats are Seen Floating.

Christiana, Norway, March 4. — Several steamers have been despatched to Gjaest-Ingerne Island, from Trondhjem to the assistance of the fishing fleet, which met with disaster in a violent storm which recently raged over the islands.

Only a portion of 500 boats which recently went out fishing have returned, and vessels which have arrived at Trondhjem report that large numbers of the fleet have been seen floating keel upwards.

The crews of the boats composing the fleet number from 1200 to 1400 men.

Altogether, 70 fishing boats, with their crews, have thus far reached different points of Flatenger and Roorvik islands, and large numbers are also arriving at Gjaelingerne Island, so it is hoped that the disaster will not turn out to be so great as at first feared.

Three steamers are searching for the missing fishermen.

Thomaston, Me., March 5.—The day after tomorrow the doors of the state prison here will be swung open and Calvin Graves will walk forth a free man after nineteen years spent behind the prison bars. The crime for which Graves was sent to prison was committed in 1886 and at the time of its commission was a the sensation of the state. It was a double murder, the victims being two game wardens named Hill and Miles.

STRONG AS STEAL

The Kind of Nerves That Can Do Things.

A young athlete writes concerning the method by which he acquired steady nerves, and also of some good missionary work he has done:

"About a year ago," he says, "my nerves began to grow unsteady and I found myself troubled with sleeplessness. I set an enquiry on foot, and became convinced that the coffee I drank was the cause of the trouble and determined to quit it right there.

"So I got a package of Postum Food Coffee and Mother and I prepared it. We did not boil it long enough the first time and were not much impressed by it. The second time, however, we followed the directions carefully, and were more than pleased with the result.

"I can sleep like a log now, since I am using Postum, my nerves are as strong as steel, and my muscles, which used to tire easily, are hard and enduring as iron. Heavy athletics no longer give me pain in the side and chest as formerly.

"I have brought our whole family to use it, and it has done every one of them good. My father has found his asthma almost entirely relieved since he gave up coffee and began to drink Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

STORM OVER IN 4 MINUTES MILLION LOSS; 20 KILLED

Business District of Meridian Wrecked—Rain Extinguished Fires Which Followed.

Birmingham, Ala., March 4.—A staff correspondent of the News wired his paper this afternoon from Meridian that the total list of dead from last night's tornado numbers 19, with one missing, and perhaps several bodies under the debris. The number of injured is about 50.

The militia is keeping the crowds back, while the search of the ruins progresses. The citizens held a meeting today and organized for relief work. Governor Vardaman was informed of the need of help, and he replied that the state would aid. He is on his way to Meridian.

The entire south side of Front street and the east and west sides of 22nd avenue, from Front to Railroad streets, suffered severely, many buildings being demolished.

Many persons are also reported missing, and are believed to be dead under the wreckage in the ruinous districts.

The property loss by storm and fire will be in the neighborhood of one million dollars.

OVER IN FOUR MINUTES.

It was about 6.10 p.m. the clouds began to gather. They came hurriedly, and hovered close and black over the city. At 6.27 the storm broke. It was of four minutes duration.

During the time the reign of terror was over everyone. The air was filled with missiles. A rain fell steadily for half an hour following the tornado, aiding in the suppression of innumerable fires.

The tornado was from the southwest, following the railroad tracks, which passed through Meridian along Front street. The noise was terrible. Among the first buildings to go down was the electric lighting plant, and the city was thrown into a stifling darkness. Confusion reigned. People were panic-stricken and rushed into the streets from every direction.

That the death rate is not larger than that given is marvellous, but can be accounted for, probably, by the fact that many employes of wrecked houses, depots, offices and other places maintaining large clerical forces had finished the day's work and gone to their homes.

The residence portion of the city escaped.

CONSIDERED SAFE.

Meridian had always considered itself a tornado-proof. Mount Barton and the Sand Mountain Hills were so-called as a safeguard against such a disaster. The Chewalaca Valley was crossed by the storm, and this was most unexpected. F. H. Woodruff, bookkeeper for the Meyer-Neville Hardware Co., had the most harrowing experience of those left to tell the story. He was pinioned under the debris of this five-storey structure, his foot caught, but his body peculiarly protected from injury. Workmen were busily engaged in an effort to relieve him, and with saw and hammer, he was aiding as best he could.

The fire department has recovered the charred bodies of several negroes taken from the ruins of small tenements which were in the wake of the wind and fire.

The largest single loss will probably fall on the Meyer-Neville Hardware Co. Its building is a brick romp.

The Meridian Fertiliser Co's loss is almost total. It was this building that the storm first struck. In a northerly direction, the wind wound its way tearing a path through a negro settlement. Little is known of the loss of life there. The property loss will not be great.

The power station was visited, and while the tall chimney escaped the fury of the wind, yet other parts of the plant are so demolished that it may be ten days before it is possible to re-establish its lighting facilities.

The Tom Lyle Grocery Company building was crumbled to a heap of splintered lumber, and fire followed its fall.

MAN CARRIED IN THE AIR.

Will Ethridge, a young man, was carried 100 yards through the air, and set down on his feet unhurt.

The Meridian Cement Works estimate their loss at $250,000. A large cotton warehouse, where thousands of bales of cotton were stored, was demolished, and cotton was scattered in every direction by the wind.

A special train left Jackson shortly after 11 o'clock with Governor Vardaman, 100 members of the legislature and many physicians, who go to do relief work at Meridian.

MARKET BLOCK, PETERBOROUGH

Evils of the "Sweat Shop" in Germany

German Exhibition Reveals Hardships Endured by Toymakers---England Also Has its Unpaid Workers.

London, March 4.—The soul of the Empress of Germany has been stirred by the terrible accounts of the sweating system which is carried on in the toy-making factories of Germany.

"What can be done to stop this awful evil?" she cried, with tears in her eyes, when she saw 140 tin soldiers, for which twelve cents had been paid to the wage-earner.

The exhibition was an excellent idea, and it would be very well if here, in England, we could have just such a one to exhibit government sweating for the army and navy and police, etc., with the half-starved wage-earners thrown in, in order to bring home to the minds of the people the terrible misery which is being endured by underpaid thousands.

The other day a needlewoman applied to the Lambeth guardians for outdoor relief. She was known to be industrious, sober and hard-working, and when, on enquiry, the amount of her earnings was elicited, it was proved that she worked a hundred and forty-one hours and received in return seven shillings and sixpence, something less than a penny an hour. She was employed as a finished of volunteer grossard.

It certainly does not seem right that the government contracts should be given at starvation wages, and it is to be hoped that the Radical party will take this question in hand.

From a report that has been given in, the instances of sweating are truly appalling. Sack-making for example, is paid at from five pence to seven pence per dozen, and it takes one day to make a dozen. Matchbox makers receive five pence halfpenny a gross, and in the straw-berry basket industry the maximum wage which can be earned is less than ninepence a day. Toothbrush making, working every day and all day, Sundays included, produces an average wage of five shillings and sixpence per week.

"What can be done to stop this misery?" said the German Empress, and truly we in England have to repeat her words.

A TRUE ADVENTURESS.

A lady explorer has recently returned from the heart of Africa. She struck northwest to Lake Nyassa, and waited six weeks for a boat to carry her across Lake Tanganyika.

Then she travelled to Lake Victoria Nyanza, and lonly twice did she meet white men. Two German soldiers and a number of servants accompanied her.

When at last Miss Hall reached Uganda she saw a sight which must have brought cheer to her heart, as indication that civilization had indeed penetrated the dark country, for the King of Uganda was playing football.

STEAD'S VIEWS.

W. T. Stead has expressed many unpopular opinions. Never, perhaps in his whole career was he more cordially hated than when he called himself a pro-Boer, and today he is not ashamed to say that he is a pro-Russian.

The poverty of the peasant, he maintains, is the root of the real trouble in Russia. When an Englishman is poor he asks for money; when a Russian is poor he asks for land. He describes the Czar as one of the most estimable and humanitarian of men, and Count Witte is a soft of debased Mr. Chamberlain.

His parting words at a lecture on Russia, given by him the other day, may be taken as a prophecy; "When the Russians have got their duuma," he said, "I think we ought to welcome them into the brotherhood of nations, and not look down upon them like this infernal set of Pharisees we usually are."

Silver Wedding Party.

Last Friday evening a very pleasant time was spent at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Booth, 62 Chamberlain street. About thirty-five friends gathered to congratulate them on the 25th anniversary of their wedding. During the day congratulations were received from Mr. and Mrs. A. Booth, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. R. Vernon and Mr. and Mrs. J. Silver, Uxbridge; Mrs. R. Booth, Sylvan; Mr. and Mrs. W. Hunter, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Booth, Grass River.

Two Anarchichists Arrested.

St. Petersburg, March 4.—Two anarchists armed with bombs were arrested at a railroad station here today as they were boarding a train for Tsarskoe-Selo, where the emperor is at present sojourning.

MUTINEERS TO DIE.

Odessa, Russia, March 4.—Lieut. Schmidt, who headed the naval mutiny in June last at Sebastopol, was today sentenced to be hanged, three other mutineers were condemned to be shot and 27 others were sentenced to terms of imprisonment.

Ten of the accused were acquitted. The condemned men have appealed to the court of cassation.

The executions are fixed for tomorrow.

How Consumption Starts

Tired When You Waken--Languid All Day—Nerves Worn Out —Snap All Gone

Your limbs feel "draggy" and excessively weak. A night's sleep seldom brings satisfying rest. Continuous headaches, exhaustion and nervous sensations destroy your health. Soon every spark of vitality is used up. Then you catch tuberculosis.

Start to-day. Build up, get new nerve force, and overcome this process of decay. Use Ferrosone, which physicians consider the most vitalizing, uplifting tonic ever made.

Ferrosone cures because it can furnish the body with sufficient nutriment and building material.

Think of the instant effect—at once the appetite increases, delightful color in the cheeks proves that rich, red blood is being circulated. Tired muscles are invigorated, flesh and weight are added. Nerve force develops, and bounding, joyous health is firmly established.

This is certain—Ferrosone restores failing strength from any cause. The experience of Mr. Thos. Dowd, of Schreiber, Ont., proves this;

"Household worries and cares had about exhausted my strength. I was weak and miserable. My cheeks lacked the color of health, and occasionally I had spells of rheumatism. Then my appetite fell off, and nothing could tempt me to eat. Worn-out feelings, chills and despondency filled my very being. I became anaemic and dwindled down to a shadow. Consumption was very near. Ferrosone put strength in my body with a rush. It built me up, strong, virile and happy, and I have been well ever since."

Ferrosone cures sickness by curing the real cause—lack of blood and nerve tone. It keeps people at their best—fit, ready and anxious for work. In 50c. boxes only, six for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

AWAKENING CHINA.

If the immediate result of her successful war against Russia has been to make Japan a strong power in the Far East, everything now points to the likelihood that the ultimate result will be to make China also a strong power—indeed the dominating power in the Orient. Japan has a population of about fifty millions and a territorial area of a little over 150,000 square miles, including the Island of Formosa. China has a population exceeding 400 millions and a territory of 4,218,000 square miles. China, therefore, as compared with Japan, has more than eight times the population, and a country nearly thirty times greater in area.

For the present, owing to the military prestige of her island neighbor, China may seem to be in Japanese leading strings. But already there are abundant signs that this will not for long continue. All the competent authorities, the men who have studied both nations on the spot and with unbiased mind, agree that, while the Japanese has a keen and a nimble brain, and truly wonderful imitativeness, for broad intellectuality and solid stability of character the Chinaman is easily his master. So, whatever the relative position of the two Oriental powers at this moment, the moral certainty is that when China does come to assert herself the supreme place among the peoples of the Orient will be hers.

That the coming years will be years of swift progress for China is certain. The war has at last taught her the lesson previously grasped by Japan, that to be safe she must be strong, that western aggression can be resisted only by western methods, and that western methods can be acquired only by western learning. The very fact that China has gone right to the end of his chain of argument proves how well the lesson has been learned. Education must be the foundation stone of her new development.

What has already been accomplished in this direction? Up to a year or so ago the examinations which led to government appointments and preferment were confined mainly to the mere memorizing of the precepts of Confucius and other books of ancient Chinese learning. Now we find among the subjects prescribed for study western science, western government, and western laws. At a recent government examination the candidates were required to state their views as to how the resources of China might best be developed, to describe the educational systems of western countries, to speculate on the bearing of the Siberian Railroad and the Panama Canal upon Chinese interests, to explain the meaning of free trade and protection, and to give some account of Herbert Spencer's philosophy of sociology. These questions in themselves come like the flare of flashlight into the gloom-darkness of China.

Until a few years ago the Chinese students who studied abroad, on returning to their own country, were objects of suspicion, and the moment they ventured to assume the role of reformers stood an excellent chance of losing their heads. Now all the best government posts are being conferred upon the men who have qualified themselves by foreign travel, and students as a class are being urged to complete their education abroad. Within the last two or three years provincial colleges have been founded in fifteen provincial capitals, while primary, secondary and technical schools have been described by a recent traveler through China as "springing up all over the Empire." This last week we have even read in the cablegrams of Manchu young ladies of high family repairing to Peking to take advantage of the educational facilities there provided. All of this indicates a really wonderful change in the Chinese—the working of the ferment of reform, not, be it noted, with the object of Occidentalizing China, but with the deliberate and avowed intention of preserving the fundamentals of Oriental life by the agency of western methods.

And there are many other signs of the times—many other proofs of the thorough awakening of China. Within the past two years more than two hundred native newspapers have been started, and are beginning to perform an immense work for intellectual irrigation among a benighted, yet a wonderfully acute and questioning people. A great army is being armed and drilled on the European plan. A Board of Commerce has recently been created, vested with directing authority over railroads, mines, telegraphs, and other commercial and industrial developments throughout China. Even the first movement towards currency reform is in evidence. With these gleams of the coming dawn on the horizon, can any one doubt but that China is rising to a consciousness of her own inherent might, and will in course of a little time be able to claim, like her neighbor, Japan, a place among the controlling nations of the world?

SEPTEMBER 24th, 25th, 26th

Dates For Peterboro's Great Industrial Exhibition This Year.

The executive of Peterboro Industrial Exhibition at their meeting on Thursday night decided that the dates for holding the great local show in 1906, will be Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, September 24th, 25th and 26th.

In view of the good attractions promised at last fall's fair, and the expressed determination of the Directors to have this year's exhibition still more successful and interesting, there will doubtless be a much larger attendance. Last year the attendance was altogether inadequate when the splendid exhibits and up-to-date amusements are considered.

The directorate appointed a deputation to wait upon the city and county councils and ask for special grants in order that more liberal prizes may be offered and the exhibition improved in other ways.

It is not known yet whether or not there will be horse races at the fair this year. The new act respecting agricultural societies will in all probability determine whether it will be possible to have races at an agricultural exhibition and still receive the Government grant.

Mr. Hughes-Charles gave an interesting account of the recent Fairs' Association convention in Toronto.

A Misfit Engagement Ring.

A local bank clerk, calling on one of Peterboro's fairest of the fair, a few days ago, whilst waiting for the young lady to give that last pat with her powder puff, was heard to say to the youngest hopeful:

"How does your sister like the engagement ring I gave her, Bobby?"

Her Young Brother—"Well, it's a little too small. She has an awful hard time getting it off when the other fellows call.

PRIZED HAIR ROPES.

Those Used by the Daring Egg Gatherers of St. Kilda.

An Irish paper not long since offered $150 for a genuine St. Kildeau hair rope, such as is used by egg gatherers. On the lonely island of St. Kilda the most appropriate present a young woman can give to her fiance is a rope made of horsehair, or, better still, of human hair. The rock scalers of this island consider themselves rich above measure if their brides are able to make them such gifts. The ropes are of various lengths, a good one being forty or fifty feet long.

According to a woman traveler who has spent much time at St. Kilda, the ordinary rope consists of a stout hempen cord wrapped round and round with sheep's wool, then with horsehair and finally on the outside with human hair.

It is the work of years to manufacture such ropes—and the maiden of St. Kilda begins very early in her childhood to save her hair combings—and also to dry and bleach certain rough grasses that grow on the wind swept island. The fibers make the cable stronger, and the elastic quality of the hair prevents chafing against the rude cliffs during the rock scaler's descent.

A curiosity collector wanted to buy one of these ropes, which are used by the St. Kilda egg gatherers. He offered $100, but the amount was refused scornfully.

THE ESKIMO SMOKER.

He Dearly Loves Tobacco and Not a Bite of It Is Wasted.

"No man is fonder of tobacco than an Eskimo," said an arctic traveler. "The Eskimo depends for his tobacco solely on the white man. For a pound of it he would sell his oldest son.

"It is odd to see an Eskimo smoke. He chops his tobacco fine and mixes it with chopped willow twigs so as to make it go further. Then he cleans out with a picker of bone the small stone bowl of his pipe, and then he plucks a lock of hair from his deerskin suit and rams it down in the bottom of the pipe bowl so as to prevent any of the finely chopped tobacco from escaping into the stem.

"Finally he lights the pipe and smokes it in a swift series of long, strong puffs so that there may be no waste. Each puff is inhaled deep down into the lungs, and the first puff's smoke is still streaming from the nostrils long after another puff has been started. There must be, you see, no waste. There must be none of that vain combustion of tobacco without benefit to the smoker which goes on continually among us.

"Often the most experienced Eskimo will smoke so hard and fast that tears will stream from his eyes, he will cough violently, and sometimes vertigo and nausea will seize him."

Animals That Are Always Enemies.

Many animals are born with an inherent antipathy for other animals. The excessive fear shown by young rabbits which for the first time smell a ferret and of young turkeys which hear the shrill cry of a hawk they have never heard or seen before, are proved examples of the strength of these instinctive antipathies. But the case of the weasel and rat is, perhaps, more to be noticed because of the greater equality of the antagonists. The feud is so bitter that a meeting between them almost certainly means death to one or both. Friendships are not uncommon between the cat and dog and have been known between a dog and wolf, but the mutual attitude of the weasel and rat is invariably war—war that is waged to the death.

The Word "Nugget."

"Nugget" was formerly used to signify a bit or lump of anything, as a "nugget of tobacco." Nowadays, however, it is used principally of gold as it comes from the mine. This use is Australian. Governor Sir William Denison of Australia wrote in 1852, "In many instances the gold is brought to market in lumps or nuggets, as they are called." In Queensland there is a peculiar use of the word unknown in the rest of Australia. There, when a man appropriates unbranded calves, he is said to be "nugget."

He Understood.

Paul Louis Courier, when bitterly assailed by a French professor, quietly remarked: "I fancy he must be vexed. He calls me Jacobin, rebel, plagiarist, thief, poisoner, forger, liquor, madman, impostor, calumniator, blinder, a horrible, filthy, grimacing regrater. I gather what he wants to say. He means that he and I are not of the same opinion, and this is his only way of putting it."

Who Had the Wanted.

Husband—Anything you want in town today, my dear? Shall I order some more of that self rising flour? Wife—We have plenty left, but I wish you would stop at a registry office and order me a self rising servant girl.

Preparing the Soil.

"I notice the young Widow Prettyman doesn't have her widow's weeds so much in evidence now."

"No; she's clearing those weeds away. I believe she sees signs of a second crop of orange blossoms."

Short Why.

"You say you cannot accept nothing from your wife?"

"Absolutely nothing."

"And why do you not?"

"It is evident that you do not know my wife."

Nothing can bring you peace but yourself; nothing can bring you peace but the triumph of principles.—Emerson.

Chess.

Authorities on chess declare that the game was known to the Chinese in the year 174 B. C.

Tracked By Teeth.

A burglar who broke into a house at Flames, a suburb of Paris, has been identified by the marks of defective teeth found on a half eaten apple which he left behind.

Serfdom In Hungary.

In some parts of Hungary serfdom of the old Russian type still prevails. The peasant is obliged to work fifty days each year for his landlord without pay, the time to be chosen by the latter, who is almost sure to choose the season when the poor men can least afford to work for nothing. This system led to the insurrection in 1808.

Identical With the Bible.

A Babylonian tablet in the British museum which has been deciphered has an account of the death of King Sennacherib almost identical with that in the Bible (II Kings xix. 37).

An Old Wooden Church.

There is in Norway a wooden church of unknown age, but undoubtedly several hundred years old, which is held to illustrate old methods of building admirably. The queer, peaked, many angled roof has almost an oriental appearance.

Metal Money.

Before the introduction of coins and mints gold and silver passed by weight in the forms of lumps, buttons, wedges or spikes.

Origin of the Honeymoon.

The term "honeymoon" was not suggested by the sweetness of that period of bliss, but originated through a custom of the Germans of old which compelled the newly wedded to drink nothing but mead made of honey during the thirty days following the marriage.

Slaves In Ireland.

Long ago poverty stricken English parents sold their offspring to the Irish, who made slaves of them.

Greenland Women.

Many Greenland women are perfectly bald on the sides of their heads, owing to their method of dressing the hair, which is pulled back with painful tightness and held in place by a ribbon.

The Chinese Wind Cart.

The "wind cart," used for irrigation purposes by the Chinese, consists of eight tall mat sails fixed perpendicularly on a wooden frame. The sails go around with the wind, which causes the water from the river to be pumped through a trough.

Harpers Ferry.

Robert Harper, an Englishman, bought land in Maryland and Virginia on both sides of the Potomac and founded a settlement. The ferry he established gave a name to Harpers Ferry, Va.

Ropemaking.

Although the name of the first ropemaker and that of the land in which he practiced his art have been lost to history, Egyptian sculptures prove that the art was practiced at least 2,000 years before the time of Christ.

Single Men Chastised.

Plato condemned the single men to a fine, and in Sparta they were driven at stated times to the temple of Hercules by the women, who there drilled them in true military style.

Death's Head Moth.

Acherontia, a species of moth, has on the back of its thorax a remarkable representation of a human skull and is much feared by the ignorant and superstitious, who have named it the "death's head moth."

Caligula the Cruel.

Caligula, most cruel of Roman emperors, built a bridge of boats three miles long at Baiae and celebrated its opening by throwing many of his guests into the sea.

The Magpie.

In the folklore of almost every country the magpie figures very largely. In popular superstitions to see one magpie is unlucky; to see two denotes merriment or marriage; to see three, a successful journey; four, good news; five, company.

Washington's Acres.

Records of Fairfax county, Va., show that George Washington owned at the age of twenty-seven 50,000 acres of land and in 1760 the Washington family had killed 150 hogs for their use.

Pontius Pilate's Guards.

The oldest regiment in British service, probably also in the world, is the First Royal Scots, familiarly known as "Pontius Pilate's guards," on account of the very great length of time the regiment has been embodied.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces (except 8 and 26, not reserved), may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is issued upon the payment in advance of $5 per annum for an individual, and from $25 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15 by 1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

They expect to be turning out bricks by May 1st.

Methodist Anniversary Services.

Yesterday special missionary anniversary services were held in the Charlotte and George street Methodist churches. Two of the most prominent preachers of that denomination in Canada, both well able to present the claims of the Missionary Society to the congregations, made them services particularly interesting. Rev. Dr. Brooker preached in the Charlotte street church at morning service, and Rev. D. Cade took that service in George street. These two gifted Toronto divines, exchanged pulpits in the evening.

New Lindsay Judge Arrived.

The Lindsay Post says: Mr. Hugh McMillan, of Guelph, who recently received the appointment of junior judge of Victoria County, arrived in town yesterday and was sworn in by County Crown Attorney Devlin. The new judge was driven about town for an hour or so by his friend Judge Harding, and on his return to the county building met several members of the Lindsay bar. Judge McMillan will preside at his first court on March 20th, and soon after that date will take up his residence here.

A TRIPPLE ASSAULT

A Manvers Wedding Celebration Interrupted.

The Newcastle Independent, of latest issue, recording a fracas that interrupted the festivities following on a wedding in that township says in part;

Immense was the gathering from Northeastern Clarke and the adjacent part of Manvers last Thursday in our court house to hear the triple assault charge against James Curtis of the latter township, tried by F. B. Lovekin, J.P.

The salient features of what may be termed to have been a social function at Kendal, seem to be that in honor of the marriage of Dave McMullen last month a dancing party was gotten up at the home of Mrs. Armstrong in that village. The whole countryside was invited except those who had been left out.

Among the excepted ones were Jas. Curtis and one or two of his associates, who, however, decided to go; and possibly to make themselves welcome, and knowing from experience that the Kendallites seldom touch anything stronger than cider, they took a bottle along filled with liquid fire to drink to the newly married couple.

For a time the dance seems to have gone along merrily, until a little of the hard stuff got mixed with the soft stuff, then things got crosswise.

Then a dispute arose as to what partner should claim a fair one's hand, and a sturdy yeoman's clenched fist backed up his argument. The mistress of the mansion and mother of the young man, rushed forward, bringing to the Jim's assistance a potatoe masher, an heirloom descending, with the family from the Emerald Isle upon the cranium of the intruder, whereupon the heroine fell back in a swoon.

Having carefully examined the Irish potatoe masher which his Worship should preserve as a memento of the first case, for each charge, there being three of assault in the indictment, together with costs in the case, a fine of $1 was imposed.

MR. J. RIDDELL HONORED

Popular Resident of South Monaghan Entertained.

Last Thursday a large number of his friends throughout the Township of South Monaghan, held a very successful banquet in honor of Mr. John Riddell of Baillieboro. Mr. Riddell who was born in that township, and is one of the most generally respected residents, having a host of friends both in this city and county, has recently disposed of his fine farm and stock.

A very pleasant evening was spent, songs and speeches following on the sumptuous repast.

HEIR TO $40,000

Leonard McPherson, Warsaw Comes in for Nice Sum.

One resident of Warsaw, whilst mourning the loss of his father, has from a financial standpoint received news that unquestionably places him on "Easy street," as his pecuniary affairs, of late, have not been as prosperous as might be desired.

Mr. Leonard McPherson, of that village, who is a native of Glasgow, having emigrated to this country country about four years ago, and who for three years served in the British, at Egmont Barracks, Toronto, has received notice from his solicitor in Glasgow, Scotland, acquainting him of the death of his father, and that he is a legatee to the extent of eight thousand pounds, besides valuable property.

On completion of his three years' service in the militia, Mr. McPherson married, and has since been a farm hand.

The property to which he has been made heir is situated a few miles from Glasgow and is a favorite watering place. An hotel which his father conducted, is situated on the property.

Mr. and Mrs. McPherson will leave shortly for Scotland, where they will take charge of the estate.

ANOTHER APPLICANT

Madoc Will Now Put in a Claim For the Normal School.

The North Hastings Star, referring to the proposed normal schools to be built by the Ontario Govt., says:

"It is understood that the Legislature during the present session will abolish model schools, substituting therefor a number of Normal schools in which it is claimed, teachers can secure a better training than a majority of them have been receiving. These normal schools, it is expected, will be placed at convenient points in the province, and already numerous deputations have waited on the Government to press the claims of their respective localities, Peterboro, Whitby, Brockville and a host of other places are after one of the Eastern Ontario schools. Places where good model schools have been maintained for years past should have first consideration, so that Madoc will probably stand a fighting chance for one of the new normal schools.

STILL GROWING

Demand for Mi-o-na Stomach Tablets Continues to Increase.

Although Mi-o-na was introduced in Peterboro but a short time ago, it is today outselling all other medicines for the cure of indigestion and stomach troubles.

Mi-o-na almost invariably cures all forms of indigestion and stomach troubles except cancer.

It gives such health and strength to the weakest stomach that all the food is readily converted into nutrition, so that it gives nourishment and health to the whole system. In this way nervousness and sleeplessness are cured; headaches, backaches, and rheumatic pains are prevented, and there will be no more sour appetite, distress after eating, heartburn, or debility.

Mi-o-na costs but 50c. a box.

If you cannot obtain Mi-o-na at your druggist, it will be sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of price. Write us for advice on your case from a leading stomach specialist which will be sent free. The E. T. Smith Company, Minden, Ont.

A Trite Saying.

It is a trite saying that no man is stronger than his stomach. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery strengthens the stomach—puts it in shape to make pure, rich blood—helps the liver and kidneys to expel the poisons from the body and thus cures both liver and kidney troubles. If you take this natural blood purifier and tonic, you will assist your system in manufacturing each day a pint of rich, red blood, that is invigorating to the brain and nerves. The weak, nervous, run-down, debilitated condition which so many people suffer from, is usually the effect of poisons in the blood; it is often indicated by pimples or boils appearing on the skin, the face becomes thin and the feelings "blue." Dr. Pierce's "Discovery" cures all blood humors as well as being a tonic that makes one vigorous, strong and forceful. It is the only medicine put up for sale through druggists for like purposes that contains neither alcohol nor harmful habit-forming drugs, and the only one, every ingredient of which has the professional endorsement of the leading medical writers of this country. Some of these endorsements are published in a little book of extracts from standard medical works and will be sent to any address free, on receipt of request therefor by letter or postal card, addressed to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. It tells just what Dr. Pierce's medicines are made of. The "Words of Praise" for the several ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are composed, by leaders in all the several schools of medical practice, and recommending them for the cure of the diseases for which the "Golden Medical Discovery" is advised, should have far more weight with the sick and afflicted than any amount of the so-called "testimonials" so conspicuously flaunted before the public by those who are afraid to let the ingredients of which their medicines are composed be known. Bear in mind that the "Golden Medical Discovery" has THE BADGE OF HONESTY on every bottle wrapper, in a full list of its ingredients.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation, invigorate the liver and regulate stomach and bowels.

ONE OF THE RICHEST PROSPECTS EVER DISCOVERED.

The Iron Spar Mining Co.

The Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., owning valuable property on the divide between the States of Idaho and Montana, a copper proposition of exceptional promise, a property that even a novice, by personal inspection, ought to discern merits in, so apparent are the indications which guide the prospector in the work of making great mineral discoveries. An immense copper bearing ledge traverses the ground from east to west and is so well defined and conspicuous in its surface outcrop that anyone however unfamiliar with outward appearances of mineralization, once shown the ledge, may follow it uninterruptedly for several thousand feet. The fact is that copper ores appear in the vein gangue even to the grass roots.

The vein is large, 15 to 20 feet wide, and horizontally continuous across the whole extent of the claims, a distance of 6,600 feet. Being a true fissure and cutting the country formation at a considerable angle, it is entirely consistent with geological laws to suppose that it has also great vertical dimension.

Everybody who has made any study of the profits derived from successful copper mining operations can not have failed to observe the splendid and continuous dividends paid to investors. Copper mining has been so dependable a source of revenue throughout the world that today many investors prefer it to the more fickle high grade gold propositions. Look at the enormous and steady profits paid investors in all the great copper fields of the world, as viz: The Lake Superior mines in Michigan, Butte mines in Montana, Bisbee and Tombstone in Arizona, the mines of Utah, the great Tintic mines in Spain, and the Mexican mines. The demand for copper increases with the advance of civilization and the immense demand created by the growing popularization of electrical power justifies the belief that the supply will hardly keep pace with the demand for years to come. Copper mining is safe and profitable, once you have found a good property. That is just what we are trying to introduce to you, and you have this in the Iron Spar.

The sum of 400,000 shares of the fully paid capital stock was set aside as a treasury fund to be devoted to the improvement, development and equipment of the property. Nearly the entire block remains in the treasury at the present date, only so much having been drawn out as was necessary to defray the expenses of operation since the formation of the Company. The miners have all taken stock as pay instead of cash.

The Carpet Factory Agreement Passed The City Council

Stove and Heater Co's Proposition also Endorsed by the Corporation---An all Night Session in Which Considerable Interest Was Centred.

The city fathers met in regular monthly session last night, when there were present, Mayor Henry Best, and Aldermen Johnston, Povey, Hicks, Mason, Graham, Ball, Dunsmore, McIntyre, McWilliams, Adams and Elliott.

CARPET FACTORY BONUS.

It being generally known that the English Carpet Co's and the Stove and Heater Co's agreements providing bonuses as inducements for their locating here was to come up for final reading before going to the Legislature, the auditorium was filled with citizens, including members of the School Board, the Board of Trade, and a large number of other representative people. While the School Board were present mainly in the interest of their site for a new Collegiate Institute, they heartily joined forces with the Board of Trade and others in endorsation of the carpet company's proposition, to which it was understood his Worship was opposed.

The Council convened at 8.20 and remained in session till 12.20. In order to secure the English Carpet Company, who must of necessity decide at once where they are to locate, it was deemed advisable by Ald. McWilliams and the Manufacturers' committee to secure legislative confirmation of the agreement first, so that the company might have some assurance to act upon in shipping their looms to Peterboro, after which the ratepayers would be asked to vote on a by-law, authorizing the corporation to borrow money to purchase either 15 acres of the old Sugar Company's property at an estimated price of $6,000, which represents practically the bonus agreed upon; or in default to securing this site, to buy property equivalent to that amount. His Worship [illegible] that no attempt might be made to override the people should signatures sanction be secured first. Ald. McWilliams having contended that as such an event it would not be legally compulsive to send the question to the ratepayers at all. However, there need have been no fear that such a course would be resorted to, for other aldermen, although willing to save time by going to the Legislature first, had placed themselves on record that they would support no bonus measure unless it eventually were submitted to the people. Of course such measures should be endorsed by the ratepayers, who are to "pay the piper," but his Worship and Ald. McWilliams measured swords for an hour or two over a question practically decided last week at a Committee of the Whole, that the carpet company should be added as outlined in these columns then, providing such action is confirmed by the Legislature and sanctioned by the ratepayers. And last night the city fathers endorsed that course of procedure, which means that as soon as Legislative consent is secured (if at all) the carpet company will decide to locate in Peterboro, relying on their agreement being endorsed at the polls.

Mr. Whitehead, the carpet company's Canadian representative, and Mr. Robertson, their solicitor, were present.

WHAT THEY ARE TO GET.

Ald. McWilliams presented the following report;

Gentlemen,—Your Committee of the Whole Council beg leave to report and recommend as follows;—

1. That an agreement be entered into with Messrs. Brinton, Limited, Kidderminster, England, for the establishment of a carpet factory here upon the following terms;

The company shall before the first day of January, 1907, erect and equip buildings for the manufacture of carpets to cost not less than $60,000 exclusive of machinery, and shall employ therein by the first day of Jan. 1908 not less than 125 hands.

In consideration thereof the said corporation shall grant to the said company a firm sale of 15 acres of land to be part of the Sugar Company property if secured, or instead there of other equivalent property; and a fixed assessment for a term of 21 years at the purchase price thereof including buildings used for manufacturing purposes; the right to connect with the sewers free of charge; the right to construct wells and the use of a railway siding; in the event of the city undertaking the supply of electric power a supply of same at the same rates as other manufacturers; the conveyance of said lands to be on terms similar to those of the lands granted to the Cordage Co.

The above agreement to be subject to ratification or modification by the Legislature of Ontario, and to be submitted to a majority vote of the qualified electors.

2. That the city solicitor be instructed to prepare by-laws for submission to the electors embodying agreements with Messrs. Brinton, and Mr. J. F. Howard for the establishment of a carpet factory and a stove and heater works respectively.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Ald. McWilliams, the father of this measure spoke at length and strongly in favor of this company getting the free use of 15 acres, which at $400 an acre, will cost the city $6,000, and a fixed assessment on this amount for 25 years. He characterized this company as a large and old established English concern, enjoying a world-wide reputation for manufacturing their famous class of carpets. They will get into working order within a year and a half with at least 50 hands, which capacity will be increased to 125 at the beginning of 1908. He thought the corporation should exert themselves to secure this valuable industry.

His Worship—"You are not sure you can get that land at $400 an acre."

Ald Mr Williams replied that he estimate is a reasonable one.

Ald. Hicks seconded the report's adoption. He recorded himself as being in favor of first going to the Legislature with the proposition, and then submit it to the people if so advised by the Legislature.

His Worship argued that the question before the Council at this juncture, was whether this matter should be submitted to the Legislature first on a by-law to the people first. He urged the latter course as consistent with the council's duty to the ratepayers whom they represent.

Citizens present were then invited to voice their views.

Mr. D. Hughes-Charles as president of the Board of Trade, advocated saving time by submitting the question to the Legislature first, and if ratified then to the people. The rooms for this company are already ordered and storage room asked for from the C.P.R. This concern is a substantial firm which Peterboro must bestir herself to secure, as other localities are after them.

Mr. Adam Dawson submitted that Council can't borrow money with which to purchase the lands in question without a vote of the people.

Mr. Hughes-Charles illustrated a case in point, where $100,000 were spent on a court house by confirmation of Legislature, only, and without going to the people at all.

His Worship—"I'm not sign any such document that is not submitted to the ratepayers for endorsation."

Ald. McWilliams,—"You can make this measure absolutely legal in two ways, either by confirmation of the Legislature or a vote of the people."

Ald. Ball—"I say there shall be no expenditure of such monies unless by a vote of the people. We are all aware that a Council Board with Legislative confirmation made this a city without the will of the people, and while I sit here no such action shall be repeated if I can avoid it."

Mr. D W. Dumble spoke at length and in strong support of the proposition. He thought the company undoubtedly needed 15 acres for contemplated extensions. The fact of their choice of Peterboro as a location would induce other English concerns to follow suit. If we let this opportunity go by our doors, we may as well give up looking for industries. He urged the Mayor to withdraw his apparent opposition and follow the policy of encouraging industries to locate here, as foreshadowed in his inaugural speech last January.

Mr. Richard Hall remarked that he is fully persuaded the best thing the city can do is to give this company a reasonable bonus, which he believed the paltry $6000 asked for to be.

Mr. Robert Fair said he had had the pleasure of seeing the Brinton's Limited mammoth works at Kidderminster, has done business with the firm for years, and knows them to rank in the front row of the manufacturers of high grade carpets in the world. Mr. B. F. Ackerman did not think the company is asking any more than they will return to this city in benefits accruing from their establishment here.

Mr. W. H. Hill endorsed the opinions of Mr. D. Hughes-Charles.

Mr. Robertson, the company's solicitor, assured the Council that 24 looms are now on the way across the ocean, and 24 more ordered. If you are going to have the Messrs. Brinton locate here, he said, you must decide at once, for there are many places ready to give them a kindly welcome; and they can't afford to wait. The equipment being cent per cent is merely for their present Canadian trade. They make no carpets that will retail at less than $1 a yard. For each 48 looms there is one expert male tender; for every two looms there is a youth learning the business. The rate of wages paid in England for skilled carpet hands is $12 to $14 a week; but a higher wage will have to be paid here. The 48 looms to be put into this company's Canadian factory will employ at least 100 hands, of which but six would be female help. This explodes the rumor that their employes would be mainly girls.

Mr. Whitehead, the Canadian representative, addressed the Council, and said his company had received much better offers than from Peterboro. One locality offering threefold the city's inducements had wired that they would have everything in shape for their location by May.

Mr. W H. Holderan spoke strongly in favor of the proposition, and urged immediate action.

The report was then adopted as read.

THE STOVE AND HEATER WORKS.

Mr. F. J. Howard wrote in reference to the site for stove and heater works stating that he was now prepared to establish the works at an early date and that he already had designers and patternmakers at work on patterns for the proposed works. In reference to the establishment of a rolling mill apart and and separate from the stove and heater works, to manufacture bar iron and steel, etc., he felt more favorably impressed than ever with Peterboro, as a location for such an industry and was willing to invest in and undertake to establish such an industry here, providing a suitable site is furnished—On the understanding, of course, that he could receive sufficient electric power at a moderate price for operating. He considered the present price, $20 per horse power on three years contracts excessive and unsatisfactory, and advised the Council to use their influence with the power companies here on the interests of both the city and manufacturers, or to establish independent power plants.—Received.

STOVE AND HEATER BYLAW.

A bylaw to confirm an agreement with J. F. Howard for the establishment of a stove and heater works in Peterboro, passed its first and second and third readings.

CARPET CO.'S BYLAW.

A bylaw to confirm an agreement with the Brintons, Limited, manufacturers of carpets, for the establishment of their Canadian factory here, passed its several readings.

If these bylaws are confirmed by the Legislature, the ratepayers will be asked to authorize the corporation to borrow sufficient money with which to purchase the necessary lands for the location thereon of these two industries.

The Council have by the above measures agreed to back the bonus propositions; will send a deputation to Toronto on Wednesday, to support these agreements, and their private bill before the Private Bills Committee, and should the agreements with the two companies be ratified by the Legislature, if will then be left to the ratepayers to assume all responsibility.

A bylaw to convey to the Shovel & Tool Co., the land upon which they are located passed its several readings.

ISOLATION HOSPITAL.

The case of the local hospitals refusing to receive cases of infectious and contagious diseases, was referred to a Committee of the Whole Council to take early action.

THE NEW FIRE ENGINE.

The purchase of the new steam fire engine is now left in the hands of the Fire, Water and Light Committee to decide. This resulted from the following new tender submitted by the Waterous people last night; Mr. Hugh Cameron being present.

Messrs Hugh Cameron company's latest proposition was in reference to the challenge of the Waterous Fire Engine Co., of Brantford, issued to the Canadian Fire Engine Company, and which the latter stated had not been accepted. It was not the intention of the writers to drop the matter, and therefore they offered the city the sum of $1,500 for our old engine, as part payment for a new Waterous 1000 U.S. gallon engine, as per specifications submitted, and further, they challenged the Canadian Fire Engine Co., to hold a competitive test in Peterboro under conditions similar to those submitted for the proposed test in Montreal; Three experts to be appointed by the city, two selections to be made from McGill University, Montreal; the School of Practical Science, Toronto, and any professional expert obtainable from the United States. Each company to deposit with the city treasurer $500, and an obligation to be prepared by the city solicitor, to defray any expenses incurred in the test in excess of the $1,000 placed in the hands of the city solicitor—share and share alike. The challenge must be accepted by March 10th, at one o'clock p.m., and the test to take place within three months from the date of the challenge. The writers enclosed a marked cheque for $500 as evidence of their good faith.

The fact of the Waterous people now offering $1500 for our old engine, in place of their original tender of $500, makes the tenders of both companies for new engine and old one in part payment, practically the same

OPPOSED TO GENERAL TAX.

140 ratepayers signed the following petition;

We the undersigned, do most decidedly object to that clause in the city's bill about to be considered by the Legislature, namely, to have the diversion of the waterways mentioned in said clause done and charged to the general ratepayers.

This refers to the proposed diversion of the stream by ward five, and that on Aylmer street.

The pros and cons of the matter has been argued and published repeatedly. The same ground was gone over again last night, resulting in the request of the petitioners being voted down by 6 to 4.

Mr. Robinson of the Climax Road Machinery Co., was present, but the guarantee of a stone crusher, was not taken up.

The city fathers found it impossible to transact all their business last night, and will meet Monday night, when the question of the Collegiate Institute site will be taken up with the School Board.

Owing to the length of last night's meeting considerable matter is unavoidably left over till tomorrow.

"PETE" ARRESTED

A Local Eccentric Named Johnston Gathered In.

About five o'clock yesterday evening, a well-known local character, generally considered to have "rooms to let in the garrett," was detained at the station. When arrested "Pete" was in bed with clothes and boots on. He will probably have his vanity looked into.

It seems that on Sunday night, Pete scarcee a young Scotchman, rooming at the same place as himself, out of about seven years' growth.

The young son of the Highlands, was sound asleep, about 11 p.m., in his own bed, and suddenly awakening, though hearing not a sound, experienced that hair-raising sensation, and creepy feeling, one has when believing, without seeing cause that some one is in his room.

He felt almost paralyzed with his half asleep, half awake dread of the supposed something near him. At last opening his eyes, he saw a grinning face, half covered by thick long straggling locks, that Pete is adorned with, looking straight into his own, about six inches away.

The frightened man avers that he never, in all his life got such a fright. Pete had, being restless in the night, strayed in and gave the recent importation from Scotland a call.

Hence Pete's arrest.

WHO STOLE THE OATS

Excitement in Local Livery Over Enquiry Regarding Oats.

Yesterday a Times' representative passing by a local livery stable, and noticing from the crowd present that something unusual was on "the tapis," at once investigated.

It seems that boys have been in the habit of sweeping out the oats remaining in cars consigned to and all but the sweepings, by the American Cereal Co.

This company, who import many cars of oats a day, have complained, that their cars often weighed short of the quantity presumably consigned to them.

The local police have been aware, for some time, that boys have been sweeping out the, so called, empty oat cars, are selling their gleanings to local livery stables; yesterday, judging by what a spectator who was present said, the police determined to find out the rights and wrongs of the seeming shortage in the Cereal Company's cars.

They have known not only, as above stated, that boys have swept out those cars, but have seen them carrying bags and parts of bags of oats from the American Cereal Company's siding, across the ice to the city. Yesterday morning an officer followed one of the boys carrying a bag of oats to a local livery stable and made an investigation. However this particular lot was mainly sweepings so no arrests were made.

After this, however, a strict watch will be kept to see that no bags of good oats are taken from the cars and sold.

By the way, any man who would feed the sweepings of these cars to his horses should get six months twice a year, as they must contain nails, coal and other articles that have previously been shipped in such cars.

ARE SUING COLLIER'S.

Brockville, March 6.—The W. T. Hanson Company of Schenectady, N. Y., proprietors of the Dr. Williams Medicine Company in the United States, yesterday entered an action for $50,000 against the proprietors of Collier's Weekly for alleged libelous statements contained in an article recently published by them.

PETERBORO AT GODERICH

The Locals Left Yesterday on Their Long Trip to Goderich to Fight for the Championship.

The Peterboro hockey team left by the 5.15 C.P.R. train yesterday afternoon for Goderich, where they will play the final game, for the O.H.A. intermediate championship tonight. The boys will stay in Toronto over night and will reach Goderich at 1 p.m. The local team's line-up will be;—

Goal—Wasson.
Point—Glover.
Cover-point—Crowley.
Rover—Whitcroft.
Center—Morgan.
Spare—Moore.

Mr. W Muir, of Toronto, will referee the game.

POLICE COURT NEWS

Yesterday two women went to the police station and laid a complaint against a man who "did up" her husband in a local hotel. She alleged that her husband had gambled in the hole, and lost his money, but seemed more anxious to get after the man who had struck him in the scrap that ensued Saturday night.

There will probably be arrests today in connection with a one-sided fight that took place yesterday at the Royal (Hotel) Hunter Street. It seems that James and John McManus have been at "loggerheads" for some time with Pat. Murphy, of the east ward. Yesterday, Murphy, who had a considerable jag on, met the McManus brothers, and a scrap took place. Murphy came out, without a doubt, second best in the affair, as above, by an eye in mourning, and other results of the conflict. The local police were summoned, and the McManus brothers had "thrown their hats." One of them lives near Auburn, and the other near Bridgenorth. The police are now on their trail.

OF LOCAL INTEREST

Toronto Globe Gives Biography of Hon. G. A. Cox.

The Toronto Globe of yesterday's issue, referring to a former resident of and a large property owner in this city says;

"The powerful address, delivered by Hon. Geo A. Cox, Senator, at the annual meeting of the Canada Life Assurance Company last week, directs attention to one of the outstanding figures in the financial life of Canada. Senator Cox is a Canadian, having been born in Colborne, Northumberland county, 7 May 7, 1840. His parentage is English. He attended the public and grammar schools of Colborne until February, 1856, when he entered the service of the Montreal Telegraph Company. After two years service, and when only eighteen years of age, he was placed in charge of the agency at Peterboro. He remained there for thirty years, and has still extensive interests in that city. He was mayor of Peterboro for seven years, being returned four times by acclamation. In 1871 he stepped into the Provincial Parliament field, and won in West Peterboro from W. H. Scott. The election was set aside however, and in the following year he was defeated by a majority of one. In 1887 he again contested the same riding for the House of Commons, but was defeated by 18 by James Stevenson. In 1878 he became President of the Midland Railway holding the position until 1884. During his term the amalgamation of the Grand Junction, Whitby and Port Perry, Victoria and Toronto and Nipissing Railways were effected, and the consolidated roads sold to the Grand Trunk. It was in 1881, that Mr. Cox became president of the Central Canada Loan & Savings Company, and in 1885 a director of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. In 1890 he became president of the latter. He is president of the Western Fire and Marine Insurance Company, and the British American Fire and Marine Insurance Company. Senator Cox is a Methodist, a temperance man. Bursar of Victoria University, and President of the Ontario Ladies' College. In his capacity as president of the Canada Life he delivered the memorable speech referred to at the outset."

A NOTABLE FIND IN EGYPT

STATUE OF GODDESS HATHOR FOUND IN TEMPLE AT THEBES

Workmen Tearing Apart the Ruins Uncover a Shrine Built in the Eighteenth Dynasty, 1700 Years B. C.

London, March 6.—The Egypt exploration fund's excavations of Thebes this year have produced wonderful results. The explorers have been excavating at the oldest temple known in Thebes, which belongs to the eleventh dynasty. Working at the back of the temple the explorers found the remains of a shrine of the eighteenth dynasty, 1700 B. C. The first discovery was a fine statue which was quite perfect. Then suddenly the removal of a few stones revealed a chapel covered with sculptures, the colors whereof were absolutely fresh. It was about 10 x 5 feet. The roof was vaulted and painted with yellow stars.

The chapel was dedicated to Hather, goddess of the mountain of the west, who generally is in the form of a cow. In the chapel is the statue of a beautiful cow of life size of painted limestone. The head and horns evidently had been overlaid with gold. The next is adorned with papyrus stems of flowers, as if she were coming out of the water.

DATES BACK 1700 B. C.

The cow is suckling a little boy, who again is represented as a grown man under her neck. A cartouche behind the head is of Amenophis II., son of Thothmes III., who ruled Egypt 1,700 years before the beginning of the Christian era, and whose sculptures cover the walls.

This is the first time a goddess has been found undisturbed in her sanctuary. Moreover, no cow has ever been found of such size and superb workmanship. The modelling of the animal is exquisite, the distinctive characteristics of the Egyptian cattle of the present day being reproduced.

WILL BE REMOVED TO CAIRO.

The statue is uninjured except in a small piece of the right ear. The cow wears the special insignia of the goddess Lunar, and the disc between the horns is surmounted by two feathers. There is so much life in the head that the goddess appears as if about to step out of his sanctuary.

Soldiers immediately were placed on guard night and day. The statue will be removed to Cairo as soon as possible. The shrine also probably will be taken down and rebuilt in a museum. Its value is too enormous and the difficulties of guarding it so great that it is too serious a risk to leave it in its present position.

THE CARELESS GROCER

Blundered, and Great Good Came of It.

A careless grocer left the wrong package at a Michigan home one day and thereby brought a great blessing to the household.

"Two years ago I was a sufferer from stomach trouble, so acute that the effort to digest ordinary food gave me great pain, and brought on a condition of such extreme nervousness that I could not be left alone. I thought I should certainly become insane. I was so reduced in flesh that I was little better than a living skeleton. The doctors failed to give me relief, and I despaired of recovery.

"One day our groceryman left a package of Grape-Nuts food by mistake, so I tried a dish for dinner. I was surprised to find that it satisfied my appetite and gave me no distress whatever. The next meal I ate of it again, and to be brief, I have lived for the past year almost exclusively on Grape-Nuts. It has proved to be a most healthy and appetizing food, perfectly adapted to the requirements of my system.

"It is not only easily digested and assimilated itself, but I find that since I have been using it I am able to eat anything else my appetite fancies, without trouble from indigestion. The stomach trouble and nervousness have left me. I have regained my plumpness and my views of life are no longer despondent and gloomy. Other members of my family, especially my husband, (whose old enemy the 'heartburn' has been vanquished) have also derived great benefit from the use of Grape-Nuts food and we think no morning meal complete without it." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Board of Education Will Ask for $35,000

To Build a Twelve-Roomed School in the South Part of the City, Most Probably on Ground Now Owned by Mr. Charles McGill.

Last night the Board of Education met in the Board room, there present being Messrs. Ferguson, in the chair, Crane, Hayes, Hill, Fair, Morrison, Burnham, Ackerman, Pringle and Dumble.

The minutes of last meeting was read and confirmed.

A communication from the Deputy Minister of Education was read, which was practically as follows;

"A number of sub-target gun machines had been purchased by this department for use of high school cadet corps, and that one of these will be shipped in a week or two from the makers to this school.

The manager of the Sub Target Machine Gun Co., will visit the cadet corps of the various towns, to see to setting up the guns and giving instructions as to use and care of the machine. One of these guns will be loaned to the school by the department, but subject to recall. The gun is valuable, costing $250, but no charge is made for its use. The school will, however, have to pay the freight on receippt of the box. A locked cabinet is provided for the head and rifle when not in use.

This letter is accompanied by a printed receipt to be signed and returned to Toronto, when the gun arrives;

A report was made concerning the absence of several teachers. Inspector Walker, who was present, assured the Board that all these teachers were absent through illness.

Mr. Hayes moved, seconded by Mr. Fair, —That a committee composed of the mover, Mr. Fair and Mr. Hill be appointed to take temporary charge of the sub-target gun on arrival.—Carried.

SPECIAL REPORT ON SCHOOL.

Mr. Pringle, chairman of the special committee, in charge of the proposed south ward new school, reported as follows;

Gentlemen,—Your committee on public school accommodation begs to report that steps were taken to secure the services of an architect, and Mr. W. Blackwell has been engaged. Agreement with him, hereto attached.

Your committee has had the architect prepare estimates for an eight-room school, as suggested, and as it appeared to your Board advisable to provide for future school accommodation in that rapidly growing part of the city, estimates have also been prepared for four additional rooms, such rooms to be unfurnished at present. These estimates are submitted herewith.

Regarding sites, several are available, and options have been secured on different properties by your committee, but no particular choice has yet been made.

Your committee would request definite instruction from your Board, regarding building and site, in order that the necessary steps may be taken to secure, through the City Council, such funds as may be required.

(Sgd.) W. PRINGLE.

ESTIMATES FOR SCHOOL.

School similar to plans submitted, eight rooms, $24,000; twelve rooms, $31,000. If four rooms are left unfinished, it would reduce cost $3,000, or eight rooms unfinished $6,000.

Mr. Dumble moved that the Board purchase the Park lot owned by Mr. C. McGill, had concerning which Mr. Crane made a conjectural offer, subject to approval by Mr. McGill.

Mr. Crane explained how, whilst making the offer from Mr. McGill, he had been unable to get him by telephone yesterday, but expected the offer if accepted by the Board, would be confirmed by Mr. McGill.

Mr. Dumble advocated building a 12-room building.

Mr. Hill thought it would be poor economy to build a school to accommodate the pupils for a year or so; thought the 12-roomed school should be put up, but four rooms left unfinished till wanted.

Mr. Ackerman agreed with this, so also did Messrs. Dr. Burnham, Fair, Crane, Hayes, Hill. Mr. Morrison would like to see a 12-room school, but looking back at past experience in connection with the Collegiate Institute, he was afraid of the people turning them down. He was afraid if the Board asked for more than $30,000 the matter would go to the people and be voted down.

Mr. Dumble said that in asking for money for a public school and a Collegiate Institute is a very different proposition. The working classes are against spending money for high school education, but want their children to get a good common school training, and will spend money for the latter purpose. The land proposed to be purchased on the proposed George street extension, east of Park street, is good land for the purpose, and is cheap enough.

Mr. Pringle thought the Board should do nothing to interfere with getting a Collegiate Institute.

Mr. Ackerman said that the reason the Collegiate Institute was voted down, was because the Board asked for a certain sum and then came back asking for more. It would be better to get the whole amount needed for the south ward school at once and not be going back for more to the people.

It seemed the unanimous opinion of those present that the council will grant the $30,000, when a request is made by the Board.

It was moved by Dr. Burnham, seconded by Mr. Ackerman,—That the Council be requested to appropriate the sum of $35,000 for the south ward school.—Carried.

It was moved by Mr. Morrison, seconded by Mr. Fair,—That the Board wait on the Council, as soon as they could be met together for such purpose by the mayor.—Carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

INSURANCE PLAN IS URGED

STOCK COMPANIES ORGANIZED LIKE BANKS AND DEALING IN RISKS FAVORED

William E. Curtis Says Business Men Look on the System With Distrust.

New York, March 6.—There is a prevailing impression here in New York that one result of the present insurance agitation is likely to be the building up of stock companies organized like banks and other business corporations, with fixed capital and boards of directors who will conduct affairs for their own profit and for no other reason, and sell life insurance, as fire insurance is sold, as an investment and protection, on a strictly business basis rather than on sentimental or benevolent basis, at prices which will be low enough to induce buyers and pay stockholders a big profit. Cold-blooded business men contemplate the exposures that have been made of the management of the big mutual companies, and the dummy directors, whose names have been used as advertisements to inspire public confidence, with a good deal of cynical distrust. They are convinced that while so-called mutuality may be ideal in theory, it is a farce in practice, and will always be used to a greater or less extent to shield the selfish operations of grafters and speculators. No insurance company can be managed by its policy-holders any more than a railroad can be operated by its stockholders, and the mutual plan can always be used by manipulators to accomplish their purposes.

It has also been demonstrated that "family control" is as absolute as stock control, and lacks the responsibility that can be made effective in a stock company. By the collection of proxies the agents of a mutual insurance company, scattered as they are throughout the entire country, and in continual contact with the policy-holders, can easily dominate its affairs and secure for themselves regulations, privileges, guarantees, commissions, and other emoluments which would be impossible in a well-managed stock company.

Industrial insurance, in which poor people, by the payment of a few cents a week, insure their lives for from $50 to $100 to pay doctors' bills and funeral expenses, is a product of recent years, but it had a wonderfully rapid growth. The money comes in pennies, but the profits are enormous and have built up three rich and powerful companies. Though the premiums are small in amount, the total figures up, at the end of the year, from 40 to 50 per cent. higher than the rates charged on ordinary business. The amount of insurance of this class in force in 1900 was $284,569,467. At the beginning of this year there were outstanding 14,902,729 industrial policies, to the amount of $2,695,976,214.

Host of Farmers to Strike

Indianapolis, March 6.—A strike of the 200,000 farmers composing the American Society of Equity, as organization with headquarters in Indianapolis, has been called for March 10. Every one who responds to this call will agree to withhold from marketing any agricultural products excepting at prices that are up to the level that has been decreed as equitable by the officials of the organization. This organization claims that the producer ought to get at least $1 a bushel for wheat, no matter what may be the size of the crop. The call for the strike sets forth a minimum selling selling price on all farm products prices which the agricultural strikers claim they are entitled to and can get if they stand together.

The Scourge of Consumption

Thousands Are Dying—If Tired Languid or Run Down Get Protection Before Too Late

No child, man or woman is safe from consumption unless their blood is pure, rich and nourishing.

Allow the blood to become thin, and immediately the whole system grows weak. The lungs are deprived of resisting power and the ever-present tubercular bacilli develops.

The most positive protection against consumption is Ferrozone, which restores the blood to full strength. Weak organs are instantly strengthened. Worn-out tissues are rebuilt. New life is given to the lungs and all danger of consumption is destroyed.

Mrs. E. J. Richardson, Manotick, Ont., tells as follows of her enormous gain in health from Ferrozone: "For two years I was not well. I was thin and anaemic. Towards spring I fell into a condition of nervous exhaustion. A dead tiredness hung over me like a load of lead. Housework of any kind I simply couldn't do. A bad cough developed that worried me greatly for I thought it might be tubercular. When I first read of Ferrozone I was convinced it was good. I took it regularly for eight weeks and the change in my condition was wonderful. My cheeks filled out and became clear and rosy. I gained eight pounds and now am strong and vigorous as possible."

Ferrozone feeds, nourishes and tones up the body—it sends the thrill and vim of robust health from head to foot—makes you feel better at once. Won't you use Ferrozone? Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

UNION LABEL

PETERBORO, MARCH 1906

CAN THE FARMERS BE FOOLED?

There has often been more or less talk about organizing the farmers into something like a labor union for the alleged protection of their interests, but these schemes have not amounted to much. Farmers are too independent in their resources for a living to subject themselves generally to the discipline and disabilities of such organizations as are formed in the industrial world.

But they have organizations peculiar to their own calling and conditions which, in some of their phases, do for them the best that is done for the members of a labor union by their order. Some of these enable their members to purchase farm supplies at wholesale rates, and so save the profits of the middleman. Others provide social and other advantages which could not be commanded by individuals acting singly.

A new scheme has now been launched in the Middle West by an organization known as the American Society of Equity. It is heralded in the press as "a strike," but it may be more properly described as a gigantic pool kindred in its character to the "corner" operations sometimes witnessed in Chicago and having for their purpose the bulling or depressing of prices in grain.

It is said this society has 200,000 members who will agree to withhold from the market the products of their farms until the officials of the organization have pronounced the prices satisfactory.

On paper this looks like a bright and feasible scheme; but in practical operation it will encounter many snags not at present visible. Manifestly it is a project which will work only under the most favorable conditions. The farmers of this country as well as the United States have been enjoying a period of unexampled prosperity, and many of them may be in a position to hold back their crops from market for weeks or, possibly, over one season; but even in this time of unusual bank accounts there are many who for one reason or another will find it necessary to realize on their crops. The defection of these in considerable number would instantly cripple the scheme for booming prices. It is always difficult to hold even a few together in a pooling operation when squalls are threatening, and the difficulty will be immensely increased increased when the number interested rises into the hundreds of thousands, and they are scattered through half a dozen or more States, and are men of limited experience in such deals, many of them cautious to timidity and dependent upon the sale of their products for their own and their families' living.

It is further to be noted that the 200,000 members of the American Society of Equity are but a very small proportion of those who are engaged in raising wheat, oats, corn, hay and other products of the soil. While they are storing their grain and waiting for better prices a ready greater number will be marketing their products.

It is barely possible that such a combine as the proposed would push up the price, say of wheat, a few cents on a bushel, but should that cereal approach the dollar mark and the officials not give the word many a member of the society, fearing that he may hold back too long, will rush his wheat to market and get the best price obtainable.

In the meantime, what will the millions who are not in the combine and whose bread will be made dearer by this performance think of it? How long would it be before the members of that dollar wheat pool would be classed with the Rockefellers, the Armours and others who have practised similar methods, in greed if not in wealth? When once all these combines have been got under control the law of supply and demand may be trusted to secure a more equitable deal than any artificial scheme for booming prices can command.

COMMISSION HAS POWER

Order-in-Council Defines the Scope of Insurance Inquiry.

Ottawa, March 4.—The order-in-council appointing the insurance commission clothes the board with the following powers:

1. To inquire into (a) the general subject of life insurance as it exists in Canada (b) the operations of the various companies chartered by the Parliament of Canada, or of any province, and licensed under the insurance Act, transacting life insurance in Canada, including expenses of management, investment of funds and other allied questions.

2. To make the like inquiry, so far as deemed necessary, into the operations of companies, other than those chartered by the Dominion or provinces transacting in Canada the business of life insurance.

3. To inquire into the operation of the laws of the Parliament of Canada relating to and governing the business of life insurance, both as regards Canadian companies and companies other than Canadian, and to consider and report upon any amendments thereto that may be deemed necessary.

4. That the commissioners so appointed have power to employ expert assistance, to summon before them witnesses and require them to give evidence, on oath, orally or in writing, or on solemn affirmation, if they are persons entitled to affirm in civil matters, and to produce such documents and things as such commissioners deem requisite to the full investigation of matters hereinbefore referred to, and generally to exercise all the powers conferred by the said act.

Both Women Die From Burns.

Toronto, March 4.—Mrs. Noah Pivnick, 71 Huron street, who was so badly burned on Friday afternoon, died in Grace hospital Saturday afternoon. Her four-year-old son Louis, who was injured at the same time, died Friday evening.

Dr. McConnell commenced an inquest in the undertaking rooms of the E. & W. Matthews Co., 355 West Queen street, Saturday night.

The husband of the dead woman and child has not yet been located. He is a pedlar and is away from home.

Mrs. A. Wiley, 363 West King St. who was burned by the overturning of a lamp, died in St. Michael's hospital, Saturday morning.

Trolleys in Collision.

Montreal, March 4.—A serious accident took place on the Montreal St. Railway at the corner of Bleury and Craig streets shortly before noon today, in which three people were injured.

An Outremont car demanding Bleury street ran into an Amherst car with considerable force owing it is believed to the slippery tracks, tracks, caused by soft damp snow, which had been falling.

Other cars coming behind also knocked into the wreck and caused some trouble.

Two Anarchichists Arrested.

St. Petersburg, March 4.—Two anarchists armed with bombs were arrested at a railroad station here today as they were boarding a train for Tsarskoe-Selo, where the emperor is at present sojourning.

Complete Modern Ore Reduction Mill
is now being built where the ore will be converted direct into bullion

Annual Profits of $90,000.00 Assured
by expert mining engineers based on ores actually blocked out in mines. $50,000.00 has been expended in mine workings which prove these facts.

Stock at 40 Cents a Share
The final issue of treasury stock is now offered for public subscription. The entire proceeds will be used to pay for the machinery for the mill. The day this mill is completed the mine will begin to earn dividends.

YOUR OPPORTUNITY

SELECTIONS

SEX IN HANDWRITING.

An Interesting Little Experiment to Prove a Theory.

It is a curious fact that one of the only things which even an expert graphologist does not guarantee to discover in handwriting is the sex of the writer. We are accustomed to think that the feminine or masculine temperament will readily betray itself in the written word, but in the majority of cases such is not the case.

Writing bold, black and firm, most masculine appearing in every way, will frequently be found to emanate from the pen of a woman, while delicate tracery, with the regularity suggestive of precision and method or the dash and spontaneity which indicate a lively fancy almost unmistakably feminine, one says on examination is discovered to belong to a writer of the opposite sex.

An interesting little experiment proving this theory can be made in this way: Take twelve or twenty envelopes written in chirographies you are sure of and number each scrap clearly. Pass them around and see how many of your friends will correctly guess the sex of the different writers, which may be written down and numbered like the envelopes. It will seldom prove that more than one-third of the guesses at most are correct.—Exchange.

CAPTAIN KIDD.

The Career and the Ending of the Famous Pirate.

Captain Kidd, the famous pirate, started his career with the intention of suppressing piracy. In February, 1697, he left the Hudson in the Adventure Galley with a crew of 150 men with this intention. This expedition had been equipped chiefly at the expense of the Whig ministers, and his commander carried with him, "besides the ordinary letters of marque, a commission under the great seal empowering him to seize pirates and to take them to some place where they might be dealt with according to law."

The king's right to the goods found in possession of these malefactors was granted by letters patent to the supporters of the expedition, his majesty securing only one-tenth of the spoil. Kidd, however, soon finding that little was to be gained by the adventure, threw off all disguise and hoisted the Jolly Roger.

His rapacity and cruelty were unbounded, and in less than two years he amassed the sum of £200,000. With this he thought to make his peace with the authorities and end his days in luxury, but he was arrested at New York and brought to England, where he was tried and hanged at Execution dock in 1701.—London Saturday Review.

Prince Napoleon.

Prince Napoleon in 1870 was something of a prophet. When he heard of the emperor's declaration of war he hurried to St. Cloud and had a stormy interview with the emperor. He didn't hesitate to say, "It is the emperor who has brought this upon us," and the emperor, while offended at his frankness, admitted that "your presentiments perhaps correspond with mine." Then the prince fired his last shot and showed that, though he might go astray in many things, he knew of the weakness of France and the strength of Germany. He turned on his heel and, with that bitterness which he didn't hesitate to exhibit when occasion required, said: "So be it; so be it! Let us, however, make haste to pack our possessions, for we are already beaten." And so the result proved.

The Saltiest of the Salt Seas.

Some idea of the saltiness of the waters of the Dead sea may be gained from the comparison made below. The Dead sea is situated in Palestine, 20 miles east of Jerusalem. It is 55 miles long and from 10 to 15 miles wide, with an average depth of 20 fathoms (120 feet). Common ocean water contains but 30 parts of salt to the 1,000. Those of the Dead sea contain 250 parts to the 1,000, which makes the briny solution exactly one-fourth salt.

The Calabar Bean.

The famous Calabar bean is said to be worse than strychnine. The natives use it for an ordeal. If a person is accused of a crime he is made to eat one, being adjudged to be guilty in case of death, which is almost inevitable. Another seed employed for a like purpose is that of the ordeal tree of Madagascar, said to be the most deadly of vegetable products. One of these seeds about the size of an almond will kill twenty men.

Curly Hair.

Curly hair is a constitutional, hereditary phenomenon. The curly hair curls because it is flat. Straight hair is cylindrical. Being flat, the hair has a natural tendency to assume a spiral shape. Cutting has no effect, as the cause of the fullness lies in the shape of the follicles. Hair turning from a straight, rounded follicle is bound to be flattened and twisted.

External Injuries.

"I had a cousin who went in one pushing for thirty-four years, and"—he drew his fingers.

"Shucks! a grave must job or pingle a grass of chaff?" inquired Old Colony in his usual grim way.

Misunderstanding.

Rich Fiancee—Oh, this bridgeport is too exciting! You must take it back to the department! Violet—Oh, that's all right, miss. Since my master is engaged to you he has been able to get things on credit.

In the true life of the individual each day is the beginning of a new generation.

MUST GO TO PRISON

Unless Government Changes Its Mind —Money No Substitute.

Paris, March 4.—The government's decision to pardon Elliot F. Shepard, grandson of the late W. H. Vanderbilt, carries with it the necessity of serving his sentence. But, renewed efforts made to induce the government to reconsider its decision, have resulted in a postponement of the beginning of the sentence until March 12.

Elliot F. Shepard was sentenced Oct. 26 last to three months imprisonment and $120 fine, and to pay $4000 damages to the parents of Madeline Mardues, who was killed by Mr. Shepard's automobile on April 24. Applications were made to have the imprisonment remitted and a fine substituted for its.

HIS MAJESTY AT CHERBOURG

Edward's Visit to French Capital Regarded as Likely to Influence the Proceedings of Algeciras.

Cherbourg, France, March 4.—The British Royal Yacht Victoria and Albert, having on board King Edward, was sighted at noon to-day. The harbor is elaborately decorated in honor of his Majesty. The King will be received with military honors, and take the royal train for Paris.

AT PARIS

Paris, March 4. — The arrival of King Edward in Paris this evening for a three days' visit attracts comment in connection with the Algeciras conference as being a timely reaffirmation of the Anglo-French agreement. Premier Rouvier will meet the King at the depot. While here his Majesty will be the guest of the British embassy, maintaining his incognito as Duke of Lancaster.

President Fallieres and King Edward will exchange visits tomorrow, and there will be a gala dinner at the embassy on Sunday at which the King, the president and the premier will be guests, and also Baron de Courcel, recently head of the French mission at the funeral of King Christian.

"MY DEAR WILHELM."

New York, March 4.—A Berlin despatch to the Herald says that satisfaction reigns in high circles there because King Edward has written a most gratifying letter to the emperor on the occasion of his silver wedding. King Edward addresses his nephew as "My Dear Wilhelm."

PROTECT THE TIMBER

Ontario Government Is About to Pass Important Legislation.

Toronto, March 3.—It is expected that a government bill, adding an important provision to the act for the preservation of forests from destruction by fire, will be introduced in the Legislature shortly. In effect the new clauses, it is reported, will enact that when railways are being built through timbered crown lands or timbered lands under settlement, the Government shall appoint rangers to guard against the destruction of the trees by fire from the sparks of construction trains, camp fires, etc., the cost of the rangers to be borne by the railways.

For some time it has been felt that a measure of this nature is necessary in order to properly safeguard the forest wealth of the province, particularly in the northern districts now being or to be opened up by new railways. The present act, while making provision for precautions to be taken by the railways to prevent forest fires being started by sparks from locomotives, gives no such authority as that contained in the proposed bill.

Osler Travels Incognito

New York, March 4.—The Times says: At the annual dinner of the New York Alumni of the Johns Hopkins University at the University Club, Dr. Osler was praised as one who had suffered from faulty reports of his famous address in which he was made the champion of young men's ambitions through killing off their elders. Dr. Ira Remsen, president of Johns Hopkins, said: "It is a common error of the world to attribute to him nonsensical remarks he never said. He has had to travel incognito since the misquotation of his remarks.

Took the Hint.

"This seems like a sweet dream," he rapturously remarked as he lingered with her at the doorstep.

"It doesn't seem like a dream to me," she replied, "for a dream soon vanishes, you know."

He vanished.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15.0x1,320 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

No Medicine Cures so Many Sick, Overstrained, Despondent, Weak People as DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS

The One True Medicine for Health and Strength

You will realise, as you read the following letters, the grand work being done by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They have a direct action on the blood, nerves, heart kidneys and liver. All weakness is turned into strength, new energy and nourishing blood are created, buoyant good health is established in a short time.

DISC URAGED WOMEN FOUND NEW HOPE.

"I had pretty nearly given myself up as insurable. I was weak and sickly all the time, had headache, poor digestion and sinking feeling. On rising in the morning there was a feeling of awful weariness.

"Dr. Hamilton's Pills helped from the first. They must have strengthened my blood, for I gained in strength as soon as I took them. Steady improvement followed, and I am now completely cured."

Mrs. M. E. Benson, Woodstock.

STRENGTH AND SPIRITS IMPROVED.

"No medicine could possibly be better than Dr. Hamilton's Pills," writes Mr. Jos. Devine from Ottawa. "I had pains in the back and side, caused by kidney trouble, was bothered considerably with headache, but Dr. Hamilton's Pills cured me quickly. I can recommend them to every man."

You'll become vigorous and strong, enjoy a good appetite, your sleep will be dreamless and sound, after regulating your system with Dr. Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Prince 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1, at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

Our New Serial.

Owing to the great interest taken by our readers in the former serial stories issued daily in parts in The Times, we have decided to publish in serial form Laura Jean Libby's strong and exciting novel, "The Forbidden Marriage." The first chapters will appear in these columns in a few days. Watch for it, as "The Forbidden Marriage" is one of the best works of this talented authoress.

Important Real Estate Deal.

An important real estate deal has been consummated recently. Messrs. Ruth and Middleton, of the progressive real estate agents, Messrs. O'Connor & Co., Hunter street, have purchased the Mrs. Hazlitt property, between George and Water streets and north of Edinburgh street, being half of block, containing one acre, more or less. It is understood this property will be sold off in building lots.

No Diphtheria Germs Found.

Dr. Greer has received a communication from Dr. Amyott, provincial bacteriologist, Toronto, in reply to a letter, accompanying a specimen of the sputum of a sick man in a local lumber camp, north of the city, who was suspected of having diphtheria. Dr. Amyott, in his reply, said that a careful bacteriological examination of the sputum showed clearly that no signs of diphtheria germs existed. This effectually clear away with the rumors current last week concerning the alleged danger that threatened the city.

A KINDLY ACT

Singer Sewing Machine Co. Refuse Money From Poor Widow

One of those kindly acts that show that, whilst some "corporations have no souls," some of them or their representatives have, one in evidence yesterday.

It will be remembered by our readers, that, a few days ago, The Times called attention to a woman, who having lost a leg, still had a family to support. A committee of philanthropic citizens took round a subscription list to try and get a sewing machine for this lady to enable her to earn a living.

When the committee went to the Singer Machine Co. office on George street to inquire about the price of a machine the manager of the office, Mr. Swift, would not accept any money for one but said that he would make the lady a present of a machine, and that the money collected could be spent by her for other purposes. The machine although not new, is practically as good as a new one, for it has only been used a few times. Mr. Swift had the machine sent up to the house yesterday.

THE CORDAGE COMPANY

Working Overtime This Week Owing to Increased Orders.

That the management of the Peterboro Cordage Co., are progressive, and the right men in the right place, is shown at their extensive works this week.

Owing to rapidly accumulating orders on hand, their employees begin this week working overtime. Some 200 hands are employed at the present time, and from seventeen to eighteen tons of rope and twine are being turned out each day. The orders now in will keep the industry busy until the beginning of August. The Canadian Cordage and Manufacturing Company's pay roll amounts to over $6,000 fortnightly, exclusive of office help.

Stop Using the Flag for Advertising.

The Toronto Veterans, of 1866, Association, have issued circulars noting that they have passed a resolution disapproving of the increasing custom of making the Union Jack the medium of calling attention to auction sales and otherwise using it for advertising purposes, demeaning the flag and taking from it the respect with which it ought to be viewed. In this matter we might borrow a good idea from our neighbors to the south, who are forbidden by law to use the national flag for advertising purposes.

POLICE PENSIONS

Ontario Gov't Authorizes Councils to Raise Pension Funds.

The Consolidated Municipal Act of 1903, has been amended by adding the following words:

The council shall by bylaw authorize the raising and setting apart of a sum of money annually sufficient to provide a superannuation or retiring allowance fund for the benefit of the police force, to be paid to the members of the police force who have continuously served on such force for a period of not less than 15 years, if in the opinion of the council in cities and towns where the police force is under the control of the council, such retiring member of the police force is by reason of good conduct and long service entitled to such retiring allowance; and where the police force is under the control of the board of police commissioners in cities and towns on their recommendation that such retiring member is in their opinion by reason of such good conduct and long service entitled to such superannuation or retiring allowance, the council shall bylaw in like manner authorize the raising and setting apart of a sum of money annually sufficient to provide such allowance for the police force, to be paid to members thereof who have in like manner continuously served on such force for such period not less than 15 years.

But such retiring allowance shall in no case exceed in amount one-half of the salary received by such retiring officer twelve months previous to the time of his final retirement.

Deserters Flee to Canada.

St. Catharines, March 6.—There are at present in Niagara on the Lake, Ontario, about thirty deserters from the Third Battalion of the Eighth United States Regiment stationed at Fort Niagara, N. Y., just across the river. The men were under orders to start on Tuesday last with their regiment for San Francisco, to sail for the Philippines. Monday night they secured a boat and crossed over to Niagara on the Lake, where they are out of reach of the military authorities. The men say they will remain in Canada until the regiment embarks and all danger of their being sent on after it to join their comrades is past.

CURES CATARRHAL DEAFNESS

One Week's Use of Hyomei Did More Than Six Months' Treatment By Specialists.

In the treatment of deafness which is often the result of catarrh, Hyomei acts almost immediately upon the inflamed membrane and the hearing begins to return at once.

Miss Meeks of Matteawan, N. Y., says: "Hyomei is truly wonderful. I have used it but a short time and can see a great change to my condition. My hearing is improving rapidly and I had no idea I would improve so rapidly in so short a time. My breath which was very offensive to myself and others, has lost its bad odor entirely. I have spent a great deal of money with catarrh specialists, and can truly say that six months of their treatment is not equal to one month of Hyomei.

A complete outfit costs but $1.00, and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket, a medicine dropper, and a bottle of Hyomei. The inhaler will last a lifetime and there is enough Hyomei for several weeks' treatment. Additional bottles of Hyomei can be procured for 50 cents. Compare this small expenditure with the fees charged by specialists.

If you cannot obtain Hyomei of your dealer, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write today for consultation blank that will entitle you to services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hyomei Building, Ithaca, N. Y.

OPEN PUBLICITY THE BEST SECURITY OF MERIT.

When the maker of a medicine, sold through druggists for family use, takes his patients fully into his confidence by frankly and honestly publishing broadcast in a roll on on its bottle wrappers a full list of all the ingredients to be found therein, this action on his part is the most powerful evidence that he is not afraid to have the most rigid light of investigation turned full upon his formula and that it will bear the fullest scrutiny and the most thorough investigation. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for the cure of the weaknesses, periodical pains and functional derangements of the organs distinctly feminine, is the only medicine put up for sale through druggists for woman's use, the maker of which is not afraid to take his patients into his full confidence by such open and honest publicity.

A glance at the published ingredients on each bottle wrapper, will show that it is made wholly from native, American, medicinal roots, that it contains no poisonous or habit-forming drugs, no narcotics and no alcohol—pure, triple-refined glycerine of proper strength being used instead of the commonly employed alcohol, both for extracting and preserving the active medicinal properties found in the roots of the American forest plants employed. It is the only medicine for women's peculiar diseases, sold by druggists, that does not contain a large percentage of alcohol, which is in the long run so harmful to woman's delicate, nervous system. Pure, glycerine is perfectly harmless, and serves a valuable purpose by preserving intrinsic value all its own, and further is unknown the curative effect of the other ingredients entering into the "Favorite Prescription."

Some of the ablest medical writers and teachers endorse these views and praise all the several ingredients of which "Favorite Prescription" is composed—recommending them for the cure of the very same diseases for which this world-famed medicine is advised. No other medicine for women has any such professional endorsement, or nearly more than any number of ordinary testimonials. If interested, send postal card address to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for his little book of extracts from the works of eminent medical writers and teachers, describing the several ingredients and telling just what Dr. Pierce's medicines are made of. It's free for the asking.

PRESS CLUB MEET

Local Press Club Form Constitution and Rules.

On Saturday the Peterboro Press Club met in Long's Palm Parlors, and combined pleasure with business. The first order of the evening, when the knights of the pencil met at ten p.m., was partaking of an excellent supper served by Mine Host Long in his usual inimitable style.

Mr. Hutchinson, president of the club, very ably filled the chair, and when the luscious bivalves, etc., had been put out of sight, called the meeting to executive session.

The constitution, brand new, and drawn up in no concise a style as to turn the hair of a lawyer who might seek for flaws to either turn white or drop out.

It might be mentioned that the Press Club was formed for mutual protection, advancement of the various papers' interests, and for the social and business interests of the members.

It was decided not to report any socials, suppers, entertainments, etc., unless at least two tickets are sent to representative of each paper in the city; it is easily to be understood that any society, church or other body giving such entertainments, who do not trouble to provide the Press with admission tickets, should not expect such to be reported.

The club decided to hold monthly meetings, on the first Saturday of each month.

Mr. Belcher C. E. Preparing Plans.

County Architect John E. Belcher will prepare the plans for the new steel bridges over the Indian River. The bridges will both be all steel with a plank floor. The plank floor, however, is only to be temporary, as provisions will be made for a concrete floor.

As soon as Mr. Belcher has completed the plans tenders for the substructure and superstructure will be called for, and, if satisfactory, the contracts will be let at once.

ONE OF THE RICHEST PROSPECTS EVER DISCOVERED.

The Iron Spar Mining Co.

The Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., owning valuable property on the divide between the States of Idaho and Montana, a copper proposition of exceptional promise, a property that even a novice, by personal inspection, ought to discern merits in, so apparent are the indications which guide the prospector in the work of making great mineral discoveries. An immense copper bearing ledge traverses the ground from east to west and is so well defined and conspicuous in its surface outcrop that anyone however unfamiliar with outward appearances of mineralization, once shown the ledge, may follow it uninterruptedly for several thousand feet. The fact is that copper ores appear in the vein gangue even to the grass roots.

The vein is large, 15 to 20 feet wide, and horizontally continuous across the whole extent of the claims, a distance of 6,600 feet. Being a true fissure and cutting the country formation at a considerable angle, it is entirely consistent with geological laws to suppose that it has also great vertical dimension.

Everybody who has made any study of the profits derived from successful copper mining operations can not have failed to observe the splendid and continuous dividends paid to investors. Copper mining has been so dependable a source of revenue throughout the world that today many investors prefer it to the more fickle high grade gold propositions. Look at the enormous and steady profits paid investors in all the great copper fields of the world, as viz: The Lake Superior mines in Michigan, Butte mines in Montana, Bisbee and Tombstone in Arizona, the mines of Utah, the great Tintic mines in Spain, and the Mexican mines. The demand for copper increases with the advance of civilization and the immense demand created by the growing popularization of electrical power justifies the belief that the supply will hardly keep pace with the demand for years to come. Copper mining is safe and profitable, once you have found a good property. That is just what we are trying to introduce to you, and you have this in the Iron Spar.

The sum of 400,000 shares of the fully paid capital stock was set aside as a treasury fund to be devoted to the improvement, development and equipment of the property. Nearly the entire block remains in the treasury at the present date, only so much having been drawn out as was necessary to defray the expenses of operation since the formation of the Company. The miners have all taken stock as pay instead of cash.

The Carpet Factory Agreement Passed The City Council

Stove and Heater Co's Proposition also Endorsed by the Corporation---An all Night Session in Which Considerable Interest Was Centred.

The city fathers met in regular monthly session last night, when there were present, Mayor Henry Best, and Aldermen Johnston, Povey, Hicks, Mason, Graham, Ball, Duncan, Mellstrom, McWilliams, Adams and Elliott.

CARPET FACTORY BONUS.

It being generally known that the English Carpet Co.'s and the Stove and Heater Co.'s agreements provided bonuses as inducements for their locating here was to come up for final reading before going to the Legislature, the auditorium was filled with citizens, including members of the School Board, the Board of Trade, and a large number of other representative people. While the School Board were present mainly in the interest of their site for a new Collegiate Institute, they heartily joined forces with the Board of Trade and others in endorsation of the carpet company's proposition, to which it was understood his Worship was opposed.

The Council reconvened at 8.30 and remained in session till 12.30. In order to secure the English Carpet Company, who must of necessity decide at once where they are to locate, it was deemed advisable by Ald. McWilliams and the Manufacturers' committee to secure legislative confirmation of the agreement first, so that the company might have some assurance to act upon in shipping their looms to Peterboro, after which the ratepayers would be asked to vote on a by-law, authorizing the corporation to borrow money to purchase either 15 acres of the old Sugar Company's property at an estimated price of $6,000, which represents practically the bonus agreed upon; or in default in securing this site, to buy property equivalent to that amount. His Worship, however, thought the action might be made to override the proper annual signature sanction secured first. Ald. McWilliams having contended that in such an event it would not be legally competent to send the question to the ratepayers at all. However, there need have been no fear that such a course would be resorted to, for other aldermen, although willing to give time by going to the Legislature first, had planed themselves on record that they would support no bonus measure unless it eventually were submitted to the people. Of course such measures should be endorsed by the ratepayers, who are to "pay the piper," but his Worship and Ald. McWilliams measured awards for an hour or two over a question practically decided last week at a Committee of the Whole, that the carpet company should be added as outlined in these columns Thus, providing such action is confirmed by the Legislature and sanctioned by the ratepayers. And last night the city fathers endorsed that course of procedure, which means that as soon as Legislative consent is secured (if at all) the carpet company will decide to locate in Peterboro, relying on their agreement being endorsed at the polls.

Mr. Whitehead, the carpet company's Canadian representative, and Mr. Robertson, their solicitor, were present.

WHAT THEY ARE TO GET.

Ald. McWilliams presented the following report;

Gentlemen,—Your Committee of the Whole Council beg leave to report and recommend as follows;—

1. That an agreement be entered into with Messrs. Brinton, Limited, Kidderminster, England, for the establishment of a carpet factory here upon the following terms;

The company shall before the first day of January, 1907, erect and fully equip buildings for the manufacture of carpets to cost not less than $50,000 exclusive of machinery, and shall employ therein by the first day of Jan. 1908 not less than 125 hands.

In consideration thereof the said corporation shall grant to the said company a free site of 15 acres of land to be part of the Sugar Company property if secured, or instead there of other equivalent property; a fixed assessment for a term of 21 years at the purchase price thereof (including buildings used for manufacturing purposes; the right to connect with their mains free of charge; the right to contract with and the use of a railway siding; in the event of the city undertaking the supply of electric power a supply of same at the same rates as other manufactories; the conveyance of said lands to be on terms similar to those of other lands granted to the Cordage Co.

The above agreement to be subject to ratification or modification by the Legislature of Ontario, and to be submitted to a majority vote of the qualified electors.

2. That the city solicitor be instructed to prepare by-laws for submission to the electors embodying agreements with Messrs. Brinton, and Mr. J. F. Howard for the establishment of a carpet factory and a stove and heater works respectively.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Ald. McWilliams, the father of this measure spoke at length and strongly in favor of this company getting the first site of 15 acres, which at $400 an acre, will cost the city $6,000, and a fixed assessment on this amount for 25 years. He characterized this company as a large and old established English concern, enjoying a world-wide reputation for manufacturing their famous class of carpets. They will get into working order within a year and a half with at least 50 hands, which capacity will be increased to 125 at the beginning of 1908. He thought the corporation should exert themselves to secure this valuable industry.

His Worship—"You are not sure you can get that land at $400 an acre."

Ald Mr Williams replied that he estimate is a reasonable one.

Ald Hicks seconded the report's adoption. He recorded himself as being in favor of first going to the Legislature with the proposition, and then submit it to the people if so advised by the Legislature.

His Worship argued that the question before the Council at this meeting was whether this matter should be submitted to the Legislature first or a by-law to the people first. He urged the latter course as consistent with the council's duty to the ratepayers whom they represent.

Citizens present were then invited to voice their views.

Mr. D. Hughes-Charles as president of the Board of Trade, advocated saving time by submitting the question to the Legislature first, and if ratified then to the people. The rooms for this company are already ordered and storage room leased for from the C.P.R. This concern is a substantial firm which Peterboro must bestir herself to secure, as other localities are after them.

Mr. Adam Dawson submitted that Council can't borrow money with which to purchase the lands in question without a vote of the people.

Mr. Hughes-Charles illustrated a case in point, where $100,000 were spent on a court house by confirmation of Legislature, only, and without going to the people at all.

His Worship—"I'll not sign any such document that is not submitted to the ratepayers for endorsation."

Ald. McWilliams,—"You can make this measure absolutely legal in two ways, either by confirmation of the Legislature or a vote of the people."

Ald. Ball—"I say there shall be no expenditure of such monies unless by a vote of the people. We are all aware that a Council Board with Legislative confirmation made this a city without the will of the people, and while I sit here no such action shall be repeated if I can avoid it."

Mr. D W. Dumble spoke at length and in strong support of the proposition. He thought the company undoubtedly needed 15 acres for contemplated extensions. The cost of their choice of Peterboro as a location would induce other English concerns to follow suit. If we let this opportunity go by our doors, we may as well give up looking for industries. He urged the Mayor to withdraw his apparent opposition and follow the policy of encouraging industries to locate here, as foreshadowed in his inaugural speech that January.

Mr. Richard Hall remarked that he is fully persuaded the best thing the city can do is to give this company a reasonable bonus, which he believed the paltry $6000 asked for to be.

Mr. Robert Fair said he had had the pleasure of seeing the Brinton's Limited mammoth works at Kidderminster, has done business with the firm for years, and knows them to rank in the front row of the manufacturers of high grade carpets in the world.

Mr. B. F. Ackerman did not think the company is asking any more than they will return to this city in benefits accruing from their establishment here.

Mr. W. H. Hill endorsed the opinions of Mr. D. Hughes-Charles.

Mr. Robertson, the company's solicitor, assured the Council that 24 looms are now on the way across the ocean, and 24 more ordered. If you are going to have the Messrs. Brinton locate here, he said, you must decide at once, for there are many places ready to give them a kindly welcome; and they can't afford to wait. The equipment being sent out is merely for their present Canadian trade. They make no carpets that will retail at less than $1 a yard. For each 48 looms there is one expert male tender; for every two looms there is a youth learning the business. The rate of wages paid in England for skilled carpet hands is $12 to $14 a week; but a higher wage will have to be paid here. The 48 looms to be put into this company's Canadian factory will employ at least 100 hands, of which but six would be female help. This explodes the rumor that their employes would be mainly girls.

Mr. Whitehead, the Canadian representative, addressed the Council, and said his company had received much better offers than from Peterboro. One locality offering threefold this city's inducements had wired that they would have everything in shape for their location by May.

Mr. W H. Biddulph spoke strongly in eulogy of the proposition, and urged immediate action.

The report was then adopted as read.

THE STOVE AND HEATER WORKS.

Mr. F. J. Howard wrote in reference to the site for the stove and heater works stating that his was now prepared to establish the works at an early date and that he already had designers and patternmakers at work on patterns for the proposed works In reference to the establishment of a rolling mill apart and apart from the stove and heater works, to manufacture bar iron and steel, etc., he felt more favorably impressed than ever with Peterboro, as a location for such an industry and was willing to invest in and undertake to establish such an industry here, providing a suitable site is furnished—On the understanding, of course, that he could receive sufficient electric power at a moderate price for operating. He considered the present price, $20 per horse power on three years contracts excessive and unsatisfactory, and advised the Council to use their influence with the power companies here in the interests of both the city and manufacturers, or to establish independent power plants.—Received.

STOVE AND HEATER BYLAW.

A bylaw to confirm an agreement with J. F. Howard for the establishment of a stove and heater works in Peterboro, passed its first and second and third readings.

CARPET CO.'S BYLAW.

A bylaw to confirm an agreement with Th. Brinton's, Limited, manufacturers of carpets, for the establishment of their Canadian factory here, passed its several readings.

If these bylaws are confirmed by the Legislature, the ratepayers will be asked to authorize the corporation to borrow sufficient money with which to purchase the necessary lands for the location thereon of these two industries.

The Council have by the above measures agreed to both the bonus propositions; will send a deputation to Toronto on Wednesday, to support these agreements, and their private bill before the Private Bills Committee, and should the agreements with the two companies be ratified by the Legislature, it will then be left to the ratepayers to assume all responsibility.

A bylaw to convey to the Shovel & Tool Co., the land upon which they are located passed its several readings.

ISOLATION HOSPITAL.

The case of the local hospitals refusing to receive cases of infectious and contagious diseases, was referred to a Committee of the Whole Council to take early action.

THE NEW FIRE ENGINE.

The purchase of the new steam fire engine is now left in the hands of the Fire, Water and Light Committee to decide. This resulted from the following new tender submitted by the Waterous people last night; Mr. Hugh Cameron being present.

Messrs Hugh Cameron company's latest proposition was in reference to the challenge of the Waterous Fire Engine Co., of Brantford, issued to the Canadian Fire Engine Company, and which the latter stated had not been accepted. It was not the intention of the writers to drop the matter, and therefore they offered the city the sum of $1,500 for our old engine, as part payment for a new Waterous 1000 U.S. gallon engine, as per specifications submitted, and further, they challenged the Canadian Fire Engine Co., to build a competitive test in Peterboro under conditions similar to those submitted for the proposed test in Montreal; Three experts to be appointed by the city, the selections to be made from McGill University, Montreal; the School of Practical Science, Toronto, and any professional expert obtainable from the United States. Each company to deposit with the city treasurer $500, and an obligation to be prepared by the city solicitor, to defray any expenses incurred in the test in excess of the $1,000 placed in the hands of the city solicitor—shares and share alike. The challenge must be accepted by March 10th, at two o'clock p.m., and the test to take place within three months from the date of the challenge. The writers enclosed a marked cheque for $500 as evidence of their good faith.

The last of the Waterous people now offering $1500 for our old engine, in place of their original tender of $500, makes the tenders of both companies for new engine and old one in part payment, practically the same

OPPOSED TO GENERAL TAX.

140 ratepayers signed the following petition;

We the undersigned, do most decidedly object to that clause in the city's bill about to be considered by the Legislature, namely, to have the diversion of the waterways westerment in said plans done and charged to the general ratepayers.

This refers to the proposed diversion of the streams in ward five, and that on Aylmer street.

The pros and cons of this matter has been argued and published repeatedly. The same ground was gone over again that night, resulting in the request of the petitioners being voted down by 6 to 4.

Mr. Robinson of the Climax Road Machinery Co., was present, but the purchase of a stone crusher, was not taken up.

The city fathers found it impossible to transact all their business last night, and will meet Monday night, when the question of the Collegiate Institute site will be taken up with the School Board.

Owing to the length of last night's meeting considerable matter is unavoidably left over till tomorrow.

"PETE" ARRESTED

A Local Eccentric Named Johnston Gathered In.

About five o'clock yesterday evening, a well-known local character, generally considered to have "rooms to let in the garrett," was detained at the station. When arrested "Pete" was in bed with clothes and boots on. He will probably have his vanity looked into.

It seems that on Sunday night, Pete secured a young Scotchman, rooming at the same place as himself, out of about seven years' growth.

The young man of the Highlands, was found asleep, about 11 p.m., in his own bed, and suddenly awakening, though hearing not a sound, experienced that fear-raising sensation, and creepy feeling, one has when believing, without knowing cause that some one is in his room.

He felt almost paralysed with his half asleep, half awake dread of the supposed something near him. At last opening his eyes, he saw a grinning face, half covered by the long straggling locks, that Pete is adorned with, looking straight into his own, about six inches away.

The frightened man avers that he never, in all his life got such a fright. Pete had, feeling restless in the night, strayed in and gave the recent importation from Scotland a call.

Hence Pete's arrest.

WHO STOLE THE OATS

Excitement in Local Livery Over Enquiry Regarding Oats.

Yesterday a Times' representative passing by a local livery stable, and noticing from the crowd present that something unusual was on "the tapis," at once investigated.

It seems that boys have been in the habit of sweeping out the oats remaining in cars consigned to and all but the sweepings, by the American Cereal Co.

This company, who import many cars of oats a day, have complained, that their cars often weighed short of the quantity presumably consigned to them.

The local police have been aware, for some time, that boys have been sweeping out the, so called, empty oat cars, are selling their gleanings to local livery stables; yesterday, judging by what, a spectator who was present said, the police determined to find out the rights and wrongs of the seeming shortage in the Cereal Company's cars.

They have known not only, as above stated, that boys have swept out these cars, but have seen them carrying bags and parts of bags of oats from the American Cereal Company's siding, across the tee to the city. Yesterday morning an officer followed one of the boys carrying a bag of oats to a local livery stable and made an investigation. However this particular lot was mainly sweepings so no arrests were made.

After this, however, a strict watch will be kept to see that no bags of good oats are taken from the cars and sold.

By the way, any man who would feed the sweepings of these cars to his horses should get six months (twice a year, as they must contain nails, coal and other articles that have previously been shipped in such cars.

ARE SUING COLLIER'S.

Brockville, March 6.—The W. T. Hanson Company of Schenectady, N. Y., proprietors of the Dr. Williams Medicine Company in the United States, yesterday entered an action for $50,000 against the proprietors of Collier's Weekly for alleged libelous statements contained in an article recently published by them.

PETERBORO AT GODERICH

The Locals Left Yesterday, on Their Long Trip to Goderich to Fight for the Championship.

The Peterboro hockey team left by the 5.15 C.P.R. train yesterday afternoon for Goderich, where they will play the final game for the O.H.A. intermediate championship tonight. The boys will stay in Toronto over night and will reach Goderich at 1 p.m. The local team's line-up will be;—

Goal—Whelan.
Point—Glover.
Cover-point—Crowley.
Rover—Whitcroft.
Center—Morgan.
Spare—Moore.

Mr. W Muir, of Toronto, will referee the game.

POLICE COURT NEWS

Yesterday two women went to the police station and laid a complaint against a man who "did up" one husband in a local hotel. She alleged that her husband had gambled in the hote, and lost his money, but seemed more anxious to get after the man who had struck him in the scrap that ensued Saturday night.

There will probably be arrests today in connection with a one-sided fight that took place yesterday at the Royal Hotel, Hunter street. It seems that Thomas and John McMannis have been at "bigger-heads" for some time with Pat. Murphy, of the east ward. Yesterday, Murphy, who had a considerable jag on, met the McMannis brothers, and a scrap took place. Murphy came out, without a doubt, second best in the affair, as shown by an eye in mourning, and other results of the conflict. The local police were summoned, but the McMannis brothers had "flown their kites." One of them lives near Auburn, and the other near Bridgenorth. The police are now on their trail.

OF LOCAL INTEREST

The Toronto Globe of yesterday's issue, referring to a former resident of and a large property owner in this city says;

"The powerful address, delivered by Hon. Geo. A. Cox, Senator, at the annual meeting of the Canada Life Assurance Company last week, directs attention to one of the outstanding figures in the financial life of Canada. Senator Cox is a Canadian, having been born in Colborne, Northumberland county, on May 7, 1840. His parentage is English. He attended the public and grammar schools of Colborne until February, 1856, when he entered the service of the Montreal Telegraph Company. After two years service, and when only eighteen years of age, he was place in charge of the agency at Peterboro. He remained there for thirty years, and has still extensive interests in that city. He was mayor of Peterboro for seven years, being returned four times by acclamation. In 1871 he stepped into the Provincial Parliament field, and won in West Peterboro from W. H. Scott. The election was set aside however, and in the following year he was defeated by a majority of one. In 1887 he again contested the same riding for the House of Commons, but was defeated by 18 toys. James Stevenson, in 1878 he became President of the Midland Railway holding the position until 1884. During his term the amalgamation of the Grand Junction, Whitby and Port Perry, Victoria and Toronto and Nipissing Railways were effected, and the consolidated roads sold to the Grand Trunk. It was in 1881, that Mr. Cox became president of the Central Canada Loan & Savings Company, and in 1885 a director of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. In 1890 he became president of the latter. He is president of the Western Fire and Marine Insurance Company, and the British American Fire and Marine Insurance Company. Senator Cox is a Methodist, a temperance man. Burser of Victoria University, and President of the Ontario Ladies' College. In his capacity as president of the Canada Life he delivered the memorable speech referred to at the outset."

A NOTABLE FIND IN EGYPT

STATUE OF GODDESS HATHOR FOUND IN TEMPLE AT THEBES

Workmen Tearing Apart the Ruins Uncover a Shrine Built in the Eighteenth Dynasty, 1700 Years B. C.

London, March 6.—The Egypt exploration fund's excavations of Thebes this year have produced wonderful results. The explorers have been excavating at the oldest temple known in Thebes, which belongs to the eleventh dynasty. Working at the back of the temple the explorers found the remains of a shrine of the eighteenth dynasty, 1700 B. C. The first discovery was a fine statue which was quite perfect. Then suddenly the removal of a few stones revealed a chapel covered with sculptures, the colors whereof were absolutely fresh. It was about 10 x 5 feet. The roof was vaulted and painted with yellow stars.

The chapel was dedicated to Hather, goddess of the mountain of the west, who generally is in the form of a cow. In the chapel is the statue of a beautiful cow of life size of painted limestone. The head and horns evidently had been overlaid with gold. The neck is adorned with papyrus stems of flowers, as if she were coming out of the water.

DATES BACK 1700 B. C.

The cow is suckling a little boy, who again is represented as a grown man under her neck. A cartouche behind the head is of Amenophis II., son of Thothmes III., who ruled Egypt 1,700 years before the beginning of the Christian era, and whose sculptures cover the walls.

This is the first time a goddess has been found undisturbed in her sanctuary. Moreover, no cow has ever been found of such size and superb workmanship. The modelling of the animal is exquisite, the distinctive characteristics of the Egyptian cattle of the present day being reproduced.

WILL BE REMOVED TO CAIRO.

The statue is uninjured except in a small piece of the right ear. The cow wears the special insignia of the goddess Lunar, and the disc between the horns is surmounted by two feathers. There is so much life in the head that the goddess appears as if about to step out of his sanctuary.

Soldiers immediately were placed on guard night and day. The statue will be removed to Cairo as soon as possible. The shrine also probably will be taken down and rebuilt in a museum. Its value is too enormous and the difficulties of guarding it so great that it is too serious a risk to leave it in its present position.

THE CARELESS GROCER

Blundered, and Great Good Came of It.

A careless grocer left the wrong package at a Michigan home one day and thereby brought a great blessing to the household.

"Two years ago I was a sufferer from stomach trouble, so acute that the effort to digest ordinary food gave me great pain, and brought on a condition of such extreme nervousness that I could not be left alone. I thought I should certainly become insane. I was so reduced in flesh that I was little better than a living skeleton. The doctors failed to give me relief, and I despaired of recovery.

"One day our grocerymen left a package of Grape-Nuts food by mistake, so I tried a dish for dinner. I was surprised to find that it satisfied my appetite and gave me no distress whatever. The next meal I ate of it again, and to be brief, I have lived for the past year almost exclusively on Grape-Nuts. It has proved to be a most healthy and appetizing food, perfectly adapted to the requirements of my system.

"It is not only easily digested and assimilated itself, but I find that since I have been using it I am able to eat anything else my appetite fancies, without trouble from indigestion. The stomach trouble and nervousness have left me. I have regained my plumpness and my views of life are no longer despondent and gloomy. Other members of my family, especially my husband, (whose old enemy the 'heartburn' has been vanquished) have also derived great benefit from the use of Grape-Nuts food and we think no morning meal complete without it." Board of Education Will Ask for $35,000

To Build a Twelve-Roomed School in the South Part of the City, Most Probably on Ground Now Owned by Mr. Charles McGill.

Last night the Board of Education met in the Board room, those present being Messrs. Ferguson in the chair, Orane, Hayes, Hill, Fair, Morrison, Burnham, Ackerman, Pringle and Dumble.

The minutes of last meeting was read and confirmed.

A communication from the Deputy Minister of Education was read, which was practically as follows;

"A number of sub-target gun machines had been purchased by this department for use of high school cadet corps, and that one of these will be shipped in a week or two from the makers to this school.

The manager of the Sub Target Machine Gun Co., will visit the cadet corps of the various towns, to see to setting up the guns and giving instructions as to use and care of the machines. One of these guns will be loaned to the school by the department, but subject to recall. The gun is returnable, costing $250, but no charge is made for its use. The school will, however, have to pay the freight on receipt of the box. A locked cabinet is provided for the head and rifle when not in use.

This latter is accompanied by a printed receipt to be signed and returned to Toronto, when the gun arrives;

A report was made concerning the absence of several teachers. Inspector Walker, who was present, assured the Board that all these teachers were absent through illness.

Mr. Bayes moved, seconded by Mr. Fair, —That a committee composed of the mover, Mr. Fair and Mr. Hill be appointed to take temporary charge of the sub-target gun on arrival.—Carried.

SPECIAL REPORT ON SCHOOL.

Mr. Pringle, chairman of the special committee, in charge of the proposed south ward new school, reported as follows;

Gentlemen,—Your committee on public school accommodation urge to report that steps were taken to secure the services of an architect, and Mr. W. Blackwell has been engaged. Agreement with him, hereto attached.

Your committee has had the architect prepare estimates for an eight-room school, as suggested, and as it appeared to your Board advisable to provide for future school accommodations in that rapidly growing part of the city, estimates have also been prepared for four additional rooms, such rooms to be unfurnished at present. These estimates are submitted herewith.

Regarding sites, several are available, and options have been secured on different properties by your committee, but no particular choice has yet been made.

Your committee would request definite instruction from your Board, regarding building and site, in order that the necessary steps may be taken to secure, through the City Council; such funds as may be required.

(Sgd.) W. PRINGLE.

ESTIMATES FOR SCHOOL.

School similar to plans submitted, eight rooms, $24,000; twelve rooms, $31,000. If four rooms are left unfinished, it would reduce cost $2,000, or eight rooms unfinished $6,000.

Mr. Dumble moved that the Board purchase the Park lot owned by Mr. C. McGill, and concerning which Mr. Crane made a conditional offer, subject to approval by Mr. McGill.

Mr. Crane explained how, whilst making the offer from Mr. McGill, he had been unable to get him by telephone yesterday, but expected the offer if accepted by the Board, would be confirmed by Mr. McGill.

Mr. Dumble advocated building a 12-room building.

Mr. Hill thought it would be poor economy to build a school to accommodate the pupils for a year or two, and thought the 12-roomed school should be put up, but four rooms left unfinished till wanted.

Mr. Ackerman agreed with his, so also did Messrs. Dr. Burnham, Fair, Orane, Hayes. Mr. Morrison would like to see a 12-room school, but looking back at past experience in connection with the Collegiate Institute, he was afraid of the people turning them down. He was afraid if the Board asked for more than $30,000 the matter would go to the people and be voted down.

Mr. Dumble said that in asking for money for a public school and a Collegiate Institute is a very different proposition. The working classes are against spending money for high school education, for what their children to get a good common school training, and will spend money for the latter purpose. The land proposed to be purchased on the proposed George street extension, east of Park street, is good land for the purpose, and is cheap enough.

Mr. Pringle thought the Board should do nothing to interfere with getting a Collegiate Institute.

Mr. Ackerman said that the reason the Collegiate Institute was voted down, was because the Board asked for a certain sum and then came back asking for more. It would be better to get the whole amount needed for the south ward school at once and not be going back for more to the people.

It seemed the unanimous opinion of those present that the council will grant the $30,000, when a request is made by the Board.

It was moved by Dr. Burnham, seconded by Mr. Ackerman,—That this Council be requested to appropriate the sum of $35,000 for the south ward school.—Carried.

It was moved by Mr. Morrison, seconded by Mr. Fair,—That the Board wait on the Council, as soon as they could be got together for such purpose by the mayor.—Carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

INSURANCE PLAN IS URGED

STOCK COMPANIES ORGANIZED LIKE BANKS AND DEALING IN RISKS FAVORED

William E. Curtis Says Business Men Look on the System With Distrust.

New York, March 6.—There is a prevailing impression here in New York that one result of the present insurance agitation is likely to be the building up of stock companies organized like banks and other business corporations, with fixed capital and boards of directors who will conduct affairs for their own profit and for no other reason, and sell life insurance, as fire insurance is sold, as an investment and protection, on a strictly business basis rather than on sentimental or benevolent basis, at prices which will be low enough to induce buyers and pay stockholders a big profit. Cold-blooded business men contemplate the exposures that have been made of the management of the big mutual companies, and the dummy directors, whose names have been used as advertisements to inspire public confidence, with a good deal of cynical distrust. They are convinced that while so-called mutuality may be ideal in theory, it is a farce in practice, and will always be used to a greater or less extent to shield the selfish operations of grafters and speculators. No insurance company can be managed by its policy-holders any more than a railroad can be operated by its stockholders, and the mutual plan can always be used by manipulators to accomplish their purposes.

It has also been demonstrated that "family control" is as absolute as stock control, and lacks the responsibility that can be made effective in a stock company. By the collection of proxies the agents of a mutual insurance company, scattered as they are throughout the entire country, and in continual contact with the policy-holders, can easily dominate its affairs and secure for themselves regulations, privileges, guarantees, commissions, and other emoluments which would be impossible in a well-managed stock company.

Industrial insurance, in which poor people, by the payment of a few cents a week, insure their lives for from $50 to $500 to pay doctors' bills and funeral expenses, is a product of recent years, but it had a wonderfully rapid growth. The money comes in pennies, but the profits are enormous and have built up three rich and powerful companies. Though the premiums are small in amount, the total figures up, at the end of the year, from 40 to 60 per cent. higher than the rates charged on ordinary business. The amount of insurance of this class in force in 1905 was $384,599,667. At the beginning of this year there were outstanding 14,888,739 industrial policies, to the amount of $3,483,975,214.

Host of Farmers to Strike

Indianapolis, March 6.—A strike of the 300,000 farmers composing the American Society of Equity, an organization with headquarters in Indianapolis, has been called for March 10. Every one who responds to this call will agree to withhold from marketing any agricultural products excepting at prices that are up to the level that has been decreed as equitable by the officials of the organization. This organization claims that the producer ought to get at least $1 a bushel for wheat, no matter what may be the size of the crop. The call for the strike sets forth a minimum selling selling price on all farm products prices which the agricultural writers claim they are entitled to and can get if they stand together.

The Scourge of Consumption

Thousands Are Dying—If Tired Languid or Run Down Get Protection Before Too Late

No child, man or woman is safe from consumption unless their blood is pure, rich and nourishing.

Allow the blood to become thin, and immediately the whole system grows weak. The lungs are deprived of resisting power and the ever-present tubercular bacilli develops.

The most positive protection against consumption is Ferrozone, which restores the blood to full strength. Weak organs are instantly strengthened. Worn-out tissues are rebuilt. New life is given to the lungs and all danger of consumption is destroyed.

Mrs. E. J. Richardson, Manotick, Ont., tells as follows of her enormous gain in health from Ferrozone: "For two years I was not well. I was thin and anaemic. Towards spring I fell into a condition of nervous exhaustion. A dead tiredness hung over me like a load of lead. Housework of any kind I simply couldn't do. A bad cough developed that worried me greatly for I thought it might be tubercular. When I first read of Ferrozone I was convinced it was good. I took it regularly for eight weeks and the change in my condition was wonderful. My cheeks filled out and became clear and rosy. I gained eight pounds and now am strong and vigorous as possible."

Ferrozone feeds, nourishes and tones up the body—it sends the thrill and vim of robust health from head to foot—makes you feel better at once. Won't you use Ferrozone? Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

UNION LABEL

PETERBORO, MARCH 1908

CAN THE FARMERS BE FOOLED?

There has often been more or less talk about organizing the farmers into something like a labor union for the alleged protection of their interests, but these schemes have not amounted to much. Farmers are too independent in their resources for a living to subject themselves generally to the discipline and disabilities of such organizations as are formed in the industrial world.

But they have organizations peculiar to their own calling and conditions which, in some of their phases, do for them the best that is done for the members of a labor union by their order. Some of these enable their members to purchase farm supplies at wholesale rates, and so save the profits of the middlemen. Others provide social and other advantages which could not be commanded by individuals acting singly.

A new scheme has now been launched in the Middle West by an organization known as the American Society of Equity. It is heralded in the press as "a strike," but it may be more properly described as a gigantic pool kindred in its character to the "corner" operations sometimes witnessed in Chicago and having for their purpose the bulling or depressing of prices in grain.

It is said this society has 200,000 members who will agree to withhold from the market the products of their farms until the officials of the organization have pronounced the prices satisfactory.

On paper this looks like a bright and feasible scheme; but in practical operation it will encounter many snags not at present visible. Manifestly it is a project which will work only under the most favorable conditions. The farmers of this country as well as the United States have been enjoying a period of unexampled prosperity, and many of them may be in a position to hold back their crops from market for weeks or, possibly, over one season; but even in this time of unusual bank accounts there are many who for one reason or another will find it necessary to realize on their crops. The defection of these in considerable number would instantly cripple the scheme for booming prices. It is always difficult to hold even a few together in a pooling operation when squalls are threatening, and the difficulty will be immensely increased increased when the number interested rises into the hundreds of thousands, and they are scattered through half a dozen or more States, and are men of limited experience in such deals, many of them cautious to timidity and dependent upon the sale of their products for their own and their families' living.

It is further to be noted that the 200,000 members of the American Society of Equity are but a very small proportion of those who are engaged in raising wheat, oats, corn, hay and other products of the soil. While they are storing their grain and waiting for better prices a vastly greater number will be marketing their products.

It is barely possible that such a combine as the proposed would push up the price, say of wheat, a few cents on a bushel, but should that cereal approach the dollar mark and the officials not give the word many a member of the society, fearing that he may hold back too long, will rush his wheat to market and get the best price obtainable.

In the meantime, what will the millions who are not in the combine and whose bread will be made dearer by this performance think of it? How long would it be before the members of that dollar wheat pool would be classed with the Rockefellers, the Armours and others who have practised similar methods, in greed if not in wealth? When once all these combines have been got under control the law of supply and demand may be trusted to secure a more equitable deal than any artificial scheme for booming prices can command.

COMMISSION HAS POWER

Order-in-Council Defines the Scope of Insurance Inquiry.

Ottawa, March 4.—The order-in-council appointing the insurance commission clothes the board with the following powers:

1. To inquire into (a) the general subject of life insurance systems in Canada (b) the operations of the various companies chartered by the Parliament of Canada, or of any province, and licensed under the insurance Act, transacting life insurance in Canada, including expenses of management, investment of funds and other allied questions.

2. To make the like inquiry, so far as deemed necessary, into the operations of companies, other than those chartered by the Dominion or provinces transacting in Canada the business of life insurance.

3. To inquire into the operation of the laws of the Parliament of Canada relating to and governing the business of life insurance, both as regards Canadian companies and companies other than Canadian, and to consider and report upon any amendments thereto that may be deemed necessary.

4. That the commissioners so appointed have power to employ expert assistance, to summon before them witnesses and require them to give evidence, on oath orally or in writing, or on solemn affirmation, if they are persons entitled to affirm in civil matters, and to produce such documents and things as such commissioners deem requisite to the full investigation of matters hereinbefore referred to, and generally to exercise all the powers conferred by the said act.

Both Women Die From Burns.

Toronto, March 4.—Mrs. Noah Plymick, 71 Huron street, who was so badly burned on Friday afternoon, died in Grace hospital Saturday afternoon. Her four-year-old son Louis, who was injured at the same time, died Friday morning.

Dr. McConnell commenced an inquest in the undertaking rooms of the E. F. W. Matthews Co., 355 West Queen street, Saturday night.

The husband of the dead woman and child has not yet been located. He is a pedlar and is away from home.

Mrs. A. Wiley, 353 West King St. who was burned by the overturning of a lamp, died in St. Michael's hospital, Saturday morning.

Trolleys in Collision.

Montreal, March 4.—A serious accident took place on the Montreal St. Railway at the corner of Bleury and Craig streets shortly before noon today, in which three people were injured.

An Outremont car demanding Bleury street ran into an Amherst car with considerable force owing it is believed to the slippery tracks, tracks, caused by soft damp snow, which had been falling.

Other cars coming behind also involved into the wreck and caused some trouble.

Two Anarchists Arrested.

St. Petersburg, March 4.—Two anarchists armed with bombs were arrested at a railroad station here today as they were boarding a train for Tsarskoe-Selo, where the emperor is at present sojourning.

INDUSTRIAL AND MINING STOCKS AND BONDS

A GOOD CANADIAN REPRESENTATIVE WANTED

Calumet-Tellurid Golde Mining Co.
OF CALUMET, MICHIGAN,

offers a limited amount of its Treasury Stock at ONE DOLLAR per share, full paid and non-assessable. Properties consisting of four groups of lode claims and equal to claims area of 27 full lode claims, or about 270 acres, with two valuable water rights and a water reservoir—a lake of about 20 acres surface area.

Development is equal to 1700 lineal feet, at a cost of $15 per lineal foot—tunnels, drifts, cross-cuts, winzs and surface cuts and trenches, and one ten gravity stamp concentrating mill. Three groups, water rights, mill and tunnel sites, etc., are fully paid; one group, held on title bond, is partly paid for. Good Grade of Profitable Milling are blocked out, in sight, to last for a sixty ton mill for over two years time. Safe and conservative estimate for mining the ore, delivering and milling it, at a cost of about $4.00 per ton. Three separate mill runs, for testing purposes, have returned from $8.40 to $14.20 per ton of rock, principally in gold.

This is a Bonanza for Intelligent Investors

In order to make operations absolutely up-to-date, perfect, both the mining and the reduction of ores, the Board of Directors have placed a limited amount of Treasury Stock at par value $1.00 per share on the market. Six reports of mine well known mining men. Properties situated in San Juan Gold Belt, San Miguel County, Southwestern Colorado.

ECONOMY, HONESTY and CONSERVATISM

Capitalization 500,000, par value $1.00, and non-assessable. Two years development, properties paid—as above stated, and we have in our treasury remaining 385,000 shares. Show us something better.

SELECTIONS

SEX IN HANDWRITING.

An Interesting Little Experiment to Prove a Theory.

It is a curious fact that one of the only things which even an expert graphologist does not guarantee to discover in handwriting is the sex of the writer. We are accustomed to think that the feminine or masculine temperament will readily betray itself in the written word, but in the majority of cases such is not the case.

Writing bold, black and firm, most masculine appearing in every way, will frequently be found to emanate from the pen of a woman, while delicate tracery, with the regularity suggestive of precision and method or the dash and spontaneity which indicate a lively fancy almost unmistakably feminine, one says on examination is discovered to belong to a writer of the opposite sex.

An interesting little experiment proving this theory can be made in this way: Take twelve or twenty envelopes written in chirographies you are sure of and number each scrap clearly. Pass them around and see how many of your friends will correctly guess the sex of the different writers, which may be written down and numbered like the envelopes. It will seldom prove that more than one-third of the guesses at most are correct.—Exchange.

CAPTAIN KIDD.

The Career and the Ending of the Famous Pirate.

Captain Kidd, the famous pirate, started his career with the intention of suppressing piracy. In February, 1697, he left the Hudson in the Adventure Galley with a crew of 150 men with this intention. This expedition had been equipped chiefly at the expense of the Whig ministers, and its commander carried with him, "besides the ordinary letters of marque, a commission under the great seal empowering him to seize pirates and to take them to some place where they might be dealt with according to law."

The king's right to the goods found in possession of those malefactors was granted by letters patent to the supporters of the expedition, his majesty securing only one-tenth of the spoil. Kidd, however, soon finding that little was to be gained by the adventure, threw off all disguise and hoisted the Jolly Roger.

His rapacity and cruelty were unbounded, and in less than two years he amassed the sum of £200,000. With this he thought to make his peace with the authorities and end his days in luxury, but he was arrested at New York and brought to England, where he was tried and hanged at Execution dock in 1701.—London Saturday Review.

Prince Napoleon.

Prince Napoleon in 1870 was something of a prophet. When he heard of the emperor's declaration of war he hurried to St. Cloud and had a stormy interview with the emperor. He didn't hesitate to say, "It is the emperor who has brought this upon us," and the emperor, while offended at his frankness, admitted that "your presentiments perhaps correspond with mine." Then the prince fired his last shot and showed that, though he might go astray in many things, he knew of the weakness of France and the strength of Germany. He turned on his heel and, with that bitterness which he didn't hesitate to exhibit when occasion required, said: "So be it; so be it! Let us, however, make haste to pack our possessions, for we are already beaten." And so the result proved.

The Saltiest of the Salt Seas.

Some idea of the saltness of the waters of the Dead sea may be gained from the comparison made below. The Dead sea is situated in Palestine, 20 miles east of Jerusalem. It is 85 miles long and from 10 to 15 miles wide, with an average depth of 20 fathoms (120 feet). Common ocean water contains but 30 parts of salt to the 1,000. Those of the Dead sea contain 230 parts to the 1,000, which makes the briny solution exactly one-fourth salt.

The Saltiest Sea.

The famous Calabar bean is said to be worse than strychnine. The natives use it for an ordeal. If a person is accused of a crime he is made to eat one, being adjudged to be guilty in case of death, which is almost inevitable. Another used employed for a like purpose is that of the ordeal tree of Madagascar, said to be the most deadly of vegetable products. One of these seeds about the size of an almond will kill twenty men.

Curly Hair.

Curly hair is a constitutional, hereditary phenomenon. The curly hair curls because it is flat. Straight hair is cylindrical. Being flat, the hair has a natural tendency to assume a spiral shape. Cutting has no effect, as the course of the follicles lies in the shape of the hair. This forming from a circular, crooked follicle is bound to be flattened and twisted.

Natural Inquiry.

"I had a cousin who went in one pushing for thirty-four years, and"—began Mr. Sparr.

"Bubbles' a government job or gingin' a game of chance?" inquired Old Gadget in his usual grim way.

Embarrassing.

Irish Visitor—Oh, this bouquet is too costly! You must take it back to the gentleman! Valet—Oh, that's all right, sahr. Since my master is engaged to you he has been able to get things on credit.

Life.

In the true life of the individual each day is the beginning of a new year.

MUST GO TO PRISON

Unless Government Changes Its Mind —Money No Substitute.

Paris, March 4.—The government's refusal to pardon Elliot F. Shepard, grandson of the late W. H. Vanderbilt, carries with it the necessity of serving his sentence. But, renewed efforts made to induce the government to reconsider its decision, have resulted in a postponement of the beginning of the sentence until March 12.

Elliot F. Shepard was sentenced Oct. 25 last to three months imprisonment and $120 fine, and to pay $4000 damages to the parents of Madeline Marduck, who was killed by Mr. Shepard's automobile on April 24. Applications were made to have the imprisonment waived and a fine substituted for it.

HIS MAJESTY AT CHERBOURG

Edward's Visit to French Capital Regarded as Likely to Influence the Proceedings at Algeciras.

Cherbourg, France, March 4.—The British Royal Yacht Victoria and Albert, having on board King Edward, was sighted at noon to-day. The harbor is elaborately decorated in honor of his Majesty. The King will be received with military honors, and take the royal train for Paris.

AT PARIS.

Paris March 4. — The arrival of King Edward in Paris this evening for a three days' visit attracts comment in connection with the Algeciras conference as being a timely reaffirmation of the Anglo-French agreement. Premier Rouvier will meet the King at the depot. While here his Majesty will be the guest of the British embassy, maintaining his incognito as Duke of Lancaster.

President Fallieres and King Edward will exchange visits tomorrow, and there will be a gala dinner at the embassy on Sunday at which the King, the president and the premier will be guests, and also Baron de Courcel, recently head of the French mission at the funeral of King Christian.

"MY DEAR WILHELM."

New York, March 4.—A Berlin despatch to the Herald says that satisfaction reigns in high circles there because King Edward has written a most gratifying letter to the emperor on the occasion of his silver wedding. King Edward addresses his nephew as "My Dear Wilhelm."

PROTECT THE TIMBER

Ontario Government is About to Pass Important Legislation.

Toronto, March 5.—It is expected that a government bill, adding an important provision to the act for the preservation of forests from destruction by fire, will be introduced in the Legislature shortly. In effect the new clauses, it is reported, will enact that when railways are being built through timbered crown lands or timbered lands under settlement, the Government shall appoint rangers to guard against the destruction of the trees by fire from the sparks of construction trains, camp fires, etc., the cost of the rangers to be borne by the railways.

For some time it has been felt that a measure of this nature is necessary in order to properly safeguard the forest wealth of the province, particularly in the northern districts now being or to be opened up by new railways. The present act, while making provision for precautions to be taken by the railways to prevent forest fires being started by sparks from locomotives, gives no such authority as that contained in the proposed bill.

Osler Travels Incognito

New York, March 4.—The Times says: At the annual dinner of the New York Alumni of the Johns Hopkins University at the University Club, Dr. Osler was praised as one who had suffered from faulty reports of his famous address in which he was made the champion of young men's ambitions through belittling old their elders. Dr. Ira Remsen, president of Johns Hopkins, said: "It is a common error of the world to attribute to him nonsensical remarks he never said. He has tried to travel incognito to escape the misquotation of his remarks.

Took the Hint.

"This seems like a sweet dream," he rapturously remarked as he lingered with her at the doorstep.

"It doesn't seem like a dream to me," she replied, "for a dream soon vanishes, you know."

He vanished.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

It is understood this property will be sold off in building lots.

No Diphtheria Germs Found.

Dr. Greer has received a communication from Dr. Amyott, provincial bacteriologist, Toronto, in reply to a letter, accompanying a specimen of the sputum of a sick man in a local lumber camp, north of the city, who was suspected of having diphtheria. Dr. Amyott, in his reply, said that a careful bacteriological examination of the sputum showed clearly that no signs of diphtheria germs existed. This effectually does away with the rumors current last week concerning the alleged danger that threatened the city.

A KINDLY ACT

Singer Sewing Machine Co. Refuse Money From Poor Widow

One of those kindly acts that show that, whilst some "corporations have no souls," some of them or their representatives have, was in evidence yesterday.

It will be remembered by our readers, that, a few days ago, The Times called attention to a woman, who having lost a leg, still had a family to support. A committee of philanthropic citizens took round a subscription list to try and get a sewing machine for this lady to enable her to earn a living.

When the committee went to the Singer Machine Co. office on George street to inquire about the price of a machine the manager of the office, Mr. Swift, would not accept any money for one but said that he would make the lady a present of a machine, and that the money collected could be spent by her for other purposes. The machine although not new, is practically as good as a new one, for it has only been used a few times. Mr. Swift had the machine sent up to the home yesterday.

THE CORDAGE COMPANY

Working Overtime This Week Owing to Increased Orders.

Owing to rapidly accumulating orders on hand, their employes begin this week working overtime. Some 200 hands are employed at the present time, and from seventeen to eighteen tons of rope and twine are being turned out each day. The orders now in will keep the industry busy until the beginning of August. The Canadian Cordage and Manufacturing Company's pay roll amounts to over $2,000 fortnightly, inclusive of office help.

Stop Using the Flag for Advertising.

The Toronto Veterans, of 1866, Association, have issued circulars noting that they have passed a resolution disapproving of the increasing custom of making the Union Jack the medium of calling attention to auction sales and otherwise using it for advertising purposes, demeaning the flag and taking from it the respect with which it ought to be viewed. In this matter we might borrow a good idea from our neighbors to the south, who are forbidden by law to use the national flag for advertising purposes.

POLICE PENSIONS

Ontario Gov't Authorizes Councils to Raise Pension Funds.

The Consolidated Municipal Act of 1903, has been amended by adding the following words:

The council shall by bylaw authorize the raising and setting apart of a sum of money annually sufficient to provide a superannuation or retiring allowance fund for the benefit of the police force, to be paid to the members of the police force who have continuously served on such force for a period of not less than 20 years, if in the opinion of the council in cities and towns where the police force is under the control of the council, such retiring member of the police force is by reason of good conduct and long service entitled to such retiring allowance; and where the police force is under the control of the board of police commissioners in cities and towns on their recommendation that such retiring member is in their opinion by reason of such good conduct and long service entitled to such superannuation or retiring allowance, the council shall bylaw in like manner authorize the raising and setting apart of a sum of money annually sufficient to provide such allowance for the police force, to be paid to members thereof who have in like manner continuously served on such force for such period not less than 25 years.

But such retiring allowance shall in no case exceed in amount one-half of the salary received by such retiring officer twelve months previous to the time of his final retirement.

Deserters Flee to Canada.

St. Catharines, March 6.—There are at present in Niagara on the Lake, Ontario, about thirty deserters from the Third Battalion of the Eighth United States Regiment stationed at Fort Niagara, N. Y., just across the river. The men were under orders to start on Tuesday last with their regiment for San Francisco, to sail for the Philippines. Monday night they secured a boat and crossed over to Niagara on the Lake, where they are out of reach of the military authorities. The men say they will remain in Canada until the regiment embarks and all danger of their being sent on after it to join their comrades is past.

CURES CATARRHAL DEAFNESS

One Week's Use of Hyomei Did More Than Six Months' Treatment By Specialists.

In the treatment of deafness which is often the result of catarrh, Hyomei acts almost immediately upon the inflamed membrane and the hearing begins to return at once.

Miss Meeks of Matteawan, N. Y., says: "Hyomei is truly wonderful. I have used it but a short time and see a great change in my condition. My hearing is improving rapidly and I had no idea I would improve so rapidly in so short a time. My breath which was very offensive to myself and others, has lost its bad odor entirely. I have spent a great deal of money with catarrh specialists, and can truly say that six months of their treatment is not equal to one month of Hyomei.

A complete outfit costs but $1.00, and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket, a medicine dropper, and a bottle of Hyomei. The inhaler will last a lifetime and there is enough Hyomei for several weeks' treatment. Additional bottles of Hyomei can be procured for 50 cents. Compare this small expenditure with the fees charged by specialists.

If you cannot obtain Hyomei of your dealer, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write today for consultation blank that will entitle you to services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hyomei Building, Ithaca, N. Y.

OPEN PUBLICITY THE BEST GUARANTY OF MERIT.

When the maker of a medicine, sold through druggists for family use, takes his patients fully into his confidence by frankly and fearlessly publishing broadcast as well as on its bottle wrappers, a full list of all its ingredients in plain English, this action on his part is the best possible evidence that he is not afraid to have the greatest light of investigation turned full upon his formula and that it will bear the fullest scrutiny and the most thorough investigation. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for the cure of the weaknesses, periodical pains and functional derangements of the organs distinctly feminine, is the only medicine put up for sale through druggists for woman's special use, the matter of which is not afraid to take his patients into his full confidence by such open and honest publicity.

A glance at the published ingredients on each bottle wrapper, will show that it is made wholly from native, American, medicinal roots, that it contains no poisonous or habit-forming drugs, no narcotics and no alcohol—pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength being used instead of the commonly employed alcohol, both for extracting and preserving the active medicinal properties found in the roots of the American forest plants employed. It is the only medicine for women's peculiar diseases sold by druggists, that does not contain a large percentage of alcohol, which in the long run so harmful to woman's delicate, nervous system. Now, glycerine is perfectly harmless, and serves a valuable purpose by possessing intrinsic value all its own, and besides it enhances the curative effect of the other ingredients entering into the "Favorite Prescription."

Some of the ablest medical writers and teachers endorse these views and praise all the several ingredients of which "Favorite Prescription" is composed—recommending them for the cure of the very same diseases for which this world-famed medicine is advised. No other medicine for women has any such professional endorsement—worth more than any number of ordinary testimonials. If interested, send name and address to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for his little book of extracts from the works of eminent medical writers and teachers, endorsing the several ingredients and telling just what Dr. Pierce's medicines are made of. It's free for the asking.

PRESS CLUB MEET

Local Press Club Form Constitution and Rates.

On Saturday the Peterboro Press Club met in Long's Palm Parlors, and combined pleasure with business. The first order of the evening, when the knights of the pencil met at ten p. m., was partaking of an excellent supper served by Miss Host Long in his usual inimitable style.

Mr. Hutchinson, president of the club, very ably filled the chair, and when the luscious bivalves, etc., had been put out of sight, called the meeting to executive session.

The constitution, brand new, and drawn up in as concise a style as to turn the hair of a lawyer who might seek for flaws to either turn white or drop out.

It might be mentioned that the Press Club was formed for mutual protection, advancement of the various papers' interests, and for the social and business interests of the members.

It was decided not to report any socials suppers, entertainments, etc., unless at least two tickets are sent to representative of each paper in the city; it is easily to be understood that any society, church or other body giving such entertainments, who do not trouble to provide the Press with admission tickets, should not expect such to be reported.

The club decided to hold monthly meetings, on the first Saturday of each month.

Mr. Belcher C. E. Preparing Plans.

Count Architect John E. Belcher will prepare the plans for the new steel bridges over the Indian River. The bridges will both be all steel, with a plank floor. The plank floor, however, is only to be temporary, as provisions will be made for a concrete floor.

As soon as Mr. Belcher has completed the plans tenders for the substructure and superstructure will be called for, and, if satisfactory, the contracts will be let at once.

ONE OF THE RICHEST PROSPECTS EVER DISCOVERED.

The Iron Spar Mining Co.

The Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., owning valuable property on the divide between the States of Idaho and Montana, a copper proposition of exceptional promise, a property that even a novice, by personal inspection, ought to discern merits in, so apparent are the indications which guide the prospector in the work of making great mineral discoveries. An immense copper bearing ledge traverses the ground from east to west and is so well defined and conspicuous in its surface outcrop that anyone however unfamiliar with outward appearances of mineralization, once shown the ledge, may follow it uninterruptedly for several thousand feet. The fact is that copper ores appear in the vein gangue even to the grass roots.

The vein is large, 15 to 20 feet wide, and horizontally continuous across the whole extent of the claims, a distance of 6,000 feet. Being a true fissure and cutting the country formation at a considerable angle, it is entirely consistent with geological laws to suppose that it has also great vertical dimension.

Everybody who has made any study of the profits derived from successful copper mining operations can not have failed to observe the splendid and continuous dividends paid to investors. Copper mining has been so dependable a source of revenue throughout the world that today many investors prefer it to the more fickle high grade gold propositions. Look at the enormous and steady profits paid investors in all the great copper fields of the world, as viz: The Lake Superior mines in Michigan, Butte mines in Montana, Bisbee and Tombstone in Arizona, the mines of Utah, the great Tintic mines in Spain, and the Mexican mines. The demand for copper increases with the advance of civilization and the immense demand created by the growing popularization of electrical power justifies the belief that the supply will hardly keep pace with the demand for years to come. Copper mining is safe and profitable, once you have found a good property. That is just what we are trying to introduce to you, and you have this in the Iron Spar.

The sum of 400,000 shares of the fully paid capital stock was set aside as a treasury fund to be devoted to the improvement, development and equipment of the property. Nearly the entire block remains in the treasury at the present date, only so much having been drawn out as was necessary to defray the expenses of operation since the formation of the Company. The miners have all taken stock as pay instead of cash.

The undersigned has a limited number of Shares for sale at TEN CENTS per share. All interested should call or write at once.
